

Ghetto expert will lecture on East London conditions

Professor of history Dr. W. J. Fishman of Queen Mary College, University of London, will lecture on the topic "Violence and Equality from Voltaire to Lenin" at 1 p.m., Oct. 6 in Kilcawley, Room 236.

Fishman is an expert on the conditions and situations of the East London ghetto, and has written two books to help further the cause of East London's poor Jewish laborers.

His first book, The Insurrectionists, presents a history of revolutionaries from the French Revolution until the seizure of power by the Bolsheviks. Jewish Radicals deals with the Jewish tradesmen who fled Czarist persecutions only to face life in the London ghetto.

Fishman spoke at the University two years ago. All faculty and student members of the University are invited to attend his lecture, which is sponsored by the history and sociology departments in cooperation with the History Club.

OEA hearing held today over financial dispute

A preliminary hearing was held this morning on a suit filed Wednesday, Sept. 21, by 22 University faculty members against YSU and the University chapter of the Ohio Educational Association.

The plaintiffs, who object to compulsory membership in and forced financial support of the OEA, wish to stop the University from withholding services fees from their paychecks.

According to Dr. Daniel O'Neill, president of the local chapter of the YSU-OEA, the $139 service fee is a "condition of employment," and any faculty member who chooses not to be included in the YSU-OEA bargaining unit must render this fee to the Association.

O'Neill states that the 1977 YSU-OEA Agreement reads: "All members of the bargaining unit shall as a condition of employment either be a member of the Association or share in support of the Association by paying to the Association a service fee, equivalent to the amount of dues uniformly required of members of the Association..." The YSU-OEA Agreement is applicable to the University contract that every faculty member signs when he or she is hired or reappointed by YSU.

A portion of the $139, whether in membership dues or service fees, is retained by the University chapter of OEA, while the rest is sent to Columbus to support the Association on a state and national level. One faculty member, who prefers to remain unidentified, stated that many non-union members object to the fact that 80 percent of their service fee remains with the University chapter of OEA, while union members support the local chapter with $15, or approximately 10 percent.

In reply to this, O'Neill referred to the YSU-NEA Agreement, Article 19, paragraph six, which states... "At least 80 percent of this service fee shall be retained by the Association to cover the cost of Association services to non-members of the bargaining unit." Dr. J.D. Bakos, YSU-OEA treasurer, explained that the monies are deposited into a legal defense fund, and if a non-member should run into legal difficulties, these fees shall be used for their protection, since the OEA provides services for all faculty members.

The present legal action against YSU and the YSU-OEA is a joint response to an earlier suit filed by the OEA last spring against three faculty members who had refused to pay the service fee. These three were randomly selected by the OEA from the group of non-payers and are included in the present suit. These faculty members are Robert Secrist, English; Joan Philipp, health and physical education; and John Ritter, Civil Engineering. Concerning the OEA suit, Dr. Philipp commented that all necessary information has not been sent in by those OEA union lawyers involved, and action is still pending.

The injunctive lawsuit filed Wednesday, Sept. 21, is being handled by Atty. David T. Bryant, of Fairfax, Va., representing the National Right to Work Legal Defense Foundation, and Atty. Eldon S. Wright, of Harrington, Huxley and Smith, Youngstown.

The 22 faculty members involved in the suit are Nell Whippley, mathematics; Eugene Barrett, health and physical education; Violet Boggess, business education; Theodosius Demen, mathematics; Daniel DiEdwardo, health and physical education; Stephen Graf, psychology; Ann Harris, geology; Earl Harris, geology; Dorothy Hille, business technology; Bertina Laborde, health and physical education; Sally Hotchkiss, psychology; Sanford

No Isley Brothers

cancels again

The Isley Brothers have cancelled their Oct. 9 performance at the University, according to Clint Cavanaugh, Major Events Committee chairperson.

Cavanaugh said that the Isley Brothers called yesterday to report that one of their members would not be able to make the concert. Later, they called back to cancel altogether. No reason was given, said Cavanaugh.

This is not the first time that the Isley Brothers have cancelled a performance scheduled at YSU. The first time was in May, 1974, at a fund raising concert for the Free Health Clinic. Although they did not show, they did keep $4,000 that was advanced to them after another $3,000 of the contract could not be raised.

There will be no other concert featured for Oct. 9, because the group did not give enough advance notice, stated Cavanaugh.

This time, however, the University does not stand to lose any money. Commercials promoting the concert will be cancelled, said Cavanaugh, and students will be able to receive a refund on any ticket bought at the University at the Bursar's Office. Tickets bought at National Record Marts will be refunded at the store where the purchases were made.

This is the semester to get your programmable.

The TI-57. Its self-teaching system gets you programming fast.

The TI 58 and 59. Both use revolutionary plug-in Solid State Software™ libraries.

TI Programmable 57. The powerful superslide rule calculator you can program right from the keyboard. Comes with an easy-to-follow, self-teaching learning guide—over 200 pages of step-by-step instructions and examples. Quickly learn the value of making repetitive calculations at the touch of a key. Recall entire instruction sequences. Display intermediate results at any point in a calculation. Eight multi-use memories provide addressable locations to store and recall data. Program memory stores up to 150 keystrokes (50 program steps). Editing too: Singlestep, Backstep, Insert or delete at any point in a program. Also a powerful slide rule calculator with logs, trig functions and advanced statistics routines.

The TI-58 and TI-59 combine three major innovations to bring the power of programming to you—even if you've never programmed before:

1. Extraordinarily powerful—at remarkable low prices.
2. Revolutionary plug-in modules put complex formulas to work at the touch of a key.
3. Step-by-step learning guide that takes you from the basics of programming through advanced programmings—language you can understand.

TI Programmable 58. Up to 480 program steps, or up to 60 memories. Master Library module contains 25 prewritten programs in math, engineering, statistics and finance. Also increases number of steps—up to 5000. Library programs may also be addressed from the keyboard or inserted as subroutines. Can also be used with TI's new PC-100A printer/plotter. It lets you plot, print headings and prompt—messages.

$124.95***

TI Programmable 59. More powerful than the TI-58. Up to 960 program steps or up to 100 memories. Magnetic cards store up to 960 steps. And, record and protect custom programs. Also 10 user flags, 6 levels of subroutines, 4 types of branches.

$299.95***

Optional Libraries. Applied Statistics, Surveying, Real Estate/Finance, Aviation, Marine Navigation, $35.00* each.

Dr. Joseph Latona

Leadership style to be topic for Nov. 1-2 conference

"Your leadership style could mean the difference between a successful career or a dead end." That appears to be the bottom line of a two day seminar lined up for early November by the Department of Continuing Education and School of Business Administration at YSU.

Leading the charge will be Dr. Joseph C. Latona, associate professor of management and director of the Bureau of Organizational Development at Akron University.

According to Latona, the seminar will enable participants to analyze themselves as managers. In addition, it will demonstrate various management styles and how they can be adapted for managerial effectiveness.

Some of the topics to be discussed includes the evaluation of behavioral patterns, assessing your leadership style and developing a plan for continuing leadership growth.

Recognized by the Manufacturing Engineering Certification Institute, the program has been approved for six professional credit hours, for each seminar day attended.

For additional information on the seminar, set for Nov. 1 and 2, you may contact or call the Department of Continuing Education, ext. 483.

Statement issued by Gov. Rhodes on steel industry

Governor James A. Rhodes issued the following statement on Sept. 23:

The 600 layoffs announced by ARMCO steel are a severe blow to the economy of the Middletown area. These workers now face unemployment because of a system they have no control over, and through no fault of their own.

As Governor, my first concern is for the welfare of the families affected. The state will immediately begin a massive effort to assist these families with obtaining unemployment compensation and other benefits they are entitled to.

Our second effort will be to begin now to find jobs for laid off workers.

But our largest effort will be to try to reverse the federal policies which have contributed heavily to the devastating unemployment now faced by the steel industry in Ohio.

It is completely unfair that these workers, whose tax dollars helped to rebuild the steel industries of Japan and Germany 30 years ago, now face unemployment while those nations flood the U.S. market with steel. This unreasonable, unjust and intolerable situation must be corrected by the federal government immediately. My sympathies today are with the five busloads of steelworkers from the Youngstown area who are travelling to Washington to let the federal bureaucracy know that we need help in Ohio.

If the steel industry in Ohio goes the route of the electronics industry, the shoe industry and the ceramics industry, not only Ohio but our entire national security is threatened. We cannot allow steel imports to dominate the domestic markets.

Maybe we'll cure cancer without your help, but don't bet your life on it.

Know your rights

A new "Code of Students' Rights, Responsibilities and Conduct" has recently been made available to the students. The code contains information on the privacy of students, the social activities regulations, the right of students to demonstrate or protest, the accessibility of students to their records, and the jurisdiction of the University. In other words, all those things students should be aware of but never are.

A university is a place abundant in "red tape" and it is easy for a student to become amessed in it. Knowing how to deal with "the system" can be as important to a student as knowing where his classes are.

Yes, students do have rights, but if they aren't aware of them why should they expect anyone else to be. Copies of the student code are available from the dean of Student Affairs, room 115 or 117 Kilcawley Hall.

Blood Bank now permanent part of University services

Support of the Blood Bank Donor program and a proposed merger of the Student Escort service with the Liberation for Equality Towards Students organization were the main topics of discussion at yesterday's Student Council meeting.

Council unanimously passed a motion to support the development of the new Blood Bank Committee. The new committee is under the direction of the Mahoning Valley branch of the National Red Cross. Council passed this action to help perpetuate the new committee as a permanent part of the University. The previous Blood Bank Committee was under the auspices of Council. A recommendation to incorporate the LETS organization with the Student Escort Service was discussed but not acted

Plaza Problems

Youngstown Sheet and Tube's recent termination of 5,000 jobs here has generated comment from politicians, editors, lawyers, union officials, corporate executives, and even the steelworkers themselves. Recent articles in the Youngstown Vindicator have begun analyzing the social and economic "ripples" of the layoffs.

One of the more interesting articles was a front-page interview in last Sunday's Vindicator with Jerome McNally, executive director of the Youngstown Area Board of Trade and Federal Plaza Committee. In this article by Tim Yovich, McNally explained that the Downtown area would be able to "hold its own" economically despite the layoffs. How? According to McNally, the revival of Downtown is contingent upon "aesthetics and expanded parking facilities."

In addition, he expects the unification of the University campus with the central business district, by removal of the Erie Lackawanna Railroad tracks, to stimulate the Downtown economy, and create the need for student-oriented retailers; for example, "sporting goods and book stores and more student supply outlets."

I share McNally's sentiments concerning a revived Downtown, although his statements are fantasy.

We at YSU presently support three book stores, none of which have an adequate selection of titles. We support a number of fast food restaurants and a handful of bars cum nightclubs. A few shops operate on the fringe of the campus and make a living essentially from the singular nature of their merchandise, such as head gear, used albums, etc.

None of these student-oriented businesses are rushing into expansion simply because the economic strength of a relative handful of resident students will not support it. A consolidated campus and central business district may have an appealing unity, but in economic terms the suburban shopping malls will continue to maintain an enormous competitive lead in terms of diversity of merchandise, convenience, and attractiveness to the students who live in Boardman, Poland, Canfield, Girard, Niles, and the other surrounding communities.

And esthetically speaking - any massive, government-financed "beautification project" a la Federal Plaza and, peripherally, the University campus, is nearly bound to fail. These projects have so far only emphasized the shabbiness, dreariness, and let's face it, poverty in the central business district and lower North Side. Ask yourself what the University campus has done for the neighborhood on the other side of Fifth Avenue.

I suppose it would be appropriate for me to offer my cure-all for Youngstown's malaise. I don't have one. But something in the reactions to the Sheet and Tube announcement has caused me to distrust any solution distilled from a flask of conventional wisdom. Witness the initial scurry of corporate executives, politicians, union officials, and steelworkers scrambling to avoid responsibility and lay blame; the steelworkers' caravan to Washington in search of a federal dollar; the speed with which outside recruiters moved in to draw skilled labor, professionals, and executives from Youngstown.

In other words, everyone involved began the look-out for Number One. I have yet to hear anyone even hint that a 15 percent across-the-board pay cut and a genuine spirit of mutual aid would probably be more beneficial to Youngstown than 5,000 workers on the dole. Of course, such a notion is heresy to the spirit of Number One.

And no bricks-and-mortar solution is likely to change this.

NEWS BRIEFS

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States and the Soviet Union resumed strategic arms limitation talks Friday, apparently prepared to concede that the SALT I treaty will expire as scheduled in 11 days without a new agreement to replace it.

"This is our house, welcome to it," Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko as Gromyko arrived at the State Department for two days of talks.

Under a proposed plan, the two sides would informally observe the current agreement beyond its Oct. 3 expiration date, but some members of Congress are raising both legal and political questions about the procedure.

New program offers aid for career decisions

by Molly Gerchak

A new Career Motivation Program is being offered at YSU for students who have doubts about their career choice. Under the program, vocational counseling is offered individually or in group sessions.

Susan Cochrane, employed at Westminster College, Pa. as a career counselor before coming to YSU's Counseling and Testing Center, is in charge of the program.

Cochrane said that the aim of the program is to bring together small groups of students to learn about self-awareness and decision-making in the choice of a career. "It's not heavy counseling and I don't want the students to feel that it is," she stated.

She said that the groups will consist of six to eight persons and will meet for five weeks, one hour per week. "That is up to the students, though. We can meet two times or ten times during a quarter," Cochrane said.

She said that she would like to start another group especially for women who are in college after having raised their families, and who need assistance in finding employment that will give them satisfaction as well as monetary gains.

"Older students don't realize it, but they have great advantages in finding jobs," stated Cochrane.

Cochrane said that students in the groups will receive only positive feedback from members. Nothing negative will be said and members will help to build each other up by concentrating on the strong points and abilities of each person.

She said that establishing a career lab and library is on the agenda now and should be completed by the spring quarter. Information is now available on a limited basis for both college and non-college students. She said, "If a student has to drop out of school, for whatever reason, he or she can still come in for counseling."

The career lab and library is a form of self-help and will be open to all students at YSU, Cochrane said. A student can read the information available or take an interest inventory to determine the kind of abilities and interests that person has and how he or she can best use them in seeking a career.

She stated, "It's an excellent program; it's fun and also a good way to make new friends."

If you would like additional information or you want to sign up for a group, go to the Counseling Center on Bryson Street or call Ext. 461 anytime from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Rain dampened area, not festival ; many viewed area arts and crafts

"Please don't rain on my parade." But rain it did at the Youngstown Area Art Council's Festival on the Plaza this past Saturday. The show went on, however, parade and all, and spirits seemed undampened.

Originally the Festival displays were to be exhibited on the Federal Plaza area outside, but Saturday's downpour forced the exhibits indoors to the Plaza Place parking garage.

Leather and metal craft, dried flower arrangements, macrame, Indian jewelry, wood carving, paintings, photography, stained glass, copper enameling, T-shirt transferring, needlepoint and glass painting were just a sample of the crafts displayed by area artisans-many from YSU.

This wide variety of displays lined the hallway and filled a large room, while entertainment in the form of dancing, music and drama was performed nearby inside the garage.

Eleanor Bostwick, Festival committee member of the Arts Council, called the Festival "a celebration of the arts." She added, "To promote the arts in the Youngstown area we've tried to get everything together here. Youngstown is a cultural area."

Bostwick reported that the parade went on as scheduled minus a few marchers.

Michael Walusis, YSU print and painting instructor, displayed some of his prints, silk screens, lithographs, and a few of his paintings. He will be staging a One-Man Show of his paintings Oct. 22 - Nov. 6 at the Butler Art Institute.

YSU talent also provided much of the entertainment for the day. Joe Sullivan, junior, business, donned his make-up and transformed into Jocko the Clown. The young children sat wide-eyed as Jocko twisted balloons into a menagerie of swans and elephants.

The YSU Folk Dancers under the direction of Marilyn Kocinski, instructor of physical education, performed a variety of ethnic

Amateur entertainers might get chance to perform with Bob Hope

LAS CRUCES-Working with Bob Hope is an honor even for seasoned Hollywood stars, but several college amateur entertainers will get the opportunity to appear with Hope on a television special, thanks to a new search for college talent.

College students from throughout the United States are participating in the "Top in Collegiate Talent" search co-sponsored by Hope and New Mexico State University.

Hope said the entertainment field is an important one in today's education. "The engineers and statesmen, doctors, and lawyers of tomorrow are now being groomed for our society in colleges and universities throughout the country. And so are the future entertainers who will excite our souls, stimulate our minds, soothe our emotions, and give us something to watch between television commercials," Hope said.

"It gives me great pleasure to be a part of the search. It's one of the most exciting projects with which I've been associated," he added.

Barbara Hubbard, coordinator of the talent search and Director of Special Events at New Mexico State University, said the project, endorsed by NECAA (National Entertainment and Campus Activities Association), will provide a vehicle whereby college students can display talents, advance careers and gain education at the same time.

Preliminary competition will be conducted before Oct. 17 on the campus where the student attends school. Local finalists will participate in area competition at designated host schools before Dec. 20 with national competition set in January 1978. Hope will select 8-10 finalists to appear on a television special to be held in conjunction with the spring 1978 NECAA national convention in New Orleans, La.

Any accredited institution of higher learning within the United States and Canada is eligible to participate in preliminary competition, which is open to any full time student enrolled and pursuing a degree at the time of application and during competition. Students are ineligible if they have signed a professional contract for entertainment, if they earn more than 50 per cent of their salary in any field of performing entertainment, or if they participate under an alias or assumed name.

Virtually every type of entertainment is expected in competition from various types of musical performances to dance, drama, magic, and comedy acts.

YSU will be participating in the Bob Hope Search for Top in Collegiate Talent with a campus contest being held on Monday, Oct. 10. The contest is open to the public.

Application deadline is Wednesday, Oct. 5, and all applications must be turned in to the Kilcawley Staff Offices by 5 p.m. The YSU program is being conducted by the Kilcawley Center Program Board.

Another triangle revealed; author discusses research

Tragically bizarre disappearances over the Great Lakes region is frighteningly revealed in the New Fawcett Gold Medal original, The Great Lakes Triangle, written by Jay Gourley.

In December, 1967, singer Otis Redding and five passengers departed Cleveland, Ohio aboard Redding's Beech H-18 aircraft. Headed for Madison, Wisconsin, they were logged to fly over Lakes Erie and Michigan. The destination was not reached. The plane crashed. Following careful investigation, the National Transportation Safety Board officially recorded the cause: "Miscellaneous, Undetermined".

More recent is the much publicized disappearance of the Edmund Fitzgerald in November, 1975. The largest vessel ever to sail on the Great Lakes, it left Duluth bound for Lake Huron with a cargo of iron ore. Both the ship and the crew suddenly vanished.

These unexplainable happenings are merely samples of the many mystifying accidents which have occurred in the Great Lakes area for years. The Great Lakes Triangle gives proof that more bewildering occurrences have happened here than in the greatly feared Bermuda Triangle.

The author, Jay Gourley, gives a documented look at hundreds of these baffling disappearances and searches for reasons why the Great Lakes has become an unintentional burial ground for a massive number of people and vessels.

Gourley covers all aspects of the terrifying accidents among the five Great Lakes, giving consideration to the possibility of engine failures, the effects of the Lakes on radios and gyroscopic instruments, and the effects of weather on visibility and control. Crew insanity and memory loss of those who survived are also examined.

True tales of horror will chill your mind as you read Jay Gourley's book, The Great Lakes Triangle.

The author, Jay Gourley, is coming to YSU to discuss the book's contents at 8 p.m. in Kilcawley Center's Chestnut Room, Wednesday, Oct. 12. There will be no charge for this presentation.

Copies of the book will be sold in the near future.

 dances from Germany, Serbia, Poland, Israel and Greece.

One unique part of the entertainment was poetry readings given by staff members of Pig Iron, a journal of poetry, fiction and graphics. The anthology is not affiliated with YSU, although some of the staff members are graduates as well as current students of the University. The next issue of Pig Iron is slated to be on the newstand in January.

In addition to the arts and crafts exhibits were ethnic food concessions, Italian cookies and pastries, Chinese rice and egg rolls, and fried sugared bread were available.

To top off the day's cultural festivities the Youngstown Symphony performed for their opening night. Also, "The Boyfriend," a musical, was presented at the Youngstown Playhouse. It will run through Oct. 16.

The Youngstown Area Arts Council was formed five years ago with the help of John Powers, who was the Council's first president. The Youngstown Arts Council became a chartered member of its Ohio affiliate three years ago.

Bonnie Ramage serves as president and Jacqueline Bibb was Festival coordinator.

Massachusetts buries Penguins; Costly turnovers contribute to loss

Massachusetts 54 and YSU 13. Does anything else really need be said about the contest? Costly turnovers and a strong aerial barrage by Massachusetts quarterback Mike Fallon contributed to the Penguins' second loss of the season. Massachusetts improved their record to 3-1. The Penguins were guilty of turnovers five times in the ballgame, on four fumbles and one pass interception. Three of the fumbles and the interception occurred inside the YSU 30 yard line. The other fumble came when the Penguins were driving toward a possible score on the Mass 17. The Minutemen opened the scoring in the first quarter after a Bill Fink fumble at the YSU 10. Quarterback Mike Fallon threw the first of his five touchdown passes to tight end Kevin Cummings from the YSU one yard line. Cummings caught a total of five passes in the game for 93 yards and three touchdowns. After the kickoff, Keith Snoddy fumbled on the YSU 23 from which Fallon threw his second scoring pass to Cummings increasing the UMass lead to 12-0. The Minutemen chalked up three more touchdowns in the second quarter on two Mike Fallon series, one of 22 yards to John Williams and the other on an 8-yard scoring strike to John Gladchuk, and 26-yard jaunt by Hank Sareault to increase their lead to 33-7 at the half. The Penguin's only score of the first half came on a 5-yard scoring pass from Bill Fink to sophomore tight end Bob Schiffauer just before the end of the half. The Penguin's other tally came on a keeper around left end by Fink near the end of the third period. A fake punt attempt by YSU, with the upback in the formation, reserve quarterback Gary Fritz, carrying, was stopped short of a first down with the Minutemen taking possession on the YSU 25. From there, Fallon threw his fifth touchdown pass of the afternoon to Kevin Cummings to increase the UMass lead to 40-7. The Minutemen took out their starters at this point but the reserves managed to pile up 14 more points against a completely demoralized Penguin defense to gain the final count. Massachusetts quarterback Mike Fallon, who when coming into the game had completed only 6 of 14 passes with two interceptions, seemed to do anything he wanted against the YSU defensive secondary. The 6'1", 199-pound senior completed 12 of 18 passes for 210 yards and five touchdowns to dominate play. The Minutemen's big play man, halfback Billy Coleman, scampered for 127 yards on 16 carries, mostly in the first half. Massachusetts rolled up 517 yards total offense while holding the Penguins to 322 yards. The Penguins did manage to chalk up 176 yards on the ground which is more than the average yardage given up by the Massachusetts defense, ranked fourth in the nation against the rush going into the game. Marschell Brumfield led the Penguins with 47 yards on 11 carries. Bill Fink completed nine of 20 passes for 121 yards and one touchdown. He also ran for 30 yards in six carries. Jim Ferranti played his usual outstanding game, catching six passes for 79 yards. James Robson also proved to be a find for the Penguins. The freshman tailback picked up 42 yards on only four attempts and also ran back kicks for 93 yards, including one jaunt for 55 yards which was eliminated by a holding penalty. The Penguins journey to University Center, Michigan, on Saturday to tackle the Saginaw Valley Cardinals. A pre-game look at Saginaw Valley will appear in Friday's Jambar.

COACHES CORNER

by Bill Narduzzi
Injuries played an awful big part in last Saturday's disappointing and embarrassing loss to a fine University of Massachusetts team. Co-captains Ron Pentz and Don McCloud, two of our senior leaders, were not able to play due to injuries. Pat Durina, starting defensive back, and Ed Rohan, back-up defensive back, were unable to make the trip due to illness. The University of Massachusetts put on a fine passing performance with accurate passing and a couple of spectacular catches. We had a couple of breakdowns in our pass coverage and it shook up our young defensive backs; so we're hurt in two ways. First, our defensive back replacements are home, and secondly, our stabilizing force, our senior captains, aren't in a position to help maintain composure. Fumbling and turnovers were the big problem on offense. The University of Massachusetts had to go less than 50 yards on six different occasions (5 times from less than 25 yards out) to muster up 40 of their points. A couple of the fumbles were opponent-caused, but several were not. No team in America can win a football game when you turn the ball over six times and your opponent doesn't return the favor even once. The game was one which also took its toll in the injury department. Bill Fink, starting QB, sufferred a slight separation of the clavical at the breast bone and definitely will be out of Saturday's game at Saginaw. Ralph Orsini, junior offensive guard, injured his knee to an extent which won't be known for several days, but it is certain that he will not make this week's game. Pat Durina, still weak from illness, is also out. These aren't complaints - we'd love to have them all healthy, but that's college football. We'll wire and glue our guys together with their qualities of pride, hard work and character and we'll cause problems for our next opponent. We anticipated some setbacks because of our youth and we'll have more. In the meantime, your football team still has six games to play. We expect to continue to grow a little each week. More on Friday.

SPORT SHORTS

The YSU Television Center, under the guiding hand of producer/director Randall Gerber, attended the Massachusetts-YSU football game and taped the game for airing at 10:30 p.m. Saturday. The Jambar would like to give special notice to the group of men who accompanied Gerber on the trip to Massachusetts and helped to bring us the gridiron actions. The three full-time staff members and their positions were Gerber, director of engineering, Lew Moler and Chief Engineer Mark Munroe. The students who made the trip were Cameramen Rich Kennehan, Chuck LaRosa, and Jim Massaro; Floor Directors Jack Graham and Toby Koch; Audio Jim Sherlock; and Statistics and Character Generator Bill Snier.

Any student interested in being a paid Intramural football official, please sign up now in the Intramural Office, Beeghley Room 322. There will be a meeting held at 8 p.m. Oct. 5 in Kilcawley Room 216. In order to officiate, you must attend this meeting or make special arrangements with the Intramural Office. Individuals can play for a team and still officiate.

Why tomorrow's professionals choose Hewlett-Packard's first family of advanced calculators today.

They're proven performers. In space. On Everest. In the labs of Nobel laureates. Since we built the first, back in 1972, our advanced calculators have been tested by millions worldwide, and they've passed.

They have staying power. Today's classroom problems quickly grow into tomorrow's on-the-job problems. HP calculators are designed and built to handle both. They're investments in a future that happens fast.

They're straightforward. "Advanced" doesn't mean "complicated." It means "uncomplicated." HP calculators are, above all, straightforward.

They're easy to use. HP calculators not only grow with you; they grow on you. They feel natural, comfortable, because we designed them to work like you think.

They're efficient. HP calculators take the direct approach. All feature RPN, a time-saving, parenthesis-free logic system. All programmables feature a memory-saving keycode merging capability.

They're personal. Professionals design their own ways to solve their particular problems, and they expect their calculators to be versatile enough to accommodate them. Ours are.

There's a variety. To say we offer a full line is an understatement. We offer a choice. That's why we publish a unique "Selection Guide" that spells out the capabilities of each. Your HP dealer has your free copy.

HP-29C. Our NEW Programmable with Continuous Memory. $195.00***

Its 98-step program memory and 16 of its 30 storage registers stay "on" even when the calculator is "off," so you can store programs and data for as long as you wish. Continuous Memory plus fully merged keycodes bring typical program memory capacity to 175 keystrokes and beyond. Insert/delete editing. Conditional and unconditional branching. Three levels of subroutines. 10 decision tests. Exceptional versatility at an exceptional price.

HP-21 Scientific. $80.00***

Performs all standard math and trig calculations, the latter in radians or degrees. Performs rectangular/polar conversions. Displays in fixed decimal or scientific notation. Our lowest priced scientific.

HP-22 Business Management. $125.00***

A new kind of management tool. Combines financial, statistical and mathematical capabilities. Enables business students to forecast faster, more easily and with greater certainty.

HP-25 Scientific Programmable. $125.00***

Solves repetitive problems automatically. Enter your formula once; thereafter only variables. Requires no software, no "computer" language. Our lowest priced programmable. We also offer an HP-25 with Continuous Memory, the HP-25C, for $160.00*. It retains programs and data even when turned "off."

HP-27 Financial/Statistical/Scientific. $175.00***

Contains the most preprogrammed scientific functions we've ever offered, plus comprehensive statistical and financial functions. Lets you forecast, allocate resources, analyze costs—quickly.

HP-67 Fully Programmable. $450.00***

The most powerful pocket calculator we've ever built. 224-step program memory. 26 storage registers. "Smart" card reader records contents of both. Fully merged keycodes increase typical program memory capacity up to 450 keystrokes and beyond. Superior editing capability.

YSU band and danceline exert dedication and spirit in practice

What would make you give up the last three days of summer vacation to attend an all-day training camp which promised nothing but work and more work?

If you were a member of YSU's marching band the answer could be dedication. This year the band consists of 120 such dedicated men and women.

For three days before the beginning of this fall quarter band members attended a 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. training camp that combined music with marching in order to prepare themselves for this year's football season.

According to Robert Flemming, the band's director, the pre-school camp is a necessary part of the students' training, since that is the only time available to them for concentrated practice as a group.

While school is in session the band meets four days a week at the Harrison Field, but only for one hour at a time. "These one hour sessions don't provide enough time to learn everything that is necessary," explains Flemming, "but the training camp does."

To be in the marching band a major in music is not required. Any student who is able to play an instrument can audition for a position. In fact, Flemming states that there are presently several students enrolled who are non-music majors.

Those that are music majors receive one credit towards fulfilling their major ensemble participation requirement for being in the band.

With the ending of the football season the marching band is transformed into a concert band for the remainder of the quarter. Those that wish to may then continue with the concert band into the winter quarter.

In addition to the 120 musicians and two baton twirlers, the band now has a newly added feature. For the first time, this year a dance line has been introduced.

The line consists of 16 women students who auditioned for the positions last July. In charge of auditioning were Flemming, Joseph Lapinski, co-director of bands, and Joseph Parlink, assistant professor of music.

Flemming states that anyone can audition for the line and knowledge of a musical instrument is not necessary.

Of the 16 danceline members, four are captains in charge of creating and teaching the routines to the others. Flemming says that all the members "have worked very hard and have been very creative." He labels the line a success and claims that this latest addition is something that YSU can be proud of.

The line can be seen performing along with the rest of the band at the home games.

This year, besides the performances at the games, the band will also be present for the dedication of Bliss Hall on Oct. 31.

 DRAUGHT BEER, INSTEAD OF DRAFT BEER?

Don't worry. Nobody does. Not even me, your Dean of Beer.
 However, I do know that draught beer from Schlitz tastes as fresh as any beer can taste. Because it's kept icy cold from the time it leaves our Chill-Lagering cellars to the time it reaches you.
 All of which, I think, makes a good deal of scents. Cents. Sense.

When you were young, no form of cancer terrified your parents more than leukemia did.

Just fifteen years ago, a child with leukemia could expect to live only months.

But, thanks to research, things have changed.

Children who once lived months are now living years. Many of them are growing up. Some are already adults, living normal lives.

Did you ever wonder what the American Cancer Society did with the money you gave us? Well, some of it went to leukemia research. And, if we had more, we could do more.

 OF YOUR TIME
 COULD SAVE A FRIEND'S LIFE.

In the time it takes to drive your friend home, you could save his life.

If your friend's been drinking too much, he shouldn't be driving. The automobile crash is the number one cause of death of people your age. And the ironic thing is that the drunk drivers responsible for killing young people are most often other young people.

Take ten minutes. Or twenty. Or an hour. Drive your friend home. That's all. If you can't do that, call a cab. Or let him sleep on your couch.

We're not asking you to be a doctor or a cop. Just a friend.

A course on Wilderness Survival is being offered by the YSU First Aid Club on Tuesdays and Wednesdays beginning Oct. 5 and running through Nov. 16.

The course is free and will teach basic wilderness survival skills. It will be taught from 11 a.m. to noon on Tuesdays in Kilcawley Room 240 and from 11 a.m. to noon on Wednesdays in Kilcawley, Room 253. Tony Valley, director of "High Adventures" education-outdoor programs, will be instructor of the course.

Techniques of wilderness survival, shelter building, fire starting, food and camping equipment will be among the areas covered.

There will be no previous sign-up for the workshops.

A total of $15,000 is available to young composers in the 26th annual BMI Awards to Student Composers competition sponsored by Broadcast Music, Inc., a performing rights licensing organization.

The 1977-78 BMI Awards competition is open to student composers who are citizens or permanent residents of the Western Hemisphere and are enrolled in accredited secondary schools, colleges and conservatories or engaged in private study with recognized and established teachers anywhere in the world. Entrants must be under 26 years of age on December 31. No limitations are established as to instrumentation, stylistic considerations, or length of works submitted. Students may enter no more than one composition, which need not have been composed during the year of entry.

For more information please contact Broadcast Music Incorporated, 40 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.
