Hats, Suits Have Gone Informal as New York's Ultra Night Spots

From penguin to parakeet! That in a nutshell is the picture of the night-going male today on Broadway and in the well-known nighteries on the east and west sides.

War economy, which has now reached practically everyone in all parts of the country, has had its expected effect upon the setup of the average business man. When times were less difficult, he relaxed more and had more time for night club leisure. Now, while he can still be seen relaxing, he is not doing it in the rather stiff formal style that comes with the wearing of dinner jackets and full dress.

We don't mean to advocate that those who have dinner jackets and full dress suits that still fit should keep them in moth balls, but we do mean that in New York, at any rate, you are not frowned upon if you drop in for a quick one wearing your regular business suit and hat, or your more colorful spring ensembles. The total effect of this shift in the male habits of dress at night has been to enliven the scene everywhere. The rakish broad-brimmed new straw hats, the colorful spring ties and the buses, greys, and light tans seen in the spring suits have all added to a far more pleasing atmosphere.

The St. Regis and the Rainbow Room, two top spots in New York.

THIRTY

In writing my last editorial for the Jambar, I wish I might write a worthy goodbye to Youngstown college, but I am much too incompetent. It is not enough to say I have benefited by my three years here. This is what any other graduate might say. But college has meant much more to me. I have gained invaluable experience through the extra-curricular activities offered and encouraged by the administration and invaluable knowledge given by the faculty, which I will now confess, had to be forced upon me at times.

Regretfully I edit this last issue because I shall miss the friends I have met through the paper and who have worked with me. But unlike this paper, which shall become just a memory of my college life, these friends will not be completely lost and become mere memories.

To Mary Wrench as next year's editor, I wish all the luck in the world; she has all else in her favor. May her year be as happy as mine has been.

To the administration and faculty, I wish to express my thanks for giving me this start in the business world.

Thru the Keyhole

Well, here we are back again. Aren't you all glad, You do not have to answer that question. Thank heavens.

From our floral department this week we send a whole bouquet of orchids to Mary Wrench for being elected to guide the Jambar next semester as Editor-in-Chief.

You no doubt know by this time that Edie McCormick has received a diamond ring from Jimmie Dollison. Edie and Jim looked fine when they had dinner with the Dollison family last Sunday.

Scoop and such—Bob Seidner has improved his golf game. His latest score is 115 for nine holes. Don't worry, Bob, by the time you are fifty you will be shooting par golf.

By the way, have you ever stuffed papers? Try it sometime. It is fun—if you are fast enough.

Looking Around

with Norma Malin

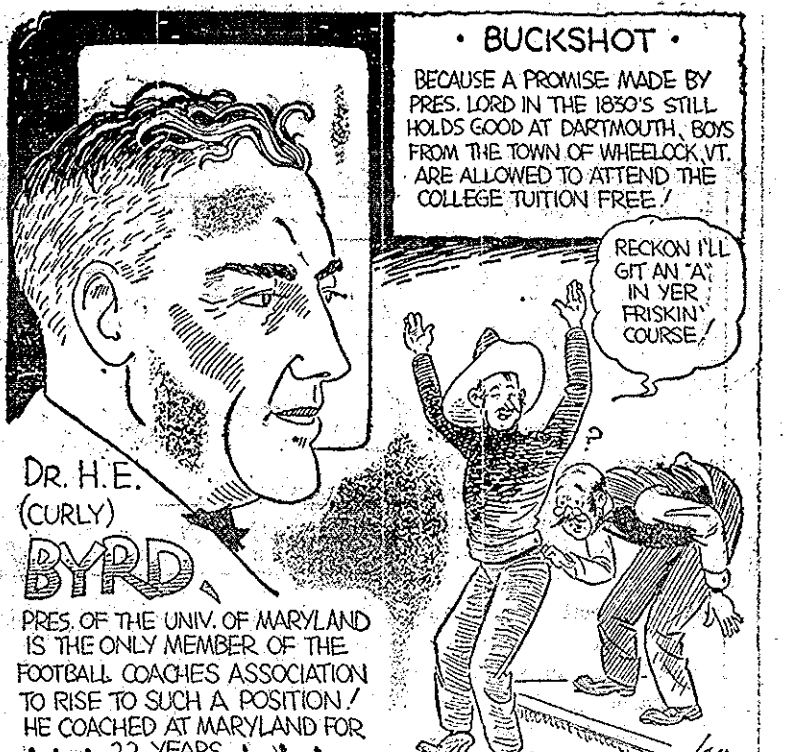

I, hereby, dedicate this column to our dear departing Seniors—our blessings upon you as you toss your tassel and bravely step out into the abyss of the Great Unknown. This chaotic world we are now living in is a lot different from the sanctity of YoCo's serene and hallowed halls—comparatively speaking, of course. It's going to take a lot of readjustments—to anything from an army camp to a country schoolhouse; but whether you are dealing with Japs or Fifth Graders, we know you will do an excellent job—because we think you are just about tops in graduating classes and everything you undertake has got to be a pretty big success.—YoCo is going to miss you—miss us too will you?—In case you get a job out of this I want pay for the plug.

I'll wager that this is the first time in YoCo's history that three married couples receive their diplomas all at once and the same time. Jean and Joe Chapel, Marion and Jimmy Miller. And Nancy and Frank Kubina. Congratulations and sincerely hope you all live happily ever after. Incidentally, Frank will accomplish a lot on one short furlough—a wife and a diploma—just like that!

My heartiest congrats to our new editor-in-chief, MARY WRENCH. I am of the humble opinion that it is a very good policy to get one's apple polishing done early. . . . beat the other columnists to the draw. . . . so to speak.

Of course you all have noticed Eddie McCormick flashing that positively gorgeous diamond and looking all orange blossoms and bliss? . . . No, not for a while, kids, Jimmy's going to serve his country first. . . . Another good man eliminated from the mad chase, girls, and in times like these, too, as if the Japs and the Nazis weren't enough competition. . . . The way things look now I think I shall have to enroll in a monastery for the duration. However I shall forget all this, be my usual self and bestow my heartfelt blessings upon the happy couple.

CORNER THOUGHTS . . . HOWARD BLAIR elucidating on his three-point system of how to get ahead. . . . 1—Apple polishing. 2—Nose to grindstone. 3—Slinging the Bull. . . . I, personally, use the grindstone method. . . . how about you? . . . Fred Lanz getting a big sendoff, which he certainly deserved. . . . Yoco is losing something there. One of KITTY'S MAY DAY ATTENDANTS displaying the note attached to her flowers. . . . "To one who should have been Queen" . . . some people just can't take NO for an answer, can they? . . . The big flop the GREEKS made of the Interfraternity picnic by not showing up. . . . Well, we have had some good times, kids in spite of everything. . . . it's been worth knowing you and farewell. . . . and good luck and all that sort of thing. . . . I hope you didn't flunk more than the two courses.

Pete's Boys

BY PATRICIA

Dear Students: I have taken a great responsibility upon myself since my poor husband's untimely death. In his last words he asked me to continue where he left off in his presentation of his boys from Varsity Hall. I agreed ever so willingly and added a point—that in his memory, this column shall be considered traditional in the Jambar from now until the consummation of Youngstown college. Since I believe that Pete would want it so, I would like to complete the roster of his boys in this issue. And I find that the last roll of this semester is a lucky seven.

Emil Juick opens the scandal. Emil hails from Farrell, Pa., and claims a year of college football for St. Francis before transfer. ring to Yoco. His bust is on display in the art room if you desire. A three-year giant from Sharon, Pa., is next. "Little Kal" is the larger but younger half of the Kalwarski brothers. A certain Phi Lamb has him on the limb, and Henry is deserving of our sympathies—definitely! No offense meant, chubby.

The next kid claims he's (spelled with a small b) Pa., as his place to eat and hang his hat. "Indian George" finds it hard to decide whether golf or football gets the nod as his first love. Yes, friends, Kohut is the boy in question.

Ladies and gentlemen: May I present Varsity Hall's gift to the women, the man with the Charles Atlas physique—Sir Edward McClain Lindsay, Jr., of Warren. Seriously, Ed likes football, tennis, swimming and all sports but baseball, because he doesn't like people to watch him "pitch".

Getting back to Pennsylvania and New Brighton we come upon the "Brighton Tiger" Leonard Mitchell. Two years of high school competition were put under Mitch's belt (see them stick out when he walks) before he decided to grace the fair halls of Yoco.

Now we meet Varsity Hall's gift to the basketball squad—That slim, handsome forward from Howland Corners—Henry the Kalwarski brothers. A certain

Personality of The Week

Rinia McKinney

Quick strides—a keen quizzical expression on his face—brows knit—add to this the appearance of the average American college student who has attained his senior year plus a lively interest in Jean Patterson and you have the personality formula for Howard Blair. His taste in clothes are conservative with a preference for blue just so it has a "Bond Street" price tag. He enjoys both classical and swing music and almost any type of sports. In conversation his favorite topics are Physics and JEAN PATTERSON. Incidentally his ideal of womanhood is a "woman with an opinion." As a matter of fact he believes in being individualistic, almost to the point of being radical—or as he puts it, "being perfectly frank." He is an Independent, President of the Senior Class, and has been a member of the Choir, Dawn Patrol, and the Engineering Society. He plans to make Engineering his life's work and has taken the opportunity for practical experience in working for the county engineering department. From all reports, he should have a successful career in his chosen field.

Editor's Mail Box

Dear Editor:

I have always been known as a person who possessed an unbridled curiosity. Because I still retain a great interest in the Jambar and the affairs of the school, I am always curious to see what is going to appear in the coming edition of the paper. Therefore I sometimes make it my business to read certain copy before it goes to press. The copy which is destined to appear in this issue of the paper was particularly interesting—especially Martha "Neag's" column. In this so-called column she again gives vent to her own peculiar style of poisonous propaganda. She makes a left-hand answer to Mister Lanz and Mister Downey. Then she turns to some very interesting figures in which she claims that the Independents have succeeded in greatly outnumbering the Greeks this year on the Dean's list and on the roster of Delta Epsilon. Now let me quote some more figures: As a matter of common knowledge, the Independents outnumber the Greeks. But I'll wager few people know by what a majority. There are 600 students enrolled in day-school here at Youngstown College. 189 of these are Greeks. That is not even one-third. The Independents thus outnumber the Greeks by more than two to one! Now let's look at the percentage of enrollment on the Dean's list and in Delta Epsilon. The Greeks managed to place 12 on the Dean's list for a score of 27 percent. They placed 14 in Delta Epsilon for a score of 25 percent. Now I don't think that is so bad—and remember Miss Neag's claim that the Greeks very seldom do any school work.

As an added feature to this outburst I would like to take this opportunity to present Miss Neag with written recognition of "her good work." She has undoubtedly done more to create strife and ill will among the members of the student body than anyone of the hundreds of people who have been privileged in the past to write for this paper. By repeatedly taking advantage of her position on the Jambar she has been able to present her markedly prejudiced and over-emphasized and even often exaggerated, that is the nicest way I know of expressing that thought, opinions on matters that most of the time were none of her business. In conversation Neag manages to give one the impression that she likes very little about our school, very few people who comprise its student body or personnel, and the city, state, and country in which she is privileged to live. I have been singularly impressed by the "old-world" attitude which she takes about almost everything. As a bit of advice to her and people like her — if they don't like it here why don't they go elsewhere. That's about all there is to say, except this final thought. I hope next year's editor has better luck in picking her workers than this year's editor did; I hope someone will be found who will not be afraid to make a comment about the campus once in a while "for fear of having undesirable friends forced upon them." Thanking you for giving me this opportunity to express these thoughts, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
FRANK SCHERMER

YOUR COLLEGE CAN NOW HELP YOU BECOME A NAVAL OFFICER

Freshmen, Sophomores, 17 THRU 19. Enlist now! Stay in college! You may qualify for a Naval Commission on the sea or in the air.

Freshmen, Sophomores. Here's a challenge—and an opportunity! Your Navy needs trained men. Trained men to become Naval Officers! And your college is ready to give you that training now.

Here's New Navy Plan

If you're 17 and not yet 20, you enlist now as an Apprentice Seaman in the Naval Reserve. You then continue in college, including in your studies courses stressing physical training, mathematics and physics. After you successfully complete 1½ calendar years of college work, you will be given a classification test.

Aviation Officers

If you qualify by this test, you may volunteer to become a Naval Aviation Officer. In this case, you will be permitted to finish the second calendar year of college work before you start your training to become a Flying Officer.

However, at any time during this two-year period after you have reached your 18th birthday, you may, if you so desire, take the prescribed examination for Aviation Officer . . . and, if successful, be assigned for Aviation training. Students who fail in their college courses, or who withdraw from college, will also have the privilege of taking the Aviation examination.

Deck or Engineering Officers

If you qualify in the classification test and do not volunteer for Aviation, you will be selected for training as a Deck or Engineering Officer. In that case, you will continue your college program until you receive your bachelor's degree, provided you maintain the established university standards.

Other Opportunities

If you do not qualify as either potential Aviation Officer or as potential Deck or Engineering Officer you will be permitted to finish your second calendar year of college and will then be ordered to active duty as Apprentice Seaman. But, even in this event, because of your college training, you will have a better chance for advancement.

Pay starts with active duty. It's a real challenge! It's a real opportunity! Make every minute count by doing something about this new Navy plan today.

Richetto, Hank was a standout in his day of high school basketball. Baseball is tied with the hardwood sport as his favorite pastime.

And now the last of the seven dwarfs for today—bashful Alexander Aloysius Walonsky from Sharon, Pa. Everybody calls him Al but I don't see why! he's just "Big Noise" to the boys. Alex runs a near second to Davidson as far as blushing is concerned. His is a rare combination of talent; he is an artist both on the gridiron and in his art classes. He is the creator of the aforementioned bust of Juick. He's nailed, girls.

Pete asked me to say goodbye until the fall term; but since time and space are short, I won't. Nor will I say that I'll be waiting next semester to give you further dope on "Pete's Boys." I won't even say... see you next year.

Even at Interfraternity Picnic Vincent Coe had to play Bridge. Life to him must be just one game after another.

Ask Joel Bevington how close he came to going in swimming at Interfraternity Picnic. If he won't tell you, ask Carrol Jones.

It won't be long before Summer Vacation. We hope to see many of our friends in Summer School, so until we meet again, this is Ed McGowan and Ben Williams saying—"So long, gang."

HATS, SUITS

York night life that would not admit you six months ago if you were not in dress clothes are now playing up in a big way the fact "in the spirit of the times 'informal dress' " is now the word.

In spite of the fact that Government conservation measures restricting the use of wool are now in effect, there are plenty of tropical worsteds on the scene. These may not last throughout the summer, but for now they are abundant. Wool ties are also seen more than ever before and in a greater variety of colors. So far the ban on cuffs does not seem to have made headway. They are off all the newer suits but there are still plenty of old suits walking around.

SCHOOL HAS GOLD DIGGERS

Salt Lake City, Utah—When the University of Utah graduates its mining school class there are no soft-palmed sissies that never have been down in the "diggins". The fact that you can see students in hard rock hats, sweat-soaked shirts and dirty overalls is proof. The mining school maintains its own practice mine. Students get actual work at surveying, ventilation and mining.
