What is the mysterious structure being built atop Ward Beecher Science Hall? According to Nick J. Leonelli, Director of Campus Development, it is a penthouse that will hold equipment for the new elevator being installed in the building.

Located in the same place as the old one, the new elevator will be larger and "serviceable to the handicapped," Leonelli said. Work on the new elevator is expected to be completed by the first of November.

Recent survey taken

Uncertain employment predicted

In the face of the announced cutback in the steel-making industry, employment predictions for the next three months in the Youngstown/Warren areas are uncertain, according to a report on its quarterly employment survey released Tuesday by Manpower, the world's largest temporary help service.

Michael Werner, owner of Manpower's Youngstown/Warren office, said, "Because Youngstown/Warren is heavily a durable goods manufacturing center, our survey is weighted toward those industries. Obviously, many allied businesses and industries will be affected by the steel cutback."

Wholesale and retail merchants had shown the greatest optimism with a third of the firms queried projecting hiring intentions.

"The unexpected news from the steel industry about widespread layoffs has jolted the community. The reliability of our survey now depends on the direction and rate of recovery," Werner said.

The findings of the Manpower survey on a national basis indicate the U.S. hiring outlook is optimistic for the final three months of 1977 with no slowdown anticipated. The survey results indicate businessmen expect hiring activity to continue at a healthy pace during the final quarter of the year (October, November and December).

One-third of the employers surveyed anticipate additional hiring which is equal to the hiring projections reported in a similar Manpower survey taken last June and above the hiring anticipations of a Manpower survey taken one year ago when 30 percent of the survey sample projected increases.

Some weakness does appear this quarter with nine percent of the employers projecting cutbacks in hiring between now and the close of 1977. This is higher than the six percent predicted in last quarter's Manpower survey but equal to expectations reported by Manpower for the fourth quarter of 1976. For the rest of the year 55 percent of those surveyed anticipate no change in their employment levels.

The Southern region of the country continues to lead the nation in hiring expectations as it has for the last two consecutive Manpower surveys with 37 percent of the region's employers expecting additional hiring. All 10 industry sectors for the South exceed those of the national sample in hiring plans.

The West, although down from last quarter's Manpower survey, is significantly higher in hiring expectations (32 percent) than one year ago. The Northeast continues to lag national figures with 29 percent of those interviewed forecasting an increased hiring pace. Behind the South in the hiring outlook is the Midwest where 31 percent of those surveyed expect an increased pace.

The hiring pace remains strong for Durable Goods Manufacturers with 34 percent, the same as in the June Manpower survey, expecting to increase their employment levels during the next three months.

Similar to the dip it registered in the Manpower survey one year ago, 29 percent of the Nondurable Goods Manufacturers interviewed say they will hire more workers with nine percent calling for staff reductions.

Three different industry sectors dipped noticeably in the survey - public administration, services and construction.

The quarterly Employment Outlook Survey is conducted as a public service by Manpower, Inc. The survey is designed and administered by Manpower's International Research Department which uses a statistically representative sample of approximately 5,000 large employers, distributed among 10 industry sectors and some 150 U.S. cities. The survey results reflect the employment intentions for the next 90 days.

Wean lecture series inaugurated introduces 'artists-in-residence'

The Raymond J. Wean - YSU lectureship program was inaugurated this quarter, providing the university, as well as the community, access to internationally known "artists-in-residence," the first of which is Alfred Leslie.

Raymond J. Wean has long been noted for his keen interest and active participation in University affairs. A prominent area industrialist, he served as chairman of the University Board of Trustees from 1960 to 1962. In 1973, Mr. Wean was elected chairman of the Youngstown Educational Foundation, through which the lectureship program is administered. He became chairman emeritus of the Foundation in 1976.

The lectureship, emphasizing the areas of fine and performing arts, business, and engineering, is funded through a $50,000 grant from the YEF. The program is designed to enhance the value of academic programs through the encounter of students with prominent practitioners in the field, while at the same time stressing the connections between the university and the community through interaction of the lecturer with community organizations.

Performing Arts was the first to receive approval of a proposal for the program. Dean William McGraw of the college says, "The dedication of Bliss Hall this quarter (Oct. 25) provides a most appropriate opportunity to open this program. Some of Mr. Leslie's works will be exhibited in the Bliss Hall Gallery to coincide with the dedication period."

The search for an artist-in-residence must be a careful one, according to McGraw. "Mr. Leslie is an ideal example of the type of individual desired for the lectureship. He is an internationally regarded, historically important artist who has worked at and is comfortable in educational institutions." McGraw gives Dr. Louis Zona, assistant professor of art, much of the credit for Mr. Leslie's selection.

Dean Leon Rand of the Graduate School states that the School of Business has a proposal for the program, and may have a resident lecturer during the spring quarter of 1978. He is hopeful, too, that the School of Engineering will soon make use of the lectureship.

YSU Wields New Weapon

A new weapon in its war on trash has been acquired by YSU to combat the huge amount of trash left in the wake of 3000 hungry Hardee burger fans.

The weapon is the new, decorative planter/trash receptacles, which are located, and in fact can't be avoided, throughout Hardees' eating area.

"You can't leave this area without walking past a planter. We've tried to locate the things as conveniently as possible so you can leave your tray on the way out," commented Hardees' Assistant Manager Landy Phillips.

Hardees', with a seating capacity of 450, serves between 2500 and 3000 customers during its peak hours of 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Four people are employed during this period to police trash and clean trays.

"What we're after now is an awareness factor on the students' part," says Phillips. The new trash receptacles, in combination with the Hardees' clean-up employees and student cooperation can help to alleviate the gigantic trash problem generated by this kind of load.

LET'S help LETS

During Student Council's meeting this past Monday, council voted in favor of giving $240 out of contingency fund to the Liberation for Equality Toward Students (LETS) organization. The allotment of funds is awaiting approval of student government President George Glaros.

LETS requested the money in order to pay students to assist blind and wheelchair-bound students to and from classes.

Although the majority of handicapped students on campus can get around independently with powered wheelchairs or as a result of mobility training by the Society for the Blind, a few of the handicappers cannot travel without help. For these dependent students, LETS provides the assistance they need to become a part of the University life.

This service can benefit non-handicapped students, as well. Accidents, illness or disease can confine students to wheelchairs or cause some to temporarily lose the use of limbs. Rather than lose time from classes, student aids can help transport them to their classes.

LETS presently uses volunteer help in servicing the handicapped. Little or no response from other student organizations has caused LETS to request a monetary system to acquire the necessary permanent students to perform this service.

The $240 will provide the employed students with a payment of 25 cents per trip.

Although only a small number of students will be aided by this service, it is important that student government consider the needs and problems of students on an individual basis.

Federal financial aid can be denied to students convicted of crimes

by Helaine Lasky

Financial aid and campus protest do not mix. In fact, they don't even socialize according to federal regulations on the books since 1966 which stipulate that students receiving federal financial assistance never participate in campus disruptions.

After receiving several letters protesting the procedure, Berkeley ended the practice but only after more than 4,000 people had signed this year's anti-riot forms. Frank Mondrian, financial aid officer at Berkeley, said that the forms were destroyed and that no student who signed the statements would be penalized.

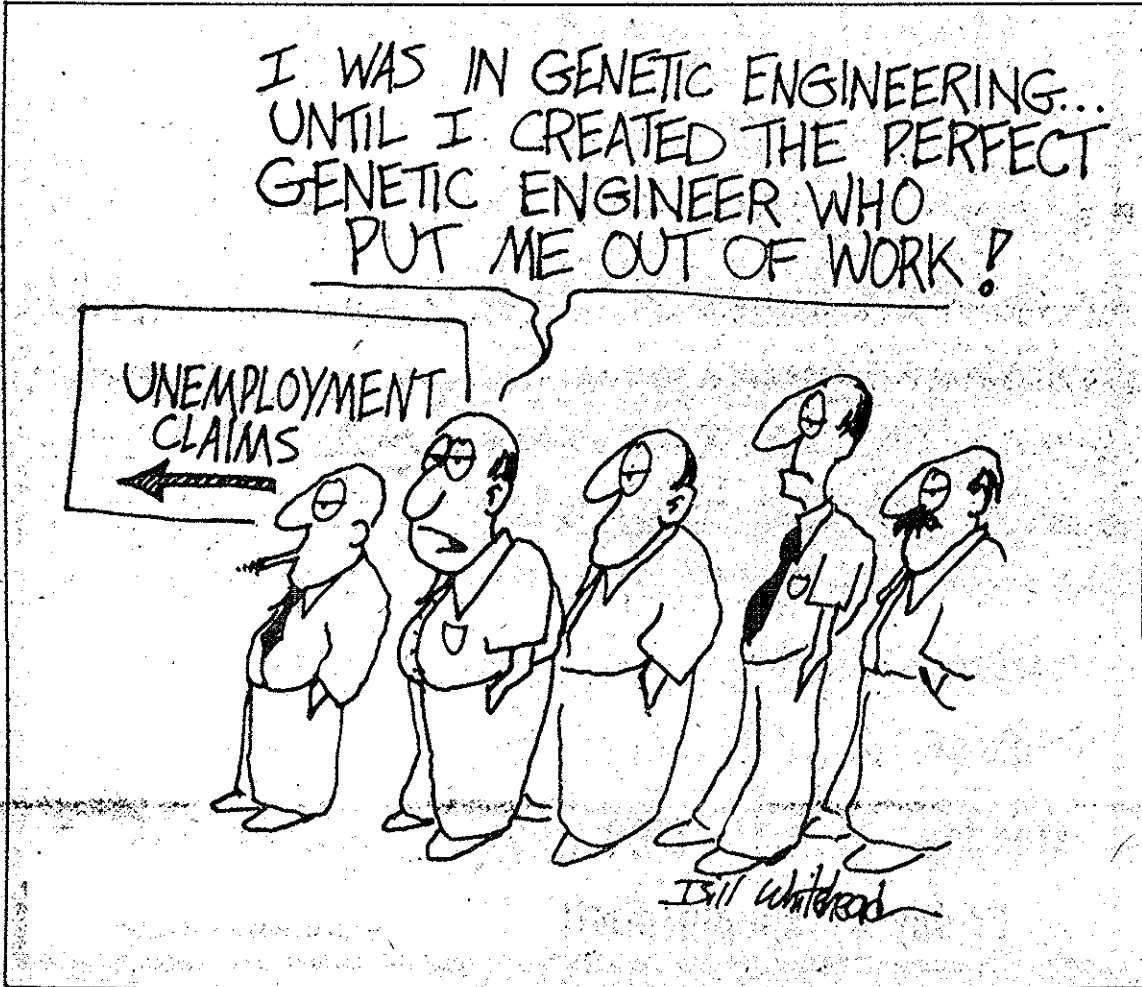

The original regulation, part of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Department of Labor's 1966-67 higher education amendments, stated that federal funds in the form of loans, grants, salaries or other remuneration would not be paid to any students, teachers or researchers who disrupted normal university business or forcefully seized university property.

A major section of the regulation was ruled unconstitutional in January 1977 and amended to apply to students convicted of any crime on campus.

The regulation could have a disastrous effect on students who participated in campus disruptions last spring. Riots occurred at Stanford, Berkeley, several University of California schools, the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, the University of Wisconsin at Madison Hampshire College in Massachusetts, and the University of Maryland. As many as 294 students were arrested at Stanford and if convicted, could lose financial aid.

While there was never an actual "anti-riot" statement form issued by the federal government, colleges could require students to sign such a statement. The University of California at Berkeley used the form until several weeks ago asking students to state in writing that they had never "directly participated" in a campus demonstration nor exhibited "extremely aggressive behavior."

This year, the Jambar seeks to create a more modern physical format. But the Jambar also hopes to maintain an important tradition—continued use of the talents of many YSU students. All YSU students, not just the Jambar's editorial staff, are invited to work for the University's newspaper. The Jambar seeks reporters, photographers, and technicians. It also seeks letters of opinion from its readers. Moreover, the Jambar will continue its "open door" policy: any student or faculty member is invited to the offices to discuss issues which he feels warrants investigation and coverage by the Jambar.

Author Gourley to talk on Great Lakes Triangle

In February, 1964, an Aero Commander left Detroit carrying three passengers and 4 1/2 hours of fuel. The weather excellent. The plane's destination was the Akron/Canton airport. It never made it, and no trace of the plane has ever been found. This tragic and mysterious accident is just one of the more bewildering happenings examined in a book entitled, The Great Lakes Triangle.

A trained pilot himself, author Jay Gourley will be a guest speaker at YSU on Oct. 12. Sponsoring his appearance is the Kilcawley Center Program Board.

Calling it, "deadlier than the famed Bermuda Triangle", Gourley's book searches for reasons why this area which at no point is more than 50 miles from land has become an unintentional mass burial ground for hundreds of people and vessels.

Gourley is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma and has been a reporter for the Los Angeles Herald Examiner and the National Enquirer. His personal and professional curiosity as an aviator and journalist led him to the discovery of the extraordinary concentration of accidents in the Great Lakes area, by unfolding files at the National Transportation Safety Board offices.

Gourley's speaking appearance next month, will be at 8 p.m. the YSU Kilcawley Center Multi-Purpose Room.

Registrations are still open for managerial skills classes

The Department of Continuing Education at YSU in association with the School of Business Administration is continuing to accept registrations for managerial education courses this fall.

The courses are designed to meet the challenge of updating managerial skills and to provide training for newly appointed managers or supervisors.

Sponsored by the American Management Associations Extension Institute, the courses are grouped in four program areas covering the major functions of business; General Management Skills, Managerial Finance and Control, Management and the Computer; and Marketing Management. Each course is complete in itself and assumes no prior knowledge, thus a participant may study any course individually or as a part of a certificate program.

Among the courses being offered are: "Decision Making for Managers," "Modern Marketing and Company Objectives"; and "Communication Skills for Managers."

Beginning Oct. 21, the courses meet for a total of 18 hours, with three hour sessions held once each week, for six weeks. The fee for each course is $135.

Additional information may be obtained by writing or calling the YSU Department of Continuing Education, (216) 746-1851, ext. 482.

Ohio gets $5,000 to place students in public service

Keith Roelofs, Director of the Chicago Region, U. S. Civil Service Commission, today announced the award of a $5000 grant to the State of Ohio. This grant is authorized under the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970 and is for a project designed to assist in the placement of student interns in public administration related positions in local jurisdictions and agencies in southwestern Ohio.

In addition to grants, the Intergovernmental Personnel Act provides for the temporary assignment and interchange of officials between the Federal government and State and local governments or institutions of higher education; the admission of State and local government employees to Federal training courses; graduate fellowships for employees in administrative, professional, and technical occupations; and technical assistance in recruitment, examining, and other personnel management areas.

Teacher enjoys seeing world talks to students about it

by Rebecca Turocy

"Go now before you are married and then you don't have to pay for two," Dr. John Anton, geography, advises his students who are interested in traveling.

Anton finds pleasure in visiting different countries, talking to the people and seeing the mountains. He believes that going to the peak of a mountain is a means of rejuvenation because the climber can look out for miles and breathe in the fresh air. He has visited many mountain ranges including the Alps, the Himalayas and the Rockies. He adds that he has still to visit the Antarctic and South America.

The mountain experience is what first interested Anton in geography. While in the mountains, he wondered about the people who first inhabited them as well as about the people who inhabited the cities around the mountains. He thought about the dangers and the benefits provided by the mountains.

Slides that he took of the mountains and other sites that he visited are used as learning techniques in his classes, Anton states. Instead of merely showing students places on the map, he shares his slides and experiences with his students. He enjoys communicating what he saw and knew, and the best way he can accomplish this is to show things as they are by means of slides.

Born in Austria, Anton does not agree with educational methods used in this country. He admires education as it exists in the first grade, but criticizes it in the other eleven grades. Anton explains, "We have fire-works in the first grade and then nothing, whereas in Europe they build up slowly each year." In addition to teaching for 20 years, eight of which have been at YSU, Anton has been a city planner in both Toronto and Akron. He has seen it change from Chinatown to the beautiful metropolis it is today.

Anton's hobbies are traveling and camping. "Camping is the only way a teacher can afford to travel," Anton states. Besides, while camping, a man can be close to nature and the animals that roam around while he sleeps, Anton adds.

Orsini, 2 year starter, accepts role in trench

by Allen Rock

The running back crosses the goal line, holds the ball high in the air and proceeds to do his "dance". The fans stand and cheer as they focus on this spectacle.

Meanwhile, unnoticed 20 yards up field, number 71 slowly gets up from the ground. He looks toward the goal line, nods his head in approval and then trots to the sidelines.

For number 71, junior right guard Ralph Orsini, a touchdown means a job well done. "When we score a touchdown that means I did my job and everyone else did theirs. It's the ideal play," he says.

Orsini brought his football prowess to YSU after graduating from Steubenville Catholic Central High School in 1974. While attending Central he was a first team selection for the all-Ohio Valley, All-District 5, All OVAC and All-Eastern Ohio all star teams.

During his freshman year at YSU, it was decided Orsini would not play so he could acquire valuable experience while gaining an extra year of playing eligibility.

Orsini is currently in his second year as a starter on the Penguin offensive line. He showed his versatility as he switched from last year's starting tackle position to the guard position he now mans.

Orsini accepts the fact that offensive linemen go through games without much recognition and receive many bruises for their play in the "trenches".

"When you play line you expect this. You just remember that without our blocks along the line, the backs wouldn't be able to score". He continued, "you also have to be smart up front to be able to adjust your blocks according to what the defense is playing".

Aside from putting his 6 foot 1 inch, 225 pound frame to use on the gridiron, Orsini also shows active interest in the classroom as well as in extra curricular academic affairs. He is majoring in history while minoring in geography and education. Orsini maintains a grade point average of 3.0 along with serving his second quarter on YSU's student council. Upon graduation Ralph would like to teach and stay in sports as a coach, and possibly later in his career go into law.

Orsini prepares himself for a game in an unusual way. During the week he likes to sit and listen to music. "When I listen to music it settles me in a strange way. I like to be by myself for I know when I get out there it's going to be hell," he stated.

Orsini added that Coach Narduzzi is also a help in preparing for a game. "Coach Narduzzi is a hard worker, he does everything that is needed to help get us thoroughly ready for a game".

Orsini is very optimistic about this year's Penguin football team. "If we keep our heads together and play like we can, a lot of people are going to notice us." But he points out the best thing about this year's football team is that "we're winning this year with basically underclassmen; this will give us a tremendous nucleus for next year".

COACHES CORNER

by Bill Narduzzi

Your football team will be boarding buses at the front of Kilcawley dormitory this morning at 10:30 a.m. for a pivotal ball game to be played tomorrow at the University of Massachusetts. It sure would be great if some of our students, faculty and staff were present to give the travel squad of 46 players a warm send off.

I call this a pivotal game for a couple of reasons:

First, our present record is 2 wins - 1 loss. When we return on Saturday night we will either be a so-so 50-50 ball club with a 2-2 record, or we will be a 3-1 ball club with a little momentum building toward our next opponent and a good season.

Secondly, we are entering this game without the services of at least two and possibly three starters due to health factors. Pat Durina, defensive cornerback, has been hospitalized all week with a virus and co-captain Don McCloud will sit out for the second week with an ankle injury sustained at Tennessee Tech. Randy Beal, wide receiver, has been nursing an injured knee and is still a question mark for duty tomorrow. We will know after this game, if we have enough depth to be considered a good football team.

This University of Massachusetts team is a very physical one. They line up with back to back shut out victories over Maine and Harvard and are a big, mature, and experienced team. We have had a good practice week; but we had a good practice week for Western Illinois and had a slow start in that game. We will know after Saturday if we are a slow starting team, a second half ball club, or if we have the qualities of a 60 minute team.

I believe that the difference in this ball game will be in the area of kicking. We had a kick-off returned for a touchdown on us last week and the same happened to University of Massachusetts. Harvard, however, was called for clipping on theirs and it was called back. We have not been very happy with any of our kick coverage, returns or rushes and have worked hard on it this week. The University of Massachusetts place kicker is questionable due to injury and that will be a plus factor for us since Chuck Haynali, our kicker, is due and ready for one of those days when all goes well.

If we don't win, it won't be because we didn't give all we had to give.

Bill Narduzzi

Penguins face nationally ranked U of M Minutemen fourth in nation against rush

by Bill Snier

The YSU Penguins will face another nationally ranked team Saturday when they tackle the University of Massachusetts Minutemen at Amherst, Mass. This will be the first meeting between the two schools.

Massachusetts, like YSU sports a 2-1 record, and is a member of the east coast Yankee Conference which includes such teams as Maine, Rhode Island, and New Hampshire. The Minutemen opened the season with a loss to Army, 34-10. But have since shutout both Maine and Harvard by scores of 28-0 and 17-0 respectively.

Massachusetts is noted for its defense. They have allowed an average of only 11.3 points per game while themselves scoring at an 18.3 points per game clip. The Minutemen defense is ranked fourth nationally in Division II against the rush, allowing just over 60 yards per game. They held Maine to zero yards rushing and only allowed 46 yards on the ground against Harvard.

Massachusetts Head Coach Dick MacPherson has 24 returning letterman, including five offensive and five defensive starters, from last year's squad which went 5-5. MacPherson, who starts his seventh year at Mass., has had three Yankee Conference chamionship teams and has compiled an overall record of 37 wins, 24 losses and 1 tie.

The Minutemen's biggest offensive threat is senior halfback Billy Coleman (5-11, 195), who has rushed for 260 yards in 64 carries and three touchdowns. His running mate, junior fullback Hank Sareault (5-11, 135), has carried 40 times for 184 yards on the ground. Probable starting quarterback will be Mike Fallon, who can "throw the ball a country mile," according to Penguin Coach Bill Narduzzi.

In the place kicking department, the Minutemen also have a standout in senior Dave Croasdale, who has scored 13 points this season.

B-ball program adds prep star Joe Lombardi

YSU's potent basketball program, one of the most successful in the nation, gained additional ammunition today with the signing of Joe Lombardi, a standout prep star at Sharon Kennedy Christian High School.

A 6-2 guard, Lombardi is described by YSU Head Coach Dom Rosselli as a "dedicated team player who will do anything to help his teammates win games."

Lombardi, a three-year starter at Kennedy Christian, was an All-League and All-County selection for two years. He averaged 18 points as a senior, and helped his team compile a 23-6 mark - the most wins in the school's history.

Lombardi holds five school records. They include: most career points (1,016), most points season (511), most career assists (261), most field goals season (195), and most free throws.

"We're happy to have him," said Rosselli. "He's an honor student and the kind of athlete who can score and be a solid playmaking guard at the same time."

Music, Dancing, Art will come to Youngstown's Plaza Fest Oct 1

Dancers on one end, music on the other and a rainbow of arts in between. This does not sound like familiar downtown Youngstown, but on Oct. 1 Festival on the Plaza: A Celebration of the Arts will change the scene.

The festival, co-sponsored by the Youngstown Board of Trade, the Federal Plaza Committee and the Youngstown Area Arts Council, will cover all aspects of the lively and visual arts. "It will serve as a showcase for artists, craftsmen, photographers, musicians and dancers" said Jacqueline Bibo, festival coordinator.

A parade will kick off the festivities at 11 a.m. The parade, which will feature area high school marching bands, is the first since the dedication of the Federal Plaza. The festival falls on the third anniversary of the plaza, a coincidence that will make the celebration one that is not only of the arts but of Federal Plaza itself as well. Federal Street will be blocked off during the hours of the festival, from 11-6 p.m. Federal Plaza East will be the site for the music and performing groups. All styles of music, from symphony to jazz and country, will be featured. The dance groups, which will be located in front of the Youngstown Symphony Center, will range from the Teresa Burke Irish dancers to the Ballet Western Reserve. "We're trying to get as many diverse groups as possible" said Bibo. The Modern Dance group from YSU will be one of the representatives from the University at the festival.

The new Youngstown Symphony portable shell will be used by the dancing groups. The shell, also to be placed in front of the Symphony Center, has been used only once before, and the festival will mark the first use by groups other than the Young-town Symphony. The length of Federal Street will be filled with craftsmen and performers, with exhibits and demonstrations running continuously all day. Craftsmen will be able to sell their creations while demonstrating their techniques.

The festival will culminate with the opening concert of the Youngstown Symphony in Powers Auditorium. The Symphony, conducted by Franz Bibo, will open its 51st season this year.

Downtown merchants will also participate in the festival. Higbee's, sponsoring entertainment for children, will hold a kite making contest and will invite the young artists to paint their own mural.

In case of rain a complete alternate plan will be put into operation. "We hope we won't have to use this alternate plan, but we are prepared whatever the weather," said Bibo.

Isley Brothers to come to YSU Oct. 9; Another concert set later in quarter

The Major Events Committee has gotten another productive year underway with the scheduled performance of the famous Isley Brothers on Oct. 9.

The Isley Brothers will bring their music to the YSU campus to entertain and capture a hopefully packed audience. Chairperson Vicki Ahlswede hopes YSU students will support this and all upcoming events which the Major Events Committee sponsors. Belkin Promoters have been hard at work helping us book the Isley Brothers. All we need now is the students to make the event successful."

When asked about the upcoming events Ahlswede said, "Another concert has been set for this fall but not all plans have been specifically confirmed."

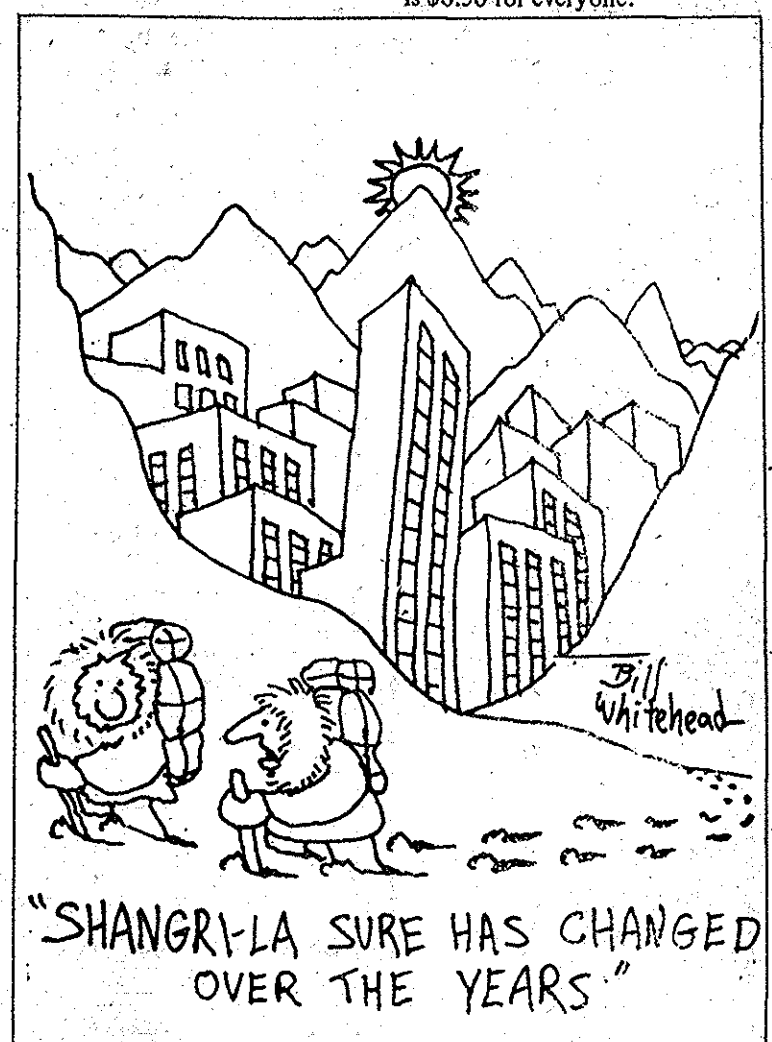

Tickets for the Isley Brothers concert will go on sale this Friday in the Kilcawley Center. Advanced ticket sales to YSU students are $5.50, at the door the cost is $6.50 for everyone.

The Major Events Committee is still accepting applications for staff positions and invites all interested students to contact the following active committees and their chairpersons: hospitality-Barbie Jo Gasdik, ticket sales-Patty Kemmerer, ushers-Gary Cieslak, production-Pat Jackanich Advertising-Clint Cavanaugh.

Works by Bach, Beethoven, performed by the Youngstown Symphony Orchestra

The Youngstown Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Franz Bibo, returns Saturday, Oct. 1 to the stage of Powers Auditorium, Youngstown Symphony Center, to open the 1977-78 season.

Beginning its 51st year, the 11th under the leadership of Bibo, the Youngstown Symphony Orchestra is now comprised of a corps of professional musicians, performing with such a high degree of skill and dedication, that it has attained national recognition as outstanding among American orchestras in its budgetary classification.

Continuing the tradition of featuring the approximately 90 piece orchestra on opening night, Bibo has programmed works by Bach, Beethoven and Elgar. Concert time is 8:30 p.m.

Bach's Passacaglia in C Minor will open the evening's program. The Passacaglia together with the Tocatta and Fugue are undoubtedly Bach's most well known organ works. The underlying power of the composition has caused composers and conductors to transcribe it for orchestra. Among them, Ottorino Respighi, Eugene Ormandy, Lucien Cailliet, and last but not least, the version the Youngstown Symphony Orchestra will play, by Leopold Stokowski, who started his musical career as an organist before becoming a world renowned conductor.

Passacaglia is basically a slow, stately Spanish dance, but Bach transformed it into a set of variations, building blocks for a grand edifice. The richness of the orchestral transformation of Stokowski's transcription serves to enhance the creative genius of Bach.

The major work for the evening will be Beethoven's Symphony No. 7. Premiered at the University of Vienna in 1813, the work aroused such great enthusiasm that the last movement had to be repeated, an event which occurred at practically every subsequent performance in Beethoven's time.

In the Seventh Symphony we have music of the proportions and emotional sweep of Beethoven's Eroica and the Fifth. The power generated throughout the Seventh Symphony is rhythmic; it accumulates force during the four movements until at last a kind of joyously frenetic propulsion sets in. This emphasis in rhythm led Wagner to describe the symphony as an "apotheosis of the dance".

The Seventh has not lacked distinguished choreographers.

The celebrated Isadora Duncan danced all but the first movement at a performance in the Metropolitan Opera House in 1808, but the work was conceived as a classical symphonic work and is still a mainstay of orchestral repertory.

The final work will be Sir Edward Elgar's Enigma Variations, a collection of musical portraits of some of his friends, called Enigma because those portrayed were not revealed until after Elgar's death. They display an uncanny gift for depicting a personality, one can almost hear a person speaking through the orchestra.

First performed in 1899, its melodic freshness and uninhibited emotional content have made it one of the most popular works in the repertory of English orchestral music.

Tickets for both the Oct. 1 concert and the 1977-78 season are now available at the Symphony Society offices, 260 Federal Plaza West. Phone reservations accepted at 744-4269.

Elvis salute opens busy YSU weekend in Kilcawley

Leading the way to the weekend frolics is KCPB "Happy Hours" today from 1-4 p.m. in the Pub as they present a record salute to Elvis.

Then from 9 p.m. - 1 a.m. Friday and Saturday students can relax to the music of Phoenix, a duo comprised of Joe Genaro and Jim Schroeder, generate "hand-clapping, foot-stomping, shit-kicking tunes" which will be continued tonight and Saturday evening. In addition to their own song writing, they perform arrangements by widely acclaimed artists such as James Taylor, Jesse Colin Young, Dan Fogelberg, Eagles, Outlaws, and America.

Adding to the weekend fun is the "Dance with guest group, Coconut. This fall quarter Kick-Off Dance is sponsored by the Interfraternity and Panhellenic Councils, in conjunction with Student Government. The dance will be held from 9 p.m. - 1 a.m. tonight in the Multi-Purpose room. Last year this dance ranked second in popularity and enjoyment.

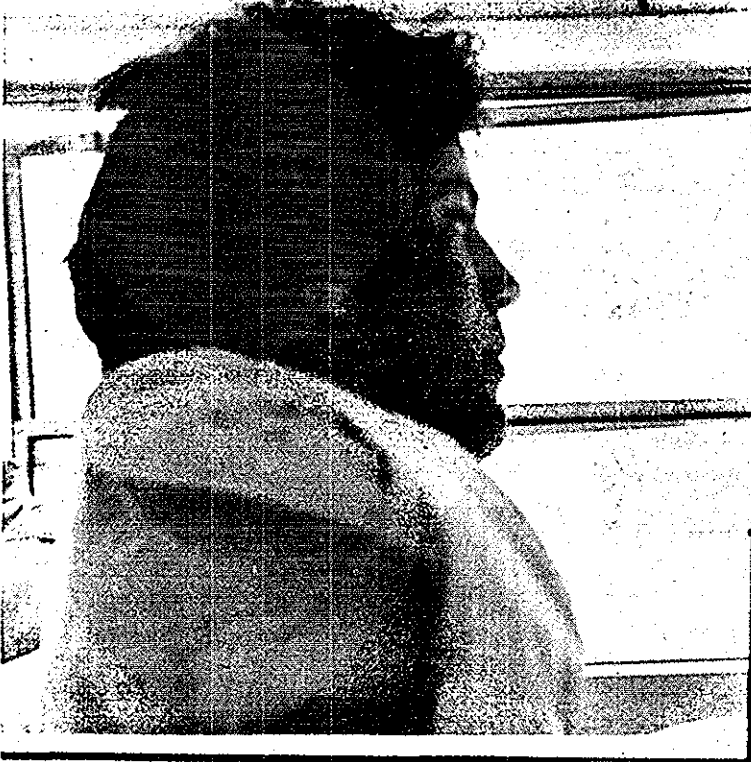

Upcoming events sponsored by KCPB highlights J.J. Carney and Mike D'Amico in the Pub 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 4. Scheduled for 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 5, is the film THX 1138 which will be shown in the Pub free of charge. Poseidon Adventure, showing 12 noon, 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 7, in the Chestnut room will provide low cost viewing pleasure. The week's entertainment plans will conclude with the fun-filled Octoberfest to be held next weekend.

Simply stop in the Student Affairs Office in Kilcawley, present your ID card, and receive a voucher to present at The Playhouse for the $1.75 rate. The office requests that only two tickets be made available per ID card.

The Boy Friend, the musical comedy that parodies the roaring twenties, plays until Oct. 16. Dana Rice Snyder, familiar to University, Playhouse and Kenley audiences, directed the fond spoof of the era of speakeasies, cloche hats, and dresses with no waists. The witty pastiche was written by an Englishman, Sandy Wilson, who with his songs, plot and dialogue slyly burlesqued every plot idea, song lyric and dance craze that characterized the early kind of jazz of the twenties.

Former and current YSU students in the production included Mary Jo Maluso, Bob Phillips, Dave King, Ed Jupp, Ninetta Remley, Nick Oprizza, Tim Riley, Seth Malkin, Amanda Gross, and Bill Wasylo.

The YSU counseling center will offer a Personal Growth Group for Fall Quarter, on Tuesdays 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Program's aim is reducing number of mentally retarded babies born

A significant percentage of the incidence of mental retardation can be prevented.

The National Association for Retarded Citizens is conducting a nationwide public education program designed to help reduce the number of babies born mentally retarded by 60,000 this year. Tony Orlando, popular entertainer, is Honorary Chairman for the Association and serves as spokesman for the extensive public awareness, public service campaign.

The message of the campaign is that a significant percentage of the incidence of mental retardation can be prevented by utilizing current knowledge and technology.

There are more than 200 known causes of mental retardation, including poor nutrition, injuries at birth, infectious toxic conditions and genetic, or inherited, factors. It affects people from all walks of life and all socio-economic groups. However, because of limited quality treatment, services and medical care, it occurs more frequently in disadvantaged families.

Mental retardation stemming from certain causes can be prevented.

In addition, early detection, diagnosis and treatment, especially in the first four years of a child's life, can significantly lessen debilitating effects of mental retardation.

The following steps to prevent mental retardation or to lessen its effects are recommended by the National Association for Retarded Citizens: Eat a balanced diet. Supplement your diet with nutrients if your doctor or nutritional counselor advises.

Seek genetic counseling before becoming pregnant if there is any abnormality in either parent's family, or if you have had a child who has been diagnosed as mentally retarded.

Use parent planning or family education services, especially in pregnancies occurring in women younger than 16 and older than 39. Risks are minimized in pregnancies between ages 20 and 35.

If blood tests at any time indicate venereal disease for either mother or father, get treatment immediately.

Insure against results of untreated kidney or bladder infections, thyroid disease and diabetes through proper medical care during pregnancy. These diseases often have few or no symptoms, but can cause abnormalities in the baby.

Guard against rubella (3-day German measles) that can be severely damaging to the unborn baby when contacted by the mother during early months of pregnancy. Check with your physician regarding immunization.

Avoid all drugs during pregnancy except those your doctor prescribes. Certain drugs may cause deformities, and some otherwise harmless drugs, in combination with others, can result in defects. Included in this area should be avoidance of smoking and alcoholic beverages during pregnancy.

Protect yourself against X-rays and other radiation exposure (for both mother and father) before conception, with special precautions for the mother during pregnancy.

Seek good medical care for yourself throughout pregnancy and for your child after birth.

Have your children vaccinated against the ten-day measles - a disease that can cause brain inflammation and result in mental retardation.

Keep all children away from all poisons including lead-based paint, glue vapors, chemical etc. If accidental contact occurs, seek medical treatment immediately.

Attend parent training sessions to learn ways to stimulate infants and children. Early stimulation at home, and in special programs, aids the growth and development of all children.

For further information, write the National Association for Retarded Citizens, P.O. Box 6109, Arlington, Texas 76011.

Cont. Ed. provides non-credit courses in unusual areas

Looking for a hobby; how about a way to physically tune-up your body, or then again a totally new and unusual subject area never investigated? The Department of Continuing Education at YSU is putting forth a concerted effort this fall to answer those questions.

Registration for a variety of non-credit courses is continuing, with space still available. Included among the course study is ceramics, beginning drawing, yoga, belly-dancing, swimming and tennis. Other more thought provoking classes are mastery of creative thinking, ESP, Hypnosis and Transactional Analysis.

Additional information may be obtained by writing or calling the YSU Department of Continuing Education, 746-1851, ext. 482.

Counties receive reimbursements for legal counsel

A total of $3,271,934.90 in reimbursement costs to Ohio's 88 counties as the state's share of expenses paid for court appointed legal counsel for indigent persons was distributed today, State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office reported.

Counties receive these payments, Ferguson said, as a result of their successful prosecution and imprisonment of persons charged with felonies.

Of this total, Mahoning and Trumbull Counties received a total of $106,297.39.

NEWS BRIEFS

Governor James A. Rhodes today asked U.S. Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall to intervene to make sure that Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company employees losing their jobs receive every company benefit they are entitled to.

"In the past few days we have heard too many times that the company is being rigid and inflexible in interpreting contract provisions, with the result workers are not getting the benefits they thought they had coming," the Governor said. "Sheet and Tube Company must realize it has brought about a major tragedy for thousands of families in Youngstown, Campbell and Struthers."

Congressman Charles J. Carney announced today that the U.S. Community Services Administration has granted more than $100,000 to local community action agencies in Mahoning and Trumbull Counties for their weatherization and emergency energy assistance programs.

With $73,568, the Youngstown Area Community Action Council will be able to provide home weatherization and emergency energy assistance for low-income families. With $36,575, the Warren-Trumbull Community Service Agency can provide winterization for 50 low-income families, and provide funds to prevent fuel shut-offs.

For further information, contact Mr. Robert Christian, Director of the Youngstown Area Community Action Council at 747-7921, and Mr. John Daniel, Director of Warren-Trumbull CSA at 393-2507.

Challenging a recent Supreme Court ruling, the Senate has broadened the definition of sex discrimination to include pregnancy. By a 75-11 margin they declared that using pregnancy to deny a worker advancement, employment or full disability benefits is discriminatory. This includes the customary 'leave of absence' forced upon women.

Workers will now qualify for sick pay, sick leave and full insurance coverage for pregnancy.

Governor James A. Rhodes said today that his office, the State Development Department and the leadership of the Ohio General Assembly have been "in serious negotiations with representatives of the Honda Motor Car Company for six months."

This statement came on the heels of a report from Japan that Honda was close to a decision to locate a manufacturing facility near Marysville, Ohio.

"We are hopeful that Honda will settle in Ohio, and we have assured them of the full cooperation of this administration and legislative leaders," Rhodes said.

Amyl nitrate emerges as drug of late 70's

by Jay Stevens

Rumors seeping from the nooks and crannies of the drug underworld have fingered amyl nitrite as the drug of the late seventies. Calls to assorted drug counseling centers confirmed that amyl nitrite has arrived as a harbinger of joy.

Synthesized in 1867 and traditionally prescribed for angina pectoris, only in the past year have large quantities of amyl nitrite appeared on the market - the handiwork of 'amateur' chemists.

Why the sudden popularity? A healthy snort of amyl rewards the user with a dizzy buzz, intensified reality, extended orgasm (if you're male) and a feeling that "time is expanding," which basically means that saying a one syllable word while doing amyl is comparable to saying "antidisestablishmentarianism" when straight. The effects last a little longer than this paragraph.

At the other end of the high are increased sweating, headache, reduced heartbeat, vomiting and loss of sphincter control. Amyl nitrite dilates the blood vessels, drawing blood out of the brain. It is this migration which causes the peculiar rush and the illusion of lengthened orgasm.

YSU Lecture Series opens with Scotland Yard veteran

World-wide terrorism and a comparison of the British and American criminal justice system are just two of the subjects to be discussed in an evening lecture meeting next week on the campus of YSU.

Kicking off the YSU 1977-78 Special Lecture Series will be Sir Robert Mark, recently retired head of one of the most progressive and effective police organizations in the world, Scotland Yard.

Mark is a 40-year veteran British police officer. He started his illustrious career in 1937 with the Manchester City Police Force. He became chief constable of Leicester in 1957, and later named head of the London Metropolitan Police.

Mark holds honorary degrees from Oxford, Leicester, and Loughborough Universities. Earlier this year, he was appointed Knight Grand Cross of the Most

While amyl nitrite is not illegal, it is prescribed. To buy it, you need a ticket from the family doctor. Reports that amyl can be legally bought in drug-stores and bars are false. What is undoubtedly being sold is butyl nitrite. Similar in effect and smell, butyl nitrite is less potent, less pure and less romantic. Commonly sold as a room de-odorizer, butyl nitrite can be found under names like "Jock-roma," "Locker-room" or "Heart-On."

Literature about amyl nitrite is scant. A recent Pharm Chem Newsletter assessed the toxicity as "Minimal." The brief duration is seen as a built-in safety factor. The academically inclined should refer to D.B. Louria's paper, "The Sexual Use of Amyl Nitrite," published in Medical Aspects of Human Sexuality, 4:89.

No one can explain what need amyl nitrite is satisfying. Vomiting, loss of sphincter control and heavy sweating won't make you the life of the party. Some historians claim that drug choices reflects the spirit and potentialities of the time. In one decade we've gone from LSD and the barricades to amyl nitrite and the illusion of an increased orgasm.

Excellent Order of the British Empire.

Mark's appearance at YSU will be in the Kilcawley Center Multi-Purpose Room at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 5. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Other activities planned for his visit include an informal discussion session open to the campus community 2-4 p.m. in Kilcawley 236 and a reception in the Faculty Club immediately following the evening lecture.
