Cagers to face Gannon in tourney play tonight

YSU opens tourney play against one arch-rival, Gannon, at 8 p.m. tonight at Memorial Hall on the Akron University campus and would like to finish the regional against another old foe, Akron.

Slightly over a week ago, the Penguin Cagers had to knock off Gannon to get into the NCAA College Division Tournament. They did it, 79-72 at the Golden Knight floor, the first win there in 10 years. Now they must repeat the verdict if they want to advance in the Mideast Regional.

Although the official pairings have yet to be announced, it is thought that Philadelphia Textile (19-6), leader of the northern division of the Middle Atlantic States Athletic Conference, and southern division leader Lebanon Valley (21-3) will clash the same night in eastern Pennsylvania. Both winners would advance to Friday and Saturday play at Akron.

Cheyney State (22-3) likely would meet the Youngstown-Gannon (18-6) winner with Akron (22-4) taking on the Pennsylvania entry. Akron is

Council proposes auction to solve penguin problem

The penguin issue moved closer to final disposition, Chairman Bill Jones revealed at yesterday's Student Council meeting.

In the chairman's report, Jones said that letter was sent to Mr. Joseph Rook, vice president of financial affairs, asking him to declare the penguins as "surplus property." This would allow circumventing existing laws applying to the penguin which is now classified as state property.

Jones went on to say that the next step would be to hold an auction and thereby dispose of the "property."

In other action chairman Jones said that he is making an attempt to gather items for the West

Mr. discovered in women's room, chased by Ms.

A man was discovered in the women's restroom on the first floor of Kilcawley Hall last Friday morning but was frightened away by a woman employed by YSU, James Evans, assistant director of campus security said yesterday.

According to Evans, the unidentified woman ran out of the restroom and attempted to hold the door closed while she yelled for assistance. The man yanked the door open and fled.

Evans speculated that the man

Voting

Voting booths will be open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. today for students to vote in the Student Council and Senate elections.

As of 3 p.m. yesterday, some 834 students had voted. This figure is higher than the total at the same time last year when only 600 students had voted during the morning and afternoon hours of the first day.

Virginia flood victims. He asked that anyone who could make some contribution do so by bringing their articles to Council offices, Room 108 in Kilcawley Hall. These goods will be taken to West Virginia this Saturday.

In other business Larry Simko, student government president was granted $275 by council to travel to Atlanta, Georgia for the meeting April 4-7 of the American College Health Association.

Simko explained the purposes for the trip: "I want to first find what medical programs are being offered at other universities. Secondly, I'd like to determine how the various programs are funded; whether by general fees, gratis, outside revenue or special funds such as some type of federal aid." He concluded saying he wished "to measure the relative success of other health center and medical programs."

A motion by Mike Duquin, activities chairman, changed election rule 630.6 to read that only 25 signatures from the candidates school will be required on the election ballot. This excludes representatives-at-large who can obtain 25 signatures from any school.

A second motion by Skip Davis, chairman of the election committee changed the filing deadline from one to two weeks before elections. This will allow time to check petitions for valid signatures.

In further action council authorized the spending of $85 to send the new elections chairman and the major events secretary to Steubenville on April 22 for the National Entertainment Conference. This will further the attempt by Major Events to bring new ideas and concepts to the YSU entertainment program. The free movies currently being shown

Senate okays Faculty Affairs report

Following extensive debate, the University Senate Friday voted to accept the Faculty Affairs Committee recommendation that the university budget excluding individual salaries, be made available.

This recommendation, along with the results of the faculty poll on the issue, will be forwarded to the Board of Trustees.

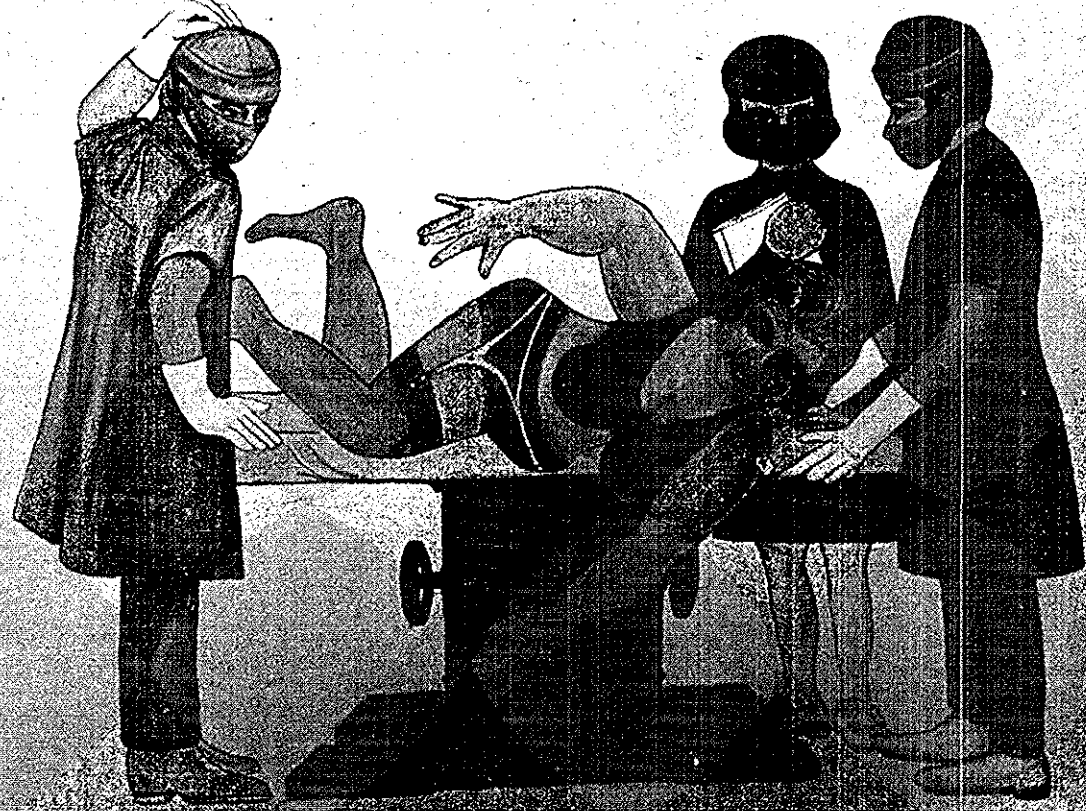

Also passed was the Curriculum Committee's report presented by Larry Esterly, chairman which establishes a Black Studies major, which is expected to be offered starting fall quarter. This major will lead to an A.B. degree and is to be budgeted under the Black Studies program.

An ad hoc committee to study text book changes and determine whether there is a problem has been appointed by the Senate Executive Committee, Dr. Esther Niemi, Chairman, reported.

The committee's chairman will be Dr. Thaddeus M. Dillon, professor of mathematics, and members will be; George B. Conner, bookstore director, Dr. Thomas

Industrial advertising course offered first time in spring

For the first time the department of advertising and public relations will offer a course in industrial advertising, one of the few such college courses available in the country.

Under the guidance of T. M. Dunn, former president of the Youngstown Chapter of the Association of Industrial Advertisers, Inc. (AIA), and vice president of Ira Thomas and Associates, Inc., advertising agency in Youngstown, the course rounds out YSU's undergraduate degree curriculum in advertising.

Dunn will instruct students in the analysis, discussion, planning and preparation of various types of industrial advertising and promotional material.

This will include advertisements for industrial and business magazines and trade papers, catalogs, booklets, sales literature, direct mail, purchasing directories and business reference annuals.

UAW still out; Lordstown talks to resume Wed.

LORDSTOWN, OHIO AP — Negotiations are set to resume here Wednesday between management of the General Motors Assembly Division and the United Auto Workers which represents employees at the mammoth facility.

Both the Vega and Chevrolet truck assembly plants have been idle since Saturday when 7,800 workers walked off their jobs in a dispute over manpower and assembly line speeds.

"The union requested the Wednesday meeting for 9:30 a.m. and we accepted promptly," said A.B. Anderson, plant manager. "We hope that it may be a major step in settling our differences."

Earlier negotiations broke off at 3 a.m. Monday after a 39-hour session. The UAW then proposed a one-week delay in the talks, but company officials called this "completely unacceptable."

WYSU-FM's 'Folk Festival' to air ballads by Francis James Childs

WYSU-FM's weekly program entitled "Folk Festival" will air the first grouping of songs found in "The English and Scottish Popular Ballads of Francis James Child" on the concluding Saturdays in March.

Broadcast at 9:30 p.m. on YSU's fine arts radio station (88.5 mhz), the program's host is Charles Darling, assistant professor of history.

These four programs are part of an overall presentation of 20 programs which feature over 50 different singers presenting over one-third of the 305 ballads listed in the five-volume work of the late 19th century Harvard scholar. Highlighting this chronological survey will be discussions and variations of the ballads.

The Child Ballads are considered the definitive work of the English and Scottish ballads by serious collectors of folk music and folk lore. The ballads still retain a remarkable degree of popularity even today, as heard in the Fairport Convention's folk-rock treatment of No. 58, "Sir Patrick Spens" and No. 39, "Tam Lin."

Tonight's Adventures in Good Music has host Karl Haas visiting the home of Maurice Ravel, near Paris, and playing some of the French composer's music.

At 8 p.m., Aldo Ceccato is guest conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra in Corelli's "Christmas Concerto - Grosso," Mendelssohn's Symphony No. 1 and Dvorak's famed "New World" Symphony No. 9. Citron begins the first of a two part series with guests Sir Oswald Mosley and H. Montgomery Hyde, who talk about their role in history. Mosley was known for his sympathy with the Nazis in World War II and was imprisoned for it.

"A Bach Bash" will be heard on Haas' Wednesday program, at 7:15 p.m., as he plays music by members of the Bach family. At 8 p.m., the final concert of the conductor's competition will be presented, which is sponsored by the Herbert von Karajan Foundation. Recorded in Berlin, the program presents Mozart's Symphony No. 40, Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe Suite No. 2" and Stravinsky's "The Firebird." All the selections will be conducted by young people. Citron's program later that evening features the second part of the series begin on Tuesday.

On Thursday, Karl Haas talks about and plays the works of composers who pursued other careers and at 8 p.m., Seiji Ozawa conducts the Philadelphia Orchestra in Verdi's overture to "Vespre Siciliani," Ishii's "So-Gu II", with ten Japanese Court musicians, and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 6 "Pathetique." Opera star Walter Berry talks about his career in the United States and Europe on Citron's 11:30 p.m. program.

Karl Haas presents new recordings on his Friday program, followed by an all-Ravel program presented by the Cleveland Orchestra. Selections to be heard are "Morning song of the Jester," "Concerto for the Left Hand," and Concerto in G major. Phillippe Entremont is piano soloist. Playwright Jack Gelber and director Jacques Levy talk about their second production of the season "Sleep" on Citron's late night talk show.

Input

The Campus Ecology Group recently concluded a series of meetings with members of the administration and the campus planning.

The conference were marked by the frankness of both parties and the revelation that input will be accepted from students on the subject of campus expansion.

Plans to institute an advisory committee consisting of students, faculty and administration to work with the campus planning staff are under consideration.

Students at YSU often express dismay or displeasure at the edifices which they see surrounding them. We too have often wondered at the planning that offers more in the way of concrete continuity than ecological concern. The Ward Beecher Science Hall and the Engineering Science building typify this condition.

This annoyance can be tempered by the allowing of student feedback to the administrative planning staff. The CEG is only one group that has made its desires known. The opportunity is present for others to either contact Jan Yaniglos or Karen Eliser, the officers of CEG, or form their own committees to discuss what is happening to the campus during expansion. The sites for future buildings and landscaping plans are not yet final. Now is the time for action.

Buildings are already being planned so closely together that there will soon be very little room for any large grassy areas around what we now know as the campus. The library will obliterate nearly all the slope between Jones Hall and the administration that provides for a pleasant lounging area during the warm weather.

We encourage those interested in the changing face of YSU to not only offer their views and objections but to couple these former steps with feasible alternatives.

We realize that expansion can and will cause temporary problems. As one official said "the North hill of the campus will look as though an earthquake hit it." This short term disruption must be viewed patiently. What hopefully will be avoided in any long term scarring of the YSU campus.

Letters to the Editor

Says Poddar is not spokesman

To the Editor of the Jambar:

Because the Jambar has wide circulation outside the campus community as well as within it, I find it necessary to make a brief comment on B. P. K. Poddar's letter that appeared in the March 3rd issue, lest readers from outside the campus be misled.

Poddar implies that he speaks for "many"; however, I would like to point out that B. P. K. Poddar does not speak for me nor for any other faculty member with whom I have discussed his letter. In fact, in discussing the letter with some members of the O.E.A. (Poddar is president of the organization), I found that he does not speak for them either; in fact, he seemed to be considered as more of an embarrassment than as a spokesman.

Associate Professor, Education

'Flips beanie' over Pugsley

To the editor of the Jambar:

I am a freshman here and I almost flipped my YSU beanie when I heard about President Pugsley. Golly gosh, it's hard enough being a university president without being harassed by the students and the Student Council!!! I was having a malted with Betty Lou (my girl) when all the gang told me. I couldn't believe it. I was so shocked that I scratched my Johnny Ray records.

If you ask me, this college is just super!! We have big buildings, lots of fraternities and sororities, and a really swell cafeteria that is complete with big plaques that remind us that all the Greeks are present. As if they had to. Anyway, if you ask me, this school is quite modern for 1953. This is 1953 isn't it?

Chides Prexy, Jambar editorial

To the editor of the Jambar:

We view the move to place the issue of Dr. Pugsley's resignation on a student referendum with great alarm and misgiving. We feel that such an action can only do harm to Youngstown State University; the possible introduction of competence and concern at so high a level would only serve to create confusion and consternation in both the administration and student body. We are certain that Dr. Pugsley has performed his duties (whatever they may be) to the best of his abilities (whatever they may be). We would also like to congratulate late the Jambar for its courageous editorial stand defending ineptitude wherever it may be found, whether in Student Government or in the administration.

School of Ed. now offers new science degree

The day of the "jack of all trades" is back, at least in the School of Education where a student can now receive a bachelor of science in education degree by pursuing a Comprehensive Science Major in Secondary Education.

Begun in the fall of 1971 in an attempt to design a science curriculum to meet the needs of potential secondary science teachers, the major encompasses the departments of physics and astronomy, biology, chemistry and geology.

Courses range over a wide variety of areas such as descriptive astronomy and moon and the planets in astronomy; molecular-cellular level of life and biology of populations in biology; organic and quantitative chemistry in chemistry; introduction to oceanography and geomorphology or principles of paleontology in geology; and fundamentals of physics and general physics in physics.

The major itself consists of 92-94 quarter hours in the above areas along with 12 quarter hours of upper level electives selected to meet University requirements.

The ultimate goal of the comprehensive science major, according to Dr. Donald W. Robinson, dean of the School of Education, is to "make the graduate academically strong enough to obtain a science teaching position at the secondary level, earn graduate degrees and possibly find employment in private or governmental enterprise."

Described by Dr. Robert A.

Ameduri, science advisor to the School of Education and assistant professor of education, as a "realistic, meaningful and academically sound program to help YSU graduates successfully compete for science teaching positions," the curriculum stresses practical, as well as academic values.

Campus Security teletype can check anyone's number

YSU Campus Security has a new Law Enforcement Automated Data System (LEADS) teletype that can run a check on any name or number put through it. The machine by taking the number from a driver's license, license plate, social security number, automobile registration, or even just a name, can check through a person's records from the time he was born to determine any auto violations, criminal records or even personal information. All this can be done in about eight seconds or less.

Security Chief Paul Cress expressed his views on the use of the LEADS machine by stating, "There is an inherent danger in this type of operation if your information is wrong, although it certainly will be worth the time, effort and money put into it if not for anything but traffic problems."

TWO WINNERS—Denise Stewart, junior psychology major and Randy Nalepa, freshman arts and sciences, compare trophies they recently won. Miss Stewart was selected honorary sponsor of the First Battalion Headquarters of the National Society of Pershing Rifles at the Bowling Green Invitational Drill Meet. A YSU Pershing Rifles sponsor, Miss Stewart competed with girls from ten other battalions. Nalepa's competition was a little stiffer in that he took the top honors in Individual Drill over 250 representatives from some 24 colleges and universities.

Continuing education dept. to offer 'heat treatment'

Today is the last day to enroll for the department of metallurgical engineering's "heat treatment" course which is being offered beginning March 21 in cooperation with the department of continuing education.

T&CC will sponsor engineering tech. seminar Saturday

A seminar sponsored by the YSU department of engineering technology of the Technical and Community College will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday, March 11 in the Kiltzwey Center. The Seminar is entitled "Career Opportunities in Computer and Engineering Technology".

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. and Dr. Nicholas Paraska, dean of the Technical and Community College will give a brief introduction. Dr. Albert L. Pugsley will represent the university and Mayor Jack C. Hunter will represent the city of Youngstown.

J. Phillip Richley, director of the highways for the State of Ohio, will be the featured speaker and his topic will be "The Future Belongs to Those Who Prepare For It."

Dr. Victor A. Richley, chairman of the department of engineering technology, will describe the programs the department offers in computer and engineering technology.

After break for light refreshments, there will be a tour of civil, computer, electrical, mechanical and metallurgical laboratories in the Engineering Science Building, along with demonstrations which will be conducted by faculty and students. There will also be an informal discussion with faculty and industrial representatives.

It will run for six consecutive Tuesdays.

Scheduled for 7 p.m. each Tuesday in the Schwebel Auditorium of the Engineering Science building, the course is sponsored by the American Society for Metals — Youngstown State University Committee on Career Development, the Akron, Warren and Mahoning Valley Chapter of the ASM, and the department.

Open to the public with no prerequisite nor fee required, the course will cover Fundamentals of Materials Science, Principles of Heat Treatment, Heat Treatment of Cast Iron Steels and Alloy Steels, Special Treatment of Steel, Heat Treatment of Refractory Metals and Alloys, and Heat Treatment of Non-Ferrous Alloys.

Faculty for the course are Dr. S. Ahmed, chairman of the department of metallurgical engineering and material science; assistant professors Dr. Richard W. Jones and Dr. Arthur J. Perkins; and Stan Seagle, instructor.

A certificate will be awarded to each participant upon satisfactory completion of the course provided that they have attended at least five of the ten lectures scheduled.

All inquiries should be sent to Dr. Ahmed with all registration requests directed to Dr. Lawrence E. Looby, chairman of the department of continuing education.

YSU senior's radio, TV equipment enables world-wide communication

A varied collection of complex radio and television equipment gives YSU senior Rick White the unique opportunity of world-wide communication.

His basic electronics equipment includes transmitters, receivers, amplifiers, and special antennae. Some of the more unusual items he owns are a dish antenna 6 feet in diameter which sends and receives signals in code. Another interesting piece is a Roberts tape recorder, a complex recording system from England. It is unique in that it operates by an exclusive principle—the Roberts crossfield—which makes it one of the best in sound recording today.

Rick also operates a short wave radio and a ham radio which he has monitored to pick up television signals. The ham radio can send and receive radio signals from anywhere on the globe and is often able to include visual contact as well.

Rick builds much of his own equipment from scratch and finds many of the basic parts in Army-Navy surplus stores. Presently, he is wiring together his own stereos.

He is majoring in electronics, will graduate in June, and has a future job possibility as assistant chief engineer of WDVE, a Pittsburgh rock station. Rick is originally from Allison Park, Pa., and is now attending YSU. He has been accepted to attend YSU graduate school and hopes the future will bring a chance for him to do work in electronics research.

His radio hobby has led him to several interesting jobs in the past. Several summers ago, he was a disc jockey on an early morning jazz program, WYDD, Pittsburgh. Another summer he worked a month for NBC in New York City as a cameraman on the Johnny Carson Show. This he said he enjoyed very much and would like to do again; the pay was excellent.

A person can earn various licenses in electronics through the Federal Communications Commissions. The Commission gives both code and written tests for each type of license. A person will start with novice status and must operate a ham radio for five years and pass additional examinations to earn the status of an amateur extra. Additional studying and examinations are required for commercial or radio station work.

Rick is presently taking flying lessons at a Pittsburgh airport and the Youngstown Executive Airport and hopes to earn his pilot's license by this summer. He feels that flying a plane is actually easier than driving a car. He considers himself very fortunate for the opportunities he's found thus far in electronics and piloting because, he says, it is usually the high cost that keeps most people from pursuing these interests as well.

J. Phillip Richley to speak at ASCE seminar Thursday

The YSU student chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers will host the Allegheny Conference in a seminar on "The Role of Civil Engineering in Modern Society," Thursday in Schwebel Auditorium of the Engineering Science building.

Guest speaker for the conference will be J. Phillip Richley, director of highways for the State of Ohio. Mr. Richley will appear on the program at 2:30 p.m.

The seminar gets underway at 9:30 a.m. with registration followed by a "welcome to the University" by Dr. M. Jean Charignon, dean of the Rayen School of Engineering. After this brief address, there will be a presentation of student papers from the competing schools scheduled for 10:05 a.m. and a noon luncheon featuring student chapter highlights.

Preceding Richley's presentation and immediately following the luncheon, Dr. Bhagwati P. K. Poddar, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology at YSU, will speak on the topic "Social Problems and the Civil Engineer."

At 3 p.m., there will be a presentation of awards for those students with the winning papers. This will be followed by the adjournment of the regular session and meetings of faculty advisors and student officers, each in separate conferences.

Dr. Jack D. Bakos, Jr., assistant professor of civil engineering, is coordinating the event which includes student chapters from the University of Pittsburgh, Carnegie-Mellon University, Marshall University, West Virginia University, and YSU.

Break six records---

YSU swimmers place fourth in Penn-Ohio Meet

YSU swimmers chalked up six new records and challenged five others on route to a fourth-place finish in the Penn-Ohio Conference Championships last week at Slippery Rock State College.

The Penguins wound up with 224½ points to champion Ashland's 340, Clarion State's 303 and Cleveland State's 245½.

Grove City was fifth with 144, followed by Slippery Rock with 85, Akron 83, California, Pa., 80, Indiana, Pa., 54, Westminster 53 and Carnegie-Mellon last with 6.

YSU's triumphant 400-yard medley relay team was disqualified in the final event due to a referee's disputed claim that Rami Yehudai made an illegal kick. The Penguins had to forfeit 26 points and a third place finish over Cleveland State.

However, Coach Bob Leahy was still elated over his team's performance. "The kids really swam out of their minds," said Leahy. "I think we created an instant swimming team over the weekend. It was a fantastic team effort all the way," he added.

The assault on the record books was led by "Super-Soph" Tom McGee who broke two YSU standards on his way to fourth place finishes. McGee swam the 200-yard individual medley in 2:11.0, snapping teammate Dick Tatsch's mark of 2:11.1 set in 1969. McGee also sped to a 2:13.5 in the 200-yard butterfly, shattering Jeff Strata's 2:15.5 of 1970.

Sprint specialist Tatsch qualified for nationals in the 50-yard freestyle, besting the field to capture the gold medal in 22.1, eclipsing Cliff Ashe's 1968 time of 22.2. Tatsch also came within half a second of breaking the 100-yard freestyle record, doing the century in 50.1.

John Carroll finished seventh in the 200-yard freestyle, but still managed to set a new YSU standard of 1:55.2, bettering George Kavish's 1969 mark of 1:55.8. Carroll also did a good job in the 500-yard freestyle with a 5:24.3 clocking.

Chuck Nienhuis captured fourth place in the 400-yard individual medley and in the process set a new YSU record of 4:47.0. He also came close to breaking Tim Lafferty's record of 2:08.5 in the 200-yard backstroke with a 2:08.8 time.

Rami Yehudai, Penguin record holder in the 200-yard breaststroke, set a new record in the 100-yard breaststroke with a third place finish in 1:04.5, snapping Larry Nelson's 1970 mark by one second. Yehudai finished third in the 200-yard breaststroke at 2:22.8.

Senior All-American Nich Gavolas won both diving events, capturing the 1-meter competition easily and then upsetting Ashland's ace off the 3-meter plank.

Other aquamen fairing well included Chuck Cook with a 59.6 in the 100-yard butterfly. Don Miller dramatically lowered his times in the 1650- and 500-yard freestyles as did Tom Evans in the 100- and 200-yard breaststrokes.

The Penguin's 400-yard freestyle relay, paced by Tatsch's brilliant 49.4 final leg and Jeff Suain's strong performance, sped to a 3:23.9, their best time of the year.

While most of the swimmers can relax now that the season is over, three Penguin tankers can look forward to putting their talents on display at the NCAA College Division Championships at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Virginia. Diver Gavolas, Yehudai in the 200-yard breaststroke and Tatsch in the 50-yard freestyle leave tomorrow for the three day meet concluding on Saturday.

avored to advance to the Saturday night finals and the Penguins would enjoy another shot at the Zips.

Based on the strength on two wins over Gannon (YSU won 70-54 at home), the Penguins are given the edge over the Knights. However, that is of little value in a Youngstown-Gannon clash. Although the Penguins lead the series 27-16, YSU has won but 12 of the last 23 encounters. And of those battles, 15 were decided by six points or less.

Rosselli's lineup will include three seniors who started in the 1969-70 Mideast Regional against eventual national champ Philadelphia Textile. That would be a 6-4 forward Ron Smith (15.0) and guards 5-10 Billy Johnson (18.3) and 6-1 Gregg Merrill (4.9). Smith moved to

YSU grad eyes pro-bowling career

"I would like to graduate this year, bowl all summer, and then give the Professional Bowling Association a try."

Ron Lemmo from Canton, Ohio, a YSU senior majoring in retail merchandising, is an extremely good bowler. In his freshman year at Ashland College he represented that college in the Olympic tryouts, placing 17th out of 371. After transferring to YSU, Ron has won the high average, high game, high series, and best bowler trophies in the Inter-Fraternity Leagues.

Ron attributes his success to his bowling teacher, Bruce Fowler. Mr. Fowler, also from Canton, has been helping Ron since he was 7 years old. Fowler backed Ron in many tournaments such as the Amateur Bowling Association meets opens in various cities, and some plain old one-on-one, best bowler takes the money.

"This is where you can find out if you're a bowler or not. When Mr. Fowler puts up 100 dollars against another bowler I undoubtedly feel the pressure. I have to bowl good and most times, I do. Let's put it this way, Mr. Fowler is still backing me," smiles Ron.

ninth in career scoring (1,139) against Pitt. Johnson (1,679) ranks sixth.

They'll be joined by Billy Wells (11.3), a 6-5 junior forward, and Bill McMeans (13.6), a 6-6 sophomore center.

The 20-6 Penguins rank fifth among all college division schools in team defense (62.4) and sixth in average scoring margin (16.4).

This marks the 10th post-season tourney appearance for YSU in the past 16 years. In six previous NCAA College Division outings, the Penguins lost every first round game. Youngstown and Gannon have met once before in the tourney with YSU taking a 58-52 decision in the 1961-62 Mideast Regional consolation at Akron.

Dave Markey's Knights reached Akron due mainly to home court wins over nationally ranked Tennessee State (85-80), Akron (99-85) and Ashland (89-84). Gannon closes its regular season Saturday night at Geneva.

The Knights are paced by super senior center Glen Summers (6-8). He tallied 40 points and grabbed 37 rebounds in the two YSU games this year. Summers is averaging better than 23 points and 21 rebounds.

He'll be aided up front by frosh Gerry Walker (11.0) and junior Dave Stoczynski (14.0), both 6-5, and by guards 6-3 senior Harry McLaughlin (8.0) and 5-10 senior Rick Livas (8.0).

Famed American U. soprano to headline Dana Concert

The Dana Concert Series will present a special attraction at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Dana Recital Hall with the appearance of soprano Elizabeth Kirkpatrick of the music faculty of the American University in Washington, D.C.

Most recently the subject of critical acclaim for her solo in Handel's "Messiah" performed with the National Symphony at Kennedy Center in Washington, Miss Kirkpatrick just completed a concert tour of the northwestern states where she was met with unusually enthusiastic acclaim.

Invited to sing numerous opera roles with such companies as the Lake George Opera, Santa Fe Opera, Colorado Springs Opera, Chicago Symphony, National Symphony, Phillips Gallery in Washington, D.C. and the National Gallery, Miss Kirkpatrick was also invited to sing for the Inaugural Ball of President Johnson in 1964. She is also a member of the quartet in residence for the "Wolf Trap Farm Performing Arts Center" in Washington.

Of particular interest on Miss Kirkpatrick's program are two premiere works—the world premiere of "A Singer's Garland of Stevenson," by Edmund Soule of the University of Oregon faculty, and the Washington premiere of "Flamenco Meditations" by Carlos Surinach.

Other selections on the program include works by Henry Purcell, Robert Schumann, Carlisle Floyd, J. S. Bach and Igor Stravinsky. The program is free and open to the public.

Dellums raps with AASU; says politics not obsolete

Ronald V. Dellums, congressman from the 51st district in California, held an informal "rap session" with members of the YSU Afro-American Student Union Saturday afternoon at the Clarence Robinson Center.

Congressman Dellums ran on a coalition composed of different minorities of the 51st district and is an active member of the Congressional Black Caucus.

In his talk he stated that the Black freedom movement in America has passed out of the romantic era and is in a new era with a different perspective toward Black politics.

Dellums felt black people could change the structure of this country through the political system. "The political system is not obsolete and black people can work within the political system," said Dellums. He also felt that 1972 was the right time in history for black people to make a tremendous thrust in politics.

Congressman Dellums was introduced to the AASU by Darryl Barham Tukufo co-chairman of the AASU. Congressman Dellums was in Youngstown for the annual Urban League dinner on Saturday night in which he was the featured speaker.

Betres, assistant professor of elementary education, Dr. Neil B. Long, associate professor of economics, and Dr. John L. Kearns, associate professor of industrial engineering. One student will be chosen from each school to be seated on the committee.

Donald Elser, speech and dramatics department chairman, moved that the Senate object to the contents of a letter written by Dr. Bhagwati Poddar, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology, which appeared in Friday's Jambar. ## Dr. Agnes Smith to speak to History Club tomorrow

The History Club's History Forum will host Dr. Agnes Smith at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Pollock House, announced Roger Davis senior history major and president of the club.

Dr. Smith's topic is "Campbellites and Saints." "Campbellites" will deal with the tar and feathering of the founder of the Mormon Church by a group of not so Christian Christians circa 1830.

Dr. Smith will also discuss how folklore many times infringes upon history in incidents of this kind.

The public is invited to attend this and all of the History Club's biweekly forums on special topics in history.
