Schaff Sends City Complaint on YoCo Student Parking

Thinks Vets Should Ride City Busses to College

A complaint against Youngstown College students parking cars all day on Wick Ave. and side streets in the college vicinity was received by Youngstown City Council Monday from Philip H. Schaff of 631 Wick Ave.

Schaff, in a letter originally directed to the planning commission but referred to Anthony B. Flask of the chairman's committee of City Council, said, in part:

"While I am thoroughly in favor of the government's program to aid these ex-servicemen with their education, nevertheless it is interesting at least that these young people who are being educated at the expense of the taxpayers should have automobiles so completely at their disposal, and it would seem they might be persuaded to ride the busses."

KENT STATE BOOSTERS PRESENT PLAQUE

Al Weekly, representing the Kent State Boosters, is shown presenting a bronze plaque to Jack Thompson, YoCo Student Council president. In background is Joan McDermott of Kent State University.

During intermission at the Freshman Reception, delegates of the Kent State Boosters Club presented Youngstown College with a bronze plaque. The plaque will be attached to the canoe paddle trophy of Kent State - YoCo football games. It measures 1x1½ inches and is engraved with the year 1947 and score, Youngstown 13, Kent State 0.

Representing the Kent State Boosters were Joan McDermott, Al Weekly, Hal Stoneman, and Betty Sharpe. Jack Thompson, YoCo Student Council president, received the plaque for Youngstown College.

The canoe paddle, a historical trophy, is marked with Indian inscriptions designating that the aged piece of wood is a receipt for the Youngstown territory. The paddle is said to have been given to the Indians by Colonel James Hillman, one of the founders of Youngstown. The paddle was lost during the course of events and was found during excavation for one of the Kent State University buildings. Kent Staters offered it as prize of the KSU - YoCo game last Nov. 21.

The coveted trophy now resides in President Jones' office. The Youngstown College Penguins intend to see that it stays there.

STUDENT BUDGET PLAN OUTLINED; COMMITTEE SETTING UP SURPLUS

Since the publication of the $7,600 semester budget in the last issue of the JAMBAR there has been much comment on the methods used to arrive at that figure. To clarify things, the JAMBAR requested Warren Pritchard, chairman of the student finance committee, to outline the procedure of receiving and allotting student funds. This is a summary of his report:

Only full-time day students are required to purchase activity books at $5 each. At the present enrollment, the amount collected is about $9,600.

After the activity books have been sold, President Jones determines their number and gives the finance committee the estimate of funds available from current semester receipts. All money collected is transferred to the student activity fund, including any funds received above the original estimate.

For the past few semesters a plan has been undertaken to establish a definite figure for the finance committee to work with. The plan calls for the laying aside of a portion of each semester's receipts until a surplus is established that will be large enough to carry one semester's budget. When this surplus is created, the committee will budget the current semester on the prior semester's receipts.

"Budgets, at the best, are only guides," said Pritchard. When Council set up the proposed $7,600 budget, Council was not aware that they would also have to underwrite the spring varsity sports program, which will cost $1,050. Last spring this varsity program cost $1,800. The Neon may run in the red again this year. Last year the Neon deficit was approximately $1,000. Last year's Neon cost the students a total of $3,000.

The student activity fund, at present, has a surplus of $4,000. Mr. Pritchard states, "If this can be raised by conservative budgeting to $8,000, then the plan of spending current receipts in the subsequent semester can be undertaken and will prove, we hope, more successful."

Junior Prom Queen Candidates Will Be Elected March 19

Candidates for Junior Prom Queen will be elected by the junior class men on Friday, March 19, from 9 to 3, and from 6 to 8 in the evening. The queen will be picked from these candidates according to regulations set up by Student Council last semester.

All junior girls carrying 12 semester hours are eligible for the candidacy. To be a member of the junior class, the student must have 61 to 93 credit hours in accordance with the college catalogue.

The election will be conducted by the election committee of Student Council.

Pres. Jones, Dr. Smith Attend NCA Meetings

President Howard W. Jones and Dr. Joseph E. Smith are attending the annual meetings of the North Central Association of Colleges, Universities and Secondary Schools currently being held at the Palmer House, Chicago.

The meetings began Monday and will end today.

Council Sets Time Limit Regulating Sign Posting

Signs advertising dances and other social events can not be posted on the campus more than two weeks before the date of the event. This ruling was recently passed by Student Council at the request of Mike Craver, social chairman.

TALENT SHOW PLANNED TO RAISE FUNDS FOR MAY DAY NAME BAND

Petition in Circulation to Get 500 Required Signatures

by MARY AGNES HATAGAN

In order that a name band may be secured for the annual May Dance, an "Eighteen - Point Plan" has been drawn up. This plan, in the form of a petition requiring 500 student or faculty signatures, proposes an all-student talent show.

Maluso Will Head Junior Prom April 9

John Maluso will serve as chairman of the Junior Prom, to be held April 9.

Maluso was elected chairman by a vote of Student Council. Three applications for the position were received and reviewed.

The Junior Prom is an annual student dance produced under the direction of the junior class. Admission is by activity book.

Martz, Bangus Head Neon Business Staff

Raymond L. Martz and William Bangus were appointed as co-business managers of the 1948 Neon early this week. The appointments were made by Mary Vesey, Neon editor. Martz and Bangus will fill the position left open by the resignation of Leo Casey.

The positions of co-business managers were created because of the large volume of work required.

Student Council Invites Visitors to Meetings

Student Council announced this week that students wishing to attend any of the weekly Council meetings may do so without making a formal request.

Council meets each Friday at 3 o'clock in room 203.

It was formerly necessary to submit a written request to attend a scheduled meeting.

Developed into individual or organization acts, the program would be presented on May 7 or 8. Act auditions will take place between 1 and 6 p. m. Sunday, April 11. Registration for auditions closes April 2. Individual acts must have no more than two persons, and organization acts, no less than three. The audition committee would consist of 20 people, half of which

FRIENDSHIP LETTERS

Drew Pearson, radio commentator and newspaper columnist, has made an appeal to the nation to write "Friendship Letters" to the people of European countries. "Friendship Letters," because they are personal, are a positive method of combating Communist propaganda.

The JAMBAR endorses Mr. Pearson's idea. College students, in general, can express themselves more clearly, and should consider it their special duty to write friends and relatives in Europe and inform them of the American way of life.

The best propaganda in the world is conveyed in a personal letter. If we, and particularly those of foreign extraction, would let the European individuals know of our personal likes about our way of life, we could easily knock the props from all Communist ballyhoo.

Action should not be delayed. The next victims of Russia may be Italy, France, Greece, Finland, Norway, and Sweden. These are the countries we should direct our letters to first.

If you have no one to write to, ask a friend of foreign birth to help you get a "pen pal." If you are currently corresponding with citizens of Europe, and can obtain addresses of people over there that we could pass along to our readers, please post them in the JAMBAR box. We will publish any that we receive.

CONSIDERATION ASKED

Personal convenience seems to be of utmost importance around our halls. If you want to take a short cut through the first floor study room, go right ahead. Slam the doors, too. And stop to chat with friends. Just enjoy yourself.

Or if you happen to be in this same STUDY room, to study, naturally, it's fine to carry on a friendly little conversation with everyone you know. After all, if you have two hours to finish one hour's work, why not? You can spare a little time to add to the general disorder. Never bother to consider the person who actually goes to the study room to use it for its intended purpose.

The conduct of far too many people is typical of a prevalent selfish lack of consideration in many campus activities. The constant undertone in the study room makes any serious concentration impossible. We learned in freshman orientation that we should make conditions as favorable as possible in order not to disturb us in our pursuit of knowledge. Otherwise the environment is not conducive to good results. Yet the babbling and chattering in the first floor reference room is more nerve racking than any blaring radio program.

If you look back you can easily recall times when you have been disturbed. But it is very unlikely that you even wonder whether or not you have been on the disturbing side of the fence. Well, if the shoe fits, wear it, but this time let's have a little polishing job.

The Inquiring Reporter--- Looking Around ...

with DONNELLY and O'DURSO

by R. M. GRAHAM

This week's subject deals with the changed attitude of college students towards their work, their organizations and their school spirit, particularly to YoCo. All the newspapers and magazines have been full of complimentary statements concerning the "New Look" in college students, but has this change all been for the better? Is something being lost in the rush for a higher education that is worthwhile? In order to get some impartial views on the matter I have gone to Chaney High, one of our local schools, from which will come future college students. I interviewed three members of the student body and three members of the faculty, who play such an important part in the molding of their lives.

SUBJECT: THE PRESENT DAY COLLEGE STUDENT.
(Due to a mishap we were not able to print all the pictures taken)

Dr. C.W. RICKSECKER, Principal

The biggest thing in college today is the substitution of interest from limited textbook attention in years gone by to extension now. The extension for most young people is in the line of activities and in keeping with the machine age, use of many texts, but not necessarily the attitude of a bookworm getting the last point. For some college students the attitude of the public of less work and more leisure is apparent. For another group of students subjects are taken now a year or two earlier than a generation ago. The social heritage is so much greater today that the college students have a greater store of information than formerly and therefore the former status of certain pre-war activities may need to be delegated to a minor role. MISS M. RUSSELL, Dean of Girls, Head of Dramatic Department

Students are getting more out of classwork in college than ever before. High school students entering college feel that the competition is so much keener due to the determined work of the former veteran. To the veterans, the social life of college has lost some of its importance which can be attributed to their older age group. There is no longer the great need of introducing these students to the social world as there was in pre-war days when the average age of a student entering college was 18 or 19.

AL PRATT, President of the June Class

I think college students take their education more seriously now than in pre-war days, and are missing out on some activities that colleges have to offer. One reason for this change in the last six or seven years is the many veterans that are getting their education at government expense and swelling the ranks of college graduates, thereby increasing competition for available jobs. The student realizes this and spends more time in studying and less in taking part in social activities.

MISS FRANZESKA THOMAS, Art, English Teacher

I feel that activities are important in college for they offer necessary experiences outside of the regular curriculum. Women's organizations and a few men's organizations in college are still stressing the importance of these activities, both during college and after graduation. Unfortunately, too many people realize the importance of studying but forget that they also gain knowledge from experience in school activities.

RUTH BEVAN, Senior, Validictorian

I believe that the first purpose of college is to train young men and women for a better world. I think, too, that the student in college today has emphasized this point, and to his advantage. However, social life has been and always will be a part of college life and students are missing something if they do not participate in extra-curricular activities.

JOANN FORNEY, Sophomore

I don't think the person who is attending college now is missing very much. I think he is getting more out of it now than ever before. Previous to the war most students went to college just for the sake of being admitted to a fraternity or sorority and having a good time. Now most colleges are filled with serious minded students who have other ideas. They know from experience that we have to have intelligent people to run this world if we are ever to live in peace. I don't blame them for trying to get all the education they can possibly receive. Of course, I admit they may miss a few dances and football games, but perhaps through their diligence, the world may miss a few plagues and wars.

The four-leaf clovers, to be used for identification at the Freshman Reception, turned up as shamrocks (DICK DUNN did some fancy finegling, we thing). Ah, shamrocks—just another reminder of the happy day for the Irish coming up next week. Guess you all know that coming Wednesday we'll be wearing green, as all true Irishwomen do. Therefore, in honor of St. Patrick's Day we're going to talk about our Irish (?) friends (?) ... strickly. Notice to C. J. O'PARTRIDGE—After taking voluminous notes, we have one comment—so what's to do with the notes? ... You can have them, we don't want 'em ... etc.

Orchids to PETE O'ANGELIDES and all the kids who worked with him to make the evening a success ... Understand that MIKE O'CRAVER blew up most of the balloons used in the decorating (knowing O'Craver, it must have been a rather simple job) ... Met Freshman (?) SOUPE O'CAMPBELL ... All the pretty posies for the freshman girls who worked on the Library Fund Drive (we're going to press ours) ... WARREN O'PRITCHARD and JACK O'SANDBURG relaxing after doing a good job for the Library Drive ... It was BETTY O'HOUSER's birthday; wonder which one ... Found out EUGENE O'FAVA is NOT married ... DOLORES O'NOVAK dancing with two balloons (have her tell you about LADDIE O'FEDOR and his yoyo) ... JOHN O'KOCIS meeting all the girls he could (whenever DONNELLY would let him) —how about that now, huh ... MARY O'BLOOM looking very sweet (sorry we couldn't think of anything to say about you, DR. O'BLOOM) ... JACK O'CRAMER had coats for himself and THREE girls when he was leaving—well ... After a slight chase, DICK O'EISMAN decided he'd risk dancing with O'DURSO ... Didn't recognize DICK O'BAKER without his glasses ... How many freshmen did YOU meet ... Hope everybody had as wonderful a time as we did.

POME about FIZICS LAB

Those groans and cussings you may have heard
About a certain brainy bird
Have quieted down and gotten meek —
Since we now have only one experiment a week.

SHORT SHORTS

DON "RED" O'RUSE has opened a new business — he'll fix people up at 50 cents a couple — don't rush him now ... Wonder if we'll ever get the last word when arguing with DR. O'WORLEY ... JOHN O'YOKOSUK wants engraved invitations before he'll go anywhere—must be his West Virginia upbringing ... Speaking of invitations, EDDIE O'LUSZCZ is going to issue cards for ??? — now, let's see, what ARE they about, EDDIE? ... Woman to women, wish SHIRLEY O'CREED would tell us if you can grip the floor better with your toes when dancing without shoes; bet the kids from Pennsylvania could give some advice there, too ... JOHN O'MELNICK has a "Help Wanted" sign out; looking for a wife, he says; he'd make a good housekeeper, himself. When last seen he was doing dishes with MARGE O'ANGELILLO and MARGE O'TAKACS ... Another one of our worthy (?) causes ... SAL O'COSENTINO needs some lace handkerchiefs since the ones he has are filled with holes from organic lab ... Scene in biology lab — GEORGE O'PROKOP making time with the little freshman girls; he's a very nice fellow, gals.

Before you people toss your JAMBARs aside, we urge you to read DUNN and O'WILLIAMS' column, BIVOUAC — they're setting themselves up as our competitors — HA! ... Stop in next time and see what brilliant comments "C. J." will have; meanwhile, "ERIN GO BRAGH" from

New Courses Offered in Political Science Field Provide Additional Opportunities

by MARY ELLEN VAN BOXEL

This is the first of a series of JAMBAR articles which will outline new upper division courses offered by various college departments. Mr. R. C. Westenfield, head of the political science department, recently announced that plans are being made to increase the opportunities for study in the political science field at Youngstown College. This is to meet the needs of students entering their third and fourth college years who

For the student interested in foreign affairs, in addition to the course in International Relations, the following new three-hour courses will be added. Development of American Foreign Policy, Comparative Government — emphasizing the governments of Russia and western European countries, and International Law.

Two new three-hour courses, Public Administration and Municipal Government and Administration, should be of interest to those considering the civil services as well as those majoring in political science.

To form the essential background for the student of political science, the new courses of broad cultural value will be a three-hour course in the history and practices of American Political Parties, and a six-hour course, the Development of Political Thought. The latter course will be a survey of the significant contributions to the development of political theory from early historical times to the present.

Mill Scene Is Winner in Photo Contest

Miss Wood used a Kodak folding camera with XX film, allowing a five-second exposure.

The winning picture was selected by Mr. John Hogan, Youngstown College photographic instructor. It was selected from pictures turned in by photography students during last semester. Five dollars was awarded as the prize.

The JAMBAR will sponsor another photo contest this semester. All photography students are eligible to enter and the winning picture will be selected by Mr. Hogan.

NOCTURNAL RAMBLINGS

by KENNY LOVE

Get up — you lout!

Someone said once, that "the average college graduate sits through four years of college and is then given a sheepskin to clothe his intellectual nakedness." This, I believe, is unfortunately true.

In past years, if one was in possession of a square of parchment proclaiming one to have served the required number of years in class, he (to use another of my trite old phrases) "had it made." Today, however, things are taking a new twist; what with everybody and their brother's brother attending college, the average student is almost forced to work if he wants to do any good. And every semester the situation gets a few thousand graduates tougher. In fact, it is rapidly getting to the point (and I shudder to think of it) where getting a job will be based on "what you know" and not "who you know," or any other knows you may know. (I can't think of any myself.)

So here I am in the role of an "alarmist." It's no use, folks, the game is up — the only thing to do is go to work and get an education, for if you don't, the degree will do you no good at all. For on every side employers are, in a very appalling manner, demanding that you be able to produce.

Perhaps it is about time that more students began striving for an education, instead of a degree. There is a vast difference between the two.

While browsing through a current publication the other day I came across a new twist to an old prayer. I think it's worth reprinting — I'll leave you with it:

"Now I get me up to work,
I pray thee, Lord, I will not shirk.
If I should die before the night
I pray thee, Lord, my work's all right."
—Anonymous.

LETTERS to the EDITOR . . .

Editor of the JAMBAR, Sir:
As a class officer, I (and it seems that I am not alone) object to your editorial comment concerning co-operation of class officers in the recent Library Drive. I am sure that you meant no harm, but nevertheless the pride of several students was deeply hurt.

I am not blaming others for the failure of the first drive because I do not believe that the fault lies with any particular individual or group of individuals. I would rather that we all chalk this up to experience with at least this fact realized: The four classes are, and always have been, the largest and least organized groups on the campus.

I was made very happy by the success of the second drive and feel certain that these same "un-co-operative" officers did their share as members of smaller and better organized groups.

With high hopes for the complete success of all future Library Drives, I am

Larry Blazine, President

The JAMBAR believes that the failure of the first campaign and success of the second vindicate the editorial (entitled

"A Second Appeal, issue of Feb. 27). We stand by our statements and point out that Student Council endorsed the editorial by voting to incorporate it in the council minutes. The JAMBAR did not say that class officers were solely responsible for the first failure.—ED.

International Correspondence Bureau, Anna-Maria Braun, (13b) Munchen 15, Lindwurmstrasse, 126/A, Germany - Bavaria - U. S. Zone

Editor of the JAMBAR, Sir:

After having established an International Correspondence Bureau, I—on behalf of members on my waiting list—take leave to apply to you. May I request you to put me in touch with readers of your paper interested in friendly correspondence?

Having been secluded from the outside world these long years, and yearning for a real democratic enlightenment and a personal contact from man to man across borders, my members would only too gladly welcome and answer letters from abroad. Most of my members (among them scientists, students, experts, businessmen and other well-educated ladies and gentlemen, and also hobbyists, housewives, and even young boys and girls) have a fairly good knowledge of English, but would also be pleased to write in German, if desired. I am sure, my members will try and give their pen-friends every satisfaction.

Individuals and groups of persons may communicate with me direct stating their particulars and interests. All letters will be attended to and all applications linked up. If possible, two or three reply coupons should be enclosed to cover expenses, and also—to save time—an introductory letter to future pen-friends over; here will be appreciated.

Pen-friendships are a step towards the creation of that international friendship and goodwill that is so essential to understanding and peace, don't you think so?

Yours hopefully,
(Miss) Anna-Maria Braun

Presentation of "Antigone" Is Tribute To College's Dramatic Fraternities

a REVIEW by BUD SCHERMER

Last week the dramatic fraternities of Youngstown college staged "Antigone." This Greek tragedy was originally written by Sophocles, revised by Jean Anouilh, adapted by Lewis Galantieri, produced and directed this time by Mr. Elser of the YoCo English department.

The production—the whole thing—the direction, the acting, the staging, was one of which every student of the college may take justifiable pride. That pride would have been without egotism regardless of the artistic success of their efforts. The mere fact that they attempted the play was enough. I say this particularly because of the difference between a production of this type, put on by a group of college amateurs, and the sort of thing that the Playhouse group has chosen to present thus far this season. In a review some time ago, I remarked that the Playhouse people should clean house amongst their play-reading group. The presentation of "Antigone" is a direct and bold challenge to them—even though I am not sure it was not intended as such.

delivery. Eleanor Lehn, as Ismene, lent a very fine stage voice and sincerity of distress to her portrayal. Bob Jones was most effective in a brief appearance as a messenger. Phyllis D'Orsi Miller and Bill Slifka, as Antigone and The Chorus, respectively, were excellent. Slifka delivered his long speeches with clarity and the proper aloofness. Art Joachim, as a guard, and Lee Laret, as Heamon, were the "sleepers" of the play. Joachim introduced a change of mood that was most welcome, though I really don't know if that was the way it was supposed to be. The remaining members of the cast, Eve Mondrut, Frank Smaldino, Pete Angelides, Nick Klonaris, and Penny Angelides, gave good support to the principals.

It is to be hoped that the success of this production will lead to—I can't say bigger and better—equally good efforts by the dramatic fraternities next year. I have been informed that they are hoping to present an ambitious program. "Antigone" gives them something to shoot at.

Let someone should be led to think that I enjoyed the play—and enjoy it I did—simply because of its novelty let me make some additional statements.

It is difficult, and not entirely fair, with a production of this sort, to pick out individuals who excelled. John Maluso, as Creon the tyrant, was the best man on the stage. He gave the role the required amount of sinister actions, made his arguments convincing, and went through his long speeches without letting down in his pace or

Sigma Alpha Iota Initiates 6 Women

Alpha Nu Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional women's music fraternity, recently initiated six women music students into active membership, at the Dana School of Music. Those initiated were June Adams, Ruth Henderson, Maude Jeffers, Rebecca Johnson, Gloria Martin, and Alice Woodside. Chapter officers taking part in the initiation were President Leona Ehrhart, Vice President Elizabeth Hrecz, and Chaplain Wilma Adams, assisted by other members of the fraternity.

Following the initiation the chapter presented a musicale in the studios of Mrs. Mary Fankhauser. Those taking part were Wealthie Bush, Gloria Martin, Wilma Adams, Marcella Sulenski, and Leona Ehrhart.

The group then went to Horvath's Tea Room where a social evening was enjoyed, climaxed by the serving of delicious refreshments.

Guests of the evening were Mrs. Mildred Bergstrom, Eta Province president; Mrs. William Miller, patroness member of Sigma Alpha Iota; Mrs. Raymond Dehnostel, Miss Kathryn Guarnieri, and Mrs. Leah McElroy, advisors of Alpha Nu Chapter.

WHAT GOES with the ENGINEERS?

by JOHN P. BARRETT

First of all, if any of Bill Munn's teachers wondered what was wrong with him on the 26th, it was just a five-pound, ten-ounce bundle of brand new little girl. If he didn't have his work ready that day, it was because he was busy the night before.

Latest big news from the engineering building is that an honorary "club" is being formed. So far nothing too definite has been done, but it's on the way.

Its purpose is the same as other honorary organizations on the campus, but limited to engineers. Anyone who can meet requirements (2.0 average, 76 hours completed) see Mr. D'Isa.

To those who have asked about the possibility of having a class organized, teaching the manipulation of slide rules, the answer can be given in a tentative way. Dean Deesz told me today that he will do his best to arrange the class, possibly for next semester. The whole thing depends on how many of you want that kind of a class. If you are interested in it, give your name to either Isabelle Tishov (in the bookstore, engineering building) or me. We'll see that it gets to Mr. Deesz. Remember, it's up to you! If you want it, say so!

Speaking of Isabelle, I'd like to say a public "thanks" to her for all the help she's given me. A swell girl who's made the writing of this column much easier.

Our versatile dean, Mr. Deesz, has just done a little more in the way of public speaking. He spoke March 2 on "Engineering and the Effect of Engineering in the Soviet Union." He returned from Russia in 1933, and drew on this experience to deliver the talk. Over at Mineral Ridge he spoke on the "Social Implications of Atomic Energy."

The classes in heat and power engineering made their annual inspection trip Friday, March 5, to Carnegie - Illinois Ohio Works, where they visited the boiler houses, blast-furnace blowing engine rooms, and the division of power generation. The trip (which

Good news—the raise came through! It's not much, but it helps. The new payments, affecting student vets enrolled under the G. I. Bill and P. L. 16, will be $75 or a veteran without dependents, $105 with one dependent, and $120 per month for a veteran with more than one.

Although the new rates become effective APRIL 1, we won't notice them until MAY 1. This increase DOES NOT apply to part-time students.

Vets entitled to $120 will be required to submit specific information about the additional dependents before payments at the new rate can be made. This information should be at the local VA office no later than July 1, in order to receive retroactive payments to April 1. The $75 and $105 groups do not have to submit this additional information.

Insurance Deadline

New deadline on conversion of G. I. insurance has been announced by Columbus VA. Under existing legislation, all policies issued prior to Jan. 1, 1946, must be converted eight years from the date on the policy. All policies issued after Jan. 1, 1946, may run for five years on the term plan.

Vets should not pay any attorney or agent to represent them in monetary claims against the VA. Fees are payable only by the VA and will be deducted from the benefits due when the claim is settled. These fees to be deducted by the VA are limited by law to $10 for an original claim and $2 for a claim to obtain increased benefits.

Pre-med vets about to enter medical school stand a better-than-average chance to complete their training if, while in pre-med school, they obtained grades of B plus or better, and made particularly good grades in natural sciences, and enrolled in the school in which they took pre-med. These conclusions are based on a study by the VA.

If you get snagged this year, be sure the VA office finds out about it. The increase is not retro-active and any delay in notification will mean money lost for the honey-mooners.

With the new raise we shouldn't need more money?—but if you do, DON'T attempt to collect training subsistence while a member of the 52-20 Club. If you get caught, you'll get your training in the State Pen. Repeat—STATE PEN! I hear it's rough on the inside (courtesy Donnelly and Durso).

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Any question that you might have will be answered in this column, if possible. Questions should be addressed to "BIVOUAC" and deposited in the JAMBAR news box located in the main office.

Q. I lost my subsistence check before I had a chance to cash it at the bank. What should I do?

A. Go to your nearest VA office and explain what has happened. The office will take necessary action to recover or replace your check.

Q. I lost my original discharge papers. Is it possible for me to obtain a copy of this certificate?

A. Yes. A Certificate in Lieu of Lost Discharge will be issued upon written application. The proper form on which to make such application may be obtained through your VA office. In your case that would be located in the Union National Bank.

Q. I am a veteran of World War II and would like to know if I have the right to choose the hospital I prefer in case of service-connected ailment?

A. The VA will offer such treatment in the VA hospital nearest your home, or in the nearest VA hospital equipped and staffed to take care of your particular case.

YoCo Golf Campaign Schedule Announced

With spring just around the corner, Dr. Smith is ready to welcome all you golfers for YoCo's coming golf campaign.

This year's team will face a stiff 17-game schedule that should provide plenty of thrills for all golf enthusiasts. Last year YoCo won 10 out of 13 inter-collegiate matches and was represented in the National Collegiate matches at Ann Arbor, Mich. Pete Prokop, who was Youngstown's representative at the NCAA meet, captured the driving title and was one of 64 to qualify for match play from a field of 300 collegiate golfers.

This year Dr. Smith is faced with quite an assignment in organizing a team with but one hold-over from last year. It does, however, give all you qualified golfers an opportunity to win a spot on this year's team. It is advisable that all those who are interested in playing with the golf team contact Dr. Smith as soon as possible so that he may have some idea of what material he will have available for this season. Try-outs will be held the first week in April. More specific information may be had by contacting Dr. Smith.

On this page is the schedule for the coming golf campaign.

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES SPRING SPORTS PROGRAM OF BUSY SCHEDULES

Willard Webster, athletic director of Youngstown College, today released the following sports schedules outlining spring activities:

Tennis Season Opens Saturday, April 17th

by TED BERNDT
This year shows promise of becoming one of the most outstanding seasons in the tennis history of Youngstown College.

Not the least of the numerous reasons for this optimistic outlook is the competent coaching staff. Mr. Ralph Beard will share the coaching duties with Mr. Leo Mason. Mr. Beard is well known to students and faculty and Mr. Mason needs no introduction to local sport fans. Mr. Mason won his first city tennis championship 20 years ago and has achieved his latest triumph by winning the city series again last year.

Other reasons for the prospect of a good season can be seen in the developments of the various individuals on the squad. Several local champions are among the 15 candidates working out at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoons the boys work under the direction of the coaches. In the evenings they bat the ball around on their own initiative to keep the kinks out of stiff muscles and to keep a sharp eye.

The squad thus far looks very good and, with the whole-hearted backing of the student body, should prove to be a credit to the college and a menace to the opposition.

Home games will be played at the Kyles Courts and at Volney Rogers.

PENGUIN CAGERS PROVIDE THRILLING END TO SEASON WITH WIN OVER "RED CATS"

Flashing championship form, the Youngstown College Penguins ended the 1947-48 basketball season with a 68-51 upset victory over the Western Reserve "Red Cats."

Intra-mural Basketball Nears Season Finale

Intra-mural basketball is drawing to a close with the Whiz Kids, Corner Boys, Scufflers, and New Castle winning the championships in their respective divisions.

It was a close race throughout with New Castle nosing out the Nu Sigma Rho, Whiz Kids nipping Boardman, Corner Boys edging Kappa Alpha Psi. The Scufflers had little competition in their division but defeated Dana's decisively to take laurels in their division. The Scufflers were undefeated throughout the season.

At the drawings Scufflers drew the Whiz Kids and the Corner Boys are pitted against New Castle. The winners of these two games will meet for the championship game tonight.

The preliminary game at 7:00 puts two All-Star teams against each other and the championship game will follow immediately after. A trophy will be awarded to the championship team.

Let's all turn out and give the boys some needed support.

Ping-Pong Tourney Enters Final Rounds

The eyes of the sports-minded will be focused on the Youth Center this week when the semi-finals of the Student Council sponsored ping-pong tournament will battle it out for top honors.

Out of the original horde of contenders there are but four who have emerged unscathed from the torrid play which has characterized the action so far. The semi-finalists are: J. Heckel, G. Miller, W. E. Pear, and B. Thompson; all of whom have exhibited a fine brand of playing ability.

Upon termination of play cash awards of $10 and $5 will be presented to the winner and runner-up by the Student Council.

Penguins Televised In Reserve Contest

The Penguins' victorious game with Western Reserve, played last Friday, was viewed by many local basketball fans via television.

This reporter didn't see the telecast but in an interview with his newsboy the following morning it was found that the reception had been exceedingly clear. "They looked like they didn't have shirts on," said the newsboy. When questioned further, it was revealed that the shirts were the only garment that appeared to be missing.

The television broadcast emanated from the new Cleveland television station.

Oddities from basketball's history — as culled from a recent issue of Varsity, the young man's magazine . . .

Barefoot leagues were once the style in Calcutta . . .

In 1906, all of the players in a game at Madison Square Garden wore roller skates. No fouls were called . . .

In 1904 the Buffalo Germans swamped Hobart College 134-0 . . .

In 1903, the lowest-scoring game was played: Georgetown, Illinois, made a foul goal in the first period, then stalled, and defeated the Homer team, 1-0 . . .

The most outstanding team, Varsity Magazine found, was the Passaic (N. J.) High School five. It began a winning streak in 1921 that lasted four years, winning 159 games straight . . .

Intra-mural Bowling Crowned Won by Dana

Dana defeated City Office & Art in the play-off of the men's intra-mural bowling held last Sunday at the Marvondale Recreation. Dana's 1011 game featured the roll-off. Both teams were in rare form, but the boys from Dana's carried too many guns for Joe Rogan's crew.

must be faculty members. Dana Music School will be asked to provide a pit orchestra and other accompaniment, but neither the band nor glee club would be allowed to appear in competition as they are organized as entertainment units the year 'round (this would not hinder their entering as individuals or groups, which they might develop into competition, or that the glee club and band could not be asked to perform).

Prizes Awarded to 3 Divisions

The competition prizes will be awarded and divided into three divisions. The first prize will be $100 and a gold plated penguin (to be given in the academy award tradition) for the best organizational act. The second prize of $50 plus a gold plated penguin will be presented to the best individual act, and a third prize of $50 and a gold plated penguin will be offered for the best set design.

The set designing competition will be open to all students wishing to design an act-setting for the show. Judging of the competition will be done by audience vote. Ballots will be provided and collected by the ushers and counted on the afternoon of May 14. Winners will be announced and prizes presented at the May Day dance.

Business Men Would Underwrite

This proposal is made since it is deemed impossible to obtain needed funds from the student activity fees. Money to back the show would be underwritten by business men of the community who would be approached.

That each petition signature be valid, an individual must sign his name, address, phone number, and the committee he volunteers to work on, clear enough to be understood.

Admission will be charged for the talent show, but not for the dance.

PARKING COMPLAINT

He observed that a few years ago the planning commission insisted that "off-street" parking facilities be provided where concentrated parking is involved.

This JAMBAR reporter, after inspection of the campus area, notes that all available space for "off-street" parking is being used. The high value of surrounding land prevents the college from acquiring it for parking needs.

No Action to Be Taken

Second Ward Councilman John Palermo, who presented the complaint to Council, said today that the letter had been "received and filed." In a JAMBAR interview, Mr. Palermo said, "I don't feel that any action should be taken. And I don't think it's wrong for a veteran to own an automobile and drive it as he sees fit after spending three to five years protecting the taxpayers who are supposed to be paying for the education of these men. I feel that they have earned it."

Mr. Philip H. Schaff is president of the People's Bank of Youngstown.

The basic courses, American Government and International Relations, will be scheduled annually as at present, while the Constitutional History of England and the Constitutional History of United States will be alternated. The last two named subjects will be of interest to pre-law students.

Students considering a major in political science are urged to confer with Mr. Westfield during his office hours. The hours may be obtained in the main office.
