Youngstown Voters Vote on $9,000,000 Bond Issue Nov. 7

By David L. Quarterston

Youngstown's proposed $9,000,000 Highway Improvement Program will come before voters at the general election Nov. 7.

The Bond Issue, is being promoted by a citizens group composed of representatives in labor and industry. The group, the Youngstown Citizens Committee for the Highway Improvement Bond Issue, cites eight reasons for passage of the issue: Modernization of the city highway system; Attraction of new industries; Elimination of traffic congestion; Easy and safe access to all sections of the city; Relief of congestion to the downtown through construction of a loop; Opening of new industrial sites; Increased property values and prevention of further deterioration by elimination of slum area; and an end to highway needs in the foreseeable future.

Seven Projects Scheduled

Seven projects constitute the highway program. The Madison Expressway, which will also be the northern boundary of the University's urban renewal project, will serve the University and downtown areas. Reconstruction of Division Street and the Division Street Bridge will enable this to serve as one of the city's links to the Keystone Shortway and Ohio Turnpike. Midlothian Boulevard will be widened to handle increasing traffic.

A bulletin of information (in which an application is inserted) describing registration procedures may be obtained from college officials, school superintendents, or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J. Completed applications, accompanied by proper examination fees, will be accepted by the ETS office during November and December, and early in January.

All full time senior students with a 2.0 or higher average were eligible for office after securing 50 signatures of full-time seniors on a petition.

To Plan Functions

Dean John Gillespie, senior class advisor, is planning two meetings with the newly-elected officers. The first meeting will be to assign duties and plan senior sponsored activities.

This year, as in preceding years, the graduating class will donate a sum of money to the University as a parting gift. At the second meeting, the officers will vote on the amount of money and how the university will spend it. In the past years, most of the money was donated to the library and the remainder for construction of bulletin boards.

THE STUDENT'S SIDE

The front page of today's Jambar carries a story on the 1961 Highway Improvement Bond Issue. The natural question in the student's mind is, "What has this to do with me?"

Passage of this issue will affect Youngstown University and its students in three ways. Evident is the role it will play in decreasing traffic and congestion in the campus area, one of the bigger problems facing us now.

Secondly, if the issue is not passed, urban renewal funds will have to be used to construct the downtown loop. This will cut approximately $2,500,000 from urban renewal funds. With the passage of the bond issue this amount can be distributed among renewal projects, among them the new Youngstown University.

The third effect is long range. Improved transportation systems in the city will inevitably attract new industry. Since YU is supported to a large degree by voluntary donations from local industry, these donations are likely to increase.

The organization backing this bond issue, the Youngstown Citizens' for the Highway Improvement Bond Issue, is also an example to students of democracy in action. Made up of persons in commerce, industry, and labor, these citizens are co-operating together to achieve a common goal in the conviction that the Highway Improvement Bond Issue can only help Youngstown.

SELF-APPOINTED CENSOR

Let me tell you an interesting thing which happened Tuesday afternoon as senior class elections were coming to a close.

This reporter walked into Strouss Auditorium to get some figures concerning the total vote for senior officers. I managed to find that 237 seniors voted for their officers. Now comes the interesting part. I asked two or three people helping conduct the elections if they knew how many seniors were eligible to vote.

No one seemed to know the answer, however, someone did offer me the list of senior students and said jokingly "Here it is. Why don't you count it." I thought that it might be the only way I would get the figure I needed, so I started counting.

Someone - - I don't know or care to know his name - - rushed up and grabbed the list from me, saying "You can't have that. That's none of your business."

What I want to know is Why isn't it my business? Don't you, as students of this university, have a right to know the full story of an election. I happen to consider the number of eligible voters a vital part of the story.

What was the person afraid I'd find out? That's a question can't answer just yet. Let me suggest to that person and to anyone else who chooses to set himself up as a self-defined censor of campus news - - You haven't heard the end of this yet!

FEDERAL AID TO EDUCATION

By The Chamber of Commerce of the United States

The schools in the District of Columbia depend on the federal government. The federal government aids them. The federal government controls them.

Just what dependence on the federal government can mean to a community's education program was shown, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, by an article in a Washington, D.C., newspaper* the day after Congress adjourned.

The headline read: SCHOOLS HURT BY INACTION ON D. C. MONEY BILL.

The article said: "District school children will bear the brunt of problems arising from Congress' failure to vote a 1962 revenue program for the city. The result will be either more double sessions or a higher pupil-teacher ratio."

The city's school superintendent was quoted: "The children will pay the cost of this action."

Construction of two grade schools, a 17-room addition to a grade school, and a junior high school would be deferred, the article said.

For the residents of the District of Columbia, federal money goes hand-in-hand with federal control. Their school program is tangled in the politics of Congress. Their "children will pay."

Want federal aid for your schools?

Likens Russian Conclave To American Convention

The 22nd Party Congress has already begun to leave side-effects all over the world. The meeting, which could be likened to our national conventions (in that it is a meeting of many delegates and establishes future policy) is a great method of Russia propaganda.

It invites tradition, as it has been 44 years since the October revolution. It invites flag waving, speech making and the great oratory, condemnations and salutations, blasting one issue and praising another, which marks all Communist Holidays.

The big "K" has pretty much to boast about. We've been made fools of in Cuba. He has the international scene pretty mixed up, being able to have trouble boiling in more places than ever before. Only his domestic side looks bad and the Russians have been laughing that off for years. There's nothing to indicate that they won't continue to do so.

Let's suppose we had a big meeting under the Communist system, and our leader used the many half-truths and outright lies that the Communist bosses use. Let's call it the Anniversary of the July 1776 Revolution.

What could we boast about? Although Berlin has wiped Laos from the headlines, there is daily fighting in Laos. Uneasiness and mistrust reign throughout Southeast Asia.

There is talk and published articles saying that initiative which we are supposed to regain has slipped from our grasp in that we have allowed the East Germans to put up their wall and we should have stopped it-by force.

In the U.N. we seem to have Russia's plan of "Troika" stymied but a new successor to Hammarskjold is far from being chosen. A recent article in "Time" accuses African nations of double standard. The African delegates called for ejection of the country of South Africa after a particularly stinging speech by South Africa's Foreign Minister Eric Louw. Yet a censure of the offensive tirades of the Russians is not forthcoming by the Africans.

Proud As a Commie

Through Cuban influence, Communism is running rampant through the Latin American countries, tying up American aid to them and rousing feeling against U.S. aid.

No, our leader at such a conference such as the Russians hold would not fair well. He would probably be quietly removed in the manner of Russian disapproval and sent to be Commissioner of Power and Light in Alaska.

But the very thing which hurts America is it's greatness. It's attitude toward other countries, allowing them to grow on their own, giving aid to fight poverty and speed national maturity. Our leader would not need a revolution or a purge. An election would move out a man whose policies seem to hurt the country. Our elections are, in fact, peaceful revolutions.

Initiative may well be lost from our grasp for a long time. It is not our method to attack but to defend. Of late our defense has been lacking but with a determined statement of will to stop future aggression. If a show of strength is necessary, it will have to be applied even in physical combat.

No, a leader in such a position as Khrushchev wouldn't fare well. Maybe he will at next years convention.

APATHY APATHY APATHY

To be a campus leader at Youngstown University is a thankless and unrewarding experience. Students spend time and effort at the expense of school work, social life, and leisure time for what, a line next to his picture in the Neon and something to tell an interviewer at job application time?

But in the meantime he develops ulcers, a bad case of nerves, and poor grades.

What is the chief gripe of these students. It's you. The person who reads or hears what's happening on campus but never lifts a finger to help. You sit back and enjoy the benefits; go to the games and laugh at the cheerleaders who knock themselves out trying to promote school spirit; go to the dances but never offer to help the chairmen in any way; talk about school elections, never get off your behind to vote, and complain about the results.

We're sick of you. You don't add a thing to the school but continually complain because spirit at YU is dead. It's dead alright, it stinks. And we doubt if it will ever get any better.

Apathy. Apathy. Apathy. Apathy. Apathy. Apathy.

Letters to the Editor

(Ed. note: This letter was scheduled to appear October 20, but since The Jambar did not publish last week, was held over for this issue.)

Dear Fellow Students:

The festivities of Homecoming are over but in my memory I will always treasure the exciting events of that happy occasion. The honors that you the students of Youngstown University so generously bestowed upon me have made those few days the most thrilling of my life.

I indeed this privilege to be selected as queen has meant even more to me since I am only a sophomore, but during the rest of my college days, I will always try to live up to the high expectations that you seek in me as your queen of Homecoming.

Not only during the ceremonies of Homecoming did I realize the tremendous cooperative spirit among the students of our university but also throughout the days of elections and campaign.

I am truly grateful to be a part of this spirit and to humbly represent it. I only hope that you are as proud of me as your queen as I am proud to represent you.

May God grant you as much happiness throughout your life as I have experienced these wonderful Homecoming Days.

Gratefully,

Joanni Pletnik

Main Point Missee

TO: EDITOR of the JAMBAR

FROM: EDITOR of the HORIZON

This past week I have been accosted by a number of students and accused of snobbery and tyranny of sorts. This unwelcome attention was due to a front page "report" in the Jambar. The headline read: "Horizon' Editor says Material Just Mediocre." The article appeared Friday, Oct. 13, after I presented a proposal before the Student Council. The proposal was to publish faculty members and alumni in the Horizon. The Jambar article opened with this misquote: "Mediocrity will not reign supreme in the Horizon." The article centered on my statement that the majority of the material received (not published) by the Horizon is mediocre. It paraphrased my remark that the Horizon is not published for the entertainment of the student body as a whole, but primarily to provide an outlet for creative writers. The article also stated, "Student Council representatives mentioned that since the whole student body pays for the 'Horizon' through Council's appropriation, the entire student body should benefit." It concluded with, "Council decided to refer Shelly's (sic) request to the Publications Committee for a final decision."

The Horizon obviously never has been aimed at entertaining the student body as a whole. Its circulation has never been larger than 800, even though everyone is certainly welcome to purchase it. It enables writers to publish their writings and that is its primary purpose. The people who buy the Horizon realize they can obtain, at the same price, better writings. These few hundred do not constitute a majority of the students enrolled. They are a definite minority who buy the Horizon to experience the local writers and to support creative writing at the University. The Council pays for approximately one-half the cost of printing the magazine. The rest is realized on sales of the magazine and donations.

adopted. This recommendation was passed by an overwhelming majority, 15-3-2 to be precise. The Jambar is apparently asking its readers to believe that the Student Council supported my proposal on the basis that the Horizon is mediocre and that I wish to publish alumni and faculty so that myself and a band of authors and intellectuals can enjoy a better magazine while continuing, of course, to somehow exclude the masses.

I did not go before the Student Council to tell them that the Horizon is mediocre. I offered to expand the magazine to print faculty and alumni. This indicates that approximately the same amount of publishable material from the students will be published. I also stated that the number of good submissions per semester were slowly increasing. But there is a large amount of mediocre material that comes in. The publishing of faculty and alumni should stimulate the student writer to tighten his writing, to strive for more vitality and greater vision. I want the author of today's mediocre manuscript to become better with each article, story, or poem. All too often he does not. I want a section of the magazine to serve as a guide and a goal for the young writer.

Faculty and Alumni a Stimulus

The Horizon is not a mediocre magazine. It is a literary magazine of substantial merit. But it is not developing as fast as many of us know it can. We see examples of the stimulus that faculty and alumni, by their interest and participation, can provide. The example of progressive universities such as Western Reserve has encouraged me to press this point of alumni and faculty publication.

"Let Us Begin"

The three university groups are normally and understandably socially separate, but that is no reason to erect barriers that interfere with mutual participation in projects that are cultural and educational in nature. Let us break down these walls that block off faculty members from students and alumnus from both. These rooted walls will not fall easily. But basically it's rather brittle stuff and despite careful construction and continuous maintenance — it crumbles.

The Horizon is only a single horn, and by itself, won't blow down any walls. But we feel that the publishing of alumni and faculty in the Horizon will be a good beginning. So, to borrow a phrase from President Kennedy, "Let us begin."

Don Shelley
Editor of the Horizon

Vote on $9,000,000 Bond Issue Nov. 7

from Albert Street to the city limits will open the east side to development. South Avenue, which now varies between two and four lanes, will be widened to four lanes for its entire length. West Federal Street is to be transformed from a narrow, winding street into a modern highway.

The seventh project is the Downtown Loop.

Will Help Urban Renewal

Present estimates indicate the cost of the first downtown project, the loop, will be about $10,050,000, of which the city will have to pay $3,350,000. If this share is paid entirely from the $6,500,000 urban renewal bond issue passed in 1961, only $3,150,000 will be left in the fund to cover the cost of other urban renewal projects in the city. If, on the other hand, the city builds the downtown loop from highway improvement funds, the cost to the renewal fund would be reduced to approximately $700,000. This would leave $5,800,000, two and a half million dollars more, to be spent for city wide urban renewal projects including the expansion of Youngstown University.

The cost of the all-over project is estimated at $32,000,000. $9,000,000 of this is paid by the city through the sale of bonds to be retired over a period of up to 25 years. This will cost residents about $1.09 per year on each $1,000 of assessed valuation of property.

Debt Under Ceiling

This will raise city debt to $23,000,000, approximately $11,000,000 under the maximum debt of approximately $34,000,000 permitted by state law.

Under current procedures used for building federal-aid highways, the State Department of Highways is responsible for acquiring land and letting contracts for highway construction. The state works in close co-ordination with the city and is under the general control of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads. Construction will be started as soon as possible. However, since other governmental agencies than the city are involved in these projects, they will have some say in the scheduling of each project.

lately?

You:
Why the gold bars?

Future You:
You're needed... just as your father and grandfather were. It's an obligation that a lot of qualified college men have to meet. If we don't...

You:
All right. But what can I do for the Air Force?

Future You:
The Air Force needs college trained men and women as officers. This is caused by the rapidly advancing technology that goes with hypersonic air and space flight. Your four years of college have equipped you to handle complex jobs.

You:
Say I was interested... how can I get to be an officer?

Future You:
You know about Air Force ROTC and the Air Force Academy. Then there's the navigator training program. You've probably heard about Officer Training School... where the Air Force takes certain college graduates, both men and women, and commissions them after three months of training.

You:
Starting salary is important. What about that?

Future You:
Add it up. Base pay, tax-free allowances, free medical and dental care, retirement provision, perhaps flight pay. You don't have to be an eco major to see it adds up to an attractive package.

You:
I've been thinking about getting my Master's.

Future You:
As an officer you can apply for the Air Force Institute of Technology. At no cost, and while on active duty some officers may even win their Ph.D. degrees.

You:
Tell me more.

Future You:
That's the job of your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write to Officer Career Information, Dept. SC110, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.

'Pete' Goes Down; Picks Five Losers

By Pigskin Pete

The time has finally come for all you people to snicker and say "I told you he couldn't pick 'em."

The last time this column ran was two weeks ago with the games for Oct. 14, and boy did I take the gas pipe. With only five correct games out of ten, my average skidded from .767 to .700 on the strength of 28 wins out of 40 attempts.

Even my "sleeper" failed to come through for me last time as Macalester beat St. John's (Minn.), 15-14. Actually I should have known since that was the same score as their game last season.

Pitt, Penn State, Yale, and Kent State saw fit to lose after I had picked them to win. Oh well, I have one consolation. The Y.U. Penguins came through with a win over Southern Connecticut.

From the frying pan to the fire. Let's get on with it!

Games for the week of Oct. 28

Valparaiso over Ball State Teachers College -- Start out with the sleeper right away. (Looks like a sure thing --?)

Baylor over Texas A&M -- The Bears atone for last week's defeat at the hands of Texas Tech.

Kansas over Oklahoma State -- The Jayhawkers continue to be rough on their opponents.

Georgia over Kentucky -- The Georgia Bulldogs should cop this rugged Southern tilt.

Mississippi over Vanderbilt -- Ole Miss is fighting to regain that top spot in the nationwide polls.

Notre Dame over Northwestern -- The Irish might suffer a letdown after their fine effort against Michigan State, but should come out on the right side here.

Syracuse over Holy Cross -- A rebound job for Syracuse who looked very bad against Penn State last week.

U.C.L.A. over Stanford -- The high-flying Bruins are on their way up again.

Wichita over Tulsa -- This should be one of the most bone crunching battles of the day, with the edge to Wichita.

Youngstown over Hillsdale -- The Penguins must plug up a very leaky pass defense to thwart the air minded Dales. However, it's possible you know.

Penguin Frosh Get Clipped by Kent, 6-0

Kent State University's freshman team drove 60 yards in five plays in the final period of play to beat the Freshmen Penguins 6-0, Thursday.

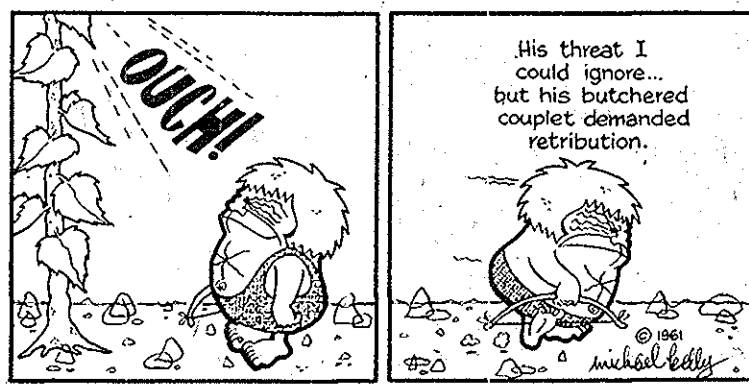

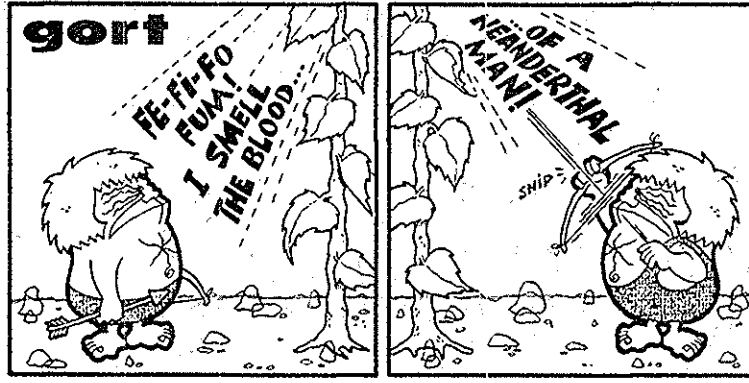

Numerous penalties did most of the damage to the visiting Penguin eleven. The bright spot in the loss was the fine play of Harold Carden and Myron Robinson, who on several occasions smeared the fleet Kent runners.

Horvath Wins Poll

Frank Horvath, who gained 185 yards and tallied two touchdowns in the Penguin's victory over Southern Connecticut, has been selected as the "Penguin of the Week" by newsmen and opposing scouts covering the game.

The announcement came from John Baglier, president of the Y.U. Boosters. Each week a poll will be conducted to decide the outstanding University football player.

Horvath was presented a gift certificate from Lord Chesterfield's Tailor Shop for his selection.

Penguins Split Last Two Games as Season Rolls On

By Mike Drapkin

Midway through their rough schedule with a three won, two lost record, the Youngstown University gridders travel to Hillsdale, Mich., to meet the powerful Dales at 8 pm tomorrow.

The Dales, also sporting a 3-2 record after last week's 16-7 loss to Baldwin-Wallace, compiled an 8-1 regular season record last year and went on to defeat Iowa State College, 17-6, in the Mineral Water Bowl.

Last season, Hillsdale was the No. 1 ranking small college team in the nation.

Offensively, the Dales received a blow when halfback Tom Ridley, their leading ground gainer who was ranked eighth in the country in rushing, fractured his leg in their game with Northern Michigan three weeks ago.

Despite that, the Dales show a strong ground game with regular fullback Dick McDonald toting the ball and co-captains Bruce Anderson, at center, and Gene McFadden at guard leading the way.

Last week at B-W, the Dales tried to run against the massive Yellow Jacket line and were stopped for three periods. In the fourth quarter they opened up with their passing game and had B-W on the ropes but time ran out.

The Penguins will have to contend with a strong passing game combined with powerful runners tomorrow night.

Youngstown has split their last two games, defeating Southern Connecticut at Rayen Stadium, 28-8, and losing to Albright College 20-6 at Reading, Pa., last week.

Albright now has the longest win streak in the country, 17 games.

In the Southern Connecticut game, Frank Horvath was the Penguin offensive star, racking up 185 yards in 21 carries. He scampered 76 yards for a touchdown the first time he got his hands on the ball.

Y.U.'s inept pass defense cost heavily against Albright as quarterback Gary Chapman threw 20 yard scoring strikes to Gary Sheeler and Steve Simon. Albright also scored on a one-yard plunge by Dave Rees.

The lone Y.U. score came on a beautiful 30-yard scoring pitch from quarterback Ben Bruno to end Fred Cuatro in the second period.

Horvath, held to 65 yards in 12 carries during the rainy afternoon, repeatedly kept Albright in their own territory with booming punts. He averaged 42.6 yards for his six kicks, with the longest a 73 yarder rolling dead on the Albright 11 yard line.

The Penguins will return to action at Rayen Stadium Nov. 4, meeting the Sioux of North Dakota University in a night game.

Now We Get a Crosswalk

By Pat McCarren, Bob Ruby & Juanita Carnivale

"Boo on you!" "Mud in your eye!" These sounds echoed across the mud flats under Mahoning Avenue Bridge last Friday nite as Tom Driscoll and Co. watched their car sink slowly into the west. For the rest of the gruesome details see Tommy. The moral don't take short cuts through Mill Creek Park with only $3.54.

We see by the old clock on the wall that some pranksters (the city would never think to do anything like this) have painted a crosswalk across Wick Avenue at Spring Street. This is obviously for the welfare of the ladies at the Secretarial School.

Kollege??? Kampus Komments

For years and years now, the men of the ROTC (and also the JAMBAR staff) have braved the wild Ohio drivers, on Wick Avenue. Then the S.S. moved to Ford Hall, and ... ZOWIE!!! The crosswalk appears. Now this doesn't mean anything to the drivers, but if you're killed in the crosswalk, your survivors can sue. Some consolation.

Hi! I am what Pat and Bob call "Friend". I don't have many, some people call me the Friendless wonder. I am not only watching everyone on campus but I am watching my friend Pat (Newt) and the jokes he tells. (Ha Ha)

Since I have broken into the ranks of the Bachelors Club of America (and I love it) Bob and Pat are still in a state of shock. I made a solemn promise to "hear all evil, see all evil, and report all evil."

My first gem is directed to Joe Zitnik, who reportedly said that he'd

I do love music, especially some of the long haired, classical love songs that are currently popular. My favorite is: "Who Wrote the Song?"

"Who made my baby, fall in love with me? Who put the bomb in the bomb ba bomb. Who put the ram in the ram-a-lam-a-ding-dong.

This is my idea of a romantic song, thanks to Barry Mann & Gerry Goffin.

Speaking of songs, (special to the girls at the Y), how's this for a song title? "Not Like A Sister." (Or not like a brother?)

Eavesdropping

"Who moved the Greek Boxes?" "I'm sure they were here Friday," So went the confused Greeks some weeks ago as they searched in vain for the mailboxes which are always overflowing with words of wisdom. So for those who haven't found them yet, they've been moved over to the side door of Main facing Wick Avenue.

Witnessed on Campus

Two boppers racing across campus on their motor cycles one evening. We sincerely hope that any strangers to the Steel City didn't see these two and think that they were typical Y.U. students.

Laugh of the Week

A seriously dedicated Mr. Ruby trying to talk friends Juanita and Pat out of the Snack Bar and Cafeteria --- to work???

Overheard in the Snack Bar

An unwary lad saying "Boy what a neat trap! She said her strap broke and I lent her my Frat Pin."

Believe it . . .

It happened. A dearly demented housewife called the University and inquired about a Marketing 224 course. It seems the dear soul needed something of an education in how to buy her weekly groceries . . . Lots of Luck Lady!!!

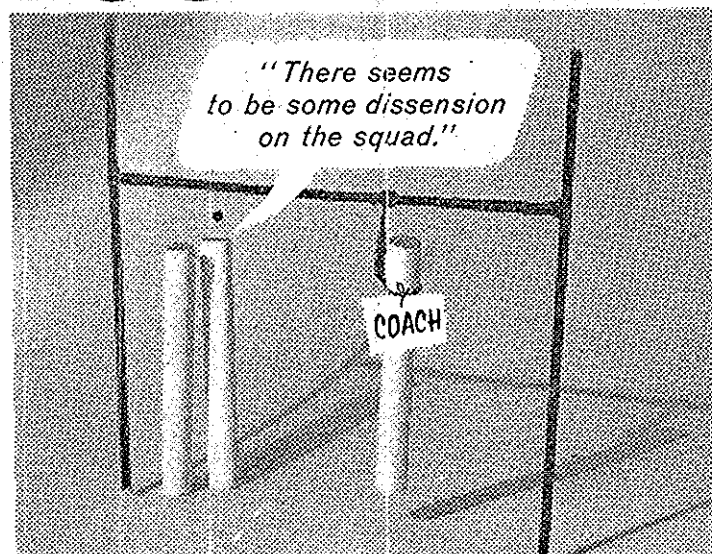

According to the many comments heard on campus, I.F.C. football could well be re-named I.F.C. FOOL-BALL. Many of our young Fraternity men go at this so called game of "tag" Football with a vengeance that could produce many 4.00 (that's grade-point, little one, not money,) students on this campus if this zeal were displayed in the class room and with the books at study time. Strangely enough the American College Dictionary lists "fool" as meaning "to play or meddle foolishly." Need we say more?

For some of you more interested local Government fans. If you ever have the chance and want to exchange a few laughs with an extremely interesting party, talk to Clingan Jackson, political editor of The Vindicator. He is beyond a doubt a very learned and humorous speaker.

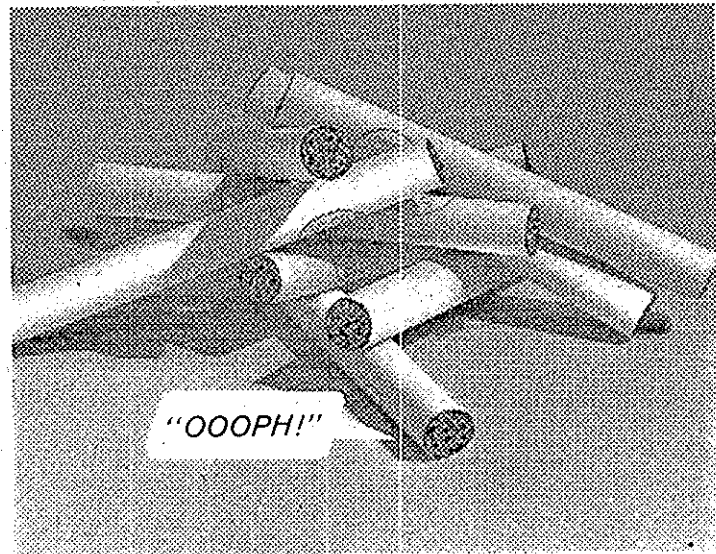

Following is a "gratis" classified ad: Expert window trimmers available for Christmas-type window and interior displays. Contact Annette Cioffi, President of Cioffi & McCarren, Ltd., Extra Fantabulous Displays.

LUCKY STRIKE presents: LUCKY LUFFERS "THE FOOTBALL TEAM"

"There seems to be some dissension on the squad."

"OOOPH!"

"Do you think the coach would get mad if we punted on first down?"

"So that's why they call him Crazy Legs!"

WHY ONLY 11 MEN ON A FOOTBALL TEAM? Because all the other students are just too busy. Yes, busy doing research, studying, smoking Luckies, playing bongos, smoking Luckies, dating, partying, praising professors and smoking Luckies—much too busy for football. Why so many "smoking Luckies"? Simply this: We try to give an honest representation of college life; and college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular cigarette —so smoke Luckies.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!
