Sadie Has Her Picture Taken, Looks Like Patsy Kelley

By Sadie Gilch

The love of your life is leaving for the army—He is sad—perhaps he will meet a little blonde sharpie (you know, like the one he pursued last spring), as you say to yourself—let us have an ultra glamorous picture taken, one that resembles Mady Larnar or maybe Georgia Carroll. Then he will look at the picture and forget that smooth U. S. O. number.

So, thinking this, I hustled my frame to the local photographer and seated in a hard, straight chair, I affected a glorious pose, with a Mona Lisa smile and waited—and waited—and waited. The photographer darted frantically back and forth, gazing at me from all angles and hopeless-

Ohio Needs New Teachers

An alarm has been sounded to all schools and colleges in view of the great need of teachers to fill positions in both elementary and high schools. So serious has this become that several hundred former teachers have volunteered to return to the classroom.

Colleges and universities are working overtime to furnish refresher courses and additional training to accommodate this group. Many elementary teachers are planning to take summer school work and advance to the high school field.

Much emphasis has been placed on the patriotic duty of high school graduates to enroll now to prepare themselves to take the places of men and women who are drawn into the war effort.

Provisions have been made whereby these high school graduates can obtain temporary certificates in 15 months and begin teaching in September, 1944. Similar provisions have been made for temporary high school certificates adding one full calendar year work to this requirement, or a total of 27 months.

New Council President

Norman Sibson was elected president of Student Council for the 1943-44 school year at a regular meeting on Friday, April 30.

Mr. Sibson, who will be a junior next year is a pre-medical student, a member of the Kappa Sigma Kappa Fraternity, and a member of Omicron Lambda, honorary biology fraternity. He graduated from Wilson High School and has been a member of Student Council since February.

Though it is customary for the president of Student Council to have had at least a year's experience in Council, Norman was elected because of his capability for the position. Bo Amadori presided over the meeting.

Five Nominated By College Men Contend for May Queen

Five girls have been nominated by the men of Youngstown College as candidates for May Queen. The queen will be chosen by special judges next week and the other four girls will act as her attendants. The queen's court will be made up of two representatives of each social sorority and the same number of independents.

Candidates for the honor are: Peggy Sedwitz, Edie McCormick, Virginia Rostan, Evelyn Radler, and Rose Costa. Peggy is a member of Gamma Sigma Sorority and a physical education major; Edie is president of Phi Lambda Delta Sorority and is editor in chief of the college yearbook; Virginia is secretary of Student Council and a member of Alpha Theta Sorority; Evelyn is president of Alpha Theta Delta sorority and a student in the Elementary Education Department; Rose is a biology major and a member of Omicron Lambda, honorary Biology fraternity.

The queen will be crowned at a night ceremony May 22 by Catherine Jaczko, last year's brunette queen.

Dr. Reid Appointed to Panel For Labor Disputes

Dr. O. L. Reid, professor of English at Youngstown College has been appointed to a three-member panel which will conduct a hearing on bonus disputes between the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and the C. I. O. United Steel Workers of America.

ly shaking his head, I began to feel like a particularly ugly character in Al Capp's cartoon.

Suddenly he boomed—"Smile!" I jumped—the camera clicked. One gone. He leered around the camera again—I leered right back at him. He took another one.

Finally, the last one. The dear man, I think he was something of the artist, practically begged on bended knees that I smile.

I smiled—he grinned—I smirked—he laughed—I "ha-ha-ed" merrily, giving the camera the benefit of the ipana, and—he took the picture again.

Feeling slightly depressed I felt I went back for the proofs, still having a secret hope for that movie-idol glamor. I got them, and the shock of my life.

I look like Patsy Kelly.

Shaw's Satire 'Arms and Man' Will Be Presented June 1st

Plans to present the musical comedy, "May Foot, Straw Foot" have been abandoned because of the difficulty in securing an adequate cast. Plans are being completed to substitute "Arms and the Man," another light comedy by George Bernard Shaw.

The story is based on the escape of a Swiss soldier of fortune after the mythical battle of St. Dimitza. Any seriousness surrounding the escaping soldier, with the whole Bulgarian army on his heels is lost in a bedroom scene with Raina played by Gizella Oros. Bluntschli, played by Bob Walton, the escaping soldier intrigues Raina by his dashing at her box of chocolates, that a soldier can think of his stomach as being more important than his ammunition, completely breaks down her story book notions of a soldier's etiquette.

Surges, Bob Hansen. Raina's dance has become involved with her maid who is financed to Nicholas (Anthony Ponzio) a double affair of affections and affection makes Shaws pleasant play, a sure fire vehicle for his volat saterical humor.

"Arms and the Man" is a three act play under the able direction of Professor Bunn and will be presented June 1 and 2.

Business Manager Applicants

Applications for the position of business manager of the Jambar are now being accepted by Student Council. A new ruling made at last week's meeting of Student Council deems it necessary for aspirants for the position to turn in a formal written application and be voted on by members of Council. In past years the editor has used his own discretion in the selection of business managers and Council feels that the position is much too important to be selected in this manner.

We feel that the responsibility of finding a competent business manager should not fall on the editor's shoulders, and as long as Student Council is in charge of Student publications the burden should be theirs.

We Could Do Something

Two very recent attitudes that have developed here at Youngstown College on the part of Yo-Co students just simply do not jibe. With the advent of the C. P. T. men on this campus, our faces were to be seen glowing with pride and just pride that the government had deemed the institution qualified to instruct army and navy men.

A little later on, when the Link Trainers descended upon us and decided that they could operate very nicely with the facilities we could furnish them here.

But we wonder if if "beaming and glowing faces" is as much enthusiasm and interest as we can muster up for these men who are away from homes, and as much a part of our army and navy as the combat units on the front. The fact that we were so delighted to receive these men into our school would justify a decent effort on our part to make them enjoy as much as possible their stay here by drawing them into our activities.

The school year is almost over, and yet we cannot help but feel that a special dance for them, or invitations to our monthly affairs would be greatly appreciated.

May we suggest that one or more of the entertaining organizations on the campus sacrifice their own social affairs to have a joint one with the service men? Let it not be said that these men left Youngstown College with no pleasant memories. We could do something about it.

EDUCATION FOR PEACE

A very unusual occurrence was the occasion of a lecture given by Professor Max Wolff to a mixed group of Gamma Sigs and Sig Delt's evening before last. Unusual in that it indicates a turning in the tide of interest of the Sig Delt's and, too, the lecture itself exemplified the pioneering efforts of a small minority to promote a lasting peace in this turbulent world.

Professor Wolff's "Education for Peace" pointed out the necessities of individuals to take it upon themselves to begin looking for this peace now and dispossess that feeling that they "can't do anything about it." The first step, he said, was to solve our own problems of life. Once we solve our own problems the seed of adequate living cannot help but spread over the world.

As Wolff spoke of the world we visualized it as an animal that only could be healthy if its component parts were free of disease. It is our duty to relieve the suffering of the rest of the world.

of the world (of course this should be mutual with any that can afford aid that we lack) not only in the light of being good samaritans but because these defects will eventually effect us.

Looking Around

★ ★ ★ With Norma Malin ★ ★ ★

Ye Scribe went a-voyaging this week-end. And hoping you are interested will give you a behind the scenes account of a college newspaper convention. Have you traveled much lately Dear Reader? If you are a perennial stay-at-home thank your lucky stars. My mind is still a whirlwind of bus and train schedules—trains that take you where you don't want to go, trains that are late, trains you miss altogether, cabs that somebody else hails before you do, buses with a seating capacity of 20 and a standing capacity of heaven only knows how many. Torrential downpours whilst you are trying to look like a seasoned traveler in a HAT. And millions and millions of sailors and soldiers and their wives and sweethearts and crying babies everywhere you were trying to go.

We were thoroughly steeped in college tradition—for 3 days we lived the typical college life per se. Complete with moccasins, sloppy sweaters, and dirty saddle shoes. Tennis rackets, jitterbugs, and frat serenades. Yocites seem very worldly wise, sophisticated, and thoroughly citified by comparison. The average student at Bowling Green University appears about three years younger than his prototype at Youngstown.

Lots of activities—Play day—tennis tournaments and track meets. Tours of the campus—Sadie Hawkins Dance—gone in for in a big way and loads of fun. All the little Daisy Maes and Lil Abners dressed in overalls and ragged shorts completely equipped with safety pins, patches, artificial freckles and cow licks. The girls called for their dates in horse drawn wooden vehicles and bestowed upon them ingenious corsages ranging from calla lilies to luscious bunches of green onions and all day suckers. Each sorority goes en masse to church on Sunday morning all decked out in their glad rags.

In between times were filled with conferences, banquets, the inevitable after dinner speeches, round tables and bull sessions at the sorority house in the yawning hours.

The school is a very hospitable place, the students are both beautiful and charming, the campus is lively --- in short Bowling Green is tops. But believe us when we say it was good to get back to Yoco to familiar faces and class rooms and the lounge --- it could be that we are slightly prejudiced, couldn't it?

Most shocking change noticed on our home coming, the Sig Delt butch hair cuts. After recovering from the first shock we ventured to ask "Why?" Eddie Cavanaugh calmly replied with a shrug Publicity, good or bad, is nevertheless publicity. So---we aim to be the ugliest men on campus --- the way it looks now they will be the only men on campus very soon.

We hear so much these days about keeping up the morale of the men in the service, that to have it directed to the "firesides" again will be a little on the trite side. Phi Gamma Goes To War

The Phi Gamma Fraternity held a brief business meeting at the college Wednesday, April 21. Those present were Tom Barrett, Mike Kirwan, Dick Kindler, Bill Camp, Harry Engster, Lee Laret, and Sharpe Stanfield.

It was unanimously decided that the fraternity should go inactive until after the war. The treasury was to be deposited, as a joint account, in the bank and an amendment was passed whereby the boys returning after the war to use the treasury to place the Fraternity on an active basis.

The business meeting was followed by a bowling party as a farewell gesture to Dick Kindler and Bill Camp who were leaving for the Army the following Saturday.

Although the Fraternity has become inactive socially and scholastically, it certainly went all out for defense. The seventeen boys who made up the Fraternity in 1942 and '43 are all in the military service either actively or inactively.

The following list proves that Phi Gamma has answered the call to colors:

- Tom Barrett, Army Air Corp Reserve.
- Mike Kirwan, Army Reserve.
- Sharpe Stanfield, Navy Reserve Class V-1.
- Lee Laret, Navy Reserve Class V-1.
- Harry Engster, Navy Reserve Class V-7.
- Charles Dravis, Army.
- Jerry Kahn, Army.
- Fred Siersdorfer, Army.

Lisko Lauded By Rotarians

Andrew Lisko, Jr., 18 years old, who'll be in the army next month, stole the show at the Youngstown College Day program of the Rotary Club Wednesday at the Pick-Ohio.

Lisko is a violinist, a pupil of Alvin Myerovich, director of the college orchestra. He has been studying for six years.

From the second he hit the strings for "Zigeunerweisen" by Sarasate, Lisko had his audience with him. When he concluded the number the Rotarians did everything but stand up and cheer to let them know how much they liked his music.

Slightly embarrassed at the ovation, Lisko backed away, returned again and got more applause.

The orchestra presented several numbers under the direction of Myerovich. Miss Olga Musyichuk and Vernon Hamilton sang a Victor Herbert number. Arnold Hoffman, head of the Dana School of Music, introduced the numbers.

Belly Landing Without Sirens

Without the traditional accompaniment of ambulances and fire truck sirens, William H. Buckmer, flying instructor at the Youngstown Municipal Airport, set a little airplane down in a belly landing at the airport when its landing wheels refused to lock at about 4:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Buckmer, instructor of blind flying for the Wolverine Aviation Co., was flying a Culver Cadet, a tiny high-speed, low-wing monoplane with retractable landing gear. On his first attempt to land, the gear refused to lock, so he opened the throttle and made a second circuit of the field. Again it refused to lock. On the third trial he landed the plane on its belly with only minor damage.

81 Cadets Take Course In Instrument Flying

T. G. Daines of the Wolverine Aviation Co., who is in charge of the war training program at the college, explained the details of turning out pilots as a mass production job. Eighty-one boys are now in training at the college. Forty-two are expected to graduate every month, the first group May 15, with an instrument rating, meaning they can fly by instruments.

Some of these graduates will go into the army and navy as instructors, others into civilian duty, some into air line jobs or wherever they are qualified.

New Drawing Class At College

A new class in machine drawing under the government-sponsored engineering, science, management war training program, will begin at Youngstown College, with classes meeting Tuesday and Thursday from 7 to 10 p. m., Dr. E. D. Scudder, director of the war training program, announced.

The course is to prepare men and women for elementary drawing work in local industries and to train machine operators and others in the use of drawings and blue prints. Tuition is paid by the government, only. Dr. Scudder will accept five or six more qualified students for the class if they will make application immediately.

Dr. Wolff Leads Student Round Table

Dr. Max Wolff, member of the social science faculty at Youngstown College, led a student round table forum at Beuchner Hall Tuesday, May 4. The forum was sponsored by members of Sigma Delta Beta fraternity and Gamma Sigma Sorority. This was the first meeting of its kind to be sponsored by the social organizations of the college this school year.

Members of both organizations heard Dr. Wolff talk on "Education is Necessary for Peace." The round table discussion was led by Dorothy Otterman and Edward Cavanaugh and Dr. Wolff answered questions by the group.

A discussion of the present political problems of the United States and the part we will play at the peace table dominated the greater portion of the roundtable.

The Kappa Sigs came through to win their second game in as many starts last week as they defeated the Gridders 8-7 at Harrison Field. The game was a thriller from start to finish. The Gridders were on the short end until the 7th inning when they rallied and brought the score to 3-7. In the last inning the Gridders had two out and the tying run on third base when Henry (Casey) Richetto came to bat. And what did Henry do but strike out, just like Casey. George Brooks did some fine hurling for the Kappa Sigs and won his own game with a home run in the sixth inning with one a-grood.

We would like to hear from other groups who have ball teams. Let us know your schedules so that everyone may enjoy the games.
