Youngstown State University

Half Century Club

LET'S TAKE A WALK DOWN MEMORY LANE

SPEAKER: HARRY MESHEL FORMER STATE SENATOR OCTOBER 14, 2004

Jones Hall

Founded in 1908 as a YMCA law school, the institution now known as Youngstown State University developed from this modest origin. In 1931, Youngstown College erected the first building on its contemporary campus, the Jacobean or Collegiate Gothic structure on the corner of Wick and Lincoln Avenues. Paul Boucherle designed this building, which was named

Jones Hall in honor of Howard Jones, the school's first president. Jones Hall today is the enduring symbol of YSU's heritage; a tribute to its YMCA origins can be found in the Y's triangle carved above the main entrance.

Maag Library

The University Library is named for the late William F. Maag, Jr. a trustee of Youngstown College, and editor and publisher of The Youngstown Vindicator. Maag Library stands on land once part of the estate of Henry and Mary Arms Wick. It was designed by C. Robert Buchanan and Associates and George Tanner Smith and Associates. Completed in 1976 the design is light and airy despite the sixstory structure constructed of reinforced concrete and glass. Maag Library administers the Curriculum Resource Center in the Beeghly College of Education and the Rose Melnick Medical Museum in Melnick Hall.

Alumni House

Built in 1865-6, this house was originally in the Italianate style. It was remodeled in both 1910 and 1982. This structure, which is the oldest building on the Youngstown State University campus on the corner of Wick Avenue and Spring Street (now University Plaza) is the former homestead of the Myron Israel Arms family. Descendants of Mr.

Arms, the Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Booth family and the Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Schaff family, also resided in the house. In 1959, First Christian Church purchased it as their Disciple House and in 1976 YSU became its owner. On the National Register of Historical Places, the facility was renamed Alumni House in 1983. Currently housing the YSU Alumni Relations Office and YSU Foundation.

Wick-Pollock Inn

The William B. Pollock Company was one of the world's foremost manufacturers of blast furnaces, ladles, and railroad cars for the steel industry. William's son, Porter, married Mary Wick in 1897. Her father, Paul, gave the newlyweds this 1893 mansion which was designed by Charles H. Owsley. YSU turned it into an inn, building a large rear addition and remodeling the existing structure. There is a formal English garden, built in the 1930s, and a carriage house in the rear of the property. The Wick-Pollock Inn, closed for business since 1998, may soon re-open its doors in late 2005 or early 2006.

1888

The Youngstown Association School starts at the YMCA as a night school

1908

The Law School starts with a class of nine men

1920

Law School begins to offer Bachelor of Law degrees

1920

The School of Business Administration begins evening classes

1926

The College of Arts and Sciences is founded

1928

School officially named Youngstown College, also known as Yo-Co

1930

The college newspaper, The Jambar, begins publication

1931

Youngstown College completes its first new building, now known as Jones Hall, costing $235,000. Ivy from Oxford University is planted along walls in 1932.

July 1935

Howard W. Jones was appointed President of Youngstown College

1938

First football season along with the first marching band

1941

Dana School of Music merges with Youngstown College

May 1945

The official school colors now are scarlet and white

1946

Engineering department becomes the Rayen School of Engineering

1949

Graduate class present a ten-ton boulder to the college

1950

Youngstown College expands with the addition of Pollock Hall

1953

Construction finished for the new Tod Library costing one million dollars

1955

Youngstown College becomes Youngstown University

1958

imeline

50th Anniversary of Youngstown University

1966

The 1.5 million Kilcawley Student Center opens

1966

President Howard Jones Retires after 35 years of service, Dr. Albert Pugsley becomes the new President

1967

Youngstown University becomes Youngstown State University

1967

Ward Beecher Science Hall is completed costing $1.7 million

1968

The $5.0 million Engineering Building opened

1972

College of Fine and Performing Arts established

1972

The $2.3 million parking garage opens and houses 1,250 cars

YOUNGSTOWN STATE UNIVERSITY

1972

The $5.25 million Beeghly Physical Education center opens

1972

50th Spring Commencement held

1973

President Dr. John Coffelt is inaugurated as the University's third president

1973

Northern Ohio Universities College of Medicine opens

1974

The $3.5 Kilcawley Center addition opens

1975

Maag Library opens

1977

The $6.3 million arts building, Bliss Hall, opens

1978

Cushwa Hall, the home of the College of Applied Science and Technology opens

1979

The $6.0 million DeBartolo Hall opens

1980

Student bridge over busy Wick Avenue opens

1982

75th Anniversary of YSU

1982

Stambaugh Stadium opens

1984

President Coffelt retires, Neil D. Humphrey becomes the new president

1985

The Myron Israel Arms house becomes the Alumni House

1986

The $15 million Meshel Hall opens

1990

Lyden House opens to students

1991

John J. McDonough Museum of Art opens on Wick Avenue

1991

The $1.7 million Christman Dining Commons opens

1992

Dr. Leslie Cochran becomes the 5th President of YSU

1995

Cafaro House, the new $9.3 million honors dorm opens

1996

YSU awards its first doctoral degrees

1998

Beeghly College of Education is completed costing $13.2 million

2000

President Cochran retires and David C. Sweet becomes the new president

2000

YSU changes from quarters to semesters

September 2004

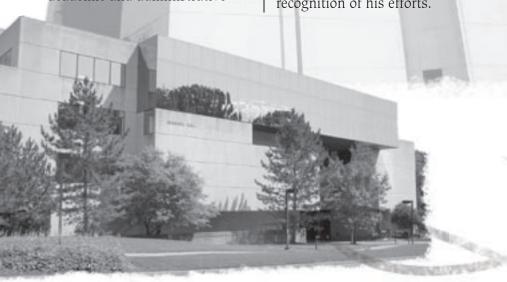

Wick-Pollock Inn likely to reopen in late 2005 or early 2006

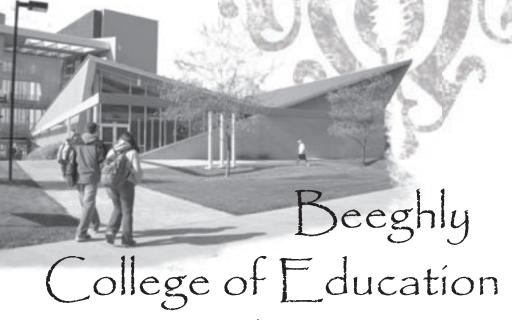

Meshel Hall

Of striking contemporary design, Meshel Hall is constructed of white Indiana limestone and poured-in-place concrete, PPG panel systems surround the top floor and a ribbon of reflective glass distinguishes its exterior. The structure was designed by Hanahan-Strollo and Associates, Inc.

This state of the art center is for instruction, research and application in advanced computer technology including computer assisted design and robotics serving both YSU and the general community. Harry Meshel Hall provides 87,000 square feet of usable space on four levels. The $15-million structure houses facilities for academic and administrative computer use, as well as computer classrooms and laboratories, faculty offices, and student study and relaxation areas. Funding for this project was obtained through the efforts of former state Senator Harry Meshel who demonstrated a strong commitment to educational growth. With the help of the Ohio General Assembly and other legislators over $87 million in capital improvements funding was provided for the University. Harry Meshel provided the impetus for expanding YSU's academic and research programs in advanced technology, then obtained state funding to house these programs in this facility named Harry Meshel Hall in recognition of his efforts.

Beeghly Hall, home of Beeghly College of Education provides the most up-to-date teacher education facilities in the Northeast Ohio region. Regular classrooms and offices occupy the four story, 81,500 square foot facility. In addition, the Curriculum Resource Center. Child Study Center, Counseling Clinic Center. Teacher Education computer laboratories, and the James M. McKay Auditorium enhance the structure. The building was designed by Perkins & Will Architects of Chicago, with Olsavsky-Jaminet Architects of Youngstown as the administering architects. Funding for this project was provided by state and private contributions as well as a substantial contribution from the Beeghly family of Youngstown. Bruce Beeghly, former YSU Board of Trustee stated "the contribution was given to help finance the construction of the College of Education building and to provide an endowment for the recently formed YSU/ Youngstown Public Schools Partnership." The Dedication Ceremony was held on Thursday, October 15, 1998.

Acknowledgements

Dr. Donna DeBlasio

YSU Center for Historic Preservation

Frank Rulli Ronald Cornell Faniro, Architects

> VICTOR FLEISCHER University Archivist

Brian Brennan YSU Library

CARL LEET

YSU Photographer, Media and Academic Computing