YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio - Joseph G. Carson, vice president and senior economist for Chemical Bank of New York, will speak at Youngstown State University at 4 p.m. May 27 in Room 102 of DeBartolo Hall, Spring Street.

Carson, who holds two degrees from YSU, will speak on "The Impact of International Trade and National Debt on the U.S. Economy." His talk will include the changing role of economists in business.

The lecture is a Faculty Seminar of the Economics Department and is open to any interested persons in the community as well as faculty and students.

At Chemical Bank, Carson is responsible for providing economic analysis to the Capital Market Group's strategies in the areas of bond trading, foreign exchange, investment and funding.

Before joining Chemical Bank in 1986, he served as vice president and senior economist for the Capital Markets Economics Group at Merrill Lynch.

Carson also worked as senior economist at General Motors Corp. and staff economist for the chief economist's office in the U.S. Department of Commerce. He was the department's representative at the Council of Wage and Price Stability during President Carter's voluntary wage and price guidelines program.

He has authored a number of articles on labor market trends and economic issues.

Carson received both his Bachelor of Arts and Master's degrees here and also taught at Youngstown State.

The Economics Department is part of YSU's College of Arts and Sciences.
