BUMPER CROP 77—YSU students were greeted back to school Monday with a two to three inch layer of snow. As usual most of the lots were packed to capacity leaving late comers to campus no other choice but to search and hunt for a spot. The snow made the situation all the worse by causing slippery driving and hazardous conditions. By Thursday most of the streets were cleared and driving was back to normal.

39 YSU students selected for University "Who's Who"

by Stan Vitak

Thirty-nine students have been selected to represent YSU in the 1976-1977 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

A committee appointed by Dr. Charles McBriarty, Dean of Student Affairs, was responsible for the selection. Members of the committee, representing students, faculty and administration, were: Dean Patricia Bleidt, administrator; Dr. Joseph Altinger, faculty; Dr. Edgar Cobett, faculty and students Kelly Shreck, senior, CAST, and Jim Senary, senior, business.

"A total of 114 students were nominated for 'Who's Who,'" said Dean Bleidt. "Of these, only 89 were eligible, and we had 69 of the 89 return their applications. So we made a selection of 39 from 69."

In order to be eligible for "Who's Who," a student had to be of junior or senior standing, and graduating from a four-year program no later than June 1978. In selecting students for the publication, the committee considered three categories of achievement: 1) participation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities; 2) citizenship (what they contributed to the community) and 3) service to school and promise of future usefulness to society.

Dean Bleidt explained: "The selection committee, based upon individual's application, look at their scholarship and those three categories, in selecting certain individuals.

"The three categories were rated on a point system of one to five with five being the highest. After getting the average of these ratings, the student's grade point average was added on. This is how the individuals were ranked. So, no one was eliminated on the basis of just their grade point average."

Dean Bleidt added that to the best of her knowledge everyone who was selected this year was enrolled in a four-year program. There are some deserving individuals on two-year programs," she said. "I have requested for the past several years that the central office recognize this. We have never had official sanction to select these people." In rare instances in the past there have been people on two-year programs from YSU selected for "Who's Who."

"There are such a variety of procedures for selection which exist at various universities that I sometimes question the fairness of the process," said Dean Bleidt to the Jambar and in

17 YSU employees may have to retire next year

by Patty Kemerer

Seventeen YSU faculty and administration members received a letter with their 1976-77 contract last May, stating that since the individuals were turning 65 years or older during the upcoming year, the University did not intend to reappoint them except in "the most critical circumstances."

When asked how many of those involved were faculty, how many were administrative, and their names, President John Coffelt stated in a letter to The Jambar, "Twelve full-service faculty, two department chairpersons, and three unclassified administrators will be 65 years of age or older by the end of the present fiscal year. Because an employee's age is not by definition public information, I feel it would be inappropriate for me to release the names of these individuals."

According to Coffelt, letters were sent to all faculty and administration members who will reach the age of 65 or older this year, and that no exceptions were made.

Concerning the critical need mentioned in the letter, Coffelt stated that "a critical need occurs when it is essential to the effective operation of the University for a particular individual to continue to be employed beyond normal requirement age. I have emphasized to deans and chairpersons that in order for the University to avoid illegal or improper discrimination—based upon age or any other consideration—we must be in a position to demonstrate and document this need."

To date, at least one grievance has been filed by a faculty member who is seeking reappointment for next year. In addition, several faculty or administrators are seeking extension contracts. The deadline for requests for the extension contracts was Dec. 3, 1976.

Article XVI, Section B, of the YSU and YSU/OEA Agreement, states that the normal retirement age for the 1976-77 fiscal year is 65 years with the option of continuing on a yearly basis to age 70, subject to the consent of the individual and the University, and that a report of a medical examination must be supplied to the University by the faculty member.

A "grandfather clause" to Section B states that, "For those currently employed faculty members who served one or more years as full-time faculty members in the University when it was a private institution, the normal retirement age for the term of this Agreement shall be 68, with the option of continuing

Author-Educator Jonathan Kozol to speak as Artist-lecturer Jan. 11 in Kilcawley

Jonathan Kozol, innovative educator and author of Death at an Early Age, will speak at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 11, in Kilcawley Center multi-purpose room as a presentation of YSU's 1976-77 Artist Lecture Series.

His lecture is free and open to the public.

Kozol, born in Boston in 1936, graduated from Harvard where he was awarded the Boylston Prize in Writing by Archibald MacLeish and was elected to the Junior Eight of Phi Beta Kappa. After graduating from Harvard in 1958 with a summa degree in English, he briefly attended Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar before moving to Paris where he spent most of the next four years writing.

On his return to Boston in 1963, Kozol became involved in the education of Black children in the city and taught in a public elementary school. His experience led him to write DEATH AT AN EARLY AGE: The Destruction of the Hearts and Minds of Negro

Children in the Boston Public Schools. The work, published by Houghton Mifflin in 1967, won the National Book Award in 1968 in the Science, Religion

Jonathan Kozol and History category.

Since 1966 he has been deeply involved in the Free School movement, which has grown with astonishing rapidity. In recent years, as thousands of parents throughout the country, unwilling to accept conditions existing in traditional public schools in their communities, have struggled to create new independent schools to meet their children's needs.

"In 1965 I was kicked out of my teaching job in the Boston Public Schools. The People in Roxbury and Dorchester made it possible for me to keep on as a friend and teacher to their children by hiring me to run a Freedom School in the basement of a church. Two of the earliest and bravest Free Schools in the United States were to grow, at the inspiration of the parents and the children, from that small and tentative beginning."

In his book Free Schools Kozol shows why such schools are desperately needed and provides a guide to starting, and more importantly, sustaining a Free School. He carefully covers the problems of location, staff, curriculum, legal hurdles, and the overriding need for continuing

Mini-Concert Series begins Jan. 22, to star Tom Chapin

Jan. 22 YSU Major Events and the Kilcawley Center Program Board will kick-off a new program series designed to break the monotony of Winter Quarter, the Mini-Concert Series. The kick-off concert on Jan. 22 will feature Tom Chapin (brother of Harry Chapin), who appeared at YSU in spring of 1976 to an enthusiastic crowd. Chapin has appeared in his own television show during the past few years. Make a Wish was a syndicated Sunday Morning Childrens show which dealt with such diverse topics as how to make maple sugar, to how to pilot a steamboat. The follow-up Mini-concert will feature James Lee Stanley and Terry Beard and will be presented on February 12. Beard, the opening act for that night, has performed at YSU several times, each time playing to capacity crowds. Beard's style of music is foot-stomping, crowd pleasing folk music. James Lee Stanley will finish the night with songs from his three RCA albums. Stanley has been a headliner for such popular artists as Linda Ronstadt, Michael Murphy, and Chick Corea.

There will be a nominal charge for the Mini-Concert series depending on the cost of the artist playing. Because of this tickets will vary in price from $1.00 to $3.00. Tickets for both the Chapin and Stanley-Beard concerts will be $1.50 each. Tickets for the Chapin concert will go on sale at the Kilcawley Candy Desk beginning January 12.

The KCPB and Major Events will subsidize the concerts as much as possible to give students a break.

Kilcawley Center's newly remodeled Multi-purpose will be the scene for both of the concerts in the series. Since the Multi-purpose room has a capacity of 600, a more intimate atmosphere will be obtained. Professional quality P.A. and lighting systems will be employed to achieve the best sounds possible.

According to Mark Shanley, assistant director of student affairs if both concerts are seen to be successful then there is the possibility that two mini-concerts will be held each quarter.

on a yearly basis to age 70, subject to the consent of the individual and the University." It goes on to say that unless an individual reaches age 70 or is unable to present a satisfactory medical examination report before the end of the Agreement, he/she will not be required to retire.

The last line of the "grandfather clause" reads, "This exception to the normal retirement policy shall not be available after the termination date of this Agreement as stated in Article IV (June 15, 1977)."

In response to the question of how the University interprets the last line of Section B, and what the position is of a faculty member who turns 65 this year and wishes for reappointment, Coffelt said, "This office has been advised continuously that it is my responsibility to carry out the 'meaning and intent' of the Agreement. I have carefully and thoroughly discussed Article XVI with both individuals given the responsibility to negotiate the current Agreement, as well as members of the administrative bargaining team, and it is my understanding that the clause you cite means that there will be no differential in retirement age as of June 15, 1977 between faculty who served in (Cont. on page 10)

If you've been thinking about getting a programmable, Texas Instruments has a special offer for you

SR-56 $109.95*

If you want an incredible slide rule calculator that's also programmable, then this is the one for you.

There're 74 preprogrammed functions and operations. And it has AOS, TI's unique algebraic operating system, the underlying reason an SR-56 is so powerful. It'll let you handle problems with as many as 9 sets of parentheses. Talk about memory. An SR-56 has 10 (11 if you count the T-registered.) And you can do arithmetic with all of them.

Chances are you'll soon discover how really easy it is to program. An SR-56 has 100 steps. Six logical decision functions. Four levels of subroutines. Decrement and skip on zero. Compare a test register with the display to make a conditional branch. And this is just the beginning.

Think about it. Can you really afford to put off getting your SR-56, now?

SR-52 $299.95*

If you want the computer-like power of a card programmable then choose this one.

Techniques like optimization, iteration, data reduction, what-if matrices, mathematical modeling, need not tie up your mind - or your time.

But learning to use it is a hassle, you say. Not true. Pre-recorded programs are gathered into software libraries: Electrical Engineering, Math, Statistics, Finance. All you need do is load a mag card, press a few keys and you'll get answers that previously required a computer.

You can make your own programs just as easily. In just a couple of hours you'll begin to prove what a powerful asset you have - right at your fingertips.

And there's not a better time to get an SR-52 than right now.

Texas Instruments will rebate $10.00 of your original SR-56 purchase price when you: (1) return this completed coupon including serial number (2) along with your completed SR-56 customer information card (packed in box) and (3) a dated copy of proof of your purchase, verifying purchase between Jan. 1 and March 31, 1977.

her suggestions to the central office, as she cited the students in two-year programs who are seldom recognized. She pointed out that there is no uniformity of procedure directed from the central office other than using the categories listed, and a uniform process would add more significance to the honor. She added that some universities don't even go through a nomination procedure, they merely select students. Bleidt emphasized that she has been making these suggestions for the past four years.

The Jambar asked Dean Bleidt what benefits there might be to being selected to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" other than the status that is involved.

Local talent to be featured in winter quarter's Oblio's

by Steve M. Furgas

Local talent will be the mainstay of this quarter's Oblio Coffeehouse entertainment, according to Jane Moore, chairperson of the Oblio's Coffeehouse Committee.

Moore explained the reason for an emphasis on student acts. "Last quarter, we started off with Guy Pernatti from Kent, but he didn't go over that well with the students. The committee then decided to stick with student acts, which have, in the past gone over very well.

Moore went on to say that Kilcawley is a student center. "That means that it is for and about students. The Committee feels that many talented student acts are floating around the campus looking for some exposure. We would like to give them a chance to show themselves off," she said. Moore said that with a school of music as good as Dana, "it would be foolish not to utilize the talent we have on this campus, though not all the acts we have are from Dana."

Moore explained that the response from both audience and student acts has been fantastic. "Last quarter, we had an average audience of about 70 to 80 people. We have also had a huge volume of student acts signing up been so good, that we are going to take over every other Friday's Happy Hour, plus we'll be running the after game entertainment for the Wednesday and Saturday night basketball games."

Moore described the procedure for audition sign-up. "Students can sign up by coming to the staff offices in Kilcawley Center. Usually, each audition uses six acts, but we sign-up 12 acts. Those acts which don't get a chance to play get first chance at the next audition. Though we haven't actually set down

"I would hope the individuals we select are above and beyond seeking this only for the status of it," she said. "Of course, there's no way of knowing if that is true in individual cases.

"This is something where students should feel proud of a genuine giving of themselves," she added. "So I would hope students don't get involved just to get it down on a paper somewhere.

"Employers do look upon this as involving individuals that have given some kind of contribution above and beyond what would maybe be normally expected. Also, there is personal gratification involved, where you can feel you've been given public recognition for the things you've done," concluded Bleidt.

All YSU students were eligible for nominating individuals for "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." Applications were available at the three deans' offices at student affairs and there was a tearoff application printed in The Jambar.

a schedule we are usually able to have one audition a month."

Moore said that student talent will continue so long as the interest on both the audience and talent remains. Moore said that the first audition for this quarter will be on Tuesday, January 11. Moore also said that anyone wishing to work on the Oblio's Coffeehouse Committee can contact her at the Kilcawley Center Program Board Office located in the staff offices.

Film Attractions

Lenny, Other Side of the Mountain, and Eiger Sanction are January film attractions on Thursday Film Series, presented by the Kilcawley Center Program Board.

Send Your Dollars To Care

Does the University really care about you as a student or as a source of income that they can take for granted?

Last quarter the Jambar ran a special issue on the inadequate lighting situation on campus. To date nothing has been done to change the situation. The inner core of the campus is still as dark as ever and there have been more complaints from students and others about the areas on campus (Beeghly, Rayen etc.).

At the December Board of Trustees meeting the university made the excuse that much of the lighting they would have to put up to rectify the dark situation would have to be temporary. The university figured that since construction on the "Proposed Stadium" would begin as soon as the money was available it wouldn't be wise to erect any lighting that they would have to take down in a few quarters anyway. What is supposed to happen in the meantime while students have to get to their cars and classes late at night? Instead of building the stadium (to cost around $3 million) why not get donations from alumni and others to light up the campus at night?

Another act of the university which makes it seem that they don't give a damn about students, only their money, is the spending of money on frivolous ideas that are opposed by a large number of students. For example, the Jambar received around 52 signatures complaining about the new tables in the commuter lounge area of the Center. The new tables were smaller, less convenient and all but prohibited large groups of people from sitting at them. The Jambar can appreciate that the tables may look nice and that they are easier to move than the older tables but the fact remains that nobody even had the forethought to ask any of the students what they would think of the change.

Re-lighting The Way

Why is there such a problem on how to spend money on the YSU campus? Could it be that we have such an over abundance of money in circulation that we just keep tearing down the old and building new? The Beeghly Center swimming pool, which opened in Sept. of 1972, is now tearing out all of their old lighting facilities in the pool in order to meet national swimming regulations for competition. This seems a little absurd since the Beeghly Center is only 5 years old. Wasn't anyone thinking when they installed the lighting for the pool that it was insufficient for competition? Or maybe they never imagined having competition at YSU.

Feedback

Requests action for campus lighting

To the Editor of The Jambar:

It has come to my attention that the lighting arrangements at the campus of Youngstown State has much to be desired. Several people have complained to me about various areas throughout the campus that are neglected, particularly the parking facilities.

Last week I attended the YSU Classic at Beeghly Center. There are several steps at the entrance which are dangerous and hazardous and there is absolutely no lighting to help those who are using these facilities.

I respectfully request that this matter be looked into before someone is seriously injured.

Black group to hold campus-wide event to choose couple

Black United Students of YSU, a newly formed organization on campus, will hold a Mr. and Mrs. Black Future contest this month.

The contest is open to any junior or senior who has at least a 2.3 grade point average.

Applicants will also be asked to answer the question: "What is your concept of the Black Future and how do you see yourself contributing to it?"

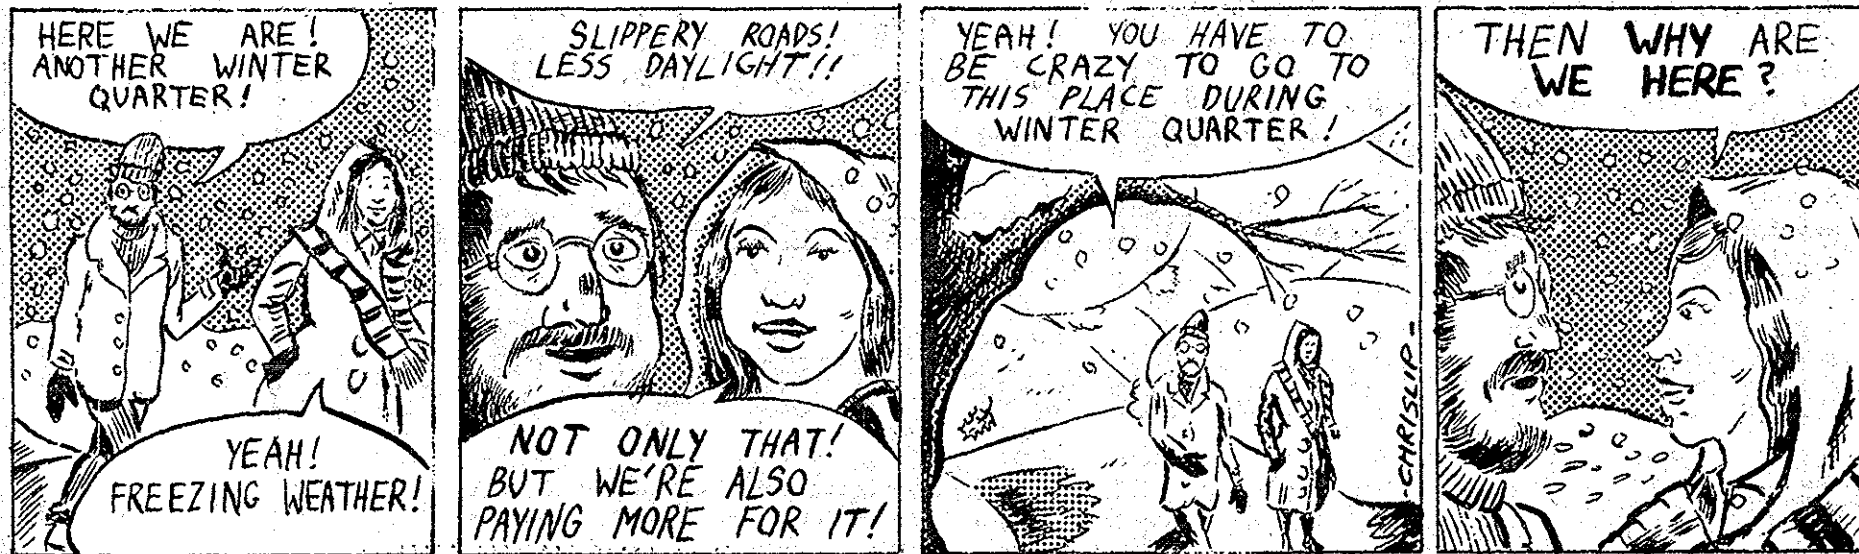

Applications for the contest may be picked up in the Kilcawley Center Arcade at the B.U.S. booth Jan. 10 to the deadline on Jan. 14. Candidates for Mr. and Mrs. Black Future may campaign Jan. 17 through Jan. 26. Voting by the student body will be done on Jan. 27 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on Jan. 28 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Kilcawley Arcade. Winners of the event will be announced at noon, Jan. 31 in the Multi-Purpose room at a special ceremony.

Black United Students is a newly organized and chartered student group. Meetings of the B.U.S. will be held every Wednesday at 4:00 p.m.

Add deadline

The last day to add a class for the Winter Quarter is Saturday Jan. 8.

Great year for Council is anticipated by Hayes

"It's going to be a great year. Jim Senary put us on a good foot and I hope to keep it going." Linda Hayes, Dana School of music, made this comment regarding her election as new student Council Chairperson. Hayes was elected to Student Council last spring quarter as a representative for the School of Fine and Performing Arts. She officially took over the seat Dec. 6, after being elected by Student Council to replace Jim Senary, who has graduated.

Concerning changes on Student Council, Hayes said that she is "pretty pleased with Council" and will not really change anything but, "some things may be done differently." Hayes said she wants her executive board, Mark Stec, vice-chairman and Linda Schajatovic, secretary, to work more closely together. "I want to get their personal opinions about things." As chairman, Hayes wants to give more duties to the vice-chairman. "Being vice-chairman last quarter, I tried to make that role a working role and I'm sure Mark Stec will make it a working role."

Inner Council Relation is another area Hayes would like to improve. She feels that more work should be done in council committees and less on the floor during council meetings. "I would like to get us working more on committees so that less floor discussion would be needed." Hayes would like to see Student Council and Student Government work more "effectively and efficiently together." She added that "George Glaros is a great president to work with and I'm sure we can get a lot accomplished."

Hayes feels that Student Council should work on a system of principles above personalities. She said this involved "doing first things first", and placing importance on seeking information. "Also even if you don't agree with your peers you respect them." She feels that Student Council is "doing just that this year."

Hayes talked about several projects which Student Council is working on now or planning for the future. "We have a project now where every week student Council members talk to students in their classes to see if they have any questions or problems. Then we discuss these at council meeting and try to find answers."

Council is also in the process of trying to organize a blood bank. They are conducting a survey to see how many people would be interested in such a service. Hayes said, "If we could get six percent of the university, that's only 900 people, to donate once a quarter, then all of the students and faculty and the families of both, would be able to have the use of free blood if they were ever hospitalized." Even if six percent of the University doesn't give blood, the donor and his immediate family would still be eligible to have use of the free blood.

"Winter quarter Student Council is planning to place an article in the Jambor with a place for people to sign their names and send back to Student Council if they are interested in donating," said Hayes. "This is a really great thing and we would really like to get it started."

Council is also looking into starting projects for students over 25 who attend the University. "There are many students we have to reach, and I'm all for trying," added Hayes.

Hayes also wants to start working on setting up a public address system that would inform students of coming events. "We would also like to have someone cover the events then, and maybe put it on video tapes. So if students missed it, but see it on TV maybe next time they will be more inclined to go," explained Hayes.

When asked about student apathy, Hayes said, "I don't like to say that the student body is apathetic. Apathy is a harsh word. Besides, I don't feel that they are. They have a lack of involvement which may be because of a lack of time." Hayes said that it is harder at a commuter school to get students involved.

Hayes added, "There are a great number of students who do care, but no matter how small that number who care you can do great things using what you have."

Hayes concluded by noting that she is always optimistic. "I always see the bright side. But it's just not me, council is very optimistic and energetic this year, and willing to work. I'm very excited."

YSU Spotlight Theatre to present Medea in second show of season

YSU's Spotlight Theatre will present Robinson Jeffers' adaptation of Euripides' Medea on Jan. 10 through 15 in Strouss Auditorium located in Jones Hall. It is their second show of the season.

In this version of the Greek Classic, the ambitious Jason forsakes Medea, his foreign wife, and takes a new bride for political advancement.

The role of Medea will be played by senior theatre major Alexandra Vansuch. Vansuch has appeared in many past Spotlight Theatre productions including, The Rose Tattoo, Ballad of the Sad Cafe, Bus Stop and last summer's production of I Am a Camera.

Charles Lawrence, senior, school of education, will portray Jason, Medea's husband. Lawrence has appeared in View from the Bridge, The Miracle Worker and many other shows at Spotlight Theatre.

JoEllen Pavlicko, junior, art education, is playing the nurse. Pavlicko played the role of Annie Sullivan in the first production at Spotlight Theatre this year, The Miracle Worker.

Robert Dubec, sophomore, Fine and Performing Arts (F&PA), will play Creon. A senior speech, theatre and English major, Dennis Pallante, will portray Aegus. The three women of Corinth will be played by Denise Tkach, a junior in F&PA; Kelly Shreck, a senior in CAST and Marilyn Thomas, a junior in Art. and Science.

Sophomore Jim Ennis, F&PA, will portray the tutor. Sam Trivilino, junior, CAST, will be Jason's slave. Gemma Pavel, sophomore, and Sara-Jane Pesick, freshman, both in F&PA, will be attendants to Medea.

Soldiers will be played by Ed Carson, junior, CAST, Matt Fekete, sophomore and Joe Pazille, junior, F&PA. Medea's children will be played by John Robinson and Maureen O'Neil.

The production is under the direction of Dr. William G. Hulsopple, associate professor of Speech Communication and Theater and YSU's director of theatre. Frank Castranova, instructor in Speech Communication and theatre is scene designer and technical director.

Tickets may be purchased at the Spotlight Theatre box office located in Jones Hall. Admission for students is $1.50 and for non-students $2.00. Box office hours are from 12:45 to 4:30 p.m. daily. During the week of the performance the box office is open until 8:30 p.m. For further information call 746-1851, ext. 239.

Oriental Art

An exhibition and sale of original Oriental art will be presented from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, January 10, at YSU. Approximately 500 pieces from Japan, China, India, Tibet, Nepal and Thailand will be on display in Kilcawley Center's arcade and a representative from Marson Ltd. of Baltimore will be available to answer questions.

Pictured are Alexandra Vansuch and Dennis Pallante, members of the cast for Medea. Medea, the second production of Spotlight Theater this year, will run from Jan. 10 through 15.

YSU art exhibit shows faculty, student works

by Sharon Bohm Levy
 An art exhibition sponsored by the Steel Valley Art Teachers' Association (SVATA) is on display until Jan. 21 in the Kilcawley Center Art Gallery.

SVATA is composed of 52 art educators from the tri-county area (Columbiana, Mahoning and Trumbull) of whom 20 are displaying 35 of their works.

The exhibition includes ink drawings, mixed media, tie-dye stitchery, oil and acrylic paintings, watercolors, graphics, wood collage and woven yarns.

Visitors may see the show from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Monday through Thursday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday. Group tours of the Gallery are welcome and may be arranged through Kevin Fahey, program director of Kilcawley Center. There is no admission charge.

The wall hangings seem to be the strongest part of the show and the paintings appear to be the weakest of the skills demonstrated. Many students seem to do better work than their teachers and the quality and originality expected in the show seems to be missing.

Of the items worth seeing are the batik stitchery hangings done by Elaine Juhasz, YSU art department. Her tie-dye batik, "Whispering Winds" and her sensuous black and beige wall-hanging "Mandala Banner" are two of the most striking pieces shown. Alexander DiGiacomo, YSU art department, and art teacher in the Howland schools, is represented with a hard-edge acrylic entitled "Old Series Renewed" and with his only photograph in the show, "Ferry Boat." His painting, with its subtle values, seems to be the most skillful of the acrylics in the show.

Weavings by Jacqueline Schweiger, Boardman, are skillfully conceived with the use of punch-hooked yarns. "Feelings", a weaving done by Mark Shohayda, Cortland, has a sensuous texture which is quite nice.

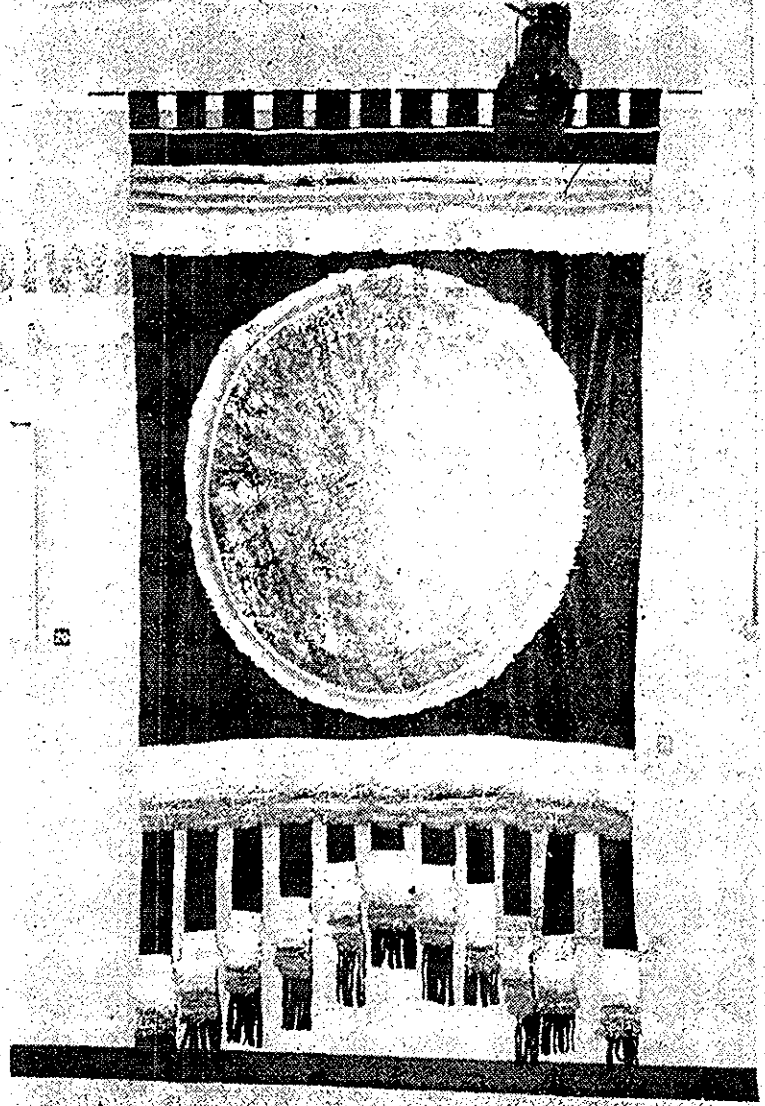

Tom Haverfield, Boardman, shows much skill in his two watercolors. "Mill Creek Walk" evokes the mood of a rainy day and seems to be a favorite of many visitors to the show. This painting was recently on display in Butler Institute's Area Artists Show. Nancy Monat, Youngstown, also shows talent in her watercolors. Her paintings, "Serenity" and "View of Holland" are handled with skill. Other paintings in the show are done by Hal Timberlake, Atwater; Flo Hosa, Youngstown; Ron Mistovich, Youngstown; Jody Nudell, Liberty and Edward Victor, McDonald.

Perhaps the most unique media is seen in Victor's large painting entitled, "I Give You Eternity." He uses Future acrylic floor wax with food coloring, giving an unusual cracked effect to his work.

Add leadership to your college schedule.

College military science courses are courses in leadership development. They offer you management experiences which will benefit you in any career, civilian or military.

You can take the first courses as a freshman or sophomore without obligation. Advanced courses, in your junior and senior years, lead you to a position of responsibility as an officer in the active Army or Reserves.

As an Army ROTC student, you'll also have the opportunity to compete for 3 and 2-year full tuition scholarships. And you'll earn nearly $2000 during your last 2 years of college.

Don't wait until after college to get practical management experience. Add leadership to your class schedule now.

Unbeaten YSU nips Northern Iowa; Tough Philadelphia Textile next foe

by John Creer
 Northern Iowa was a team that came to play Wednesday night but fortunately YSU's undefeated Penguins played just a little bit better and tamed the visiting Panthers for a 48-46 win.

The tense struggle, which upped the Penguin's unblemished seasonal ledger to 8-0, was the first meeting ever for YSU and Northern Iowa. The longest victory streak in our school's roundball history was achieved by the '69-70 squad who reeled off eighteen in a row before stumbling. However, the Penguins, who now have an eye on the national rankings which are due next week, must next confront Philadelphia Textile, a powerhouse considered by experts to be one of the top teams in the entire country. Beeghly Center will be the site of this hardwood showdown with a Saturday night tip-off at 8 p.m.

Against Northern Iowa on Wednesday the Penguins appeared to be flat at the outset of the contest as the visitors stormed out to a 14-4 lead six and a half minutes into the first half. The irrepressible Penguins, behind All-American center Jeff Covington, fought back and narrowed the Panther's lead to 21-18 with only six minutes remaining in the half. After that flashy Penguin guard Gerald Parks took matters into his hands and personally matched buckets with Northern Iowa until halftime. Parks fired in ten consecutive points which enabled YSU to finally grab a slim 28-27 margin as the sands of time dwindled out of the clock in a low scoring first half.

as a result of the pulsating action down on the floor. With 6:25 remaining left in the fray, Moore was slapped with his fifth personal foul and joined Covington, who had also fouled out three minutes earlier, on the bench.

Penguin head coach Dom Rosselli thus was forced to substitute and the depth of YSU, which has been a valuable asset all season, responded to the challenge. Sophomore-guard Don Thompson, freshman forward Steve Miodrag and junior forward-center Frank Andrews sparkled in the clutch situation as YSU staved off the Panthers and notched a well-earned 48-46 triumph. Andrews, who made his initial appearance of the season against Northern Iowa, is back on the squad after being sidelined for personal reasons. A starter last year, Frank sank three key free throws and grabbed several big rebounds late in the game to preserve the win.

Art Exhibition
 Fedor, Poland, are well-done. They show an understanding of the medium and much versatility in the execution of their work.

More craft than art are two clever wood hangings done by Fren Medovich, Niles. "Old Town" and "Rockport" are replicas of little villages shaped from pieces of wood and painted. Mario Bertolini, Niles, is represented in the show with two drawings. Several other educators show their work in various media.

The two opponents exchanged leads throughout the second half with neither team unable to put the other away. At the 8:15 mark, Penguin playmaker Terry Moore, who seldom shoots, drilled a 25-footer to tie the game at 43. YSU then displayed a tenacious defense which resulted in a break-away basket by Parks to the delight of the frenzied partisan fans, many of whom appeared to be on the verge of cardiac arrest

On the night, Parks paced the winning effort with 18 points and a fine hustling performance on both ends of the court. Covington, despite limited playing time, added 13 points and corralled a game-high 14 rebounds. As a team, YSU made good on 21 of 51 field goal attempts (41.2 percent) and converted six of eleven at the charity stripe (54.9 percent).

Northern Iowa, who saw their season record drop to 5-5, shot at a 35 percent (22 of 63) from

This is the first time SVATA has exhibited in the Gallery and the show was organized by Victor and Juhasz. "SVATA is a unique organization in Ohio as it is the only group that meets regularly which works towards the goals of art education," stated Juhasz.

"The Association's members are actively teaching art in the numerous public and parochial schools in the area and several are engaged in teaching art on the university level," she added. "This unified group encourages creative growth and development, perceptual, sensitivity, aesthetic awareness, social, emotional and intellectual enrichments in the member's daily encounters with art students," she continued.

Coffelt also noted, "Negotiations on a successor Agreement are expected to begin in January. Intramurals to resume Sunday with basketball

by Greg Gulas

With vacation now history, intramural competition is set to resume this Sunday with the opening of the basketball season.

As a recap of the results from last quarter, we find that Wendy Stamm and Frank Brown captured the co-ed badminton championship, John Georgiadis emerged the frontrunner in men's badminton singles, while Ken Croysdale and Milos Miodrag combined to garner first place in men's badminton doubles. In women's badminton singles, Wendy Stamm once again took top honors, while Mary Delisio and Mary Agiro took second and third, respectively.

In the Turkey Trot, Sam Fasline took the men's competition and Juanita Bequeath captured the women's end.

In a controversial football season, the Austintown All-Stars emerged as University champions. Theta Chi for the second straight year took the runner-up trophy. The punt, pass, and kick competition saw Doug Stoiber of Theta Chi win the punt, Dan O'Ruba of Sigma Chi Alpha capture the kick, and Mike Glinatsis of the Salug Gang capture his third straight pass crown.

In soccer, the Israeli Student Organization garnered first place and Theta Chi were the runners-up. In racketball, Doug Lev emerged as champion in the single's competition, while Rocco Nero and Jeff Markey teamed to win the doubles crown. The table tennis competition saw Dave Demay and Keith Carnahan capture the doubles crown.

If all goes as anticipated this quarter, greater competition is expected as more activities are offered and many teams still run neck and neck in the competition for the All-Sports Trophy.

INTRAMURAL NOTES—The Intramural department has released the point totals for all sports from the fall quarter. In the independent division, the Engineers hold down the top spot with 410 points. The Kilcawley Diseases are a close second with 407, while the P.E. Majors hold down the third slot with 392 points accumulated. In the fraternity division, Theta Chi heads the list with 437 points, with Sigma Phi Epsilon second at 364 and Sigma Chi Alpha a distant third at 333.

As an added reminder, the Intramural Rating Committee will be back to bring the basketball ratings. In reviewing the rosters and the teams entered this year, a pre-season poll shows that the teams to watch are the World's Finest, last year's All-University champions then known as the Commodores, the Kilcawley Diseases, Ohio Players, Knights, APD Gang, Roundballers, Eyeballs, Ruane Concrete, Salug Gang and the P.E. Majors.

In the fraternity competition, Theta Chi is out to defend their crown while Sigma Phi Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Chi Alpha and Zeta Beta Tau will provide some stiff competition.

The women's competition show contenders in the form of the HPE Club, Benny's Jets, Bo's Pros, Carnation Creamers, and the Little Sigs among others.

In a final note on intramurals, Jack Neville, director of Intramurals is encouraging all freshman and more women to compete in the many activities the intramural department offers. Those who are interested in competing may do so by signing up in the Intramural office, located in Room 322 of the Beeghly Physical Education Center.

Beeghly Hours

Dr. Lewis B. Ringer, Chairman of the H&PE Department announced the following Sundays that the Beeghly Building will be open during winter quarter: Jan. 9, 16, 23 and 30 and Feb. 6, 20 and 27.

The hours for handball and squash are 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., for swimming 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. and 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. for the weight room. The equipment room will be open most of the time.

YSU WRESTLING

Since its opening loss to a powerful Lock Haven State College team, YSU grapplers have defeated Washington and Jefferson, the University of Pittsburg at Johnstown, Theil, Westminster and California State.

"We opened with a tough opponent because we thought it would be to our advantage and our record to date indicates it was a good move," said coach Tom Cox. "People are taking us seriously now," Cox added, as he proudly reflected on the Penguins stunning 22-17 victory over California State College, another perennial wrestling power which was rated in the NAIA top ten at the time. "It was definitely our biggest win ever," insists Cox. The Penguins' first home match is slated for Jan. 18, at 7:30 p.m. at Beeghly Center against Edinboro State College, who is also rated high in many polls throughout the country.

Wednesday is Ladies Day

Everywhere you look, our environment is being threatened by pollution. Wild flowers along our roadsides are being picked rather than admired.

Smog is killing trees, it's forcing birds to find new homes. Fish are running out of clean water. Just what's being done about it?

A lot. But we've got a lot more to do, a long way to go. Let's all do our part. And help keep the birds, animals, and flowers alive.

GIVE A HOOT, DON'T POLLUTE.

YSU Basketball

field and 40 percent (2 of 5) from the foul line. Phil Rilett led the disappointed Panthers with 12 points.

In regards to his latest victory, head mentor Rosselli noted that the Penguins had "anticipated a close game" and also lauded the exceptional play of substitutes Thompson, Andrews and Miodrag. Concerning this weekend's clash with Philadelphia Textile, Rosselli remarked that "naturally it is a big game . . . Textile is a fine Division II squad and are one of the better teams in the eastern part of the country." Rosselli remarked that one of the keys to YSU's meteoric season start was that his ballplayers "haven't lost their poise and are playing as a team without any individualism."

The flamboyant Parks was also praised by Rosselli as a "complete ballplayer who makes things happen."

During the winter break, while students were resting from the books, the Penguins were busy piling up wins. During that time

YSU beat Mount Union (72-65), Alliance (95-68), City College of New York (86-53), St. Joseph's (99-73) and Pittsburgh (78-73).

Highlights of the action included the upset win over Pitt; a major college foe, a sweeping of the annual YSU classic and Tony Mitchell's selection as that tourney's most valuable player.

As mentioned, the tip-off time for the Philadelphia Textile skirmish is 8 p.m. tomorrow night. A triumph Saturday night will require a total team effort . . . a total effort by all those involved. This does not include just the players but strong support from the Penguin's fans as well. Good crowd backing is often the catalyst for success. A victory would assure the Penguins of a top spot in the national rankings and would not only give the YSU basketball team recognition but would also put the entire University "on the map."

PENGUIN NOTES—Following the Textile contest the Penguins will travel to Dayton on Monday night and then will be back in Beeghly for a Wednesday match with Steubenville.—The national rankings will be announced next Wednesday.—Textile, 5-1 on the season, returns all five regulars from last season's 23-5 team—Textile guard Em Sammons, a second-team All-American, is second nationally in scoring with a 29.2 average.—Covington is leading the Penguins in both scoring and rebounding with averages of 20.0 and 11.8 respectively—Other averages include Parks (13.8), Gary Anderson (14.8) and Tony Mitchell (15.6).—YSU's reserves, under newcomer Roger Lyons, are also undefeated and sport a 5.0 mark—YSU has now won 12 straight at home dating back to last season—All-American Covington now has 1,245 career points good for ninth on the all time scoring career scoring list and Jeff is only a junior—The Jan. 15 game with Akron will be televised live on educational television Channels 45 and 49 (Author's Note—Thanks to Greg Sbaraglia)
