

Poor Petey! Being Hen-Pecked

Patricia has arrived to the great joy of Youngstown college and Petey, her husband. But from the looks of things Patricia is going to wear the pants in that family.

Properly chaperoned, they were formerly introduced in the administrative office last Wednesday morning. At first sight there began a mad eye pecking skirmish with no sides winning and Petey retreating into a corner. Fearing she had frightened her man, Patty waddled over with due apologies and made up Eskimo fashion.

Wishing to explore their new environment, they played follow the leader through the hall and into the lounge where they were greeted by their public. A Cook's tour was made with Nate Nate-man acting as guide and protecting the co'eds bare legs from the pecking of Peter, the flirt. Occasionally they took pecks at each other, but when human hands threatened to interrupt their romance, Patricia placed a protective flipper around Pete.