STASSEN IS VICTOR IN PRESIDENT POLL

The survey was conducted this week by Roy Pilcher and Chester Crumpler Jr. under the direction of Mr. Westenfield, political science instructor. Five hundred and eighty ballots were returned of which 32 were "practical jokes" and couldn't be counted.

Stassen received 165 votes, or 30.11 per cent of the total. Harry S. Truman was second with 144 votes, 26.28 per cent of the total. Other candidates ran as follows:

REPORTER SHAKES MOTHS FROM SUIT, INTERVIEWS CO-EDS; NOTES PLANS FOR SUMMER VARIETY OF SUN AND FUN

Veteran reporter Bud Schermer wears antique swim suit to illustrate his seniority as he interviews modern YoCo co-eds Polly Bucher, Phyllis Galose, Barbara Ann Harcar, and Joan Wise.

by BUD SCHERMER

(Since April, 1941, Bud Schermer has served as a JAMBAR star reporter. He is our senior employee. However, good things can't last forever—Bud graduates this June. The JAMBAR thanks him for his wholehearted cooperation and extends sincere congratulations on his commencement.—Ed.)

This here piece is about vacations. But first, some incidental information—now about this picture above, let this serve as a warning to anyone who ever takes a job writing for this sheet. Be sure that you always read all of the small print in the contract that you sign. The editor said something about doing a piece on vacations, and mentioned that there would be a picture with it—and that he needed some big dumb kid to appear in it. When I began to mention that I wasn't having any, thanques just the same, he asked if I had read Clause Seventeen, Paragraph Nine, Section C, as amended. Replying that I hadn't, he just happened to have a copy with him.

Clause Seventeen, Paragraph Nine, Section C, as amended, went on to say something about "feature-writers will be expected to double in brass as personal interviewers, when such research is necessary; and if appropriate, will conduct the interviews in places harmonious with the subject at hand, and will dress in the proper clothing, in keeping with the theme of the interview." The above is the boss's idea of "the proper clothing."

To get on with the discussion of vacations. Along about the third day of next month school will be over. Many of the kollitch kids will have summer vacation ahead of them. If you are one of these fortunate individuals, what are you going to do with those three months?

Me, I got no problems in this line. I will hie me off to the Maine woods and spend eight or nine weeks trying to teach some of the members of the future generation to live in peace with their neighbors—at least until camping season is over.

Several of the members of the student body are going to travel—through June, July, and August. California, Mexico, Canada, the mountains, the sea-shore, Geneva, Milton Dam, Howland Corners, and other spots of scenic, historic, and social-life interest like that there. The sea-shore—sunburn, charlie-horses, sand-fleas, and salt-water to drink. The mountains—rest, peace and quiet, mosquitoes, pine trees, spiders, rain, sleep-under-two-blankets, out-houses, sulphur water, and back-aches. Geneva—a lost month-end with hot dogs and a miniature golf-course.

Phi Gams Top Greeks With Highest Average

Academic competition among Greek letter organizations will be a definite part of YoCo henceforth. Inaugurating this program to encourage scholastic endeavor, Dr. Hubert Howard of the English Department released results of sorority and fraternity point averages for the fall semester of 1947. Phi Gamma Fraternity, one of the most active groups socially came out on top with an average of 1.75. The complete list of averages is as follows:

Organization	Average
Phi Gamma	1.75%
Alpha Theta Delta	1.67%
Nu Sigma Rho	1.62%
Gamma Sigma	1.61%
Phi Sigma Epsilon	1.53%
Kappa Sigma Kappa	1.52%
Sigma Sigma	1.44%
Sigma Delta Beta	1.39%
Phi Lambda Delta	1.28%
Kappa Alpha Psi	1.06%

YoCo Faculty Okays New Cheating Code

Recommendations on proposed actions to curb cheating at Youngstown college were recently approved by the college faculty. The recommendations were made by the Discipline Committee of Student Council.

The report says "copying in whole or part from a neighbor should not be remanded to the Discipline Committee by the teacher, but action shall be taken by the teacher concerned."—"The person who cheats can be failed in the course but may appeal to the Discipline Committee if he wishes."

The use of textbook, crib-notes and other devices brought to the exam room will be defined as cheating. If the student receives information from another student who has previously taken the

Boosters to Get Seats On Fifty-Yard Line

Plans for a Booster Club to be organized on the campus were announced this week by Alton Hanni. The group, which will appear at the Penguin football games this fall, will be seated in a 100-seat reserved section on the 50-yard line.

Members will receive colored red and white cards on arrival at the stadium, which they will hold to form letters, according to directions given on the cards.

Badges will be issued to all members.

Students who are interested in joining the new Boosters organization are urged to watch the main bulletin board for an announcement of the initial meeting.

JAMBAR ADVISOR . . .

Concluding a period of 2½ years service to Youngstown College, Professor William H. Taft announced his resignation this week. Professor Taft will join the staff of a small college on the shores of Lake Erie in September.

During his association with Youngstown College, Professor Taft has served as faculty advisor of the JAMBAR. Under his guidance the JAMBAR has increased from four pages to an eight to ten page student publication. Material content has improved to a point where the JAMBAR was judged as the best bi-weekly collegiate newspaper in Ohio, and accordingly received the 1948 Scripps-Howard award.

Since Professor Taft has been its faculty advisor the JAMBAR has enjoyed press freedom. Although it does adhere to editorial policies set by the administration, no college official or staff member sees a copy of the JAMBAR or any of its material until it is actually in circulation.

After each publication, Professor Taft has constructively criticized the JAMBAR as to content, style of writing, and make-up. Taking his advice, the editors and staff have been able to improve each succeeding issue. However, Professor Taft has not made any of his suggestions mandatory. This type of criticism is welcome on any publication.

Professor Taft has thus created a relationship between the YoCo faculty and the student press that is the envy of many editors of student publications in other colleges. It is the hope of the JAMBAR staff that the JAMBAR will continue to enjoy the freedom that it has had during the past few years. We take this opportunity to extend our appreciation and very best wishes to our current advisor, Professor William H. Taft.

Congratulations, Seniors . . .

At last the time has come for you to leave the familiar sights of YoCo. Your class probably has witnessed more changes than any other one graduating class in the school's history. When you came here in 1944 YoCo was still in its war status, almost a girls' school exclusively. Then you saw the end of the war and YoCo again became a co-ed institution. In fact the girls were really in their glory at the peak of the enrollment last year. Statistics showed that there were six men to every gal. This was all very fine until the females learned that of the six, four were married, one was engaged, and one went steady!

There was also the return of a football team to the campus activities. Basketball and the other male sports were gradually revived. In keeping with the growing student body, the college itself expanded. There are the annex buildings, the use of the Butler, the neighboring churches, and the current expansion program, including the new auditorium now in progress, as well as the planning of the much needed library.

You also saw YoCo become a member of the North Central Association of Colleges. This recognition will make that degree of yours even more valuable in the eyes of many.

The JAMBAR extends to you seniors sincere congratulations and wishes you luck in utilizing the potentialities represented in your diplomas.

The Inquiring Reporter---

by R. M. GRAHAM

After a slight error on the part of your reporter, I thought that a good topic for this issue would be CAPITAL PUNISHMENT. Some people are heartily in favor of it when it comes to me, especially a CERTAIN CO-ED who now abhors both pop-corn and myself. Our law is based to a great extent on the English common law and recently England suspended Capital Punishment. Seven of our states have no death penalty and it has been suggested that we follow the English pattern and abolish the death sentence.

QUESTION: SHOULD THE U. S. ABOLISH CAPITAL PUNISHMENT?

MARY ALICE JOYCE, Freshman
The people of the United States are supposed to possess a deep understanding of human nature. However, this quality is not evident in their attitude toward Capital Punishment. I believe that the ends of justice should be sought, but the death penalty certainly hasn't brought about any satisfactory results. The number of murders has not decreased, therefore, we know it is not reformative. It would be of more benefit to society and the criminal if a suitable and effective means of reform were found. Capital Punishment is no longer a public spectacle, therefore, a private execution will not deter murder.

LOUIS MUEHLBAUER, Junior
Should Capital Punishment be abolished? Yes! I do not believe in this "eye for an eye" and a "life for a life" idea. If a crime is committed that formerly carried a death penalty, it should instead be a life imprisonment, and not let the offender out in a few years. An important argument in defense of this is the fact that England did away with it.

PEGGY SHOOK, Sophomore
When somebody murders another person I think the murderer should be punished unless it is accidental or he is mentally unbalanced. If by not electrocuting criminals crime could be lessened then I definitely think Capital Punishment should be abolished. All I care about is that crime is stopped because there is entirely too much crime in our country.

MILLARD BIGGS, Sophomore
I think we should follow England's example by abolishing Capital Punishment. However, before this action is taken, there must be drastic changes made in our present penal system. As it now stands the penal institutions are "prisons" in the true sense. If the prisons could be changed to reformative institutions, abolishment of Capital Punishment would be practical.

EDWARD R. BUDINSKY, Junior
Abolishment of Capital Punishment would be a deal but in a society such as ours I feel that is an impossibility. Laws are in existence to protect the populace and offenders must be dealt with in such a way as to provide maximum protection. However, excluding the most serious offenses, beyond a doubt first offenders should always be given a second chance in order that they may adjust themselves to the type of life that good citizens live.

JEANNE LYONS, Freshman
In ancient days people stated, "an eye for an eye; a tooth for a tooth." Today we are supposed to be civilized human beings. To sacrifice one life for another is reverting to days which we thought were past. Capital Punishment may serve in some severe cases but not in every case and especially not as far as juveniles are concerned. In my opinion a lesser punishment would serve as well and be much more beneficial to society.

Looking Around . . .

with C. J. PARTRIDGE

Another school year practically ended and nothing ahead but final exams. You really think so? Let's look around a bit.

First thing you see are all the jokers who figure on getting hitched. These characters are already beginning to show the symptoms, among which are included flushed faces when they are reminded that the day of doom is rapidly approaching, moments of qualm when they think they are not being watched, shifty eyes when they look at another girl and know they aren't supposed to, and strangely enough, a decided change in their attitude when it comes to taking part in the usual exchange of "funny" stories over the lunch table.

Next you stumble over several characters who are energetically cultivating friendships with other characters who they KNOW have an "A" average in classes that have been giving them trouble. These boys (and girls) are the first to run around boasting about their point averages on file in the office.

Pretty soon you notice that a lot of students who weren't particular about their attendance during most of the semester have been coming to class every session of late. These people consider applied psychology one of the more practical courses they've taken in college, providing, of course, they learned tricks like that in college.

Leave us not overlook the ones who pester instructors after the class has been dismissed. Their main objective is to develop in the minds of their teachers a kindly and benevolent attitude so that when grades are passed out, they may be given the benefit of the doubt in case there is some question as to their scholastic rating.

All of which leads up to a very good moral. You can study hard, finish all your homework on time, know more about the course than any one you can think of, but you still get the jitters when it's time for finals, or to get married.

More interest was developed by a certain little riddle than seemed possible. So, true to my promise, those who guessed the answer will be listed in the order of application.

First to get the right answer was little JUDY ANNE SONGER, 2½-year-old daughter of one of our more enlightened students. BILL ROSSER, DON SIBSON, AL BRENNAN, RUTH SWEENEY, and SALLY O'HORO ended in the first division. TOM MURPHY, HOWARD SCHMIDT, and MARY VESSEY also ran. Our good friends, DONNELLY and DURSO, and DUNN and WILLIAMS came in a very poor third. For the benefit of those who were TOO BUSY to bother, the answer is this:

Y Y U R Y U B I C U R Y Y F O R M E

"Too wise you are, too wise you be, I see you are too wise for me"

POTRY

If I were only a little mouse I'd live in the accounting teacher's house.
I'd find an unobtrusive nook and closely watch the teacher's book.
I'd learn to add and take away, teach those figures to swing and sway,
And come along that crucial day in accounting, I'd get an "A".

If I were only a long-eared donkey, I'd never have to go to class;
I'd take exams with loads of brass and hear kibitzers that whisper too fast.

If I were anything else but human cribbers couldn't get me fumin'.
Everyone could lie and cheat, crane their necks and learn to sneak.

But since I'm not there's just one hope — pass exams by learning the dope.
I know a guy that's a darn good buddy, a dependable fellow named G. H. (Good Hard) Study.

Help a Nedy Child to Health

This is the slogan of the campaign to help undernourished children of our local community. Some of these youngsters are in as unfortunate circumstances as the children of devastated Europe.

It is indeed a praiseworthy project to donate spare change to help others. Alpha Theta Delta Sorority is conducting this drive at YoCo. Schools throughout the city are also participating in the project. Fifteen cents will buy milk for one child for a week. Today is the last day to stop at the table in the front hall of the main building to drop some silver into that milk bottle. Student co-operation in this matter will demonstrate that we appreciate our social groups' effort to do something charitable.

Beverly Metcalf Wins Goodwill Top Prize

Beverly Metcalf, junior, won first prize of $25 for a short story entitled "The Selfish Acceptance" given by the Intergroup Goodwill Council for an essay contest the group recently sponsored.

Second prize of $15 was won by John Markakis. Matthew J. Quinl won third prize and Theodore F. Berndt received an honorable mention.

The contest was designed to reveal student awareness to minority group relations. Prizes were awarded at an award dinner at the Central Y. M. C. A. Presentation of awards was made by Dr. Hubert C. Howard, English professor and faculty sponsor of the contest. Judge Robert B. Nevin presided.

Six Student Council Petitions Received

No election will be necessary for Student Council representatives, for only six candidate petitions were received. Since there were just six to elect, the students who submitted petitions will be automatically members of council without election.

The new members of Student Council will be: Edward Barnes, Clarence Baldwin, Wayne A. Bebb, Frank Krayac, Arthur Stein, and John Lupu Jr.

Prof. Wm. H. Taft To Resign Position

Prof. William H. Taft, of the business administration and English departments, has resigned from the Youngstown College faculty, effective at the end of the summer session. Mr. Taft has accepted a position at a smaller college in the western part of the state, as professor of journalism and director of public relations. He assumes his new duties Sept. 1.

During his 2½ years at Youngstown College, Mr. Taft was faculty advisor of the JAMBAR, which won first place in the state contests this year, and third place last year. He was also instrumental in expanding the advertising courses in the business administration department, and adding courses in journalism and public relations to the curriculum.

While teaching at Youngstown, Mr. Taft has also been carrying courses at Western Reserve University, and expects to complete his classroom requirements for his Ph.D. next summer.

by DUNN and WILLIAMS

Veterans Administration today announced that the easy reinstatement deadline for G. I. insurance is less than three months away.

For term insurance which has lapsed more than three months, July 31, 1948, is the final day for veterans to reinstate without a physical examination, providing their health is as good as on the date of lapse. All that is necessary to reinstate this insurance is completion of a reinstatement application and payment of two monthly premiums.

The certificate of eligibility issued to a veteran upon his entrance into school study under the G. I. Bill loses its validity if the veteran discontinues his training. The student who has discontinued his training and later desires to resume his studies under the bill must obtain a supplemental certificate of eligibility. The applications may be made through any V. A. office.

Veterans who lose subsistence, compensation or pension checks should immediately notify the V. A. regional office. A letter containing the vet's full name and address, claim number and the date and amount of the check. He should also state for which type of benefit the check was issued and circumstances surrounding its loss.

If the vet finds his check after reporting its loss he should notify the V. A. and hold the check until he has been advised by the Treasury that action to stop payments has been withdrawn.

If you have any questions that are bothering you we will attempt to answer them. Address your questions to BIVOUAC and put them in the JAMBAR mail box in the main office.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q.—I am a World War II veteran and have been totally disabled for a few months. At the end of my sixth month of total disability, will I have to continue paying my NSLI premiums or is a waiver granted automatically?

A. — No automatic waiver of premiums is ever granted. You are entitled to file a claim for a refund of those premiums you paid from the date on which the waiver became effective.

Phi Sigs Roll Up Sleeves, Build Dam on Campus

Project of the Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity is a dam, which the organization is building on the north campus. The dam will back up the flow of the YoCo spring and form a small lake, which will be landscaped with rocks and flowers. Picture above, taken Saturday, shows the industrious frat at work. College Graduates Eligible to Receive Navy Commissions

A limited number of Youngstown College graduates are being offered the opportunity of being commissioned as ensigns in naval aviation this spring and of receiving flight training, the navy announced today.

In order to provide full information to those who are interested, a flying team of navy officers will visit Youngstown College on May 26 and 27.

This is a career program in which college men with degrees who are between the ages of 18 and 25 will be taken into the navy as commissioned officers.

Flight training will be at Pensacola, Fla. This will take from 18 to 24 months after which, the officer-pilots will join regular naval aviation units, shore based and on carriers. Minimum starting pay is $290 a month.

Details of the program will be brought to YoCo by a naval aviation information team. Plans are being made for a meeting of interested seniors from 9 to 4 p. m. at the cafeteria May 26 and 27. The information team will also answer questions and provide assistance in filling out applications.

Aviation Cadet Classes Will Begin July 1st

"Only a few more weeks remain for college men to qualify for the United States Air Force's Aviation Cadet pilot training class beginning July 1," Lieutenant General George E. Stratemeyer, Commandant General of the Air Defense Command at Mitchel Air Force Base, New York, said today. The Air Defense Command monitors the Aviation Cadet Procurement Program for the United States Air Force.

General Stratemeyer pointed out there are still some vacancies for the July training which leads to an officer's commission and a pilot's wings with the United States Air Force. College men graduating in June are urged to complete their applications without delay in order to qualify for the next class. Men who do not complete their qualifications in the next few weeks will have to wait until the October 15 class, it was pointed out.

Graduates of the Air Force pilot training course will be commissioned Second Lieutenants in the Air Force Reserve, given their aeronautical ratings as pilots and assigned to Air Force units for active flying duty. Up to five percent of each Aviation Cadet graduating class will be offered regular Air Force commissions under the U. S. Air Force program.

Some of the folks are going to work (ugh!) for the summer—and stack up some of that money, to play with during the winter. Oh, that working—labor gang at the Brier Hill, lawn-mower jockeying at the country clubs and the cemeteries, proctoring playgrounds. Many of the lads will be "Reserving"—playing airplanes for the navy, bucking for corporal at Quantico, two weeks cruise in a landing barge at Norfolk.

The crazy-with-the-heat crowd are getting married. Oh, that marriage — honeymoon in the Pocosinos, shopping for a trailer, those bigger subsistence checks.

The got-to-get-ahead folks are going to summer school. Oh, that summer school — lectures on the sociological organization of the Australian honey-bear, read a complete 50-page novel each day, audit the books of Anthony X. Flogglefleagle (not to be confused with Anthony X. Flegglefloggle), worry about the Cleveland Indians, sneak off to go swimming instead of to chem' lab. It's bound to be a great summer. Whatever you do do, each and all of you—we all hope you have fun. Take it easy, relax, enjoy yourselves, build your strength up again —so you can come back in the fall resuscitated enough to go on reading articles like this for another school year. Have you made up your mind on what you'll do when you graduate this June? If not, consider the opportunity available to you in the Aviation Cadets.

Few jobs anywhere can match this offer. When you win your wings and a Second Lieutenant's commission, you're paid as high as $336 per month to start. The training you get before and after you're commissioned is recognized as the world's finest—and it equips you for a well-paid lifetime career in military or commercial aviation.

You're eligible for appointment to the Cadets if you're single, between 20 and 26½ years old, and have completed at least one-half the requirements for a degree from an accredited college or university (or pass an equivalent examination).

Talk the program over with men in your class who have been Aviation Cadets. And for full details, ask at your nearest U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station. Why not drop in today and discuss it?

WHAT GOES with the ENGINEERS?

By JOHN P. BARRETT

Tonight, at 8 p. m., in the music rehearsal hall, the senior theses will be presented. The theses are in book form, and the seniors have all been going crazy in recent weeks getting them finished and bound. They are black, and lettered in gold. One copy of each book will be kept in the college library archives. The juniors will get some idea of what's expected of them.

Mu Pi Epsilon held its election of officers a few days ago. Succeeding Bob Ingraham as president is Wayne Bebb. Dan Thanos takes over as vice president, and Clarence Baldwin replaces graduating Nick Ross as secretary. Eugene Ackis moves in as treasurer. The frat is planning to be on a semi-active status during the summer months, and has planned a picnic to take place after the finals.

Ever since the first grade, the alphabet has been considered an essential part of our education, but few engineers realized, until recently, just HOW essential it is. Yes sir, "E" is for Ellis, "P" is for physics, "U" is for "you've had it, brother," and "Z" is for zero.

By the way, fellas, when the 1948 Neon is distributed, some of the pictures you'll find there are the work of John H. Lehman, engineering student. John's been doing some work as a free-lance photographer, and has his own set-up. He's a member of the Photographers Association of America.

Dr. Bellaschi Visits School
The engineering school was honored the other day by a visit by Dr. Peter L. Bellaschi, graduate of M. I. T. and recent consulting engineer for Westinghouse. Dr. Bellaschi is now a free-lance consultant, specializing in transformers, and he intends to branch out to include power transmission. He was very much impressed by the engineering school, and noted the advantages of a smaller college such as ours. He pointed out that the small school affords greater opportunity for closer contact between student and teacher, a relationship which is both helpful and necessary for the student.

The elections for Student Council are over today, and it is good to see that the engineers are represented at last. Congratulations!

Soon school will be out for this semester. Some of us are leaving for good, and others will be back next semester. To those who are leaving, we want to give our good wishes, and congratulations on a job well done. You're among the first to be graduated from the YoCo engineering school, and those who come later will be pre-judged on the basis of the reputations that you make. The engineering school will be judged by the standards you set, so set them high, and those who follow will keep them there.

Classes Not So Crowded
For those who stay, there will be the inevitable changes. The classes will not be quite so crowded, Dean Deesz says, because some of the students are dropping out, and some are finishing up. When we come back in the fall, the newly installed boiler will be completed and in running condition, and available for experimental work.

Other new equipment will be coming in during the summer.

While most of us are taking life easy during the summer (and anything but going to engineering school is taking life easy), the instructors who are not teaching will be away at school. They are going to such places as Pitt, University of Indiana, and the University of Michigan—the net result of which is that the faculty will be even better in the fall than they are now.

That about does it for this time, so, till fall, I'll hang the close on this line.

Youngstown Gamma Chapter Is Host As Sigma Kappa Phi Holds Convention

Gamma Chapter of Youngstown College was host at the Twentieth Annual National Convention of Sigma Kappa Phi Fraternity which was held at the Hotel Pick-Ohio May 14, 15 and 16. Chapters in Columbus, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Youngstown, Detroit, and Chicago were represented. Activities commenced with a stag party being held for the members on Friday evening at the hotel. Also Friday evening a bridge party was held for the wives and sweethearts of the members. Prizes for bridge were taken by Andree Voss of Cincinnati and Jane Grey of Youngstown.

A delegation consisting of Dan Mirto of Youngstown, national vice president; Harold Nordhaus of Chicago, national treasurer; Julius Semon of Cleveland, national secretary; John Helper, president of Gamma Chapter; and Jack Ritter, general convention chairman, were present at the time of the presentation.

Tours Through City Conducted
Various tours throughout the city were conducted Saturday morning and afternoon for the delegates, followed by a luncheon for the members at the hotel and a tea for the wives and sweethearts also held at the hotel. Later Saturday afternoon various committee meetings were held and also a general assembly meeting was held.

SIXTY STUDENTS EXPRESS INTEREST IN PROPOSED R. O. T. C. ON CAMPUS

Over 60 students of Youngstown College have expressed interest in the proposed Reserve Officers Training Corps for Youngstown College, it was announced today. Acting after reading information in the JAMBAR on the ROTC plan, the students have filled out questionnaires which have shown that there is a definite interest in the possibility of having such a unit at YoCo. Administration officials said this week that if student interest continues at the present rate, every effort will be made to add ROTC to the college curriculum.

Application blanks are available at the information desk in the main office for interested students to fill out. These blanks will be used to determine how many students want such a course and do not bind the person who thus expresses his interest.

Students completing the ROTC course would receive a reserve officer's commission in the army after a two-week training period at a designated army camp. The navy requires two years active duty before a commission is given.

Non laboratory science credit would be given students enrolled in the military science courses if Youngstown College were to offer them, the administration announced. A subsistence allowance of $25 per month is given to third and fourth year students under the plan.

Although football season is several months away and knowledge of this year's team is still in the infant stage, this is the last opportunity to pass any pre-season judgment on this year's prospects, so here is how things seem to shape up at present.
This year's squad should be as strong as last year's aggregation and possibly stronger. The team has lost but two players from last year's team and both were ends. Despite the loss of Lanzi and Williams, the Penguins seem to have plenty of strength at these positions. The tackle and guard posts are comparatively strong as is the center position. "Red" Angelo leaves little to be desired at the center post and with a capable substitute, or two, should make the middle of the Penguin line plenty tough. The only thing that seems to be lacking in the line is weight. Last year this was compensated for by fight and spirit but it must be admitted that this is hard to take if you face TOO much weight on TOO many successive weekends.

Youngstown Netters Take Ninth in Row

Still undefeated at the time of this writing, the YoCo tennis team is attracting attention throughout the area with their play.

Fenn College was the ninth consecutive victim of the Penguins in matches played on the Cleveland courts. The Penguin team captured eight matches with Fenn winning but one.

This year's tennis team is the best to show here at YoCo and is deserving of a great deal of credit and backing from the student body. All the men on the team are playing good tennis and they are compiling a record of which the college may be proud.

Penguin Golfers Defeat
Kent State U. and Fenn

YoCo's golf team defeated Kent State and Fenn College for their fourth and fifth victories of the season. In defeating Kent State the Penguins halted a seven-game winning streak for the "Golden Flashes." The Kent Staters came here with an undefeated team and had their sights on the collegiate meet at Columbus. YoCo will not take part in the Columbus meet. The Prokop brothers were low scorers against Kent State.

In the match with Fenn the golfers were victorious by a 7½ to 4½ margin. Pete Prokop took medalist honors with a 73 while John Novicky followed with a 74.

INTRA-MURAL SPORTS

SOFTBALL —

The winner of the softball game between the Collegians and the Warren team will face the Fighting Irish for the intra-mural crown this afternoon (weather permitting). These three teams were winners in their respective leagues and in the drawing for the play-off, the Fighting Irish drew a bye. The Fighting Irish have an undefeated record.

GOLF —

The winners in the three golf leagues were James Olson, Mike Cverko, and John Fabian. These men will play off for the championship. All three men have played fine golf throughout the campaign.

TENNIS —

John DeJaniro and James Olson were the two top survivors in the intra-mural tennis competition. They will meet in a championship series of matches to determine who is tops for this year in the intra-mural tennis play.

SIXTY GRID ASPIRANTS TRY OUT DURING SPRING TRAINING GRIND

by J. E. PUGH

Football candidates have been going through workouts for the past week and indications point to a spirited bid for all positions on the freshman team, as well as on the varsity squad.

Coach Beede and his aides have been working with some 60 grid-ders during the workouts, stressing calisthenics, sprints, and some fundamentals. No intensive work will be done until the fall practice.

Although it is impossible to single out any definite standouts, it is apparent that the returning veterans will have to work hard to retain their posts. Among those who were impressive in the workouts are ends: Bush, Pittman, and Williams. All three showed speed and aggressiveness. Duco, a back, displayed coolness and accuracy with his passing, while Sliman and Battaglia, ex-Wilson High grid-ders showed ability as backs.

Linemen who showed speed in sprints were Rowan, Zangara, and Hulea. These men are but a few of the many who are taking part in the spring workouts. All the grid-ders are working hard and that is the chief aim at this time. The lack of veterans mentioned is due to the fact that most of these taking part in the drills are freshmen. The veterans from last year will see action in the fall sessions at Camp Fitch.

One thing seems certain, and that is, that Youngstown College will field a hustling football team when the Canisius squad invades Youngstown for the opener here next September, and with Canisius bringing a seasoned team here it should be a bruising opener for the Penguins.

The success of the team will be in the capable hands of Coach Beede and his staff who are sure to come up with another fine ball team and another successful season for the Penguins.

MEET THE ATHLETIC STAFF . . .

by TED BERNDT
(Fifth of a series)

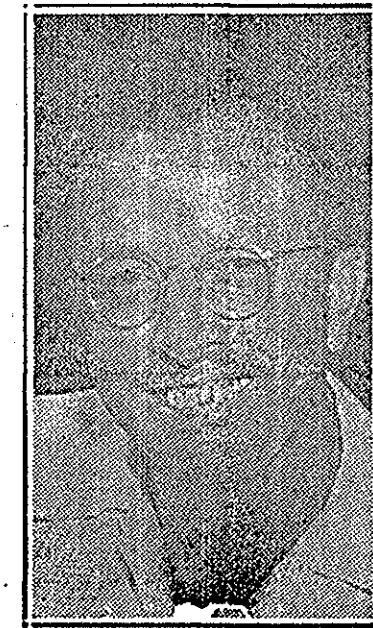

The record of the Youngstown College tennis team this year is ample proof of the quality of its coaching staff, Mr. Leo Mason and Mr. Ralph Beard.

The tennis team remains undefeated in its nine contests to date. The boys started their training early this year under the direction of last year's coach, Ralph Beard, and the new addition to the staff, Leo Mason.

Mason is a familiar figure to the tennis fans of Youngstown and vicinity. He won his first city tennis championship 20 years ago and last year he breezed in over the attempts of his younger opponents to win the series again.

Not associated with the school except as a coach, Mason has contributed much of his time and effort to the development of the team. There are several local champions on the squad and with these veterans as a nucleus the team as a whole has triumphed over all opposing teams.

The combined talents of Coaches Mason and Beard plus the excellence of play of the boys themselves have contributed to one of the most successful tennis seasons in the history of the college.
