SECURITY CHECK — Paul Cress, Chief of Security, is quizzed by members of Student Council yesterday afternoon, concerning the use of security police at future concerts.

Abolition suggested at Council's meeting

The Student Council floor yesterday afternoon became a battlefield on which opposing forces clashed over the possibility of a referendum calling for Council's abolition.

The suggestion of a referendum came after one sector of Council backed Tony Signoriello, junior, A & S, in a move that that body dissolve itself. Citing a "lack of power, and ineffectiveness," Signoriello pointed to the signatures of 164 students on a petition seeking the dissolution of Council. Jim Rak, Junior A & S representative, reminded members that only the student body has the right to abolish Student Council, and that members "cannot abolish themselves."

Jim Larene, Junior A & S, then suggested that a referendum be placed on the ballot for next spring quarter's appointments to Student Council.

Signoriello further charged that members did not seem to be acting as a cohesive unit, summing up his position by saying that "I'd rather see you abolished than see you the way you are not."

Tempers flare at Council

Tempers also flared at yesterday's Council meeting when a number of Council members and spectators denounced Skip Davis, Chairman, for his role in the publication of a letter which appeared in the Jambar and the Youngstown Vindicator. The conflict centered around the publication by the Vindicator of a letter supposedly authorized by Council chairman Skip Davis.

Criticisms of Davis culminated in a virulent attack upon the Chairman by William Hayden, senior A&S. In an unprecedented outburst by a spectator, Hayden verbally attacked Davis and Council with charges that Council confused the issues, and that Davis did not have any right to represent him in any matter. Hayden was referring to Davis' signature on the Vindicator's letter.

Davis' name appeared last Wednesday on a letter to the editor opposing Nixon's budgetary provisions for research on the laser bomb. The letter was written as the result of a motion passed at the February 5 gathering of Council. That motion called for the endorsement of a similar article in the Jambar's.

$3.5 million Center will offer 4 lounges, snack bar, office space

The Kilcawley Student Center, which is expected to be completed and ready for student use sometime in October, 1973, will offer a wide variety of services and facilities for YSU students.

Included among the many features of the $3.5 million structure are a bookstore, a variety of lounges, a snack bar and office space for various student activities and organizations.

According to the most recent floor plan released by Nick J. Leonelli, Director of Campus Planning, the first floor of the center will be dominated by three large areas; the snack bar, a lounge area and a recreation area. Also included on the first floor are a vending area and a coffee house.

You Rang

The phone number for the university and consequently for The Jambar has been changed to 746-1851.

The lounge area provided for in the floor plan will be subdivided into three smaller lounges a TV lounge, a general lounge, and a program lounge. The recreation area is likewise further subdivided into two areas, one earmarked as a billiard room, and the other as a table tennis area.

The area of the second floor, with the exception of the bookstore, is almost totally devoted to lounging space of one sort or another. A party room, a large reading lounge, two music rooms and an exhibition area occupy a significant portion of the total floor space.

Also provided for on the second floor are thirteen offices presently intended for use by various student activities and the student center staff. Two large seminar rooms and two committee rooms are also included in the plans for the second floor.

The remaining portion of the second floor is taken up by the area for the proposed bookstore.

An architectural feature of the new student center is a provision for a court which will face south, running under a second-floor walkway leading from the main portion of the building to the bookstore. An area of the court on the level of the second floor is designated as a sculpture court. It is apparently left to the imagination as to what will be contained in this sculpture court.

The office space provided for on the second floor of the structure is yet to be assigned to any specific student organizations. According to Dr. Darrell F. Rishel, Dean of Student Affairs, the only organizations which, at the present time, are certain to be housed there are Student Government and the student center staff.

Decisions as to the ultimate disposition of the office space, as well as general policy regarding the use of the student center will be made in the future by a student-faculty governing staff, whose members have yet to be appointed (or elected, as the case may be).

Campus Shorts

Saul Lecture

Dr. Frank P. Saul, associate professor of Anatomy at the Medical College of Ohio at Toledo, will be the guest speaker at the YSU Chapter of Sigma Xi Club, at 4 p.m. Friday, February 23, in Schwebel Auditorium of the Engineering Science building.

Saul will lecture on "Osteobiographic Research: Dead Men Do Tell Tales." The lecture is free and open to the public.

Woodwind Recital

The YSU Dana Concert Series will present the Dana Student Woodwind Ensembles in recital at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, February 21, in the Dana Recital Hall.

The Woodwind Quintet will perform "Six Dance Caricatures, A Suite for Wind Quintet" by Roy Douglas, while the Clarinet Choir, under the direction of Joseph Lapinski, instructor in music, will present the Haydn Hindley composition "Divertimento No. 1," and Neilybel's "Chorale and Danza."

Kirwan Papers

Dr. Sidney I. Roberts, professor of History, at YSU will be the guest speaker at the YSU History Club meeting set for 3 p.m., Thursday, February 22, in Pollock House.

Dr. Roberts and his research assistant Dave Jones will discuss "Mike Kirwan and the Nature of Political Power." They have been studying the papers of the late Congressman Kirwan since their acquisition by YSU.

Community of Concern

There will be a Community of Concern meeting at 3 p.m., tomorrow in the Buckeye Room. Anyone interested in helping put together a gas automotive repair course attend this meeting.

Photo Club

The YSU Campus Photography Club will meet from 2 to 3 p.m., Thursday, February 22, at Pollock House, Room 222. All those interested are invited.

Society of Physics Students

The Society of Physics Students will hold a meeting at 2 p.m., Thursday, February 22 in Room 106 of the Ward Beecher Science Hall. Dr. William Moorhead will be speaking on amorphous semi-conductors.

Chief Paul Cress addressed the group. Cress appeared in answer to an invitation issued last week when fighting first broke out over security at the Cheech and Chong concert.

A small band favoring reduction of the police force at campus functions gained some ground when Cress conceded some reduction in the security force. He said that he did not think "we would need twenty policemen in the exact same circumstances in the future," and that the number of police needed is "not negotiable," as had been charged at last week's meeting.

Cress referred specifically to the "type" of crowd at the recent concert as "a mixture of every kind of screwball in town."

Mike Bongiorno, senior education, asked Cress what twenty policemen "could possibly do" in case of trouble at a major events concert. "They can prove a defense in the courtroom," Cress responded, citing his experience with lawsuits as a major determinant in his decision to hire twenty police.

When Pat Morgan, senior representative-at-large, demanded to know who called the shots in matters regarding security at concerts, Cress replied that "as long as I am saddled with the responsibility I am going to have something to say about it." Cress, however, felt that the marshalls do a good job, and that the idea of hiring student marshalls was a good one.

Members of Council rallied at Cress' statement of "types" of people, charging that "we can't see how you can make a judgment of that kind." Cress defended his position once again by saying that he is "trying to determine how to protect myself in the courtroom" when he decides how many men should be hired for security purposes.

Phil Janeccko, senior engineering, asked Cress to provide Council with some guidelines in their efforts to lower the number of policemen. "I would insist in the future," Cress responded for some students to tell me what they think." He predicted the hiring of from twelve to fourteen policemen at the next concert "with the same type of crowd."

ICCS plans to proceed despite continued hostilities

by George Esper
 Associated Press Writer

SAIGON AP — The chairman of the international peace-keeping for Vietnam declared Monday the warring parties have failed to make their cease-fire work in the 23 days since they signed it. But he said his organization will move ahead anyway to begin policing it.

Ambassador Michel Gauvin of Canada, chairman of the International Commission of Control and Supervision, said the cease-fire failure, as well as the delay of the central Joint Military Commission in becoming fully operative, has presented the ICSS with serious problems in meeting its obligations.

Gauvin reported that the ICSS decided to send a team into the field Tuesday to investigate, at the request of the United States, the shooting down of an unarmed American helicopter on a peace-keeping mission last Friday near An Loc, 60 miles north of Saigon. Five crewmen were wounded, one critically, and the United States blamed the Viet Cong.

Gauvin said the commission also will start deploying teams of 14 of 26 sites on Wednesday. They listed these as Phu Bai, Tam Ky, and Chu Lai in the northern sector; Kontum, Phu Cat, Tuy An, Dalat and Bao Loc in the central part of South Vietnam; and Xuan Loc, Ben Cat, Cu Chi, Giong Trom, Vi Thanh and Quan Long in the southern half.

Gauvin said the deployment is expected to be completed before the deadline of February 26 as stipulated in the Paris agreement.

Maj. Gen. Duncan McAlpine, Canadian chairman of the commission's military committee, said safety was the paramount consideration in selecting only 14 sites at present.

"It goes without saying that we would not want to go to places like Quang Tri and Gio Linh," said McAlpine. "These places are still very much in a state of contestation. Obviously, also we've got to be very careful about how we approach the western delta."

The Saigon command claimed that cease-fire violations have soared past the 4,000 mark and reported these total Vietnamese casualties since the cease-fire officially went into effect on January 28.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong — 7,186 killed, 195 captured.

South Vietnamese military — 1,259 killed, 5,837 wounded, 922 missing.

Civilian — 103 killed, 373 wounded, 497 abducted.

"I deplore them," Gauvin said of the alleged cease-fire violations. "But I am not surprised."

He said that the decision to withdraw the Canadian delegation from the commission if the shooting does not die down "will be made by the Canadian government."

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's government agreed to participate in the peacekeeping force only on condition it would withdraw after 60 days if the cease-fire proved unworkable.

The commission is made up of representatives of Poland, Hungary, Indonesia and Canada. A temporary Joint Military Commission, designed to support the peacekeeping body in policing the cease-fire, is composed of delegations from the United States, North and South Vietnam and the Viet Cong. It is supposed to operate on the basis of unanimity but has been slowed by bickering.

The Viet Cong blame a lack of security, in adequate accommodations and South Vietnamese attacks on Communist-controlled territory. U.S. sources say the Communist side is seeking "trivial" (Cont. on page 8)

Yesterday, embattled Student Council bumbled through another "meeting" accomplishing little more than solidifying their reputation as an ineffective body.

Granted, Council has only the power of recommendation. However even this right is usurped by the constant bickering and personal vendettas among members of the body.

Council's leaders and members must realize that they are not legislators. Student Council can recommend how to spend the monies in their budget, an important task. Council can recommend that other people or groups take action on any occurrence deemed salient. It is within these boundaries that Council must operate at present.

The Jambor strongly urges Student Council to perceive their power limitations. We would certainly like to see Council further empowered in the form of a viable student union, however it is of primary importance that our representatives reach some sort of lasting rapprochement ending the divisive factionalism which presently renders Council ineffective.

Divergent points of view are fine, but the lack of preparation among some of Council's more outspoken members coupled with the naive apathy characterizing some of the less vociferous representatives creates a schism which simply must be reconciled before Council is further empowered.

Council's future as a functioning body is predicated upon their short run ability to reconcile themselves to one another and to the realities of their position in the university superstructure. How well Council heals the existing rifts will build the foundation for the larger struggle looming ahead, that being the quest for real power.

Thanks Men's Varsity for support

To the editor of the Jambor:

This letter is written to comment on the article which appeared in last Friday's Jambor concerning the Women's Intercollegiate Basketball team.

Although the support we receive from other students is somewhat limited, the members of our team would like to thank the Men's Varsity team for the continued interest and support they have given us, both at our games and during the week.

Good luck with the rest of your season!

Cites security chief for violation

To the editor of the Jambor:

On February 19, 1973, the Student Council meeting was held in Room 11, Tod Hall. At this meeting, Chief Paul Cress of YSU security was present. I brought out that Mr. Cress and various others present in the room were smoking cigarettes, a direct violation of a city fire ordinance that was posted in clear view in the room. When I brought this point out, I was ignored by Chief Cress and the meeting went on. I would like to know why the Chief of YSU security openly violated and refused to enforce this law.

RECORDS Not Insane/One Man Dog

by J. W. Zabel

The Firesign Theatre - Not Insane (Columbia KC31585): The latest LP by the Firesign Theatre is worth buying. It is not a completely unified album like I Think We're All Bozos On This Bus but has the same breadth of insanity that warped Don't Crush That Dwarf, Hand Me the Pliers. It's very funny, makes you think, and this time you might even be turned on to Shakespeare (sic).

The album is dominated by excerpts from "Anything You Want To," a mutation of Shakespeare. The satire of this is aimed not at the playwright, but at his present-day advocates, who edify his work into a stony tomb. Following the real quality of Shakespeare, the characters in "Anything" have the same fascinating ability to articulate their sentiments beyond any means available to normal people. And unlike most modern renditions of the bard, the delivery is overstated as greatly as possible to help you appreciate the dynamics of the lines. Most important, the play does not try to ignore the vulgarity in Shakespeare that made the masses laugh, but instead modifies it to bring it up to date.

Framing the play is the surreal environment of a monster island (from the Godzilla movies), where the Firesign Theatre stages its latest serving of heavy antics. The humor ranges from an advertisement from Nostalgia Records (Dope Humor of the Seventies, volumes one and two, copyright 2001) to a sci-fi mutation of modern politics, with the president waiting in the nose of a mighty rocket ship. The group does yet another rip off on Ralph Williams, car dealer, as well as a Japanese mutation of the kiss-em-deadly private eye. And of course, the album is not lacking in the awful puns that Firesign expects you to laugh at.

Not Insane does not have as many innovations in recording techniques as their previous albums, due to the fact that most of the album was recorded live from their Shakespearean play. However, their technique has proceeded from the weird distortions of the computer talk in Bozos or This Bus to an almost complete integration of music, dialogue, and electronic distortion; the words cannot be understood without careful listening. (One ambitious attempt is to present a dozen commercials simultaneously; monsters have twice ears). This increases greatly Firesign's ability to cram so much content into so little time.

Unlike George Carlin and Cheech and Chong, Firesign means an album you must play several times before you can get a grip on it; you must be patient with Firesign. Also, unlike other LP comedians, Firesign can be played hundreds of times before it becomes boring. You find phrases of the albums becoming part of your vocabulary, you find yourself memorizing the whole album. And with Not Insane you'll find your reading expanding to include Shakespeare.

by Elrod Ponder

For many artists, public acceptance is oftentimes a hard-won commodity which comes after long years of struggle and suffering. Nowhere in rock music is there a more poignant instance of this than in the case of James Taylor.

Working primarily with George Harrison, he released James Taylor, which had such fine songs on it like "Carolina Day," "Rainy Day Man" and "Night Owl." In this country the album was a dismal failure, mostly because of poor promotion, but singers such as Tom Rush, Judy Collins, and Joni Mitchell were struck by the haunting self-revelation of Taylor's music and spread word of his work throughout the industry.

He went to Warner Bros. and hit with the enormously popular Sweet Baby James, which even up to now, is still one of best albums around. However, the levee broke with Mud Slide Slim. The first American album was great because it had some great songs. It was like an anthology of different moods and feelings.

This new album, One Man Dog, comes as a slap at everyone that deprecated some of his work for being shallow. Admittedly, the album is rushed; thrown together with a deadline hanging over his head. At least three of the songs are fragments and were put on the album in an unfinished form. But with all of this, it is sheer recorded magnificence. All of the songs are performed with a zest and fire which some would say has been absent since "Carolina Day."

A minor Renaissance seems to be taking place among some major performers: The Band, The Grateful Dead, The Original Byrds et al, all have recently released albums which confirm their artistry. One Man Dog is one of the best.

Dorm life series---

Beuchner offers structured life

by Cheryl Lisko
Jambar Copy Editor

Editor's Note This article is the first in a series on dormitory life on and near the YSU campus.

Have you ever considered living in Beuchner Hall?

Information obtained from the Beuchner Handbook (unfortunately printed in limited quantities and distributed to Beuchner residents after an exclusive interview only) may perhaps influence your decision of whether or not to take advantage of this organized, campus-approved dwelling or to join hundreds of other YSU students and live in non-approved off-campus apartments.

Several of the more obvious rules such as limited smoking in rooms and no alcoholic beverages are observed not only in Beuchner, but in all other approved near-campus dwellings. Beuchner, however, seems to be noted for its other outmoded codes. These have not been publicly disputed because Beuchner is a private, non-profit organization and has the prerogative to do as it chooses.

The dress code at Beuchner is somewhat restrictive. Residents may wear housecoats at breakfast only, and are permitted to wear slacks or dresses for lunch. Shorts may be worn at no time in the dining area. Dinner requires all residents to be "fully dressed." Whether or not this rule requires a hat and gloves is unclear.

Codes concerning the entertainment of "gentlemen friends" are perhaps the most cautious of codes listed. Men may be entertained in the Memorial Room from 2 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. from Sunday to Thursday, and from 2 p.m. until 11 p.m. on Friday and Saturday evenings. Quite clearly stressed is the fact that public display of affection is not considered proper.

Because of campus activities lasting till the wee hours of the morning (midnight), Beuchner residents are permitted to stay out until 12:15 a.m. This time span allows each woman approximately 15 minutes to do as she chooses.

Weekend and overnight passes are granted with parental permission. Freshmen girls are allowed one per month, Sophomores, 2 per month, Juniors, three leaves per month; and Seniors are permitted 4. Must working women who are not YSU students also have parental permission to come and go as they choose?

Guests other than female relatives are not permitted on the upper floors, and no unannounced guests are allowed at any time.

All meals are served in the Beuchner cafeteria. Residents must take numbers for their places in line and may not leave the dining room after they have taken their numbers. It must also be remembered that one girl cannot take a number for her friends. Everyone must wait her turn.

All rooms are cleaned by a maid once a week, but maids will not dust any personal belongings on the dressers. Girls must put away all articles on the dressers and be out of bed by the time the maid arrives. Dust mops are also provided to dust up the rooms before the scheduled cleaning periods. Nothing may be hung on the walls and no furniture may be moved.

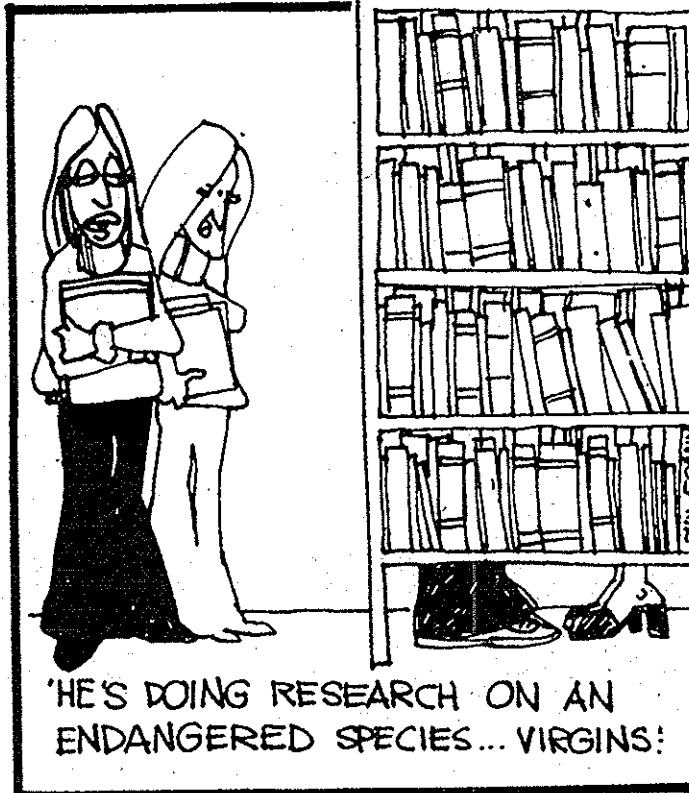

Residents may also expect inspections at any time.

Life in Beuchner Hall entitles all residents to "privacy, to their own beliefs and opinions, to their possessions and to their own time" (if they can find any after reading the numerous and lengthy rules posted on each floor). The only things they are asked not to do is visit indiscriminately, ask personal or prying questions, read

Symphony performances highlight WYSU programming for week

Performances by both the Boston Symphony under Daniel Barenboim and the Cleveland Orchestra, conducted by Michael Charry and Louis Lane mark this week's programming on WYSU-FM.

Daniel Barenboim conducts the Boston Symphony at 8 p.m., tomorrow, when the orchestra performs Elgar's Funeral March for "Grania and Diarmid" and "Falstaff" symphonic Study, Op. 68. The program concludes with Stravinsky's "Concerto in D for String Orchestra" and suite from "The Firebird." Best of Broadway, aired at 10 p.m., presents "Wildcat" starring Lucille Ball, and Jazz Revisited, heard at 11 p.m., examines pianist, composer and singer Fats Waller.

Michael Charry and Louis Lane share conducting honors of the Cleveland Orchestra at 8 p.m., Friday, when selections performed are Gershwin's "Cuban Overture," Vivaldi's "Concerto for four Guitars," Albeniz's "Malaguena," Breton's "Jota de la Dolores" and the traditional "Rhumbas Gitanas."

At 8 p.m., Wednesday, Concert of the Week includes pianist Arthur Balsam, cellist Barbara Mallow, and violinist Joseph Fuchs performing a concert from the University of Maine's Chamber Music School. The program also has Beethoven's "Sonata in A major for cello and piano," Martinu's "Variations for cello and piano on themes by Rossini," and Brahms' "Trio in B major for cello, violin and piano, Op. 8."

Zubin Mehta conducts the Philadelphia Orchestra at 8 p.m., Thursday to commemorate the 116th Anniversary of the founding of the Academy of Music. Selections include excerpts from Bizet's "Carmen," Mendelssohn's concerto in E minor for violin and orchestra, Op. 64, and Respighi's "The Pines of Rome." Soloists are soprano Shiley Verrett, tenor Placido Domingo, and violinist Muyumi Fujikawa. Charlotte Shockley calls her program "Beyond the Volga" and it will be heard at 10 p.m.

Sr. Mary Conroy's Black and Unknown Bards will be heard at 11:30 a.m., Saturday, when she talks about and illustrates the writing from "Claude McKay's 'Harlem Dancer.'" Charles Darling, assistant professor of history at YSU hosts Folk Festival, at 9 p.m., when he plays the music of Blind Lemon Jefferson, Mississippi John Hurt, Uncle Dave Macon and Cannon's Jug Stompers, in the third part of American Folk Heritage, 1926-32.

THE SCANDAL OF SECRECY
John W. Gardner, Chairman
Common Cause
Former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare

One of the weird and nonsensical facts about our government — at all levels — is that much of the public's business is done in the deepest, darkest secrecy. Citizens assume that only questions of national security and some aspects of criminal justice are dealt with in secret. Little do they know! Most of the time our public officials act as though the way they conduct our business is none of our business.

In 1972 roughly one-third of the Senate Public Works Committee meetings were held in secret. The figure for the Senate Agriculture Committee was 59 percent, for the House Appropriations Committee over 90 percent. The House Ways and Means Committee, which drafts the laws governing every federal tax dollar you and I pay, is notoriously secretive. Security is so tight that even the staff assistant of a Congressman who is on the Committee can't attend the closed meetings. What are they hiding?

All sessions of congressional committees — and records of all votes taken at such sessions — should normally be open to the public. Committees should be allowed to close a meeting only for considerations of national security or invasion of personal privacy, and the procedure for closing it should be carefully protected against abuse.

In the Executive Branch, virtually everyone associated with national security acknowledges that the system of classifying documents to preserve secrecy has been badly abused — all too often for the purpose of concealing bureaucratic error. And the zeal for secrecy extends to every government agency under the control of the Executive Branch. Regulatory agencies often meet behind closed doors, omit public hearings, and suppress reports the public should see.

Of course, the secrecy involved is only secret-from-the-public. The special interest lobbyists know very well what goes on in those hush-hush meetings. Quite often they're right in there with the decision makers. The only one who has splinters in his nose from bumping against closed doors is John Q. Public.

Now there is a resolution before the Senate — sponsored by Senators Humphrey (D., Minn.) and Roth (R., Del.) (plus 11 other sponsors) which would open all Senate committee meetings. A bill (S 280) recently introduced in the Senate by Lawton Chiles of Florida and in the House (HR 4) by Dante Fascell, also of Florida, would open all Legislative and Executive Branch meetings except those dealing with national security or involving personal privacy.

Information is power, and secrecy is the most convenient means of keeping that power out of the hands of the people. What the people don't know, they can't object to.

It's time to change all that. And you can help. Write your two Senators and your Congressman. Tell them you want them to open up the system. Or join Common Cause (2100 M Street NW, Washington, D.C. 20037) and ally yourself with 200,000 other members in getting these changes made. We're going to give this nation back to its citizens. The student membership rate is $7.00. Don't just stand there!

Speakers return with honors; state individual tournament set

Chuck Wigley and Barb Bilas of the YSU debate team extended the squad's award winning ways this past weekend at the State University of New York's Jenesco branch.

Wigley, a sophomore in math, received a seventh place speaker trophy at the tourney. Bilas, also a second year math student, attained an award for being the tenth best debator.

The pair compiled a 5-3 record debating the affirmative side of this year's proposition. The Penguin talkers combined forces with a negative unit from Kent State-Stark to achieve a 10-6 log overall. As a unit these speakers failed to gain the 12-4 log necessary to enter the elimination rounds.

The topic debated was Resolved: that the federal government should establish a comprehensive system of medical care for all citizens.

The speech team will be represented this coming weekend at the Middletown, Ohio branch of Miami University. This tourney is the state individual events championships meet. The forensic team will be accompanied by Dr. David Robinson, assistant professor of Speech and Dramatics and coach of the individual events participants.

Faculty appeals committee elects; members to hear faculty grievances

In the recently held faculty appeals committee elections, Dr. Matthew Siman, associate professor of electrical engineering, was elected as chairman, and Dr. Marilyn M. Solak, associate professor of secondary education was elected as member-at-large, said Vera R. Jenkins, secretary of the faculty and associate professor of accounting, yesterday.

The faculty appeals committee, explained Jenkins, "functions as an agency for the hearing of faculty grievances received from full and limited service faculty members, including faculty serving as full or part time administrators, to explore the possibilities of redress and/or to assist in arriving at a satisfactory solution."

Dr. Siman with 159 votes won over John R. Boland, assistant professor of management for the one year term as chairman. Dr. Solak totaled 116 votes over Joseph J. Koss and Dr. Robert E. Hopkins for the three year term position as member-at-large.

Dr. Jack D. Foster, chairman of Criminal Justice was appointed as head teller, and Mrs. Mary B.

Smith, assistant to the dean of admissions and records, was appointed as his assistant.

Two full time students, Jeffrey Pillot, sophomore, T & CC, and Patricia Snyder, sophomore, business, were appointed as senate aides. Jenkins made these appointments and will remain as faculty secretary.

James Villani, junior A&S, argued that Davis did not have the right to publicly retract a statement of position which had already been approved by members of Council.

Davis alleged that neither he nor the motion's author Jim Villani wrote the letter which finally appeared in the Vindicator. He stated that whoever drafted the letter did not have permission to sign his name, and did not have his authorization as chairman of Council to proceed in sending the letter.

Davis explained that his letter of retraction, which was printed in Friday's edition of the Vindicator, was written in hopes that he might hear from the letter's author.

Davis did, however, approve a suggestion made by Villani that another letter, formally authorized by Council, be sent to the Vindicator reaffirming Council's stand on the laser bomb issue.

YSU to host conference swim meet

The best small college aquatic talent ever assembled in Youngstown will compete in the 29th annual Penn-Ohio Conference Swimming and Diving Championships, March 1-3 at YSU's Beeghly Center pool.

Ashland College, a national powerhouse in recent years under coach Sandy Wilson, takes dead aim on its fifth straight Penn-Ohio title. After winning the league crown each of the past four years, the Eagles have gone on to finish in the top 11 at the NCAA College Division national championships including a fourth place effort in 1970.

Expected to give Ashland the stiffest competition are host Youngstown State and Edinboro State. The complete ten-team field includes Akron, California State, Edinboro State, Grove City, Indiana (Ind. Pa.), Slippery Rock State and Westminster. Clarion State and Carnegie-Mellon will not compete this year. Edinboro is a loop newcomer.

Heading the fine individual talent are a couple of old veterans and several very promising youngsters. Dick Tatch, YSU senior from Alliance, will defend his 50-yard freestyle title. The Penguin star won the event in :22.1 last year. Teammate Nick Gavolas, who won both the one and three-meter diving titles, has graduated.

Ashland senior Art Haltunen, who sat out last season, holds three Penn-Ohio records set in the 1971 meet. Haltunen won the 200-yard butterfly (2:04.4) and the 100-yard (1:03.6) and 200-yard breaststroke (2:18.9).

All eyes will be on his Eagle teammate Jeff Rogers, sensational sophomore sprinter. Rogers took the conference 100-yard butterfly honors in :55.2 last year. He gained national prominence by winning the 50-yard freestyle in the NCAA CD championships in a record-equal time of :21.7.

Another Ashland star, junior Mike Reedy, will defend his 100-yard freestyle title (:49.0). Hank Gayer, Ashland's defending 200-yard freestyle champ, was killed in an auto accident this past summer. The Eagles also took the 400-yard freestyle and medley relay crowns.

Cleveland State's Kent Kirchner, defending champ in the 400-yard individual medley (4:29.3) and 200-yard backstroke (2:04.3) had an outstanding frosh campaign as did Ashland's Rogers. Kirchner gained All-American honors with a third place finish in the 200 back in the NCAA CD finals.

Haltunen, Reedy and Rogers also rank as college division All-Americans. Haltunen, Kirchner, Rogers and Tatch all established Penn-Ohio record times in winning their events.

Ashland chalked up 429 1/2. Cleveland State (243 1/2) was third followed by YSU (224 1/2), Grove City (144), Slippery Rock State (85), Akron (83), California State (80), Indiana U. of Pa. (64), Westminster (33) and Carnegie-Mellon (6).

The meet schedule starts Thursday with finals in the 400-yard individual medley and 1650-yard freestyle set for 7 p.m.

One-meter diving preliminaries and semifinals start at 9 a.m. Friday. The prelims in the 200-yard butterfly, 50-yard freestyle, 200-yard backstroke, 200-yard freestyle, 200-yard breaststroke and 400-yard freestyle relay are slated for 1 p.m. Finals for all of Friday's events start at 8 p.m.

Saturday's schedule has prelims in the 100-yard butterfly, 100-yard freestyle, 100-yard breast stroke, 100-yard backstroke, 500-yard freestyle, 200-yard individual medley 400-yard medley relay and prelims and semifinals in three-meter diving starting at 9 a.m. Finals in those events begin at 2 p.m.

Tickets are now available while they last at the YSU Athletic Business Office in Beeghly Center. Prices are $1.25 for adults for finals and $.75 for adults for prelims. YSU students will be admitted by presenting their ID cards. The charge for all other students is $.50.

Saturday at Beeghly---

Penguins upset Steubenville, 38-37

To paraphrase a couple of salty old adages, "the gods smile on those that help themselves." This was never more evident than Saturday night at Beeghly Center, when Coach Dom Rosselli's underdog Penguins upset highly touted and tournament-hopeful Steubenville, 38-37.

The Barons, coming into the game at 18 and 5 for the year, played their anticipated slow, deliberate and defensive game but it wasn't enough, as the Birds put forth one of their finest efforts of the year. The Barons averaged 16.6 seconds per possession of the ball in their offensive court, putting to rest statements by Steubenville, Coach Ed Sparling, in answer to criticism, that they averaged 7 to 10 seconds a shot. The Barons had defeated YSU earlier in the year, 47-45, at Steubenville.

An aggressive, driving and alert Ron Romine led the Birds in scoring with 15 counters. Phil Gaston followed with 8 and Billy Wells and Jim Hood each had 6 points.

The Birds jumped out to a 21-16 halftime lead and were never again headed, building up a 12-point advantage with a little over 12 minutes to go in the final stanza.

The Barons utilized a cold-spell and some costly turnovers by the Birds to creep up to within one point with 1:50 left in the game at 36-37. But the fates had decreed that it was not to be the "night of the Baron."

After more than enough coaching maneuvering to fill a book, four time-outs and stalling by both teams, the Barons' Ron Spozio was fouled as he drove for a lay-up that would have given them the lead. Before he could shoot the two free throws, Baron Coach Sparling called a time-out.

Six seconds left, Spozio shooting 82% in free throws for the year; making one would have tied and two would have put Steubenville one point ahead and, barring a successful forty or fifty foot desperation shot being made, would have given them the win. He missed both shots! A jump ball was called on the rebound and time ran out on the slowed-down, slow-down mighty Steubenville Barons.

YSU took command of the game early and played an alert, tough and very aggressive game, with perhaps their best defense of the season. They out-rebounded the Barons, 26 to 24, and took 40 shots to 39 for Steubenville. The win put the Penguins at 9 and 11 for the season. The Birds travel to Cannon Wednesday night and then return home Saturday to host Hillsdale.

In the preliminary game, Coach Bob Chuey's baby Penguins routed the Walsh College JV's, 89-48, picking up their 13th win against 7 losses. Bob Rutkowsky had 18, Jeff Maley 15 and Joe Glover 14 points to lead the Chicks.

YSU riflemen rifle by Case, boost loop record to 6-1

The YSU rifle team scored a 1,269 to 1,185 victory over Case Western Reserve last Friday at CWU.

Gene Ellis paced YSU's attack with a 266 point total. CWU's Bob Hepp finished as the second leading scorer with 258.

The victory gives YSU a 6-1 record in the Lake Erie Intercollegiate Rifle Conference.

Three records set---

Swimmers drop 2 meets Friday

The Penguin swimmers found the Beeghly pool's waters a little rough over the weekend, dropping meets to Kent State, 76-35, and Kenyon College, 69-44, on Saturday, beating only Fairmont State 70-43, Friday.

Don Miller, Junior and Kim Miller, Freshman, were the stars in the victory over Fairmont State. Don Miller captured the 500-yard freestyle and placed second in the 1,000. Kim Miller finished one-two in both diving events.

Despite Saturday's double setback, YSU enjoyed a few bright moments as three new school records were established. Randy Heckert, freshman, set the 200-yard butterfly mark at 2:10.5. Tom McGee, junior, the 200 freestyle in 1:54.6, and Rami Yehudai, sophomore, the 200 breaststroke with a clocking of 2:18.8.

Senior Dick Tatsch and freshman Marty Sullivan also turned in impressive performances. Tatsch won the 50-yard freestyle in 22.45 seconds while Sullivan showed improvement by taking the one-meter diving with 151.75 points.

YSU closes out its home schedule this Friday opposing Ashland College at the Beeghly Center.

SAE, Phi Delts set for Division playoff

Sigma Alpha Epsilon edged Theta Chi, 41-39, and Phi Delta Theta beat Theta Xi, 42-39, Sunday in the Fraternity Division basketball semifinals.

In Independent 1500 quarter-finals play last Friday, the Bruins topped the Mets, 56-34, the Vikings defeated Tulsy N-N, 59-40, the Bombers dropped the Buckeyes, 53-44, and the PE Majors squeaked by the BMF's by a 30 to 25 count.

The Independent semifinals will be held tonight at 7 p.m. in the Beeghly Center. Next week, SAE meets the Phi Delts in the Fraternity Division Championship.

Valentine dance held

The traditional Valentine Dinner Dance held by the Youngstown State University Women's Club attracted 110 members and guests for festivities held at the Ramada Inn.

A buffet dinner was served, where the serving table was decorated with red tapers and a large Cupid holding red and white flowers.

The theme was carried over to the individual tables for eight where hurricane lamps were surrounded by red and white flowers, with red velvet streamers connecting to more red tapers.

Dancing to the music of "The Ohioians" was the highlight of their third social gathering of the year.

Co-chairmen for the occasion were Mrs. Raymond Orlando and Mrs. Paul Beckman, who were assisted by Mrs. John Coffelt, Mrs. Frank Kravec, Mrs. William Hands, and Mrs. Samuel Badal.

The last event on the Club's social agenda is a Luncheon and Fashion Show scheduled for May 12 in Kilcawley Center on the University campus.
