

Staff to Award Neons In Snapshot Contest

Amateur photography is to be placed on a competitive basis with five Neons to the winners it was announced today. In an attempt to instill a more informal air into this year's annual, the editors hope to make use of campus photographers.

From today on, photos may be submitted in the contest. Views of the campus, of the buildings, inside and out, and of college events on or off the campus are desirable. Informal snapshots of prominent Youngstown collegians will stand an excellent chance of winning a 1938 Neon.

Awards and Mention

Not only will five winners receive free Neons (total value ten dollars), but they will receive the further glory of seeing their efforts reproduced in the yearbook. Aside from the first prize winners, an unlimited number will receive honorable mention. All of this latter group will have their work printed in the Neon and will have their names published with full credit in the Jambar.

Although the final date for entries is April 15, contestants are urged to work immediately and capture some winter views of the college. Any snapshot taken during the past semester are eligible as well as any taken during the summer session of 1937.

Contest Rules

The rules governing the contest are as follows:

1. Any student taking at least one hour of work at Youngstown College is eligible excepting those holding major staff positions on the Neon.
2. Photos submitted should be not smaller than 2 1/4 x 3 1/4 inches. Subject matter should pertain to Youngstown College.
3. Photos should not have been taken later than July 1, 1937.
4. Contest closes Friday, April 15, 1938.
5. The name of the photographer should be printed lightly upon the back of the photo along with any comments deemed necessary.
6. Judges will be the co-editors, art editor, and faculty advisor of the Neon.
7. Entries may be handed to any member of the Neon Staff.
8. Prizes—To each of the persons submitting the five best photos, a free copy of the 1938 Neon will be awarded.
9. All others whose photos are used by the Neon will receive honorable mention in the Jambar.
10. All photos submitted will become the property of the Neon.

Collegiate Art Critics Judge New Year's Show

According to a pool conducted during National Art Week, one-third of the students of Youngstown College have never visited the Butler Art Institute. A representative group of 229 college students indicated this on a questionnaire and, at the same time, gave their opinions on the art exhibit.

Eighty-seven of these students agreed with the judges that THE RUSH HOUR was the finest oil painting in the show. The other 134 scattered their votes among thirty-nine other pictures, of which AUNT EFFIE, a portrait of an an-

Sigma Tau Delta Has Formal Installation

Mrs. Frank Semans, Dean of Women, Marjorie Wighton, Student Council member, and Frank Jaczko, Jambar columnist, were formally installed as active members of Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity. The services were held at the Stoneleigh Tea Room on Wednesday evening, January 19.

The oath was administered by Ann Malmer, the president of the organization. Professor Bare, founder of the local chapter, gave a brief talk on the aims of the fraternity. Before the ceremony, dinner was served for the twenty members present.

Elinor Rodgers, Rebekah Westfall, and Fay Treffert are others of the student body who are members of the fraternity.

Social Dancing Now A College Course

A class in Social Dancing will be the newest addition to the curriculum for the second semester. This new course is designed to teach students who do not know how to dance the rudiments of the art that is almost a social necessity nowadays.

There is nothing funny in not knowing how to dance says Mrs. Frank Semans, Dean of Women. "I am quite sure that students who take the course will benefit greatly in as much as the course has been tried in other colleges and has proven successful."

Miss Dorothy Bollard of the Y. W. C. A. will be the instructor. The class is from three to four every Friday afternoon.

Fills New Position On College Staff

Byron T. Mottinger

Byron T. Mottinger, automotive, electrical, and civil engineer, has been added to the college faculty as teacher and co-ordinator in the Co-operative Engineering School. As well as teaching courses in Mechanical Engineering, he will contact industrial concerns relative to securing "co-operative" jobs for students.

He received his Bachelor of Science degree from Case in 1906 and his Master of Science from the same school in 1909.

He views the cooperative course as the one way making engineers through a college course consisting of theory and work in the factory.

Students Pay Tribute To Burt

by Jack Haynes

There often comes a time when many students stop to think about values . . . such a time came to us recently . . . just before Prof. Burt left for Yale . . . his value was felt because he taught what far too few professors teach . . . that the only way to be successful is to help others, not by thinking of ourselves all the time.

His teaching was marked by his sincerity. Sincerity, not to do a job because it just meant bread and butter, but rather sincerity to a job because he believed that students should have good ideals by which their lives could be guided. That is why Prof. Burt is a teacher . . .

he did not expect all the calloused, worldly wise students to see his point, but he must have felt that he had been successful to a large degree when his students showed their feelings toward him the day before he left to continue his studies in the fields of ethics and philosophy.

Prof. Burt is not leaving us for very long. He will be back in September . . . until then we will have to struggle along without his advice and help . . . so until then the students of Youngstown College will say Au Revoir and Bon Voyage.

eral Arts students.

Miss Evans, in commenting upon the results of questionnaire, stated that the student selections were good examples of modern art and that the students were to be commended upon their high standard of art appreciation.

Seniors To Hold Dance Tomorrow in Auditorium

Neon Subscription Drive Opens With New Semester

"Support the Neon" is the urgent cry of the co-editor of this year's annual, Frank Jaczko. In a recent interview Mr. Jaczko related the importance of having a one hundred per cent subscription drive of the student body.

"This annual of 1938 is one which will be remembered long after we have left the portals of Youngstown College. We intend to make this volume of the Neon one which will set the pace for future generations."

Mr. Jaczko also stated the importance of having each student sign up for the Neon at the time when he or she signs up for next semester's schedule. This will eliminate the bother of having to pay for the Neon at the end of the year when everyone is worrying about exams and graduation.

The price of this year's Neon will be two dollars ($2.00).

"Buy A Basketball" Urges Committee For Football Campaign

So you thought basketballs were things the boys tossed through hoops. That just shows you haven't had your eyes open. Basketballs are round golden disks to fasten on your license plates. WATCH THE YOUNGSTOWN PENGUINS."

The whole story is that somebody had enough ambition to do SOMETHING about the football fund. A committee is selling these automobiles to help fill the bank and buy shoulder pads and helmets. "For the small sum of fifty cents, ladies and gentlemen, you may purchase one of these things for your car. If you haven't a car, use a kiddie car, use them for ash trays. Fifty cents, two for ninety cents, get them while they last." Quote smart salesman Middleton.

New Rules Will Govern Silent Week and Coming Rush Period

Interfraternity council voted at its latest meeting to change some of the rules of rushing that it felt were unsatisfactory. The greatest change came in regulation of "silent week."

It is felt that the "silent week" of last semester was too long and too difficult to maintain. Then too, it was felt that a change should be made about the manner of replying to bids. Complete changes (not in official wording) follow.

Rushing shall begin two weeks after the freshman reception, and shall continue for three weeks.

All bids must go out on the last Friday of the last rush week before three o'clock.

Silence shall be kept from that Friday until the following Tuesday at three o'clock. This silence ap-

Popular Bands Will Play to Celebrate Completion of Exams

Four of the country's outstanding bands — Goodman, Dorsey, Kemp and Crosby—will swing in the college auditorium on January 27, from nine thirty p. m. until one a. m.

The swing music will be heard via the phonograph records at the first "Victrola Dance" held by the Senior Class this year. A tariff of 35c (tickets obtainable from any member of the Senior class) will omit anyone who likes to trip the "light fantastic."

Robert Taylor is chairman of the committee, the other members are: Jeanette Powers, John Middleton, Gladys Miller, Frank Cambrell, Marian Smith, Madeline Margo, and Ann Monahan.

The money made from the dance will be used to pay Senior Class obligations, such as the Neon. A projected gift to the college from the Senior Class will also be financed partially by this dance.

New Deal Chaperones Will Go Modern

Chaperones at Agnes Scott College are going streamlined. A group from the senior class have been chosen by the Student Government Association to "keep an eye on the young folks."

According to the freshmen, the ideal chaperone will be a senior who is attractive—but not too attractive—pretty perhaps, but never beautiful, who has an abundance of sympathetic understanding but not too much enthusiasm, who talk when there's a lull in the conversation between the girl and her date, who will enter into the fun but who will never, never, under any circumstances be more witty and attractive than the bright young thing she is chaperoning.

Students are hopeful, but there's the indisputable fact that date — that is, boy plus girl—plus chaperone, equals the well-known eternal triangle.

plies to all freshmen. A greeting only may be spoken.

All replies to bids shall be placed in envelopes sealed and addressed to the proper group, and should be dropped in a ballot box to be kept in the office. Answers must be in by three o'clock on Tuesday of the silent period.

At three o'clock of that Tuesday, the president of interfraternity council will open the box and distribute all envelopes to group presidents.

The silent period has been designed to help the rushees and not to single out any group. Keeping silence is a matter of honor, for no punishment will be dealt to those who break this ruling.

● We Clarify Ourselves

The Council Investigation story in the last issue of the JAMBAR gave rise to a misunderstanding that has proven embarrassing to a member of Student Council as well as to the editor of the JAMBAR.

The exact paragraph to which we refer was the one in which Paul Maloney, as treasurer of Student Council and in charge of all accounts, was asked what had become of the money left over from last year's NEON.

The wording evidently led some readers to believe that the JAMBAR was casting insinuations against the character of Mr. Maloney. This was decidedly not the case. We heartily apologize to Paul for having permitted a story to be printed that might carry implied accusations, however vague, against him.

The explanation of this point is as follows: The question of the profit from last year's NEON was brought up and discussed in Council meetings. Hearing about it from this source, the NEON editor asked the Council treasurer to find out whether it was available for use by the 1938 staff. Maloney was unable to get this information. The JAMBAR, by the simple process of asking President Jones, found out that the money, $159.60, was donated to the college to be used toward the purchase of an electric organ for the auditorium, or other gift for the college.

● Penguins, Truck On Down

A slow-to-start basketball team is on its way and going to town. An epidemic of injured players and those first three heart-breaking games, threatened to throw a wet blanket over student enthusiasm and to disprove the predictions we made before the season opened, but the team made a fresh start and is proceeding to live up to the pre-season reputation.

A glance at the schedule shows that the three toughest games are past. Looking at the scores, we find that the boys have lost but two games since their second start. One loss was by one point to West Liberty in an overtime. As the season's half-way mark, the Hiram game, approaches, the ledger is balanced: Viewing the ease with which the lads took the last three games, we have no fear of the future. You're in the groove, Penguins, ride it down.

● Thoughts Turn To Football

The football committee is sponsoring the sale of metal license plate tags in the form of gold basketballs with "Follow the Youngstown Penguins" inscribed in red. The tags have the twofold purpose of creating an interest in the college football team.

A football team for Youngstown has been made possible largely through student demand, interest, and preliminary work. The difficult task of raising money has just begun. While this is under the supervision of the administration, everyone must skimp, save, and give in order that success may be assured.

The fact that the sale of these car emblem basketball and help promote football.

CAMPUS COMMENTS BY FRANK JACZKO

WE ARE SORRY

Upon request of the administration we apologize for our part in the crusade waged against Student Council in behalf of the student body. We retract every statement made that in any way degraded that shamefully misunderstood legislative, executive, and judicial crew. We can't understand how we could have overlooked the sterling qualities that this illustrious clan is so obviously endowed with. This year's Council is without a doubt the wisest, fairest, most industrious, and most noble galaxy of individuals that ever gave an hour a week for their Alma Mater. Last week we were invited to leave the meeting before the show was half over but we hold no grudge. We realize that our presence was hardly justified. After all we were merely representing the official publication of the students of Youngstown College. And what right have the students to know what goes on in their council's meetings? Their job was done when the scraps of paper were taken from the ballot box and counted.

COMMENTS LAUREL

This week's Laurel is made to fit blonde Martha Lally of the business school. The obliging young lady from the second floor is the talented pianist at the noon-hour dance sessions. Although we haven't as yet taken advantage of these luncheon hops we are sure that those who have agree with us in our selection for honorable mention.

PETEY PENGUIN PEEKS

"Hastening Spring: Postmistress Findley and Bohemian Dyer; West Point Wilcox and Phi Lamb Conway; Cheerleader Evans and Brummel Noble. Who are they? A couple of business school girls rapidly going boy crazy and just as rapidly losing friends of both sexes. Too bad, they were such nice kids. I don't know whether I had anything to do with it or not but dirty knees have come a rare sight in the lounge. My cousin Pauline who adorns the basketball team's jackets was designed by Howard Rempes. Incidentally, Pauline can never be accused of not backing the team. Katherine (Lowellville) Jones is back with us. Very charming. . . and unattached (while Ohio U is in session) . . ."

BIRTHDAY PARTY

We stopped in at the cafeteria last Friday for a midday snack and sat in the nearest empty chair. Picture our astonishment when a good sized birthday cake with eighteen flickering candles was brought in and placed before Marjorie McKeown who was at one end of our table. It turned out that we had stumbled into an impromptu birthday party for the amiable Phi Lamb. The cake was good, the hostess charming, and the twelve guests had an unexpected good time.

THIS AND THAT

The first lines of Shakespeare that Doc Reid, who probably knows more about the Bard of Avon than any five people, was conscious of, is in The Tempest, Act I Scene 2 beginning: If by your art, my dearest father, you have put the wild waters in this roar, allay them: . . . Doc was 10 years old at the time and lived in a small town outside of Atlanta, Ga. . . . Joe Fisher was a cop once and had one of the toughest beats in the city. He studied law in the day time and enforced it at night. Joe is quite a bridge shark and is right in his element with the present contract craze. . . . Something to think about: An R. O. T. ### Council's Rebuttal

To the Student Body:

In the last issue of the Jambar, statements criticizing the Student Council were made. The Student Council does not wish to engage in an argument with the Jambar, but it feels that the Student Body is entitled to hear their side of the story, for they feel that many statements were exaggerated. Council has only praise for the Jambar, feeling that this year's Jambar is the best in the history of Youngstown College; however, it feels that the last publication was detrimental, not only to the Student Council, but to the reputation of the college as a whole. In its zeal to be a true organ of the college, it has overstepped the bounds of strict newspaper truth in regard to their report on Student Council.

Council knows that it is not perfect, that it is not one hundred percent efficient nor one hundred percent competent; however, it wishes to point out that no body can ever attain this ideal. But on the basis of the work already accomplished, this group bows its head to no previous council.

As to the specific charges made, first, Paul Maloney was indicted as representative, Student Council feels that his discordancy is extremely thought-provoking; as Mr. Maloney serves a definite purpose in that his argumentativeness, arouses more and clearer thinking. Second, Bill Litvin, was cited as being the most representative of the group. This is only natural as he has served as a council member more often than any other member.

Third, John Middleton is denounced for his inability to hold members in check. In conducting Student Assemblies his attitude is not in accord with their accusation. Furthermore, Council meetings are to a certain degree informal, and because of this council feels there is no need for austerity to the point of ridicule. Concerning Council's "Unholy Activities," it must be cited that Professor Doll, in the role of Council Advisor, is always in attendance.

As to the unwillingness of many members to vote, it must be remembered that it is the sole right or prerogative of any member of any organization to vote at his own discretion.

The statement was made that "No account is ever made of receipts given or payments made." Before any expenditure is made Mr. Picard must give his approval, and no bill is paid without a signed receipt. Under such a system there seems no reason for the implied insinuation in the report of the Jambar committee.

The Editor of the Neon has re-

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

This week the Inquiring Reporter uses the last of the Mimes-bar prize winning questions. This is from William Bartolo, "How do you feel about the proposed nightclub of the Federated Youth Council?"

Miss Mary Kirner, Sophomore, "I think that these young pups are trying to gain the sanctity of the Church, but that they will drink anyway."

Mr. Martin Witt, Freshman, "In theory it is a good plan but will not work out in practice. The youth of the nation are prone to excesses; they will drink whether they are permitted or not."

Miss Maxton Parmenter, Junior, "It might last for awhile but it would soon die out because of lack of patronage."

Miss Edna Swenson, Business College, "I never attend nightclubs myself, so I really couldn't say." Good girl, Edna!

Mr. Anthony Moliterno, Sophomore, "I favor this idea because the one in Niles is a success and young people like to go where there is no drinking, especially college and high school students."

peatedly asked Maloney, who is treasurer and in charge of all accounts, to let him know what has become of the two hundred dollar profit that was made by the Annual of last year." This question was discussed by Student Council during a meeting at which the Editor of the Neon was present, therefore knowing the situation. But for the benefit of the Student Body, Council would like to explain that all unused money or profit of activities is placed in a general fund and used to pay the deficits of other activities at the close of the school year.

Moreover, the amount in question was not the stated sum of two hundred dollars, but one hundred fifty-nine dollars. In this specific case the money was placed in a fund to be used for the purchase of an organ for the college. It was placed in that fund by the consent of the Editor-in-Chief of the Annual of last year, and also by that of the Business Manager.

Regarding the closing of the lounge, Council had repeatedly warned the Students to be more careful in their treatment of it. As

The Collegiate Angle . . .

by Lenny Evans
The writer has noticed with much interest and not a little amusement the increasing use of a certain proper noun which carries with it, justly or unjustly, a rather socially unacceptable implication. This word has been used freely by a number of supposedly educated people to indicate any person who does not think as they do. This word, originally coined to designate a member of a certain political party, has more popularly been utilized to indicate any person whose beliefs are a bit more liberal than those of the name-callers. This over-used proper name is the word "Communist." Does a person believe in industrial unionism? He is a Communist. Does a person believe that our present economic system could be improved upon by gradual change? He is a Communist. Does a person believe in President Roosevelt? Some even say he is a Communist. No great improvements in history have ever been made by hanging tenaciously to all the old customs, policies and practices, and shunning any innovation. The most arid, unproductive, and benighted eras were those in which all new ideas were shunned or persecuted and only the old were fostered.

A Communist is a member of a certain political party. Let us then confine it to its correct usage and cease using it to designate those who have dared to hold any view which differs from that of the milling crowd. This is certainly not a plea for the reader to support any radical program, nor is it intended to ridicule anyone. Its sole purpose is to ask that minds be broadened to a point where we will be able to hear views differing from ours without resorting to the flimsy re-

Game To Be Played At McDonald High

Saturday night the Penguins will journey to McDonald to meet Hiram College on neutral territory in an attempt to garner their fourth straight victory. So far the Penguins hold a four to one lead over a period of five years.

The win and loss column for the locals reads five and five. The boys seem to have found themselves since they lost four of their first five games and they should take Hiram in their stride.

Hiram will have a comparatively green team on the floor since Day is the only letterman from last year's team who will be in the starting lineup.

Playing at the opposite forward with Day will be George who has come up from last year's squad of reserves. Another star is sharp-shooting Abbott who will play at guard.

Coach Sweeney should have little trouble in deciding on a starting lineup. He has found the right combinations, and either quintet is capable of playing superior basketball. The entire squad will probably see service in every game from now on, as they have in the last three games.

The administration was going to take steps, Council deemed it advisable, in the interest of closer harmony, to have this action from a student group.

Concerning the argument in "Campus Comments," that students paid for the furnishings of the lounge in their activities fee, it must be understood that the students paid only a small part of the initial cost and this has long been destroyed.

In regard to the accusation of Council's lack of action, specifically in regard to the Honor System, in the five week period mentioned, let

An outstanding event of the winter social calendar will take place at Southern Hills Country Club when Sigma Delta Beta fraternity holds its mid-winter formal dinner-dance February 1.

Hostesses for the dance are Totty Patrick, Romaine Clever, June Wymer, Nancy Findley, and Betty Russell. Dr. and Mrs. Scudder and Mr. and Mrs. Doll will attend as chaperones.

The committee chairman is Myron Groves, assisted by Clay Wilcox, John Middleton, and Myron Groves.

It is remembered that two of the five weeks were vacation weeks. It was the desire of the committee appointed to obtain all the information possible from other colleges, subsequently this required time. At the time the system was mentioned as a possibility, the Jambar saw fit to feature it as headline material. Council felt and requested that the Jambar not feature this news until something more definite than a possibility could be expressed. Because of this request the Editor of the Jambar felt that Council was endeavoring to control his publication, so that was headlined.

As to the four points the committee recommended:

1. The "Honor Point System" has

Grove City led at the half 23-19.

Penguin Yearlings Down Chiropodists

Coach Sweeney let a quintet of freshmen take over the varsity's game with Ohio College of Chiropody. Led by Ray Anderson, the Penguins showed the way to a 47 to 28 victory.

Anderson scored 17 points, 15 of them in the first half, while Patterson, Cashon, and Reinehr played a stellar floor game.

The freshmen played the entire first half and piled up a 27-13 lead. Harris led the Chiropodists with 12 points. In the prelim the reserves won their first game of the season downing the B. M. D. quintet 17-16.

3. Council has had treasurer re-

Jambar has not seen fit to publish.
4. Council feels that there is entirely no justification for the fourth accusation concerning their representation for the students.

In the editorial it was stated that council squandered its time in a meaningless discussion over a consideration. There are two definite reasons for the time spent on the constitution. First, it is necessary for any organized body to operate under a constitution and all previous constitutions were obsolete.
Second, the main issue consuming

By Charles Mulcahy

Marlea Leshar Ott has been toying with a lot of new tune ideas since one of her numbers, "Two Silhouettes on the Wall," was played by Lee Allen's orchestra over a NBC network. Marlea wrote the music for a friend, Vivian Welsch, who wrote the words for a comedy show that was given at South High about a year ago. Vivian took the manuscript to Cleveland and so much time, concerned the student body as a whole and not council. These facts even a casual perusal of the constitution would have manifested.

showed it to Allen, who liked it and made an orchestration for his band.
Mike Malmer who is traffic director for the P. & O. and a lucky fellow, rides to Akron (of course free) on one of the company's coaches every day or so just to be sure that everything is running smoothly.

Speaking of clubs, the members of the old Topaz Club are together again—or at least 12 have joined up for some social bridge playing.
The revitalized club includes Ema
Smith, who is teaching short hand and typewriting in the commercial department at Chaney School; Pauline (Polly) Hossel, now church editor of The Vindicator; Isabelle Summers, teaching at Roosevelt school; Rachel Griffith, secretary at South High; Ida Breen, in Strouss-Hirshberg art department; Marguerite and Ida Fulton, both wearing solitaires on their "heart" fingers; Betty Oberst, who is now Mrs. Robert Sharts and lives on W. Glenaven Ave.; Ann Gulan-liel Association; Ada Zimmerman ish, with the Mahoning County re-who is now Mrs. Roy Kimmi; as two babies and lives in Austintown; Irene Garwood who is Mrs. William Barker. Irene often substitutes at the Struthers High School where Billy is a regular teacher; and Mar-lea Leshar Ott, who interrupts her housewifely duties to play the piano for gym classes at the "Y. M." and the "Y. W."

Jean Donnan is teaching at Lierty School.
