The CI will be open from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. and will be under the management of Joe Salvia who has many years of experience in the food business.

The Inn is owned by a University student who understands the problems of the student body and hopes that he can alleviate the crowded eating conditions at the University.

Team's Return Flight Is Doomed Aircraft's Last Successful Hop

By A. Robert Steiskal
Jambar Sports Editor

Last Saturday evening, at the Youngstown Municipal Airport, in Vienna, Ohio, a group of Youngstown football players arrived from New Haven, Conn. in a World War Two cargo aircraft and went home. Approximately three hours later this same plane was lying in a field near Toledo, Ohio shattered and burning.

Youth for Nixon Holds National Campaign Day

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- National College Youth for Nixon-Lodge Day will be celebrated tomorrow on campuses across the nation on the Saturday before Election Day, with massive demonstrations by 90,000 students, who are members of 750 College Nixon-Lodge clubs, announced Miss Carol Dawson of Washington, D.C. executive secretary of the college clubs.

The special day will be devoted to intensive campaigning, including literature distributions, canvassings, caravans, rallies, football half-time demonstrations and other get-out-the-vote activities.

Miss Dawson added, "Nixon-Lodge youth members recognize that if we have not done the job of informing the citizens about our choice to lead the nation, we will not have an opportunity until 1964 to do anything about it. We intend to do our jobs well."

"We expect more than 100,000 students who are not members of our clubs but who are supporting the Nixon-Lodge ticket to take active part, also," Miss Dawson said.

The players all seemed to assume the same attitude, that of, "when I think that could have been us!" The general feeling was the same, for all the way home Tom Majovsky talked about a plane crash, and so did many of the others. Harold Green said that the stewardess seemed to be a very capable young woman and knew her stuff. Jim Rich, a Vet, said that when they took off he wondered why the pilot didn't run the engines up for warm-up. Jim also said, "When I went to church on Sunday, I thanked God that I was here and not there."

On Tuesday morning, I interviewed a State Highway Patrolman who is checking into the crash. As he put it, "we like to check back and see if anything was wrong before the incident." He and another investigator are in Youngstown to see if the people on the plane, when it arrived here, noticed anything wrong.

According to the investigator, the Civil Aeronautics Board has revoked the Arctic Pacific Airlines license and is in the process of trying to find out if the plane was overloaded when it took off from New Haven. "There is a chance," said the investigator, we will give them their license back, but it is not probable."

One of the players reported to me, that he saw sparks coming out of the aircraft's left engine. He also wondered why the pilot didn't lock

Alpha Mu Members Tour Gimbels Store

Roger Naple, Bob Lafferty and Jim Justice of Alpha Mu honorary fraternity for merchandising advertising and public relation students attended a seminar in Pittsburgh, Pa. last week which dealt with careers in retailing.

THE students were guided on a tour of Gimbels department store in order to become more familiar with behind-the-scene activities in a large retail store.

Following the tour, a buffet luncheon was held at the Hotel Sherwyn, after which a series of talks were delivered by prominent men in the retail field.

Professors of retailing Marion King Browne, Louis Lengyel, and Felix Buttar also attended the seminar. Several colleges and universities from Pennsylvania and Ohio were represented.

Art Club Sets Up Program Of Exhibits for School Year

By Phyllis Simmons

The Art Club, under the direction of Mr. Naberezny, has set up a program of exhibits for this school year. These exhibits will aid the club in fulfilling its primary purpose - the acquaintance and familiarization of all students on campus with the various forms in the visual arts.

Naberezny says that the programs include paintings, drawings, prints, ceramics and sculptured works on the professional level as well as the student level, thus enabling the students to get an idea of the methods prevalent in today's arts.

Many students have already seen three exhibits that have taken place during the first seven weeks of school. One was a painting and drawing exhibit of a sophomore student, Guy Berard, and the other was a print exhibition of professional print makers from various parts of the United States. The most recent show included a retrospective of works by Jerry Malarick, a senior in Art Education.

Several members of the Art Club have already taken a trip with Naberezny on Oct. 7, to visit the Cleveland Museum of Art. Other trips to such places as the Carnegie Museum in Pittsburgh, Pa., the Contemporary Interiors in Sharon, Pa., the Akron Art Institute and the Canton Art Institute will be announced. Any interested persons may inquire at the Art Department.

Naberezny informs prospective Art Club members that at least six hours of credit in art are required for membership. However, an exception is made for freshmen art majors who may join if they are carrying at least six hours of art.

Meetings are held twice monthly at which time the above activities are planned. At the same time the meetings become a social affair whereby the students become better acquainted and discuss various art works.

Coming exhibitions include - Jo Bailey, drawings; James Lucas, paintings, prints; Pat Vaccaro, prints; James Lepore, paintings; Richard Ulrich, paintings; Jon Naberezny, paintings; Rocco Gulde, paintings; Nancy Schermer, paintings, and others.

Letters to the Editor

The Story

Editor's note: Although this letter is longer than the limit established by us we believe it to be of the utmost importance in clarifying the confusion surrounding our School of Education.

Editor:

May a mere professor enter the arena? I care little for the emotional immaturity exhibited by the writer of the letter attacking the School of Education. I am more concerned that positive misstatements of fact or implied errors should not go uncorrected. The iconoclasts who constantly jeer at Education courses (this has been a popular and relatively safe method of attention seeking in academic circles ever since the establishment of the first professional Education Department in the late 1870's, incidentally) may be entitled to their opinion but in their efforts to persuade others to believe with them, they nevertheless owe an obligation not to distort facts, either with malicious intent or through ignorance.

The School of Education of Youngstown University is not interested in engaging in a popularity contest. It is unfortunate that some prospective teachers find some of their required courses distasteful, whether they be Education, Social Science, Science, English, Philosophy, or Language courses, but I strongly suspect that our critic would not approve of eliminating courses simply because they are not liked (other than Education, of course).

Ease and difficulty of courses are purely relative anyhow, varying greatly with individual preference, instructional efficiency, and institutional practices. I, myself, in my undergraduate days consistently scheduled mathematics and chemistry courses, especially when I desired extra time for football, because I found them very easy. Did that make them academically "non-respectable"?

The assumption or claim that educational courses are easier on the whole than other courses, in terms of typical distribution of marks, is an unwarranted one. A very careful study was made a few years ago by the Academic Standards Committee of the distribution of marks by all Departments and individual instructors in Youngstown College (as it was then known). Education courses ranked somewhere near the middle of the distribution, being somewhat more rigorous than many departments and somewhat less so than others. There was little or no statistically significant difference, however. What is usually forgotten by our snap-judgment critics is that Education courses are preponderantly (almost exclusively) upper division courses and that marks of all upper division courses consistently show higher percentages of A's and B's than lower division courses IN EVERY SCHOOL AND DEPARTMENT ON THE CAMPUS, and in about the same degree. This is of course entirely consistent with the early elimination of our less able students.

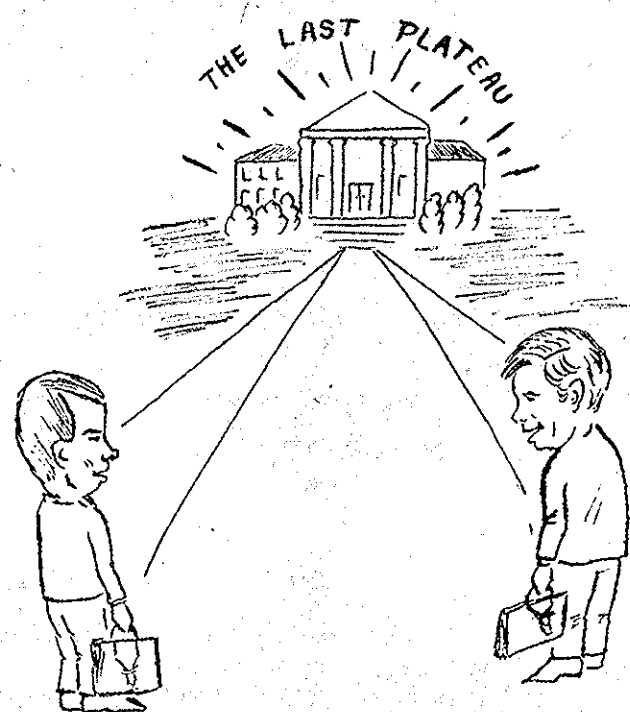

In any case, it should be noted that ease or difficulty of courses is in no way pertinent to the issue of value. Functionality is the only valid criterion for such judgment. If our Education courses are NOT functional they merit criticism. If they ARE functional they justify themselves.

It still remains a fact that the Academic standards of the School of Education of Youngstown University are very high. In the case of prospective high school teachers, of the 60 semester hours of lower division work required for admission to the School of Education, only 2 (Ed. 101 and Ed. 102) are offered in the School of Education or by School of Education instructors. The 2.5 average required for admission is therefore almost completely controlled by the more "respectable" departments as our indignant young-critic would undoubtedly describe them.

Requirements for elementary teachers are scarcely less rigorous. They may take 8 of the 60 preliminary hours in the School of Education. (Ed. 101-2; Ed. 214-3; and Ed. 225-3). Can anyone seriously claim that marks received in 2 hours in the one case or 8 hours in the other, strongly affect the total point average? Nor was any mention made of the entrance test requirements which are NOT nominal.

Of the total 125 semester hours of required courses for High School teachers, only 18 are specifically required in the School of Education. (Ed. 101-2; Ed. 301-3; Ed. 304-2; Ed. 308-2; Ed. 400-3; Ed. 404-6). Of these courses, methods (the general term which ignorance uses to describe all Education courses) are involved in only 2 classes, (Ed. 301 and Ed. 400). Other electives are available of course, BUT SELDOM SIGNIFICANTLY AFFECT THE TOTAL. To be perfectly fair we should also eliminate the Student Teaching course (6 s.h.) from our list of supposedly ridiculously easy and inadequate courses. (All of our most vociferous critics including Bestor and Rickover admit the value and desirability of student teaching).

I believe our long list of graduate teachers will universally testify to the rigors of this course. If our young letter writer is still not convinced I extend to him (or her) an open invitation to attend

History-Making Finale

Political Spotlight on Voter As Campaign Nears Climax

By Frank Court

On Tuesday, the voters will go to the polls and elect a new President. The effect of television debates, party platforms and campaign speeches will finally be tested. May the best man win.

This campaign has been exciting and will be remembered long after the campaign between Al Smith and "whatever his name was" is lost in the dust-covered records of bald-eagle bound history texts. Both candidates have done a bully job and hard-earned praise is in order. Their greatest effort being the amount of difference they have placed between one other.

AS THE CAMPAIGN draws to a close it would be well to point out the areas of major difference the candidates have established. In the domestic fields of education, farm policy, defense, medical care for the aged and government finance there is little agreement between the candidates. If they do agree on the ultimate aim then they disagree on the means to achieve it.

However, their domestic policies, the prestige issue and foreign policy are comically overshadowed by the recent arrival of an issue that has triggered political furor and helped narrow the gap between the presidential hopefuls and their campaign issues. This smudge pot of untimely diplomatic agreement takes the form of the islands, Quemoy and Matsu, belonging to the Nationalist leader Chiang-Kai-shek and lying five miles off the coast of Red China.

THIS "KEY ISSUE" is confusing and both candidates have seized upon it, hoping to use it to their advantage in Tuesday's election. Nixon had claimed the islands were in "the area of freedom" and should be defended under any circumstances from possible invasion. He has since altered his position and feels the islands should be defended only if an attack on them is part of an all-out attack on the main island of Formosa. Kennedy has declared the indefensibility of these islands and claims the U.S. should not risk a possible war over them, unless there is an attack on Formosa. This "key issue" is after all no issue at all. The convictions of both men on these insignificant islands are relatively the same. Their quarrel is illogical and comical, purely food for the campaign vulture.

Remember, when you go to the polls on Tuesday, vote for the policy and not the personality.

one of our student teacher conferences and try to persuade our fledgling teachers that they are engaged in a snap course! It might be good for their morale!

Elementary teachers, of course, have a slightly larger portion of their total hours in the School of Education (limited to not more than 34 semester hours, including 9 hours of Student Teaching, by State regulation.)

Can anyone seriously maintain that 12 semester hours for High School teachers or 25 semester hours for Elementary teachers over the 125 total hours, can have a significant effect upon the ultimate quality of work performed even if they were all automatically assigned "A's". (which they are not).

Graduation requirements in the area of science and language are, of course, controlled by the Curriculum Committee of the entire university and not by the School of Education, which merely has one representative on the committee.

I do not BELIEVE that the science requirements are less than satisfyingly rigorous. If they are, the difficulty lies with the departments which teach them and not the School of Education. Elementary teachers in gratifyingly large numbers are electing languages since the beginning of experimentation with language teaching in the elementary school. In any case the assumption that language courses are necessarily more rigorous than other electives is simply not tenable.

In closing I do not place any credence in the claim that the School of Education instructors are autocratic or dictatorial in their approach. This is the vague type of charge which stems from the need for justification of an untenable and pre-judged position.

I can practically guarantee that informed and intelligent criticism will be welcomed with gratitude, for it is the intelligently critical student who provides the challenge which makes teaching so emotionally satisfying (if not pecuniarily rewarding).

Did You Know It's the Truth That . . . . .

By Mike Shelley

Money always doesn't bring happiness. A man with twenty million dollars is no happier than a man with nineteen million dollars.... On December 27, 1927 "Show Boat" opened at the Ziegfeld Theater in New York.

The AMERICAN press has been deceiving the public and we think it is our duty to set you straight. The Big Three is not what you have been led to believe, but New Yorker, Playboy, and the Youngstown Jambar.... In Tod Hall I heard two freshmen telling a third that a diamond wedding is when a couple have been married seventy-five years; a golden wedding means fifty years. "Yea," said the frosh, "We had a wooden wedding last month." Sticking my two sense in I asked what a wooden wedding is: "My sister married a blockhead," came the reply.

Frank Court writes one of the best columns in the Jambar.... Frank Court owes me $5.00.... In 1870 John D. Rockefeller formed the million-dollar Standard Oil Company of Ohio.... A fellow on campus has a broken arm which he received from fighting for a woman's honor. It seems she wanted to keep it.

"Man did he fight dirty. Did you see him swing that crutch?"... Overheard in the cafe. "There are millions of pretty girls, but me, I'm a novelty."... Stambaugh Auditorium can seat 2,600 people.... I don't know how many windows there are in the Science Building.

Do you read anything but the jokes?... One Jellybean contains seven calories.... In 1868 the use of plastic in billiard balls came about.

Many times in a hard day's work nothing can be more pleasing than the ring of the telephone. So that you may better appreciate this wonderful little invention, I have prepared a list of handy facts that I have accumulated through my many years of telephone use. (And I hope that someone from A.T. & T. reads this because I'd like one of the new Princess phones they have in my room in one of the beautiful decorator colors.... The mouthpiece on the handle unscrews.

You can call N.Y. from Cleveland right now for only 85 cents.... There are four people for every telephone in the United States.... In Ethiopia there are 5,556 persons for every phone.... The Kremlin doesn't accept reverse charge calls.... I think blue would be a nice color for my room.

There are 433 parts in a regular phone.... Isn't there someone who would like to hear your voice right now? Well, call anyway.... A national magazine discussed at length the question of who owns your garbage, after you put it out.

It always rains or snows on weekends.... Do you remember when a million dollars was a lot of money?.... Patrick Henry said: "Give me liberty or give me death!" Now the people just say "Gimme!"

What this country needs is a man who can be right and President too.... Alpha Phi Omega is a National Service Fraternity.... Registration is months behind us, but I just dug up the following: A freshman scrawled as his denominational preference, "I just like to be called Bill.".... Some students think Handle is something you open a door with.

"This exam will be conducted on the honor system. Please take seats three apart, and in alternate rows.".... High heels were invented when a boy kissed his date good night on the forehead.

Girls will go to unseemingly lengths to get their men. One was in a local department store. She asked for a size thirty-six sweater, tried it on and found it fit perfectly. So she bought it — one size smaller.

A Woman's View Shift to Federal Money Means Social Dependency

By Sue Cleavelly
In an Interview with Mrs. Marion Browne

What candidate do you favor and why in the light of economics and foreign affairs? It all depends on what you want and expect from government.

DO WE want the privilege of developing our own communities or do we want to shift more and more of our responsibilities to the national government? Every responsibility we allow to be taken from us lessens our chance for individual development and teaches us dependence rather than independence.

Independence! What does it mean? We listen to one of the candidates making statements in every speech of what he will do for you if elected president. All he can do is to tax, to handle money, to dole it out to you as he (government) sees fit to do. Have we become so incapable that we do not know how to use any monies that are not labeled "government funds"?

When you ask and expect government to do for you that which you should do for yourself you become weaker and government stronger. How strong do you want government to become - so strong that individual rights are at a minimum?

HAVE people forgotten that in the last democratic administration the President made the statement that he had the right to take over any private enterprise because of a so-called police action in Korea.

When in Europe I was told by many to tell people in the United States to keep the U.S. strong - it is the only hope for those wanting freedom. How does any country maintain its strength and build over a period of time? By making its citizenry strong and independent mentally and economically. Count the countries that are examples in history of the governments usurping the powers that should belong to the people. Why do wars come? Because governments become so powerful that the voices of protest can not be heard.

A choice, yes; based on the facts of past experience. That the Republican party, at the present time, will give more freedom, not paternalism. That the candidates for President and Vice President of the Republican Party have a much more comprehensive background of foreign affairs than do the other two candidates. That in government vision, wisdom, courage, maturity of mind, and the ability to be poised are much more important than emotionalism.

Civil Service Exams to Open

Interested in a professional-level position in the Federal government?

If you are interested and are an upperclassman or graduate the United States Civil Service Commission will be offering its next test on Nov. 19 and applications must be in the mail no later than Nov. 3.

The purpose of this examination is to fill the Government's key positions. The main thing they are looking for is not experience but potential. Upon passing the examination the appointees will be trained to develop their potential.

Some of the appointees will start with a salary of $6,435 per year and within a few years they can advance to a professional or administrative position paying $8,955 or better, with the possibility of further advancement.

Application forms and further information may be secured at the "Civil Service" window in the post office.

Phi Mu Alpha To Offer Varied Music Program

Many of you will remember the fine jazz concert that was put on by the Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, the men's professional musical fraternity. On Wednesday you will get a chance to hear this group in an entirely different kind of program. The fraternity will give a recital at 8 p.m. sharp in Strouss Memorial Auditorium.

The program will consist of music ranging in time from the 17th Century to the 1950's. There will be three ensemble numbers, one by the percussion ensemble, one for quartet of brasses, and the third for double quartet of brasses and saxophones.

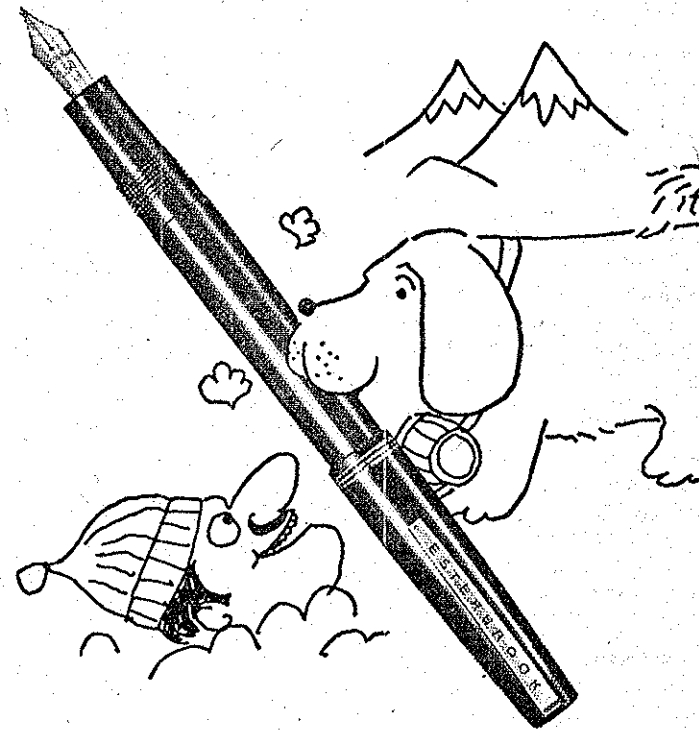

In addition, several members of the fraternity will perform piano, violin, trumpet and vocal solos. The recital will begin and end with choral music sung by the entire active membership.

Delta Eta Chapter was chosen to receive the Achievement Award last year as the best in the province. It sponsors an annual scholarship, which is supported by the proceeds of the jazz concert.

Mr. M. James Wisler is the faculty advisor, and Mr. Robert Witt is program advisor; most of the other male instructors at Dana are alumni members of the fraternity.

The program is without charge; students are requested to use Activities Ticket No. 4.

Campus Social Scene

This Week With Greeks and Clubs; Knee-Socks and Paddles Make Debut

It seems the season for paddles, blazers, and brightly colored knee socks is once more upon us. Almost anywhere can be seen a mammoth stack of books with a pair of legs walking across campus. But books don't have legs, you say? You're right. After a closer look, behind those books is found a poor staggering pledge.

This certainly is the time for sweethearts and elections. The engineers chose lovely Carolyn Peluso to reign over their Engineer's Ball, and Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity picked their sweetheart, too -- sweet and petite Joan Pletnik. Best wishes are extended to both girls. Senior class elections were also held. Congratulations to the new officers: Sam LaLama, president; Tom Henninger, vice president; Carole Albright, secretary; and Kathy Hite, treasurer.

Alpha Omicron Pi

The sisters of Alpha Omicron Pi and the brothers of Alpha Phi Delta are sponsoring a spaghetti dinner Sunday. Tickets may be obtained from members of either organization. The agenda for tomorrow??? What else?! A meat ball roll.

The new pledges and the (old) actives had loads of fun at the Theta Chi - Alpha Omicron Pi Halloween Party held October 27, at the Theta Chi house.

Phi Mu

Four girls from the Omicron Chapter of Phi Mu sorority at Akron University visited during the last Phi Mu rush party. The sisters would like to announce that during that same rush party, two of Patti Mastran's snails mated.

Phi Mu sorority would like to announce that Sandy Schuff of Phi Mu is pinned to Greg Loughrie of Phi Sigma Kappa.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Sigma Sigma Sigma received their new pledges at Pollock House, and immediately afterward held their installation. Dinner was served at the Venetian, followed by the singing of sorority songs.

Delta Chi Epsilon

The sisters held a get-acquainted tea at Pollock House on October 2, opening the rush season. The last rush party will be held on Tuesday.

The sisters would like to acknowledge the engagements of Ginny Manser of Delta Chi Epsilon to Russ Jones of Sigma Tau Gamma, and that of Lillian Pace of Delta Chi Epsilon to Angelo Pignatelli.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

Our new pledge class shows great promise. Pledge masters Dick Vance and Chuck Weigel have a fine group of boys to mold into men.

Kappa Sigma Kappa

The brothers would like to announce the engagement of John Georges to Carol Gibbons.

Omicron Lambda Honorary Biology Fraternity

Officers for the year 1960-61 are Sam Donofrio, president; Ed DeHass, vice president; Larry Billy, treasurer; Joan Kaluczky, secretary; and Francis Belcik, historian. The first meeting on October 7 was concerned mainly with voting on the new applicants for membership. Those voted into the Fraternity are: Kay Boyd, Aurora Morelli, Joel Greenberger, Paul Patton, Catherine Thanos, and Judy Kacenga.

At the October 21 meeting committees were appointed. The next meeting will be today at noon.

Theta Chi

The officers of Theta Chi attended a forum at Kent State University Sunday October 6. There was discussion about problems of fraternities in general.

Theta Chi Harvest Moon Dance will be held November 19, in the Elms Ballroom.

Our second rush party Sunday October 16 at Johnny Garneau's Smorgasbord was well planned by rush chairman, Ted O'Neil.

Sigma Tau Gamma

Our eleven pledges are weathering the storm like true nail chewing Sig Tau's. The house is finally getting cleaned.

Newspaper Pete, Mohawk John and Irma the Rowdy are feuding. Congratulations to Brother Frank Court for a terrific job.

Newman Meeting

The Newman business meeting will begin at 8:30 p.m. on Nov. 6 at Cardinal Mooney. Included in the program for the evening will be a "Nixon-Kennedy Discussion". Bob Casey will be the moderator. Patty Murphy will debate for Nixon and Geoff Collins or Tom Rishel will debate for Kennedy.

THE PARTY WEEKEND: ITS CAUSE AND CURE

With the season of party weekends almost upon us, my mail of late has been flooded with queries from young inmates of women's colleges wishing to know how one conducts one's self when one has invited a young gentleman for a weekend, so let us today take up this burning issue.

Well, my dear girls, the first thing to remember is that your young gentleman is far from home and frightened. Put him at his ease. You might, for instance, surprise him by having his mother sitting in a rocker on the station platform when he gets off the train.

Next, what kind of corsage should you send your young gentleman? Well, my beloved maidens, orchids are always acceptable. So, indeed, are phlox and delphinium. In fact, most any flora will serve. Do try, however, to avoid carnivorous plants.

If you find, my esteemed filles, that your local florist has run out of stock, do not be dismayed. Make a corsage out of paper. But pick good, stiff, durable paper—twenty dollar bills, for example.

Remember at all times, my fond wenches, to show your young gentleman courtesy and consideration. Open doors for him, walk on the traffic side of the path, assist him to the punch bowl, zip his parka, light his Marlboros. (What, you ask, if he doesn't smoke Marlboros? Ridiculous, my precious nymphs! Of course, he smokes Marlboros! Don't you? Don't I? Doesn't everybody who knows a hawk from a handsaw? What other cigarette gives you such a lot to like? Such easy-drawing filtration? Such unfiltered taste? Such soft pack or flip-top box? No other, my sweet minxes, no other. Marlboro stands alone, and any man worthy of you, my estimable damsels, is bound to be a Marlboro man.)

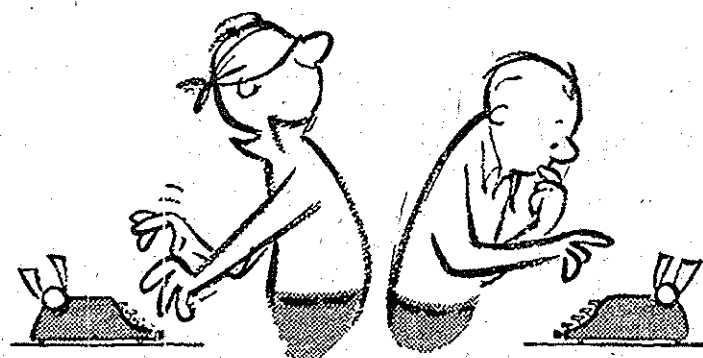

If you will follow the simple instructions stated above, my good lasses, you will find that you have turned your young gentleman into a fast and fervent admirer. There is nothing quite like a party weekend to promote romance. I am in mind of a party weekend some years ago at Miss Pomfritt's Seminary for well-born females in West Linotype, Ohio. Serafina Sigafos, a sophomore at this institution, majoring in napkin folding, sent an invitation to a young man named Fafnir Valve, a junior at the Joyce Kilmer School of Forestry, majoring in sap and boles. Serafina had been ape for Fafnir since high school, but Fafnir preferred a girl named Gelia Fleshwound, the high school drum majorette who once threw a baton so high she impaled a south-bound mallard.

Anyhow, Serafina sent an invitation to Fafnir, and he came, and she showered him with kindness and cuff links, and then he went away, and Serafina sat anxiously by the mailbox, wondering whether she would ever hear from him again. Sure enough, two weeks later she got a letter: "Dear Serafina, Can you let me have fifty bucks? Yours, Fafnir."

Whimpering with ecstasy, she ran to the bank and withdrew the money and mailed it to him. From then on, she got the same request every week, and as a result, she became very well acquainted with Ralph T. Involute, teller of the West Linotype Bank and Trust Co., and their friendship ripened into love, and today they are happily married and live in Stamen, Oregon, where Ralph is in the extruded molasses game and Serafina is a hydrant.

Youngstown Topples Owls in 8-7 Decision

Key to Penguins' Victory Is 2-Point Conversion Run

By A. Robert Steiskal

Last Saturday the Youngstown University Penguins met Southern Connecticut Owl's at New Haven. The game started at 10:30 in the morning in order to leave the field open for the Yale game in the afternoon.

After the opening kick-off, it seemed as though the two teams had a pact that neither would score. Youngstown had the ball for three downs and were forced to kick, then the Owls would take over for three downs and punt. The Owls started their drive after a fumble by Butch Morelli on the 49.

The Owls then featured their quarterback John Hajus in a passing attack which is probably the best Youngstown will see all year. Hajus picked his ends and threw to them even when one thought it would be impossible because of the Youngstown defenders. An eight yard pass climaxed the drive, Murray kicked the extra point, and Southern Connecticut led 7-0 at the end of the first quarter.

The second quarter was almost the same as the first, but with four and a half minutes left in the half, Southern Connecticut was caught with a fourth down on a twenty yard line situation. They decided to kick, but the pass from center was wild, and went over McCallister's head. Tom Majovsky, Youngstown linebacker, went through the line like he was shot out of a cannon and recovered the ball on the Owl nine. Butch Morelli went over for the score from the one and the score was 7-6.

Then came the biggest surprise of the game as Dick Hartzell came out to kick his extra point. They followed the usual line-up procedure in setting up for the extra point, but as Horvath got the ball from center, he took off around the end, and went into the end zone standing up for the two points. Before he did, however, he had to duck an alert Southern Connecticut defender.

Youngstown kicked off and it looked as though the Owls were going for another TD, but when they reached the one yard line, they decided to attempt a field goal. There were approximately five seconds left in the half, and Southern Connecticut must have thought that they couldn't push through the Youngstown defensive line, because it had tightened up considerably and was giving Connecticut a great deal of trouble with its rushing. The trouble didn't stop, however as the field goal attempt was wide to the right. On this note he half ended.

During the second half, the Youngstown team played like men possessed as they didn't allow one pass to be completed or more than twenty five yards to be gained on the ground. The Youngstowners threatened several times in the waning minutes of the game, but were thwarted every time.

Kappa Sigs Grab Division A Crown

Kappa Sigma Kappa hurdled Sigma Tau Gamma 19-0 to capture the Division A championship and a chance to grab the IFC championship.

The Kappa Sigs scored in the first quarter on a blocked punt which was recovered by Nick Aulisio. They scored again in the second quarter on a pass from Bob Cain to Jim Richards.

The Sig Taus appeared to be moving shortly after the second half, as Margala threw his way to penetrate to the Kappa Sig 25. The Kappa Sigs held once more, however, and came back to score another touchdown on a pass from Cain to Ruban to clinch the game. Del Stanley, Sig Tau suffered a leg injury and is under a doctor's care.

Alpha Phi Halts Tau Omega

A 29 to 0 victory over Tau Omega enabled Alpha Phi Delta to gain a tie for second place in Division B of IFC football competition at Borts field, Sunday.

ALPHA Phi Delta scored in every quarter but one, and was never in serious trouble. Tony Mastrangelo threw three touchdown passes, two to Sam Lalama and one to Frank Irilli. Gene Roncone also caught a TD pass for Alpha Phi.

Zeta Phi Clinches Title

Zeta Phi scored two touchdowns in the first quarter to easily clinch a 33 to 0 win over Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Dave Pond ran for one score while Markasky threw for two, one to Lidle and another to Hubert. The pledges of both fraternities played nearly the whole second half. During this half Lidle threw to VaNatta for the final 6 points.

The win gave Zeta Phi their 22nd consecutive win plus a shot at Kappa Sigma Kappa in next week's championship game.

Sig Eps Edge SAE

Sigma Phi Epsilon edged Sigma Alpha Epsilon 19-13 on a touchdown which was scored in the last 10 seconds of the game.

The game was a passing duel between the SAE's pledge John Sakal and the Sig Ep's pledge Bob Tyndall.

The game appeared that it was going to be a 13-13 deadlock until Bob Tyndall fired a 50 yard aerial to Earle Pratt who caught it between two defenders. The conversion was successful to make the score 19-13.

Six-Man Tackle Is an Answer To the IFC Football Problem

By A. Robert Steiskal
Jambar Sports Editor

Several weeks ago, I proceeded to rip IFC football into small pieces. I felt the criticism of rules played under was, in effect, correct. However, I feel as though I should offer a means by which IFC may be made better, and not just say it is wrong.

The rules used in IFC football are not the only thing that is wrong with it! There are many teams that use equipment; shoes, braces, tape on their hands, etc. These things are not only dangerous, but unfair. In my estimation, IFC football should be changed to six man tackle with full equipment. The rules would be changed only slightly from what they are now, and fewer injuries would result.

The number of injuries is appalling as I have already stated; this season there have been dislocated backs, shoulders and knees, a concussion, a broken ankle and numerous broken noses.

These result from the jarring blocks and the vicious tabs put on the men. When a man gets tabbed, it sometimes knocks the man over as though he had been tackled. The blocks are sometimes worse than the blocks that are thrown in pro football. The sounds of contact can be heard clear across the field. And after every second or third play, a man is hurt or a fight starts.

Tab football as played here is terribly disconcerting to the human mind. Men who are good friends in school try to kill each other as animals do. So many are hurt that it makes a person wonder if it is worth all the aches and pains.

I don't say that six man tackle will alleviate the roughness, but I do feel that it will give the men more protection when they wear the equipment. The cost of the equipment is most certainly a problem, but the school or individual fraternities will probably be glad to pay money to finance the uniforms in order to keep from paying the hospital bills incurred by the injuries.

At the present time, if a man gets injured the two fraternities involved have to foot the bill. This was put into effect several weeks ago by IFC. In order to curb the injuries and their occurrence in IFC football.

I feel that if it is to be called IFC football, IFC should take the initiative to stop the great number of injuries occurring here. It seems that they are making a half-hearted attempt at it now, but a full scale program, or should I say campaign should be started to stop this maiming of human beings.

If IFC is going to do nothing, then let's drop it. If they are I will applaud their efforts, and help them in any way possible. However, if they run true to form, they will be satisfied with little as possible, and not with anything really concrete.

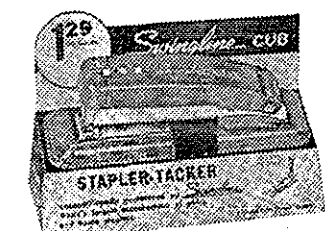

Next week; Youngstown's freshman team.

As We See It

Microscope Knights

By Blase Deleo and Molly Stuart

Please, you are getting tears all over our pictures. We know it has been a hard week with mid-terms, pledging and all. So what if you only answered ten out of a possible 200 in Advanced Copy Stapling, maybe the Prof. will drop the grades a little (oh he has and still can't find enough points to give you an "F".)

One question has been on our minds for the passed few weeks. "Does anyone out there have scrap paper?" We don't think so after looking at the tables in the library. In fact the situation is so bad that one of the students had to erase a spot on one of the tables so he could write on it. The writing itself isn't the same either, it used to be "John loves Mary", now all you see is 8m - ? 8(m plus 5), boy you would think this place was trying to be a University or something?

(probably a letter grade higher). In all seriousness, how could we get along without these Knights of the Microscope who are constantly aiding us in our persuade of knowledge.

We over look the nice things they do for us, like dropping all the slides in the sink or bumping our arm in the middle of a Lab. drawing.

Who could do more for our morale by just saying a few words like "Boy how did you draw that slide - in the dark."

Here is an item that may help you save on gasoline, as told to us by that "Mobile Gas Run Champ" Barb Massie. It's very simple, you first drive your car to school in the morning and park it, then forget about it. That night you take the bus home.

It is a good system with one exception and that is trying to explain to your father how you managed to leave in the morning with the family car and come home on the bus that night - right Barb.

Now we come to a very sore spot - school spirit. YU has an enrollment of over 6,000. A conservative estimate would show about 600 attending each game. This is good! All we need is to get the 600 cheering! As things are now, the only ones cheering are the eight cheerleaders. These kids get out there and knock themselves out - but there is no response from the stands. It must be quite discouraging to them. Remember, at a football game, "8-lung-power" sound does not penetrate to the men on the field.

Let's get out there and YELL our lungs out. Don't forget, troops - if the cast is composed of 11 males and three female parts. Any full time student is eligible to audition for a part. Those interested, including those interested in doing technical work for the production, will find further information on the bulletin board outside the drama office. Mike Shirilla v'll direct.
