

Krill plans 2nd retirement; VP was Navy career man

Virginia Lippa

At the end of spring quarter President John J. Coffelt to the administrative affairs will retire from YSU.

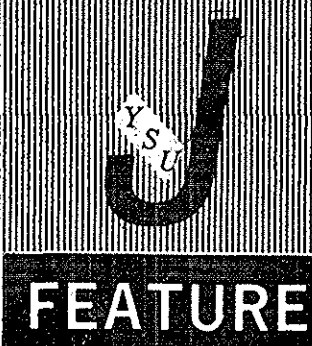

Krill came to YSU in July, 1971, when he was appointed dean of the Graduate School and professor of metallurgy and materials science. He succeeded Dr. Frank A. D'Isa as dean of the Graduate School.

In 1973 Krill left the graduate post upon being named by YSU President John J. Coffelt to the position of Vice President of Administrative Affairs. Speaking of Krill, Coffelt said, "Dr. Krill has unusually strong qualifications and brings to the vice presidency broad administrative ability as well as a thorough knowledge of the University."

VP Rook to leave this fall; will retire to 65 acre farm

Molly Gerchak

Does a hard-working, well-organized man see his retirement as nothing but a steady succession of golf courses, beaches and social gatherings?

Not Joseph S. Rook, vice president of financial affairs, who will be retiring this fall to a 65-acre cattle farm in Columbiana. He said his retirement is due to the fact that, "I want to enjoy life before I become infirm."

His farm is located on Garfield Road near Arrowhead Lake and next to the Franciscan Friars Monastery.

His stock consists of over 100 purebred Suffolk sheep, ewes and lambs combined, and three rams. He has 18 polled Hereford cows and one purebred Hereford bull. He also has some steers and heifers, a riding horse, a Scottish (Cont. on page 3)

Glenn Olds speaks to graduates at annual winter commencement

Referring to YSU's 927 graduates as precarious "fiddlers on the roof," Dr. Glenn Olds said music of the mind, however precariously played, is what the world seeks and urged "all to join together with confidence in that orchestration."

Dr. Olds, Kent State University president, was main speaker for YSU's seventh annual winter commencement ceremony in Beegly Center Saturday (March 26).

Quoting opening lines from the musical Fiddler on the Roof, Dr. Olds explained that those fiddlers kept their balance without falling because it is tradition.

He then offered a comparison saying, "Living traditions of our university hold us together and challenge us to change as we 'scratch out our pleasant simple tune without breaking our neck' as those fiddlers."

He summarized these traditions "around our A,B,C's: A for attitudes, B for beliefs and C for commitment."

Dr. Olds also relayed five principles to the graduates, family members and faculty which could "inform our traditions, goals and accomplishments. The whole is more than the sum of the parts; confidence is built a word and deed at a time and destroyed the same way; vision is a function of character; actions speak louder than words and leadership is leading."

He concluded by returning to the theme of the fiddler. "Fiddlers are not for falling but for playing; and the music of the mind, however precariously played and treacherous the footing on the roof, or on a more earthy setting, is what the world seeks, our students want, and we chose to make. Let us all join together with confidence in that orchestration. It points the way to a happier (Cont. on page 6)

Council cuts Escort funding; cites lack of interest as cause

Student Council voted yesterday to cut funding for the Student Escort Service because of lack of interest by students. Mark Stec, vice chairperson of Council stated, "For the amount of people the service served it cost us too much money. Now we'll see if the students really want it."

A motion by council rep Al Simmons, to have council support the All-Sports Complex, was introduced to the floor. Marc Stec, vice chairperson made a motion to have the Simmons motion tabled. Stec's motion failed. During a roll-call vote, Simmons' motion failed by a substantial margin; 9 yes to 4 no, with 3 abstention.

In other Council business Bob Perry, Council rep, resigned from office due to his transferring to another school. Also announced (Cont. on page 8)

PRESIDENTIAL PICS—YSU President John Coffelt and Kent State President Glenn Olds pose for photographers at Saturday's commencement. Olds delivered the commencement urging "All to join together with confidence in that orchestration." After Saturday's commencement the total YSU graduate total reached 34,261.

Free Clinic offers variety of services to public at Disciple House on Wednesdays

Here is the problem: It's the beginning of the quarter, you're a transfer student, you need a physical to get into a tennis class and you're broke. There is a solution, the Free Clinic, located on the corner of Spring Street and Wick Avenue.

So, you get up enough nerve to travel downtown alone after dark and you discover that Spring Street is the street you've been crossing six times each day. You find the building and once inside see other students waiting on the stairs and lounging in the waiting area. The situation reminds you of the time you sold blood at a plasma center—the last time you needed a free physical.

The rest of the process isn't really that bad. Of course, the eye test is given in the middle of the waiting room, and you have to carry a cup with your urine sample around until it can be checked, but everybody is doing the same thing and the service is good. The worst part of the whole process was getting the ambition to get to the place.

The Free Clinic, located in the Disciple House, has been giving medical services free of charge on Wednesday evenings for over five years. According to the director, Alice Hill, approximately 40 to 45 YSU students use the service each week.

Medical services offered at the clinic range from physical examinations to pap smear, VD testing and treatment, pregnancy testing, immunization series and various other treatments. Hill explained that the clinic also provides a lot of counseling. "Actually we try to help people in every way. Only if we can't take care of the problem do we refer them elsewhere."

Hill went on to explain that the clinic is totally run by volunteers. "It is run for the students, (Cont. on page 5) as vice president are: campus planning, the physical plant and registration.

Among the other administrative positions Krill has held are: Associate to the Vice President at Ohio State University (1958-63), Special Assistant to the President at the University of Wisconsin (1963-65) and Dean of the Graduate School at the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee (1966-71).

All of Krill's teaching was done while he was in the Navy. He is a career Navy man and retired from the Navy with a pension. During World War II, he taught at three different officers' schools. He taught fighter direction (which involved the controlling of fighter planes in the air by means of radar) and combat information (which involved training men to man large, complex radar screens which showed tracked Allied and enemy planes).

Krill was instrumental in the development of two vital Allied defense tactics, one in the Atlantic and one in the Pacific. The one in the Atlantic was "hunter-killer" groups which consisted of American planes operating from carriers which would go out and sink enemy submarines.

In the Pacific the new tactic used was "island-hopping." This involved the taking of a string of islands by taking the first island then "hopping" over the next five or six and taking the seventh island, thus cutting the enemy off from the islands in-between.

Having a close brush with death is something that some of us may have experienced once, but Krill experienced it three times during World War II. One time he took a Navy flight with 18 other people from Newport, R.I. The plane made a special stop to let Krill off at Norfolk, Va. and then was to continue to Elizabeth City, N.C. Krill got off the plane at Norfolk, picked up his car and was driving home when he saw the plane crash. All 18 people were killed.

Another time he was on an anti-submarine patrol aboard a Navy plane. The patrol crew decided to bring Krill back to base since the radar in the plane was not functioning properly. After they left him at the base, the plane flew into a mountain near Richmond Va. Everyone aboard was killed.

The third time was just as eerie. Krill had received orders to serve on board the USS Ben Franklin as the Combat Information Officer in charge of the radar station. At the last minute his orders were cancelled and a friend of his was sent in his place. The Ben Franklin was torpedoed at sea and his friend, at the same station Krill would have been at, was killed.

From all of this Krill said he developed a fatalistic attitude believing that "when your time is going to come, it's going to come."

Describing himself as a realist Krill says he is concerned about the energy crisis and about the inflation situation.

When asked whom he admired most from history, Krill replied Ben Franklin because he was a "well-rounded man, a shrewd character and a constant politician." He also admired him for his many accomplishments.

Krill said his hobbies include playing golf and reading. He mainly enjoys reading essays, biographies and histories. He has also traveled extensively in Europe having visited Germany, Switzerland, Belgium and France.

He had hoped to emigrate to New Zealand upon retiring and was disappointed to find that New Zealand has closed immigration. He now plans to visit there for a year. He has toured the entire country and describes it as "beautiful, clean and pretty."

Two patents for the development of large round ceramic pipe are registered to Krill. Both of these pipes were developed by Krill while he was doing research funded by 27 pipe fitting companies. Krill has also done research at the Engineering Experiment Station at Ohio State University.

A native of Missouri, Krill attended Washington University and the U.S. Coast Guard Academy. He received his bachelor of science degree in ceramic engineering from the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy. He earned his masters of science degree in petrology from the University of Colorado and his Ph.D. in ceramic engineering from Ohio State University.

shepherd dog and a beagle dog.

His crops are mainly wheat, hay, oats, corn and barley. These are used as pasture for the cattle and sheep. He farms between five and 10 acres for his own use.

Rook said that he manages the farm with the help of neighbor children and hires other persons to fill in during busy times or if he has to be out of town. He said that he is very well organized and tries to plan things so that they can be done with a minimum of effort.

He said, "I enjoy looking at and talking to my animals."

The Eureka R.R. runs through his property at least once a day; and Rook said that he can stand at his window and count the number of cars on the train. He said the number ranges anywhere from six to 35 cars and is a "good gauge on the economy of America."

Rook related one incident of personal involvement with the train's crew when some of his calves wandered through a broken (Cont. on page 5)

Feedback

Tired of poor working conditions

To the Editor of The Jambor:

I have been employed by the Intramural Department for over two years now. First as an official, then a secretary and for the past year as a supervisor. In the past I have always loved my work, even though the underfunding and understaffing of the department has often forced me to work a 30 hour week when I was only paid for 20 hours. But recently I have become very unhappy with my work. It is not the extra hours which have caused my unrest, but rather the poor organization of the new director, Jack Neville.

I am tired of working in the conditions which exist in the department. Poor communication, frequent schedule changes and unequal enforcement of the rules, are the major problems. It is for these reasons I have decided to resign from my position as supervisor. I will, however, remain on the Intramural Advisory Board in the hopes of improving the program from that avenue. Intramurals are perhaps the largest extra-curricular activity on campus with over 6,000 students participating last year alone. I appreciate the opportunity of having served the student body over the past two years and I must thank my fellow workers, Tim Gleason, Cindy Getting and Mary Pat Julius for their cooperation and special efforts and a special thank you to Mrs. Barbara Shimko, the Intramural Secretary, who has done more for the department than anyone will ever know.

Painting

Painting a bleak picture is never a pleasant task. Even more unpleasant is viewing that same picture. Over the last year the Jambor and Student Government has informed and reported to the students on activities that directly affect them. A temporary tuition "surcharge" that is basically a permanent tuition increase, a badly underlighted campus that, at its best is as light as if it was Alaska in December and at its worst resembles the dark side of the moon, and a concentrated "rush" effort by many administration members to try and get the funds needed so that YSU can "finally" stop being "ashamed" that they don't have a stadium to play their games in.

What has come of the stories and editorials that have been written on the aforementioned subjects? Not much! The temporary surcharge was attached to most students bills without much fuss, the campus still looks like a "Black Hole" at night, and the stadium will be built no matter who says what. Why is all of this happening? Apathy? No, students have too many problems of their own, besides their studies, to have time to worry about the problems I have just mentioned. The problem is that students have been indoctrinated since kindergarten to mind their "own" business and let the grown-ups take care of the rest. The problem with this is that the "grown-ups" don't always have the right answers either. As long as you students mind your own business and "leave the driving" to the "Grown-ups" you won't have to worry, except when you've grown-up too and have to begin making the same decisions that have been kept from you before.

Well, the picture has been painted but you don't have to look at it, just let it hang there on the wall.

Ups and downs

Student Council gets both congratulations and condemnations for their actions in yesterday's council meeting. The congratulations come for voting down the motion to support the all-sports complex. No mention has been made before this by council and they should be commended for having the courage to say NO to the administration. The condemnation comes for council's action in cutting off the monies for the Student Escort Service. No matter how many students it does or does not benefit just the knowledge that the service is available is worth the money. Council alone should not be condemned but the student body as well for not realizing the fine service they will now be lacking. The way this campus is lighted at night we need every available service to protect us, the students.

lots of living and loving ahead

Questions need for Sports Complex

To the Editor of The Jambor:

I cannot wait until the Sports Complex is built, it will give me something to look at while walking down Spring Street. To me it is worth $6 million to have something to look at; that is all that many students like myself will be able to do with the Complex. Look at it.

Too many students are busy on Saturday afternoons and have no time to come to the games. So I imagine it will be nice to have something to look at. What else can we do with $6 million. We have only a few problems which are very minor and they can be put off. Some of these problems are lack of good campus lighting, paved and new parking lots, lack of professors in certain departments, lack of new equipment in certain departments and lack of on-campus housing.

The value of having a stadium far outweighs the need for a solution to these problems.

fence near the railroad tracks. The train stopped, the fireman and engineer got off, chained the calves back into the field and then let Rook know where the break was.

Rook said that his wife is very active in music and directs the Lutheran choir in Columbiana. She also has done some teaching at Dana. He said that he enjoys hunting, fishing and golfing when time permits. "I expect to do a lot more after I retire," he stated.

Rook came to YSU in February, 1956 from Baltimore, Md. where he was president of Baltimore College of Commerce. He has been director of education for the Metropolitan YMCA and headmaster of Woodward Preparatory School, both of Washington, D.C.

He joined the U.S. Army in 1943 as a private and is now a Lt. Col. in the Army reserve with 24 1/2 years of active and reserve service. He also worked for Army and Navy Intelligence. Rook's educational background includes a B.S. degree from Pennsylvania State College, a master of arts in education administration and supervision from George Washington University doctoral work at that university and accounting and business administration courses at South eastern University, Washington D.C.

Rook said that he believes in education and wants to make things better for YSU. He said that in his work, at YSU or on the farm, "I would not expect from others what I would not expect from myself."

Free Clinic

run quite a bit by the students and we feel we've been here long enough now that we are a part of the University scene."

Although they are a part of the university scene, the clinic is not supported by the University. The only regular support the clinic receives is $50 each month from Cooperative Campus Ministries. This $50 is only part of the money needed to cover the medical costs and payments on a $1500 debt.

The $1500 debt is the result of a fund raising concert with the Isley Brothers in May of 1974. Overnight the clinic was almost $10,000 in debt. Much of this money has been paid by donations from area doctors and University professors, but Hill stated that she "still gets scared when the monthly payment is due."

The clinic first opened Nov. 10, 1971 because of lack of adequate health facilities at YSU, and because of the high cost of medical care. Since then approximately $100,000 worth of medical care has been given out. Presently there are twelve doctors and approximately 100 other volunteers who take turns working year round at the clinic.

Ballet, Dana plan joint performance at 8 p.m. Monday

At 8 p.m. on Monday, April 4, the Dana School of Music and the Ballet Western Reserve will collaborate in a performance in the party room of Kilcawley Center at YSU.

Included in the performance will be The Creation of the World by Darius Milhaud, which has been choreographed for this performance by Martin Andrews; Sonata for Ballet by Jacques Bondon, which has been choreographed by Michael Falotico and Sextet for Piano and Woodwind Quintet by Francis Poulenc, also choreographed by Michael Falotico.

The Creation and Sonata will feature dancers Nancy Tiberio, Robert Tupper, Beth Rollinson, Martin Andrews, Cathy Amendolara, Edward Patuto, Suzanne Swan, Marisa Manolukas, and Lisa Devine

The volunteers previously had hopes of moving the clinic into the basement of the Disciple House. This plan was discarded because of the debt that was owed. Hill remarked that they still have hopes of moving to a larger area perhaps in a different location. "I've had hopes and dreams in the past that some group would start a project to help us out, but nothing has materialized," Hill stated. She also mentioned that even if each student would donate one dollar, the clinic would be able to get out of debt.

Smythe files summer workload grievance; awaits outcome of contract 'test case'

A grievance over the YSU-OEA contract has been filed by Dr. John W. Smythe, assistant professor of economics, and is currently awaiting arbitration. The grievance concerns Article V of the contract in its application to summer teaching assignments. Smythe, in a Jambor interview, aired his feelings about the dispute over a contract definition of full-time teaching during the summer quarter.

"The issue is black and white to me," said Smythe, but added that "The administration sees it as black and white, too."

Smythe noted that the issue is not one of hostility on anyone's part, but rather a "sort of test case" which will hopefully arrive at a clearer contract definition of the problem.

Smythe said the issue could not be resolved by the administration and the OEA between themselves therefore goes to arbitration. Both sides will be bound by the decision of the arbitrator.

According to Smythe, the arbitrator will be chosen from a list of professional arbitrators by mutual consent of both the administration and the OEA.

No date has been set for arbitration to begin.

The Agreement reads "...with a limitation of eight credit hours in a single five-week term."

Said Smythe, he and the OEA have interpreted Article V as

"placing a limit of eight credit hours per term (five weeks) for an instructor's teaching load, or 16 hours for the full quarter."

"However," said Smythe, "the administration reads the definition to be a limit of eight hours per term, and the normal full-time load limit of 12 hours per quarter."

YSU's baseball squad looks to April 2 opener with Thiel

Thanks to the recent warm weather, YSU's baseball squad has enjoyed the benefit of early outdoor drills and the veteran Penguin squad anxiously looks ahead to the April 2 opener at Thiel College.

In his dual role as basketball-baseball coach, veteran Dom Rosselli generally gets little time to exchange his basketball togs for baseball gear. In 22 previous diamond seasons he has guided the Penguins to an enviable 331-171 record.

His voice is naturally enthusiastic when he turns his attention to the returning regulars from last year's 20-14 squad, particularly pitcher-outfielder Dave Dravecky, outfielder Fred Dellarco, first baseman-outfielder Mike Zaluski and catcher Ed Kohl.

Dravecky, a stylish southpaw who can also hit for average, ranked high nationally last spring in both earned run average and strikeouts while posting a 5-1 record. He was first in NCAA Division II with a 0.50 ERA and third in strikeouts with a 13.0 average per nine innings.

Dave will draw plenty of attention from pro scouts this season, since he hurled a no-hitter and two one-hitters as well as batting .333 (15 for 45) last year. Helping his pro aspirations is the fact that Mike Glinatsis, 4-3 last year, was drafted by the San Francisco Giants and recorded a 4-0 rookie league log.

Dellarco was the team's big power hitter last season with nine home runs, 12 doubles, 27 RBI and a respectable .291 batting average. He ranked 10th nationally in home runs and set school marks with two round trippers in one game nine for the season. He is just three home runs away from the career mark!

Channel 45 to air girls high school basketball finals

The 1977 Ohio Girls High School Basketball Championships will be aired live on Channels 45 and 49 Saturday, April 2.

All three girls finals, A, AA and AAA, will be aired direct from St. John's Arena on the campus of Ohio State University.

The Class A championship game will be played at 11:30 a.m., April 2, and will be broadcast over the local public television channels. The Class AA finals will be televised at 3 p.m. Saturday, while the Class AAA contest will be seen at 7:30 p.m.

Mike Massa will do the play-by-play for the championships and will be assisted by Bryan Powers, who will handle the color commentary.

Zaluski hit .336 last year in 34 games with a team-high 38 hits, 10 RBI and 15 stolen bases. Kohl, a rifle-armed catcher, also stole 15 bases and hit .227.

Other top returnees include: sophomore second baseman Andy Saxon, .316; junior shortstop Dave DeBene, .288; junior outfielder Dave Mancini, .286; sophomore catcher Rick Zuzik, .278; and senior outfielder Bob Choppa .263.

Sophomore Bill Sattler had a 4-4 mound record last year with 48 strike outs and just 16 walks in 46 2/3 innings.

Top newcomers include freshman pitcher Joe Sekora and outfielder Dino Balkan, while transfers Tom Ciccolella and Wayne Zetts will be counted upon immediately.

Sekora was drafted by the Minnesota Twins last spring, but chose to attend YSU and has already starred as a varsity guard in basketball. Balkan was the top hitter in the Youngstown Class B League last summer.

Ciccolella, a pitcher, and Zetts, a first baseman, played varsity baseball at Kent State for two years before transferring last year.

Joggers

A group of those who are interested in jogging and running is currently being organized. The group will meet at 6 p.m. on Tuesday and Friday in the back lobby of Beeghly. From there they will run to different sections of the city (i.e. to Millcreek Park and back).

The joggers will be led by Hezi Aharoni, a senior in physical education, who also has a special Diploma as a Coach of Track and Field, and was the Israeli Champion Marathon Runner in 1969.

Those who are interested in joining the group should contact the ILSO office in Kilcawley Center, room 270, ext. 301. They should leave their name and phone number. The group is open to students and faculty. All participants must have a valid health card.

Campaign reaches $1.95 million for Sports Complex

The campaign for the YSU Sports Complex has now reached 1.95 million, Frank C. Watson, chairman of the $3 million fundraising campaign, announced today.

The new total puts the campaign near the 2/3 mark of the goal.

Included in the latest report figure is over $100,000 raised by the YSU faculty and staff section.

"We are pleased at the response of members of the University faculty and staff in this community campaign," Watson said.

Chairman of the YSU faculty staff portion of the campaign is Dr. Stephen Hanzeley, chairman of the physics and astronomy department.

SPRING EVENTS

The Kilcawley Center Program Board announced their spring line-up of events today. Everything from white water rafting on the Cheat river in West Virginia to a fine selection of video tapes and films will be offered.

The KCPB Recreation committee has scheduled 4 "outings" for YSU students this spring. On April 17, a white water rafting trip on the Cheat River in West Virginia will take place. On May 20 to 22 the recreation committee will sponsor a camping weekend and on June 4 Magical Mystery Tour number 3 will be held. For all of the above events details and prices will follow in a later edition of the Jambar.

Also on the itinerary will be a 3 day trip to see 103 running of the Kentucky Derby. Price for the trip will be $45 and will include round trip bus transportation, hotel accommodation on the University of Louisville campus, and a Derby infield ticket.

Three workshops will also be sponsored by the Recreation committee. A bikepack workshop on April 29, a bike workshop on May 23-24 and a sun visor workshop on May 22 will all be held in the Kilcawley Center craft center.

The Kilcawley Center Art Gallery will be holding three exhibits during the spring quarter. Beginning yesterday and running through April 15 will be the YSU Senior and Graduate show. On April 25 and running to May 18 the Art Gallery will feature the American Pop Art and Culture of the Sixties exhibit. The KCPB Jambar Photography exhibition and contest will take place in the gallery on May 23 and continue until June 10.

Oblio's Coffee house will begin Tuesday April 5 at 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. in the Pub. Oblio's will bring the best of student talent and special coffeehouse circuit entertainers to the YSU campus. The special performances include Wood Dancer on April 12, a guitar duo who have one of the finest vocal and technical acts ever viewed.

On May 10, Steve Baird, Boston's number one street musician, will be featured at the pub.

As a special treat Oblio's will sponsor KCPB's third annual Folk Festival on Sunday May 1, watch the Jambar for further details.

KCPB's Friday afternoon "Happy Hour" will be presenting live entertainment every Friday from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. at no charge. Kicking off the Happy Hour program will be 'Switch' on April 1, Flight on April 8, Dave D'Angelo Quartet on April 15, Guy Mitchell Pennetti on April 22, Pressure Point on April 29, Mark Schevering and Dan Bode on May 6, The Flintstones Jazz Orchestra on May 13, Musica on May 20, The Bill Harrison Quartet on May 27, and Woodwork on June 3.

Special events for spring quarter will include the student production of "Jacques Brel Is Alive and Well and Living in Paris," and popular Broadway play. "Brel" will be presented April 2, 4 and 5. Slated for April 6-9 will be a "Science Fiction Week" with such activities as a comic book and science fiction convention and popular sci-fi movies. The Kilcawley Birthday Celebration (3rd anniversary of Kilcawley opening) will take place April 13 until the 15. Several events will be held such as comedians and a special Dinner Theatre will be featured.

James Mapes, the hypnotist who received a fantastic reception from YSU students and others the last time he performed here, will again be presenting his great capabilities April 29 in Kilcawley Center's multi-purpose room. In his previous performance Mapes had several students on stage involved in various activities beyond their control.

Spring Weekend will take place this year from May 19 to the 21. Events are still in the planning stage at this time but it promises to offer a fine time for all.

A "Clown Clinic" featuring "Buffo" the clown will be offered May 24-25. Interested students are invited to attend the clinic and learn the finer points of being a clown.

Capping the quarters events will be an end-of-the-quarter dance scheduled for June 3. Details will follow in a later edition of the Jambar.

The KCPB Video Arts committee will be sponsoring a selection of six video tapes for student viewing. March 29 through April 1 a "Movie Orgy" will be featured showing clips from old time and contemporary movies. April 4 through the 8 "Invasion of the Body Snatchers" will be presented in conjunction with "Science Fiction Week." "Movie Orgy" will also be seen April 11 through the 15. The "National Lampoon Show" will be viewed May 2-9 and features actors from the hilarious National Lampoon movie "Lemmings."

The "Grove Tube," an outrageously funny TV farce, will be aired May 16-21 by the Video committee and as a final offering Mel Brooks "The Producers" will be featured May 23-29. The Video committee will be presenting a Video Pub night on Wednesday of each week a tape is presented.

The KCPB film series will feature the following films: Wednesday Pub Series

- Mar 30 Mouse that Roared
- April 6 Invasion of the Body Snatchers
- April 20 NOSFERATO
- April 27 MGM Cartoon Parade
- May 4 Dr. Jeckle & Mr. Hyde
- May 11 W.C. Fields, Laurel & Hardy, & Mae West
- May 18 Dirty Harry
- May 25 A Hunting We Will Go

BREL—The all-student production of "Jacques Brel Is Alive and Well and Living in Paris" will be presented April 2, 4 and 5 in the Kilcawley Center Multi-purpose room. Performances will be at 9 p.m. April 2 and 8:30 p.m. April 4 and 5. Tickets will be $1.00 for all.
