It's Happening Now: Mad About the Arts

On Friday, March 1, about 500 guests will be enjoying the seventh annual Mad About the Arts. This popular evening of invigorating music, inspiring art and fine wines is held at the McDonough Museum of Art on the campus of YSU and benefits the Museum and WYSU. The James Suggs Quintet returns to fill the museum with live jazz.

Pictured are quintet members (foreground, L-R) Chris Trzcinski, drums; Alton Merrell, piano; (background, L-R) Kurt Kotheimer, bass; James Suggs, trumpet; and Bryan Connell, tenor sax. Exhibiting painters Liliane Luneau, Enid Williams and Paul Yanko will be present in the galleries to meet guests, and the work of photographer Vaughn Wascovich will also be on display.

The evening is underwritten by the William B. and Kathryn Challiss Pollock Personal Foundation with additional support from Hanahan-Strollo & Associates, Inc., James & Sons, and St. Regis Printing. For more information, call WYSU at 330-742-3363.

 From: Gary Sexton
 Subject: Mad About the Arts, Whad'Ya Know?
 In Youngstown, Fund Drive, Larger Audience

We have a lot going on in March and April and I hope you find the time and energy to fit it all in!

First off, I really encourage you to join us at Mad About the Arts, on March 1st at the McDonough Museum of Art. Catherine Cala, our development associate, and Leslie Brothers, the new director of the McDonough Museum of Art, have put together a spectacular evening of food, drink, art, and music for us, and any proceeds benefit both WYSU-FM and the McDonough. Tickets are just $25 for members. It's always a great time and we hope to see you.

When did you last participate in a live studio audience of a national program? And "participate" is a key word when Whad'Ya Know? comes to Youngstown on Saturday, April 27. There's always the chance Michael Feldman will select you as a quiz (loosely-defined) contestant or talk to you during the show. What a great opportunity! Ticket sales have been brisk, so for the best seats, please order yours soon from the Powers Auditorium box office: 330-744-0264.

Our spring fund drive is coming up early in April (April 5 – April 12), and although I say this every time, it really is true every time: your financial support is more important than ever. We had a significant cut in the part of our budget that comes from Youngstown State University this year, many of the programs you enjoy are more expensive; and it's getting tougher keeping Barbara Krauss' pretzel closet full. Please do your part to help us meet our $75,000 goal as early in the drive as possible (at which point the drive will end). Remember, the earlier you make your renewal call or mail in your renewal letter, the more prize drawings you'll be in! Thanks so much for your help over the years, and I hope you find good reason for extending that help into 2002.

A final bit of great news: there are more of us! More listeners and appreciators of public radio, specifically WYSU-FM! In fact, approximately 25% more people are listening to WYSU-FM now than a year ago. All of us who work here believe that what we provide to the community is useful and important, and it's nice to know that more people of the community consider that to be the case as well. Thanks for listening, and we hope to see a lot of you in the next two months.

Frank Bennett (left), a trustee of the William B. and Kathryn Challiss Pollock Personal Foundation, presents the foundation's check for Mad About the Arts to Leslie Brothers (center), director of the McDonough Museum of Art, and Gary Sexton (right), director of WYSU-FM. The seventh annual Mad About the Arts is set for Friday, March 1 at 8:00 p.m. at the McDonough Museum on the YSU campus.

Area Foundation Supports

Mad About the Arts

WYSU-FM and the McDonough Museum of Art at Youngstown State University received a $5,000 grant from the William B. and Kathryn Challiss Pollock Personal Foundation. The gift will serve as major underwriting for Mad About the Arts 2002, the seventh annual celebration of the arts that benefits both organizations. Additional support is provided by Hanahan-Strollo & Associates, Inc., James & Sons, and St. Regis Printing.

Gary Sexton, WYSU director, expressed appreciation for the foundation support, noting, "As arts organizations operate with limited budgets and staff, Mad About the Arts is a meaningful partnership that allows WYSU and the Museum to reach out to the community in a forum that combines the finest in visual and musical arts."

Scheduled for Friday, March 1 at 8:00 p.m. at the McDonough Museum, the evening features live jazz by the James Suggs Quintet, paintings by Liliane Luneau, Enid Williams, and Paul Yanko, and photography by Vaughn Wascovich. Five hundred guests are expected to attend.

For more information, call WYSU at 330-742-3363.

Spring Pledge Drive Set for April 5-12

WYSU's Spring pledge drive, Priority on Programming, will be held April 5-12, 2002 with a dollar goal of $75,000. During the weeklong on-air campaign, WYSU will be inviting listeners to phone in their pledges in support of public radio. As incentives to call, WYSU will offer daily drawings, giving listeners and all who renew by mail or web, daily chances to win substantial prizes, from stereo equipment to get-away weekends. The earlier in the week you call, the more chances you'll have to win.

For the first time in WYSU history, the on-air campaign will not coincide with National Public Radio fundraising week. Catherine Cala, development associate, explained; "The nationally-coordinated spring campaign is scheduled for April 19-26. On April 27, WYSU and the College of Fine & Performing Arts are hosting Michael Feldman's Whad'Ya Know? LIVE in Youngstown at Powers Auditorium. The Whad'Ya Know? production crew comes to town two days before the live event. Although WYSU staffers are expert at multi-tasking, this was a conflict that even we could not manage. Thus, we scheduled our pledge drive for an earlier date." So be sure to tune in April 5-12 for the chance to win terrific prizes and support WYSU-FM — your source for classical music and so much more.

SURVIVAL SOUNDS in March

On the March edition of Survival Sounds we will be talking with Mahoning County Treasurer John Reardon and listening to his favorite CDs of all time. He presents an eclectic mix from Mozart to Jimmy Buffett. So Join us Sunday, March 3rd at 6:00 pm for Survival Sounds.

SYLVIA POGGIOLI WINS WELLES HANGEN AWARD

NPR's Senior European Correspondent Sylvia Poggioli has been awarded the Welles Hangen Award for Superior Achievement in Journalism from Brown University. The award was established in 1993 to honor the memory of Brown graduate Welles Hangen, an accomplished print and television journalist who was captured and killed by the Khmer Rouge and Viet Cong guerillas during the Vietnam War. Past awardees include Morley Safer, John Chancellor, Christine Amanpour, Tom

Sylvia
Poggioli.

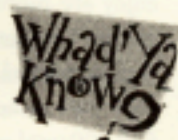

Brokaw, Peter Jennings, and Dan Rather. Upon hearing the news, Poggioli admitted that she "was stunned — this came out of the blue! I was particularly honored because it seems this is the first time they have chosen a radio reporter. It's a great recognition of NPR."

Tickets on Sale Now for Michael Feldman's Whad'Ya Know? LIVE! in Youngstown

Feldman.

WYSU-FM and YSU's College of Fine & Performing Arts are bringing Michael Feldman to Youngstown's Powers Auditorium on Saturday, April 27, 2002 from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Feldman — the king of small talk radio — and his crew will present the witty and wacky Whad'Ya Know? radio program. The performance will be broadcast live by WYSU-FM to over 300 public radio stations nationwide with an audience of more than 1.3 million listeners. The performance is sponsored by Schwebel Baking Company and Zim's Crack Crème, with additional support from Greenwood Chevrolet and Smith & Co. Jewelers.

Known for his laconic style, short comic asides, and dizzily fast repartee with guests and show colleagues, Feldman will be joined by his sidekick Jim Packard, jazz musician John Thulin and the Whad'Ya Know? band, plus special musical guests and quiz participants — from the audience and the telephone.

Don't miss this once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to be part of the live studio audience and help promote the best about Youngstown and the Mahoning Valley to the nation. Tickets are available through Powers Box office at 330-744-0264. All seats are reserved. Regular admission is $35; $30 for senior citizens; $15 for students. If you've been itchin' to meet Michael, then you'll want the $100 level, which includes special seating and admission to a post-show reception with Michael as the guest of honor. The reception will be held immediately following the performance at the new SMARTS Center in the Adler Art Academy at Powers Auditorium. Refreshments will be served.
