YoCo Will Take over Dogpatch on Nov. 3rd

By Bea Arnold

YoCo will let its hair down, Dogpatch style, a week from tomorrow night, Nov. 3, at the Kappa Sig's Sadie Hawkins Day dance to be held in the college auditorium. The hoopin' and hollerin' will begin at 9 o'clock.

Something New

Something new and different will precede the dance, the fifth annual given by the Iota chapter of Kappa Sigma Kappa national fraternity. Ribbons will be distributed to co-eds at assembly time next Wednesday. From then on the girls are free to pursue the "eligible bachelors" according to Sadie Hawkins tradition. Pinning the ribbon on the date will be substituted for the more violent Dogpatch methods of securing a man (for Saturday night only).

Charlie Fowler and his orchestra with the aid of two vocalists will provide music for dancing. An anything-can-happen SURPRISE will be featured at intermission. Kickapoo Joy Juice in the form of coke and pop will refresh the dancers.

What to Wear

Only the latest in Dogpatch fashions will be appropriate for the dance. Prizes will be given for the most unique costumes. If your dignity requires that you wear clothes which are all in one piece, come in strictly sport clothes.

Tickets can be purchased from members of the fraternity and at the door for 75 cents each. Stags, both Hairless Joes and Tobacco Rhodas, are welcome.

Ed Simko is chairman for the dance, with Bob Burke and Bob Ray in charge of advertising and decorations. The whole fraternity is working as a body to make the dance a success.

14 YoCo Students Picked On 1945-46 "Who's Who"

Fourteen students of Youngstown College have been picked to appear in the annual publication of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges" for the year 1945-46. Their names will appear in addition to seven students who were in last year's list.

Youngstown College students whose names were approved in the edition are Robert Burke, Virginia D'Isa, Jean Mellinger, Jane O'Brien, Jeanne Grice, Hal Davies, Gerald Watt, Howard Edsall, Mary Gertrude Rothermund, June Bradshaw, Mary Elaine Malley, Elvera Rossi, Virginia Blackman, and Dorothy Gard. Those appearing for the second year are June Grimsley, Lois McCallister, Judith Megala, Elizabeth Patrick, Margery Thomas, Marcia Welsh, Patricia Welsh, and Jack Mehler.

Qualifications for the selections lie in the student's scholastic achievement and participation in extra-curricular activities on the college campus. The organization is national and has members from all states.

If you can "read him (or her) like a book," do just that—skip the chapters you don't like and linger over the pleasing paragraphs.

Most of us are so busily pursuing what we haven't got that we can't enjoy what we have!

Ed Staron Is President Of Veterans Group

Ed Staron was re-elected president of the Veterans Club at the fall organization meeting, Oct. 10. Other officers to serve for the coming year are Mike Matune, vice president; Frank Covelli, secretary; Ray Davis, treasurer; Frank Krogoc, sergeant of arms; Ed Ostrowski, chaplain; and Bob Hammer, Tony Cook, Ray Guatrano, as the executive committee. Over 70 veterans participated in the meeting.

The organization has applied for a charter and will be under the Gamma Iota Alpha organization for veterans. It will be the largest group on campus and will be open to all veterans of World War II who are attending Youngstown College.

Review of New Year's Show at Butler Institute

"The First Decade," a New Year's Show Retrospective, for local painters and art lovers, is on exhibit at the Butler Art Institute, extending through Nov. 4.

The suggestion of a local painter, the display covers the 10-year period of the show's existence. The eligible artists are former residents of Ohio, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Indiana. Their work must have been represented in at least two New Year's shows because of the limitation of room.

Several artists are represented by two canvasses. Fred Alexander of New Castle, Pa., has on display "Interurban" which won the first award, watercolor division in 1945, and "Black Narcissus" which won the third award watercolor division in 1942. Clyde Singer the only contributor who has been awarded two first prizes in the oil section is represented by "The Rush Hour" and "Stormy Weather." It is significant that Minerva Lynch and Martha McCloskey, Youngstown painters, are the only two who have appeared in the 10 successive annuals.

All those interested are urged to come and observe what our regional artists are producing.

College Victory Bond Committee Appointed

On Monday, Oct. 22, Alice Woodside, Victory Bond chairman for Youngstown College, appointed Bob Schettino, Helen Adams, Dave Lichenstein, and Judy Megala to serve on the bond committee. The college will participate in the last National Bond Drive which will be held from Nov. 29 to Dec. 4.

Miss Woodside plans to have a stamp and bond booth erected in the first floor hall of the main building. It is necessary that the college participate wholeheartedly in this drive in order to help pay the bills of total war.

The Jambar will continue to print news concerning this drive.

G. L. Patterson Speaks To Gessner Law Club

G. L. Patterson, general counsel for the International Union of the United Rubber Workers of America, will be the speaker at the monthly meeting of the Gessner Law Club of Youngstown College to be held in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, tonight, at 6:30 p. m.

Patterson will speak on the subject, "The Development of Labor Relations Law" and will discuss briefly the history of labor law, the Waner Act and its administration, the operation of the War Labor Board during the war period, and voluntary arbitration in the postwar period.

Sigma Tau Delta Hears Madtes of Vindicator

Mr. George R. Madtes, member of the editorial staff of The Youngstown Vindicator, was guest speaker at the first Sigma Tau Delta meeting of the year held Wednesday evening at Buechner Hall. Mr. Madtes spoke on "Testing the Readability of Written Material," a subject of vital interest to the national professional English group.

A business meeting and roll call preceded the speaker. Members were informed in detail of the purposes, qualifications, and regulations of the organization by the officers. Roll call was answered with inspirational quotations. Plans were made for panel discussions on current English problems to be given at succeeding meetings.

President Lois McCallister distributed a YoCo Sigma Tau Delta bulletin on the Nov. 14 meeting. The bulletin will appear monthly.

Refreshments were served to the thirty-five members present. The committee for Wednesday's meeting was Lois McCallister and Dawn McClelland, co-chairmen, Kenny Love, and Jean Vasconi.

R. I. L. Membership Drive Is Planned

Plans for enlarging membership in Religion in Life Club were made at a meeting of the group on Oct. 22. Jeanne Grice, chairman of the membership drive committee, urges all Protestant students to secure membership cards from the committee immediately. June Bradshaw, Betty Lou Reynolds, and Bill Jones are working on the drive.

An interesting talk on "Religion in Life" was given by Prof. O. L. Reid at the same meeting.

Howard Edsall was appointed chairman for the club's next party to be given sometime in November. Plans will be announced later.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 4 at the First Presbyterian Church, corner of Wick and Wood Sts. Dr. Howard Talbot, minister of that church, will be guest speaker. The meeting will begin at 3 o'clock.

How About It, G. I.'s?

How about coming across with the latest A. P. O. or camp address, servicemen? We want to send the Jambar straight to you—no have it travel half way 'round the world catching up with you. The army and navy are not so keen on forwarding second class mail. So your pleasure (we hope) and our future plans depend on your latest address being on file in the publicity office.

Servicemen, their families, and friends can aid all concerned by jotting down the latest addresses of former YoCo students now in service on a penny post card. Send it to Youngstown College — post haste! Thanks.

Looking Around

By Judy Megala

Scuttlebutt: So rushing's over and all those ingenious ideas for hayrides, Russian parties, fiestas, and other socials are stored into the moth bag for another semester. The too-too nice active Greeks now are planning to make life miserable for their pledges; and both Greeks and Independents are finding out that studying, as studying, is an admirable thing, but this beautiful Indian summer sort of complicates things, doesn't it?

Now that Bishop McDuffie is back in school, perhaps he can become active in Speech Club again. Bishop is one of our best debaters... Ward Baker sings tenor beautifully... Among the night school sharpies: Paul Gribbon and Dorothy Sherlock... Cy James, Ursuline coach and former campus biggie, is now the proud papa of a baby boy... We like the way Phil D'Orsi plays the piano... Ruth Berger's "beau" Capt. Logan Weston, is furloughing, and Ruthie's looking mighty happy these days... Marjorie Davis has pretty legs... Mary Bell Gilbert rates a nod as a really swell person... Our nominee for a future BMOG: Bob Shreve... Orchids to Council members for cleaning the Lounge—it looks so much better now... Speaking of cleaning the Lounge, one of the Council members, finding a notebook, decided to teach the owner a lesson by throwing it away. He changed his mind though, when he found it was his own. Didn't you, Joe?... John Concedo has quite a selection of Petty girls in his locker—pictures, of course... Geza Liskay, Kappa Sig who is now in China, writes that he'll be home next month... For a guy with a brain, check Lloyd Haynes... An open letter to gals: Former Phi Gam prexy and air corps louie, Tom Barrett, now discharged, is coming back to YoCo. P. S.: He's Irish, too... Rumor has it that the basketball team is whipping up into fine shape.

POEME: Attention, She-Males! Grab any Independent lad, A Kappa or Phi Sig; Get set for Sadie Hawkins Day—It's gwine to be mighty big.

Nov. 3 and Sadie Hawkins Day—when the Kappa Sigs sponsor their annual dance and present an opportunity to every gal to get at least ONE date this year. You see, this is the time WE do the asking, so if you're not there, you've no one to blame but yourself. All right, so bring your brother, but COME. It'll be fun, I know. (Note to Kappa Sigs: Of course, you realize I expect a free ticket for this!)

DOTS WHILE DASHING:

Ed Ostrowski catching up on his sleep in class... Bob McCracken, former Kappa Sig, visiting frat brother at school... James Tavalario, ex YoCoite, home from overseas, thrilling us in assembly with Debussy's "Clair de Lune"... Isabelle MacLennan, sporting a diamond from the navy, Paul Morehead... Melva Mantle flaunting a pic of Peg Downie's army man... Nice seeing Mr. Webster with us again... The shock of receiving fan mail. One postcard, no less... Lola Raptou getting all over that eye infection and looking pretty again... All of us making bets galore on the South-Ursuline game, and am I glad I took Ursuline... Davy Lickenstein with his wrists bandaged. After-effects of rushing, I see... Mike Matune spending Saturday night in a telephone booth... Miss Balantine, the cafeteria chef, getting our vote for the best cook we've met... Joe Simpkins developing his habit of missing buses... Violet Antonovich planning a trip to Hudson Bay.

HAVE YOU EVER PLAYED RABBIT?... THAT'S ABOUT IT FOR NOW... COME EXCITEMENT OR COME ANYTHING, CLASSES STILL GO ON AS USUAL, AND WE GO ON TO CLASSES—AND GREATER THINGS!

Indian Summer in the Library...

These crisp autumn days find us out of doors. Nature's putting on a technicolor show, and it's ours to take or leave. They are really golden, these Indian summer days. Did you know that Indian summer is purely American? The first mention of it in literature was in Denny's Military Journal, 1794. How do we know? The Oxford English Dictionary. This is the season when a brand new crop of plays blossoms on Broadway. You can keep right up to the minute by following the magazines Theatre Critics' Reviews and Theatre Arts Monthly. The little magazine, Symphony Notes, keeps you up to date in that field. And don't forget the New York Times Drama-Art-Music section. Games with a distinct autumn flavor: Husking Bee and Barn Dance, can be directed with the aid of some of our books on parties and games. "Left hand to partner! Balance and swing!" For further directions, see Swing Your Partners, by Maddocks. If autumn means hunting to you, there is a fine book on pheasants and another called Ducks, Geese, and Swans of North America. Don't expect to find any Blood Pheasants this season. They live in the foothills of the Himalayas. For those interested in sketching, now is a good time to study trees. Blakeslee's Trees in Winter and Rines' Design and Construction in Tree Drawing should get you off to a good start. If you like nature pictures, the magazine Natural History has some beauties. Another, Arizona Highways, has color photographs that are superb. For those who are intending to teach nature study, Science Illustrated and Cornell Rural School Leaflet are good little periodicals to follow. If you are one who cares about conserving our natural resources, there are Soil Conservation and American Forests. For those who take their nature study at night, we suggest locating some new constellations with the aid of one of the monthly sky maps to be found in Sky and Telescope. Does Indian summer draw you to a rhyming dictionary? Try answering the Autumn Poetry Quiz in the Lounge exhibit.

CAMPUS COMMENTS

MYSTERY ON THE FRONT PAGE

Any similarity between the front page picture captioned "Mr. Hughey" in the last Jambar and Mr. Hughey himself is purely an accident of nature. The gentleman in the picture happens to be Mr. Raymond Dehnstiel of the music school. The mix-up occurred in identification of the picture "maté" which offer only the faintest impression of the person for recognition. Since neither of the editors is acquainted with Mr. Hughey, they decided by process of elimination, that the fourth mat MUST be he. But it wasn't. Anyway, our sincere apologies to Mr. Hughey who was a good sport and just laughed about it.

PSYCHOLOGY OF CRAMMING

Books piled high... headaches... wee small hours... butterfly stomach... cigarette trays overflowing. Those who have been burning the midnight electricity in preparation for six weeks' exams know what we mean.

There must be reasons for leaving text books with their new stiffness undisturbed for weeks and then practically wearing them out in one or two nights of cramming. Perhaps the reasons are better left unmentioned.

So you play for six weeks until the prof calmly announces a test for the day after tomorrow. You go home, not so calmly, and establish yourself in a realm of atmosphere for studying. Deep armchair by the radio, glaring light, those like-new texts, cigarettes and coffee. For the next 24 to 48 hours (with intermission for eating and sleeping) stuffing six weeks' worth of knowledge on the Ameba's life cycle, colonial America, and abnormal psychology into your cerebrum (brain—learned that in Zoology).

So you limp to the exam hoping that your haggard, milk-white face will have a psychological effect on the professor. Authorities say that crammed study has no lasting value. Well, it lasts long enough to get one by on a passing, maybe even good grade. Of course you have it all to learn over again for the final exam because like they say, the stuff doesn't stay with you.

So why do you do it? Trade yourself in for a nervous wreck every six weeks. You know it really isn't right at all. And, besides all that, you don't learn anything. Really, it's awful.

What are we talking about! We do it all the time!

KNOW WHAT

The University of Toledo has the very same number of veterans enrolled as we do. Both YoCo and Toledo boast 187 vets.

HOT FROM DOGPATCH

The Kappa Sigs had to stall around on the time for their dance until they found out the exact date of Sadie Hawkins Day this year. They hounded the Vindicator until the dope came through from Al Capp, authority on Dogpatch doings. Now that the date is set, a week from tomorrow night, Nov. 3, let's all go and have a hoe-down of a good time.

BILL SLIFKA

Sharpie Bill Slifka, Kappa Sig, who fractured a bone in his neck while diving at the "Y" recently, is in the veterans' hospital at Brecksville, O. YoCo students' best wishes are with him. Bill will be out of circulation for several months. We'll have his address for you next issue.

To Speed Their Recovery

The fighting of battles of World War II is over, but the fighting for human lives of American servicemen still remains. Thousands of college boys spent their junior years in the South Pacific or in Germany. Many lost their lives or were seriously injured. Those returning are now wondering what their colleges back home contributed to the war effort and are now contributing to securing the peace and their rehabilitation to normal lives. The first Victory Loan Drive will run from Oct. 27 to Dec. 31. A national goal of 11 Billion dollars has been set up to help pay for the most costly war in history. Our nation has spared no expense to save the lives of its fighting men. Former Secretary of the Treasurer Morgenthau termed this spending to save lives "the most significant fact in war finance."

At Youngstown College a chairman and committee has been appointed to lead the Victory drive on campus. In past drives jeeps and trainer planes were purchased by the bond sales. Last year bonds totaling $25,695 were sold by college students. This year we have even a more personal reason for buying and selling Victory bonds. The battlefields may have seemed distant and remote, but the battle for the lives of wounded men is close and gripping. Many of those who are in rehabilitation hospitals are former students of Youngstown College. They are the boys who played football and basketball, who walked to class with you, who went to the proms and college activities.

Hospital needs vary according to the patient's needs. However, the army, navy, and air forces have set $3,000 as a general all-purpose cost for the medical care and equipment used by one man. This includes such items as X-ray machines, beds, whirlpool baths, wheelchairs, and medicines. America will go to no end to insure her men recovery. They have given up years of being at home and their good health for their country's well-being. How much are you going to just lend for their return to health? How many men are you going to give the best medical care? The answer will lie in your support of the Victory drive.

Things are rather well arranged after all. If the poor and downtrodden didn't have inferiority complexes, they'd be running around LOOKING for trouble.

Society is composed of the good and the bad. Any good member will gladly dash off a list of the other good ones on the back of a calling card.

Pity the man who has had no hard luck, and the woman who has had no children, no operation. What do they have to talk about?

Generally we are impressed that he who talks "straight from the shoulder" should speak from a little higher up.

A bass drum player may not make good music, but he deadens the noise made by the bad music.

With the Greeks . . .

By Elizabeth Patrick

Once more, with the coming of the formal dinners, we are slowly drawing closer to the end of rushing season. Very shortly the poor rushees will have to come back to earth from fairyland, and the actives will once again enjoy a much needed rest.

ALPHA THETA DELTA

The Alpha Deltas held their second rush party Wednesday, Oct. 17, at Florence Anderson's home in Fowler. Judy Megala was chairman of the event. Highlight of the evening was a hay ride through the countryside. The evening ended with group sing around a bonfire.

The formal banquet will be held Saturday, Oct. 27, at Poland Country Club. Marian Pagliasotti is chairman of the affair. The president, June Grimsley, will give a talk explaining the sorority. Tuesday, Oct. 23, the sorority held a business meeting to draw up final plans for the dinner.

GAMMA SIGMA

Gamma Sig's held a Gay Nineties rush party at the Pick-Ohio Hotel on Oct. 18. The committee was composed of Marge Blakely, chairman, Melva Mantle, Marge Thomas, and Virginia Brugler.

Last night we held our final party, a formal dinner, at the V. F. W. in the Rose Room. Mary Elaine Malloy was chairman, assisted by Bev Jackson, Ginny Folweine, and Bea Arnold.

KAPPA SIGMA KAPPA

The Kap Sigs are back in the saddle and are off to an active semester of social activities. Up and coming on the list of events is the annual "Sadie Hawkins" Dance which has become synonymously linked with the fraternity. Refreshments, prizes, and the best in music will be extended to the many who will attend.

Kappa Sigma Kappa urges the entire student body, friends, and members of the faculty to attend for an evening of real fun and enjoyment. Don't miss it!

First in the string of rush parties was an evening smoker at the American Legion Hall. An informal program was arranged by members of the committee.

The next affair, a formal evening dinner, will be held at the New Venetian Room of the Italian Restaurant. Arrangements have been completed and an interesting program has been assembled for prospective and active members.

Danny Rich was appointed historian of the organization at the last regular meeting.

PHI LAMBDA DELTA

The Phi Lambs held their first rush party Tuesday, Oct. 16, at Bear's Den. The theme of the party was Russian with the actives dressed in Russian outfits.

The formal banquet will be on Wednesday, Oct. 24, at the Pick-Ohio. Chairman of the affair is Polly Thomas, and her committee includes Olga Poiniski, Mary Nagel, and Pat Ford. Grett Rothermund, president, will give a short talk on the sorority.

PHI SIGMA EPSILON

The Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity held a smoker party, the first rush party of the season, Oct. 12, at the home of Mason Dyer. The

ICE CREAM

DAIRY FOODS

Phi Sig smoker party seems to be working itself into a tradition with the fraternity, and they are planning to adopt it as such, as well as the dinner party (last rush party). The second rush party, the Sunday Morning Breakfast at Bear's Den Cabin, has already become a tradition with the group.

The smoker party was a huge success this season—one of the best ever held. The evening was spent with a few games of cards and since there were several piano players in the crowd, the fellows enjoyed themselves in some singing. Next to Hum's vocal chords, Dyer's piano got the worst workout.

The Phi Sigs also held an informal social gathering at the home of Bill Patrinos, Thursday, Oct. 18. Bill's charming wife, Dorothy, served as hostess and prepared refreshments for the boys.

Speech Society Makes Plans for Debates

Participation in state-wide contests and local debates was discussed at a meeting of the Speech Society, Oct. 17. Students interested in speech work are invited to join the club by attending its meeting to be held next Wednesday, Oct. 31, in room 110 at noon. A full social calendar is being planned.

John Vitek, last year's president, was acting chairman when new officers were elected at the Oct. 17 meeting. New officers are Frank Beshara, president; Helen Kabelo, vice president; Betty Lou Reynolds, secretary; and Joe Peyko, treasurer.

Freshman Girls Tea

A freshman girls tea will be held on Nov. 8, from 3 to 5, in the college auditorium. General plans were made at the regular meeting of Y. W. G. S. last Friday noon, Oct. 19. Antoinette Carrino heads the committee in charge of arrangements; she will be assisted by Betty Nace and Marylouise Dacunto. All freshman girls are invited to attend.

Notes from Dana's

D. M. F. (Dana Music Forum) had its first meeting Tuesday evening, Oct. 16, with Mildred Vieweg, former proxy of the organization, presiding. Dorothy Gard was appointed by the faculty to assume the responsibilities and duties of the presidency for the coming year. Popular elections brought to the foreground Emil LaCivita as vice president, Lois Keck as secretary, Bill Trube ("of True Bee or Not True Bee, That Is the Question," fame) as treasurer. Highlights of the evening were games, community singing, whistling (at the "Call") and food. Yes, Tony, the one to your right is Zip and the one to your left is Zap—no, not zap—Zap!

Plans for a gala-ghostly Halloween get-together have gone into swing. Let's hope the college of musical knowledge (and annex) will not be altered too much by this affair. We dare you to attend! Oh, but definitely, we shall be careful to stay within bounds.

The foreign lingo heard about our premises could be a sign that a modern Mayflower, in helicopter form, has banked on the shores of old Mahoning's water—but isn't it just that all of a sudden students (we won't mention names, but you know who they are) have gone a la foreign accent! They tell us that the United States is a country where conditions change so rapidly that it doesn't facilitate matters in the least for our neighbors from across the waters.

On the Oriental side of the street we find the "gangs" goes in for devouring Chinese food in vast quantities. Goes is not quite strong enough; mayhaps races would be better?

Big days for S. A. I. members will be Nov. 18, 19, 20, as these are the days on which the officers of the National S. A. I. will participate in the initiation and installation of our group as national members. Preparations are causing much hustle-bustle, and members are in a dither rushing to do this, that, and the other thing.

Those who are pitch conscious have found a slight similarity between odd sounds rendered by the men building the church next door and ear training.

Coming dates to remember:
Nov. 7—College orchestra to perform in chapel.
Nov. 8—Ruth Posselt with the Youngstown Symphony.
Nov. 10—The Philadelphia Orchestra and Eugene Ormandy at Starbuck.

Additional—Piano in the back practice room, namely, the kitchen; new locks on the practice room doors; couch in the second floor faculty room.

Word Portraits . . . . .

ALICE WOODSIDE—Refreshing coke on a sultry day. Rainbow after the storm.
BOB SHREVE—October sunshine and hickory nuts. Shy, but impressive. The aroma of good tobacco.
JANET JONES—Twilight and evening star. The scent of Tabu cologne. Yards of blue, blue net with silver sequins.
DOROTHY BUTTS—Calm, cool, and collected. Chicken salad and iced tea. Poise personified.
WILLARD MUNZ—The kid next door. Toss me the mustard and call me brother. Songs before an open fire.
LOLA RAPTOU—From the pages of Mademoiselle. A spray of white orchids on Easter morning. The rustle of silk.
JIM McMAHON—When Irish Eyes Are Smiling. Plaid shirts and hayrides. Black-eyed susans.
LOIS McCALLISTER—The charm of a smile. Essence of dependability. The strains of a Strauss waltz.
JIM McGOVERN—Cheering at collegiate football games. Quiet humor. Slippers by the fireplace.
SHIRLEY SKINNER—Boxy sweaters and saddle shoes. Music by Harry James. Chocolate sodas with whipped cream fillers.
CHESTER KRIZINSKY—Down Moonlight Bay. The wind blowing across a lake. A door closed softly.
EDITH RODWAY—Three stranded pearls. Waves breaking on the shore. Heather and a summer night.

International Relations Club on "War Crimes"

Virginia D'Issa, vice president and recording secretary of International Relations Club, lead the discussion on War Crimes and Criminals at the Oct. 15 meeting. Dr. C. P. Gould, club advisor, asked that the group consider whether the punishment is dealt as revenge or as a preventive measure for future crimes.

Whether the Atomic bomb secret should be given to the other nations or not, was the topic for the Oct. 22 meeting. Lilly Yee presented the project of The World Student Service Fund to the group.

President John Vitek has appointed the following chairmen for the coming year: Helen Guterba, social committee; Mary Lou Walker, program; and Jo Yelder, publicity.

Kappa Phi's Make Plans

The Sigma Kappa Phi fraternity has completed plans for a Halloween party to be held Oct. 27 at the Dinner Bell.

Dancing will be the main source of entertainment followed by a buffet luncheon. All the Kappa Phi's and their guests are urged to come. The arrangements are being made by Jack Ritter, Leonard Hammond, Fred Schaffer, and Albert Thiel.

Nov. 7 will be the next regular meeting of the Kappa Phi's.

Sigma Alpha Iota to Join National Organization

The Sigma Alpha Iota Music Group of Dana Musical Institute has been a local group of professional women musicians for five years. This year the chapter hopes to be initiated into the national organization which is an honorary professional women's music fraternity.

The Sigma Alpha Iota Group has been very active in musical and social affairs at Dana's and YoCo. Many of the members have given their own recitals and others have appeared on college recitals and chapel programs. Since the academic requirements are high many of the group hold membership in Delta Epsilon.

The formal initiation of the group into the national organization will take place Nov. 19. A banquet given by the alumnae and a formal recital given by the pledge members will follow.

Silence Rains . . . . . Quietly Y. W. G. S. Holds First Social Event of Year

"Silent Week," next Monday through Friday, offers quite a contrast to the gala rush season now coming to a close. Freshmen rushees have been the toast of the Greek organizations for the past three weeks. They have been literally rashed off their feet at elaborate parties, cokes at the Lincoln, and a general air of extreme friendliness. It has been fun for rushees and Greeks alike. But starting Monday and continuing throughout the week, rushees are forbidden to even speak to Greek organization members — and vice-versa.

This period of silence is a time for thought and decision. Decision on whether to join in the fun of a sorority or fraternity. And, after that decision is made, the question of which organization to join arises.

Shall I Join?

Sororities and frats are fun, no doubt about it. They offer companionship and a crowded social calendar. The companionship often develops into lifelong friendships, invaluable assets to anyone. The parties are a pleasant escape from the grind of classes and the more serious side of college. Your liking and need for people should play an important part in the decision.

To turn the picture around—sororities and frats mean work and time, no doubt about it. Of course the work is of an enjoyable sort, but it does mean giving several hours each week to purely social activity. It is not fair to yourself or to the organization to join and not enter whole-heartedly into the deal. You are expected to be an asset, not dead weight. A happy medium can be struck by use of a balanced outlook . . . the point between a bookworm and a social flutterhead. Again, it depends on you. How much time will you need for the grindstone in order to maintain your scholastic standard? How much does "playing" mean to you?

Sororities and frats are wonderful builders of morale, poise, and attraction. They often make a personality. However, they are sometimes cruel, especially during rushing. They often break a personality then. Politics and emotions are bound to enter into organizations that depend so much on personal traits—often superficial qualifications.

If you feel you need what a Greek group offers and can be HAPPY in it, by all means pledge the group of your choice. But, if you have a feeling that sorority and frat "goings-on" may go against your grain — may make you uneasy — think it over. If you have enough confidence in yourself that you will be able to find a circle of friends on your own and be happy—stay independent. Play the lone wolf. Again, you must examine YOU carefully.

Which Greek Shall I Join?

If you decide "yes" on the above and have been rushed by more than one organization, then comes the question of "which one?" Make sure the members of your choice are your kind of people. Are they too fast or too slow for you? You might even consider their financial status, clothes, etc. Remember, you will be associated quite closely with them during your college career.

Moral standards mean a great deal to some people. If they do to you, consider the sorority or frat as a whole in this matter. Don't go too much on "reps" which are often elaborated upon during rushing. But DO try to see what lies under the veneer of rush season. If you are very particular about such matters, don't completely ignore the smoke of an organization's reputation—there might be a little fire there.

When considering individual personalities remember that they become somewhat submerged in the general atmosphere of the group. Do not let one person, unless he or she is absolutely intolerable to you, prevent you from joining a group where you are sure to find many other friends.

Last, but not least, make sure you will fit in the organization. Make sure you can go along on most everything they will do. This is difficult to be certain on when you know so little about them. Again, look beneath the polish of rush season.

Confused? Well, Think It Over. By this time you are probably completely confused. There are so many things to be considered. But you have all next week to ponder on the subject. So think it over. Whether you go Greek or play the lone wolf, we wish you luck here at YoCo—lots of it!

Y. W. G. S. Holds First Social Event of Year

Y. W. G. S., Young Women's Group Social, held its first social event of the school year last Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. The group had a hilarious time playing games after which refreshments were served. Autumn supplied the theme for the table appointments. White snupdragons and marigolds were used to form an attractive centerpiece. Dawn McClelland is president; Margie Conkle, treasurer; and Mary Lou Farina, secretary. Faculty advisers are Miss Ivis Boyer and Miss Stella Cassano.

Alpha Iota Sorority Entertains at Party

Alpha Eta Chapter of Alpha Iota National Business Sorority entertained 27 rushees at its first rush party, Tuesday evening, Oct. 9, at Pioneer Pavilion. The evening was spent informally with games and dancing. Prizes were won by Peggy Guyer and Alyce Turner. Decorations and refreshments were in the harvest theme.

In charge of arrangements were Miss Dorothy Lyden, general chairman, assisted by committee chairmen Mildred Scott, Betty Johnson, Nadine Kildoo, Patricia Greenawalt, and Helen Barnes.

Members met for a social-business meeting at the home of Mrs. Hilda Hanna, faculty sponsor, Friday evening, Oct. 19. Plans were discussed for the dinner rush party held Oct. 23, at the Colonial Room of the Y. M. C. A. Ribbon streamers of royal blue and white, the sorority colors, extended from the centerpiece of mixed flowers to the individual place cards. A welcome was extended by Dorothy Lyden, president. Helen Barnes and Patricia Greenawalt were chairmen of the affair.

Put your faith in the plodder rather than the plodder.

Anyone who can say "neigh, neigh," at the right time, has horse sense.

The ordinary individual doesn't want much, and Providence has so arranged it that what he gets is usually just a little bit less than that.
