YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - Several articles written by the librarian of Youngstown State University's William F. Maag Library and two staff members have been published in the current issue of Library Acquisitions: Practice & Theory, an internationally refereed journal.

Contributing were Dr. David C. Genaway of Canfield, university librarian; Carol Wall of Newton Falls, public services librarian; and Susan Jacobson of Youngstown, acquisitions librarian.

The articles discuss several formula approaches to the allocation of library acquisitions funds to the various colleges, schools and departments in universities and four-year institutions.

"These publications are part of the Maag Library's continuing effort to promote a positive academic research image of YSU," Dr. Genaway said.

Dr. Genaway was recently appointed to a two year term on the Research Committee of the national Association of College and Research Libraries.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - Youngstown State University's Office of Continuing Education and Education Outreach, and the College for the 60-Plus will present a free program for senior citizens from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Jan. 20 on campus.

George Garchar of Boardman, research project manager of YSU's Center for Urban Studies, will speak on "Mahoning Valley: The Future and Options."

His presentation will revolve around migration facts, exploring why people move in and out of an area. He will suggest some policies or measures that could be taken at the present time to eventually improve the economic status of the Mahoning Valley.

Garchar, a Boardman resident, holds a bachelor's degree in Geography from YSU and a master's degree in Geography and master's in Communications from the University of Cincinnati.

Reservations for the program are recommended and can be made by calling the YSU Office of Continuing Education/Education Outreach at (216) 742-3221.

The University's College for the 60-Plus enables Ohio residents 60 and older to enroll free in regular courses at colleges on a non-credit, space available basis.
