Extensive Inter-Collegiate Sports Planned by Webster

Program to Include Baseball, Golf, And Tennis, Says Athletic Director

Mr. W. E. Webster, Youngstown College athletic director, announced today the scheduling of inter-collegiate baseball, golf and tennis games. The opening game with the St. Vincent Bearcats will mark the beginning of the Penguin forays into the diamond sport. In years gone by the YoCoites were a feared foe on the tennis courts and on the golf links, but never has a red and white Penguin outfit manned the baseball diamond.

The baseball nine will be coached by Dom Rosselli. He will send his charges into a compact 12-game schedule. This will be increased to 14 games if present dickering with the University of Dayton goes through. All home games will be played at Evans field. The first home game is scheduled against Baldwin-Wallace on April 25. They will open the season away from home meeting St. Vincent on April 23.

The golfers will be under the tutoring of Dr. Smith. Their opening game will be at Grove City, Pa., meeting the Grove City college link men. Their home opener will pit them against the Bowling Green Bee Gees on the Mill Creek park public links.

As yet the tennis schedule is incomplete, but should be ready for publication in the next issue.

New words, such as sacrifice hits, base hits, walks, right down the alley, squeeze him home, birdie, eagle, par, over par, under par, singles, doubles, set and love will be a MUST in every student's vocabulary.

Rosemary Quinn to Reign As Queen of Mardi Gras

Rosemary Quinn, sophomore of Youngstown College, has been chosen by the Newman club to reign as queen of the second annual Mardi Gras to be held tomorrow evening at Stambaugh auditorium. Miss Quinn graduated from Ursuline high school in 1944. She is blonde and blue eyed, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Quinn who reside on Bryson st. here in Youngstown.

Four attendants have also been selected to form a complete court for the festivities. They are Patricia Lynch, Kathleen Naughton, Rita Downie and Phyllis Galose.

Sponsored by Newman Club
The Mardi Gras was planned last year as a pre-lenten dance. Later it was decided to make it an annual affair. In order to carry out the pre-lenten theme in conjunction with the celebration in New Orleans the Newman club selected the name Mardi Gras. With this idea in mind the committee has planned an elaborate setting featuring favors for all.

John Walsh, general chairman for this year's dance, has announced that extensive plans are under way to make this an even better dance than the last. Walsh disclosed that his committees have been chosen as follows: Joseph R. Peyko and Fred Manning are in charge of publicity, Phillip J. Organ and Joseph P. Sontich are handling tickets and advertising, and James Daprile with a committee of 12 will take care of the decorations.

Baron Elliot to Be Featured
Baron Elliot and his orchestra from Pittsburgh will furnish the music. Elliot's band is rapidly making a name for itself around this section of the country. They are featured on the "Pent House" program heard every Sunday at 7:30 p. m. over station WCAE, Pittsburgh, and can be heard every evening at 6:15 over the same station.

Neon Pictures . . .

Pictures for the 1947 annual will be taken beginning Feb. 17, weather permitting. Schedules have been posted in all buildings indicating the time and place for each picture. It is the duty of each student to be at the place indicated at the time each picture in which he should appear is scheduled. Students will be excused from class for the 10-minute period for which each picture is scheduled.

Changes in schedule due to weather will probably be necessary. All changes will be marked on the schedules so it is imperative that students watch the schedules on the days pictures are to be taken. The co-operation of the students is asked as it is a big job to get pictures of all the groups in the college.

Who's Who . . .

Twelve students from Youngstown College were accepted by Who's Who In American Universities and Colleges this year. Outstanding students from 650 leading colleges receive their honor each year. This group was organized with the idea of creating one national basis of recognition for students devoid of politics, initiation fees, and dues. Its purpose is to recognize the deserving student and to establish a reference volume of information on America's leading college students.

These students were selected by nominations of the president, the dean, the registrar, and other official members of the college staff. They were considered for character, scholarship, leadership in extra-curricular activities, and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society. Juniors, seniors, and students in advanced work are eligible.

This organization functions in several vital ways.

(a) as an incentive for students to get the best results from their college experience.

(b) as a means of compensation to students for what they already achieved.

(c) as a standard of measurement for students comparable to other recognized scholastic and service organizations.

(d) as a recommendation of successful students to the business world.

Those accepted this year are Larry Blazina, John Grim, Lotus Koken, June Kostyk, Margaret Nicewaner, Bill Parmenter, Joe Peyko, Danny Rich, Rose Rosich, Bob Schettino, Maryanna Tornich, and Mary Vesey. Students accepted last year and still enrolled who will be automatically included are June Bradshaw, Hal Davies, Virginia D'Isa, Jeanne Grice, Jean Mellinger, and Gladys Peppel.

150 Attend Freshman Reception at Elms

Despite heavy snows approximately 150 students attended the freshman reception held at the Elms ballroom Friday, Feb. 7.

The reception was sponsored by the YoCo student council. James Lowery, president of the freshman class, acted as program committee chairman.

Dance music was furnished by Sammy Monte's orchestra. This marked the first occasion for new students to use their students' activity books since admission was by these books only.

New Library Goal Set for $10,000

The Association of Friends of Youngstown College have set $10,000 as their goal in their coming subscription drive. The Friends is an association which was formed in 1938 for the purpose of obtaining new books for the college library and raising funds for a new library building. They have been active in this capacity ever since their organization, having raised at least $5,000 per year for the first five years and $8,895 last year.

Miss Ethel B. Evans, president of the local chapter of American Association of University Women, was added to the Friends board at a meeting last week. The following were re-elected:

William F. Maag Jr., president; William J. Hitchcock Jr., second vice president; Mrs. J. C. Argetsinger, first vice president; Mrs. Franklin B. Powers, secretary; Carl W. Ullman, treasurer; with J. C. Argetsinger, Alden C. Cummings, Roy L. Leventry, Mrs. Oscar F. Gayton, Dr. John McCann, William B. Pollock, Kenneth Shafer, Phillip H. Schaff, Mrs. Walter Schaff, James L. Wick Jr., President Howard W. Jones, Miss Maurine Brunner, Youngstown College librarian.

Frats to Send Delegates To Greek Week Meeting

Five members of Greek letter social fraternities are preparing to leave for Ohio State university to represent YoCo in the Council of Fraternity Presidents "Greek Week" celebration on the weekend of Feb. 21. They are: Mike Kirwan, Phi Gamma; Bob Schettino, Phi Sig; Boy Boyd, Sig Delta; Bill Slifka and Wally Hermely Kappa Sig.

The Presidents' Council has sent letters to colleges in the state inviting the national officers and delegates representing all the fraternities in Ohio.

This is the first "Greek Week" to be held since the war. The

Officials Consider Youth Center for Students

The college officials are considering making arrangements for obtaining the use of the Youth Center for the students of Youngstown College, President Jones announced yesterday. The center will be used in a number of ways. There will be a snack bar where food and coffee will be sold, means of recreation such as ping-pong tables, pool tables, card tables, and it will serve as a meeting place for clubs and other organizations of the college.

Plans made to date call for the use of the center every day. The center will be open to college students several nights a week with one night reserved for the clubs to have their dances and social affairs.

President Jones stressed the fact that these plans are still tentative. He is very much interested in finding how the majority of the students feel about such a project before final arrangements are made. The question of financing the project will be taken before student council at their next meeting. A 15 to 30 cent allowance from the funds allocated council may be necessary to obtain all the privileges needed to make the lounge a worthwhile project. President Jones suggested that students make their opinions known through their council representatives and by means of their campus newspaper.

The question of whether or not girls should receive corsages at Youngstown College functions was brought before student council at their last meeting. Certain factions would like to outlaw corsages at all college sponsored socials, because of the expense, while other students feel that veterans have neither the time or the money to buy flowers for girls. The Jambar has decided to poll six students for their opinion, but you must remember that letters to the editor form a good part of our policy on this or any other subject.

EDWINA BUCHANAN
Chemistry Major, Soph., Age 18

I don't think that the student council should make any new rulings concerning corsages at the formal school dances. I think that the matter should be left entirely up to the fellows themselves. Although corsages are not absolutely necessary, they do go with a formal dance.

MARY JANE ZIMMERMAN
English Major, Frosh., Age 19

I don't believe that student council should outlaw corsages for school sponsored dances. There are so few formal functions during the school year that it is nice to have corsages for those few. When a formal dance is thought of, corsages are thought of too. I think the decision should be up to the fellows. All girls like to have corsages, but they are not absolutely necessary.

DUANE O. ROGERS
Social Science Major, Soph., Age 23, Army Veteran

I think corsages should be banned from school dances with one exception. That could be one dance that student council would decide on and advertise as a corsage dance. In that way we can lift the bulk of the financial burden from the shoulders of the male students and still give the females a taste of the days when corsages sold at "Ye local flower store at a dollar per." The outrageous prices of flowers at the present time warrants this step.

This is the time of the year when the wise men and the fool's money are soon united.

He who shrinks from criticism cannot safely be showered with praise.

Christmas shopping makes it harder than ever to laugh at our own expense.

The only people you should try to "get even with" are those who have helped you.

LEO CASEY
Business Administration Major, Soph., Age 23, Army Veteran

The use of corsages has been a tradition for many years — now some people want to stop the practice and some do not. Suppose we do say that corsages are not in order for our next formal dance which will be the Junior Prom; several fellows will show up with their dates wearing corsages and I'll venture to say that more girls will be wearing corsages than not. Fellows never want to appear cheap to their dates so they buy a corsage. Some of you poor students that have read this article wonder which I favor, to keep corsages or not? I'll have to favor keeping them for I doubt if we can do away with corsages completely and unless you can accomplish this the tradition will stay.

BARBARA MCKINNEY
Liberal Arts Major, Frosh., Age 20

I don't think corsages should be abolished for school functions. I love flowers myself, but it's up to the boy that is taking me. After all, why should a girl feel badly about not getting a corsage when so many of the students at YoCo. are vets trying to get along on a small amount of money. In other words, flowers for dances should be voluntary. It's up to the fellow.

PHIL RUFFALO
Business Administration Major, Frosh., Age 19

I believe we should stick to the old tried and true methods of giving corsages at formal dances. It is the mark of distinction, also that of a gentleman to give your date flowers. I hardly believe that one or two formal dances a month will so completely drain a vet that he will find it impossible to buy his date a corsage. I go on record as definitely against the abolishment of the corsage with formal dances.

What a civilization! The poor man worries over his next meal, and the rich man worries over his last one.

"THE KILLERS"

By Leonard Hemingway

(Idea and title stolen from "The Killers")

CHARACTERS: Tony "Dead-Eye" Davanzo, and Pete "Bullets" Stanos (the killers), A Shaw Addict, Kenny Love (a corpse), Loring Sheffield, Pappy Boyd, Bags, Eddie Rose, Joey Lapidus (the popcorn machine).

(Action takes place in Youngstown College Lounge)

SCENE: A high, dingy room with stained windows and stalgamite hanging from the ceiling. Approximately 2,003 students romp boisterously about the cave-like room. A sorority group is playing mah-jong, two beefy hulks Indian wrestle, and others group around a toothy individual who is lying prostrate on the floor, in a trance. He is prognosticating the finals. To the front of the room is a doorway. Through this doorway slither two shady characters dressed identically in black overcoats, black hats, pin-striped ear-muffs, and beaded shoes. They puff furiously on between-the-acts cigars and pause by a bust of Elias Howe.

TIME: Eleven A. M.

TONY: Well, Bullets, I don't see any empty seats in this dump.

PETE: I dunno' but we can find out. (Wagging a either. Let's make some.

TONY: How about that long joker over there with the big, black glasses and the stir haircut?

PETER: Why not?

(The killers empty their guns into long joker with big, black glasses and short haircut. He slumps to floor with thud. Thud is uninjured.)

TONY (sitting): Hey, Pete, what do they do in this room anyway?

PETE: Oh, all the bright college boys come in here between classes for a big smoke.

TONY: Where's the big boy that we're going to pump lead into, I wonder?

PETE: I dunno' but we can find out. (Wagging a meaty finger.) Hey, Bright Boy, c'mere.

(Small man who has been burning scented-incense to a life-sized picture of Artie Shaw scampers over to the killers.)

SHAW FIEND: You call me? You want somethin'?

Huh? Whaddya' want, huh? I ain't do nuthin'!

PETE: Shaddup!

TONY: Do you know a creature around this joint that answers to the name of Schermer?

SHAW FIEND: Bud? Oh sure, everybody knows him.

TONY: Where is he now?

SHAW FIEND: Probably out collecting news for his "Looking Around" column.

TONY: Hey, Pete, Bright Boy says Schermer's collecting news for his column. He won't be doin' much more collecting, eh Pete?

PETE: You can say that again!

TONY: He won't be doin' much more collecting, eh Pete?

SHAW FIEND: Why, whaddya' gonna' do to him, huh?

PETE: Well, Bright Boy, if you must know, we're gonna' knock him off!

SHAW FIEND: Why? What did he do to you guys?

PETE: Notin'! We're bumpin' him for a friend. We never saw him. He said our friend had B. O. and our friend don't take to such a remark — even if it's true!

TONY: Hey, Pete. You talk too much!

PETE: I gotta keep Bright Boy amused, don't I? Now listen, Bright Boy, when this joker comes in I want you to give us the nod — see?

SHAW FIEND: Oh he won't be in now.

TONY: What makes you think so?

SHAW FIEND: If he isn't here by eleven he won't be here at all. I think you're wasting your time.

TONY: Oh you think we're wasting our time! Hey, Pete. Bright Boy thinks we're wasting our time. Bright Boy is a thinker. We love thinkers, don't we?

PETE: Just crazy about 'em, Tony.

SHAW FIEND: By the way, what happened to Kenny here?

PETE: He happened to be sitting in the chair we wanted. Why?

SHAW FIEND: Just wondering. I knew him.

TONY: Let's go up to that barn in back of the music school, Pete. He might be pattering around up there.

PETE: Okay.

TONY: Well, so long, Bright Boy, you got a lotta' luck.

PETE: Yeah, Bright Boy, you should play the big races. (Sigs.)

(Group of Sigma Deltas crowd about little Shaw fiend with inquiring jibberish.)

SHEFFIELD: Hey, Bright Boy — I mean, Tom — what did those two gorillas want?

SHAW FIEND: Wait, Sheff, my incense just went out. (Re-lights incense.) Well, they've come from out of town. They were hired to kill Schermer.

BOYD: About time — I mean, how come?

SHAW FIEND: He said that a friend of theirs has B. O. and they got wind of it. Get it Pappy? Just got wind of it!

BOYD: Drop dead.

SHEFFIELD: Bags, go 'warn Schermer. He's up in the barn in back of Dana.

BAGS: Can't Sheff. Almost twelve o'clock — time to check mit the little woman.

ROSE: Relax, I'll go. (Exit Bags and Rose.)

(Group is silent. They read tea livrs insite copp while Rose is out.)

(Enter Rose.)

GROUP: What happened, Ed? What did he say? Tell us?

Question for the Students

Some of the students at Youngstown College have been heard to express themselves to the effect that many more students could and would come to the formal dances sponsored by the school if they were relieved of the expense of buying a corsage. This may be altogether true. Most of the males here at school are veterans who have a very limited income. Four or five dollars for a corsage is a matter that can not be taken lightly.

Student council has been in the midst of a serious discussion on the subject, and has arrived at several alarming but thoroughly reasonable solutions to the problem. First, they considered outlawing corsages altogether from council sponsored affairs. The danger here lies in the fact that most girls buy a new dress for each dance and consider an escort's contribution towards the evening's entertainment negligible in comparison to the expense of the dress. Besides, a corsage is just what the new creation needs to add the final touch of beauty to the dress.

Council next considered making the dances all informal so that more of the male students would be able to ask the girls to go with them. The results of such a ruling would be doubtful. Much of the glamour and fun of the social life here at school would be lacking. Students who do not belong to the fraternities or clubs would suffer most.

For this reason council finally decided to submit the question to the student body for final decision. In this issue of the Jambar there appears a questionnaire which offers all of the alternatives possible for the solution of the problem. If you students will fill out the form and drop your vote into the box on the main floor, the question will be answered to the satisfaction of the majority.

Youth Center for Students

Youngstown College has been in need of a larger place where students could spend their free time ever since the return of the veteran caused such an influx of students into the halls and classrooms of the college. Such a need has long been seen by both the students and the faculty of the school. However, the material shortages resulting from the war made it impossible to construct such a building or even obtain the use of a building for such a purpose. Any additional space that could be obtained was sorely needed for the primary function of the college — educating the seekers of knowledge.

Now there is open to us a way to have a place to relax in comfort. A place where we can have room to stretch, to play table games, get a bite to eat, dance, have meetings, or even buy a candy bar. This opportunity can only be measured by those of us that can grasp the over-all picture of the convenience to not only individuals, but to every one of the organizations in the school. Clubs and fraternities will have a regular meeting place. Dances can be held without the expense of renting a hall. Plenty of room is available for large affairs, for the ballroom of the Youth Center will accommodate 200 people.

It is being left up to the students themselves whether they want such an arrangement. This is so because the cost will come out of the funds derived from the activity fee charged each semester by the college. Student council will have to allocate from 15 to 30 per cent of their budget in order to raise the money needed to pay the people who operate the center. Here it is — a chance we've all been waiting for. If you want the project to go through, be certain your council representative hears your opinion. He's there to vote for or against as the majority of the students he represents wish.

With the Greeks

A new semester is beginning and many changes in the Greek organization can be expected before the end of it. Several new organizations have applied for charters and are serving their probationary period; others are just beginning to form. Yes, the Greeks are growing with the college.

ALPHA THETA DELTA —

Alpha Theta Delta sorority held a meeting on Feb. 6. The dates for the rush parties were announced. The first party will be on March 5; the second, March 11; and the third, March 15. The formal initiation of pledges taken in last semester will be held tonight.

The sorority wishes to extend their congratulations to former pledge member, Elsie Smith, on her recent marriage.

GAMMA SIGMA —

A meeting was held Feb. 4 at Lois DiBiase's home. Joan Owens was co-hostess.

Penny Angelides and Mary Agnes Hatagan are representing Gamma Sigma on the committee for the Freshman Women's Tea. Lois DiBiase's home. Joan Owens is chairman replacing Elaine Woods who leaves for New York the end of this month. One of the first social affairs of the semester will be the Gamma Sig - Sig Delt party on Feb. 27. Connie Taylor is chairman; her committee includes Bev Herst and Lois Ash.

KAPPA SIGMA KAPPA —

Dave Gundry was elected to the treasury position of Kappa Sigma Kappa replacing Jack Staff who has dropped out of school. Jack will be married soon.

Bill Sifka and Wally Hermely are the representatives to the Ohio State university on Feb. 20, 21 and 22.

Brother Paul Muehlbauer is up and around again after being hospitalized for injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Marine Lieut. Gene Kritter, a prewar Kappa Sig, is home on leave following an assignment in China.

PHI GAMMA —

Phi Gamma will open their fraternity house sometime in March. Elaborate plans are under way for a gala celebration of their 20th year on the campus, including affairs in which the entire school may participate.

The fraternity would like to thank those who helped to make their Mid-Semester dance such a success. Through the efforts of chairman Joe Peyko and the cooperation of many others, the dance was such a success that it has been possible to move up the date for the opening of the fraternity house.

Leo Casey has been appointed by Pan-Hellenic council as chairman of the Sweetheart dance. John Walsh is chairman of the Newman club Mardi Gras dance.

The fraternity extends congratulations to Marve Wilds and his beautiful bride. They were married Feb. 6 at St. Michael's church.

KAPPA ALPHA PSI —

During a recent meeting the newly organized Scrollers of Beta Pi chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi held a formal election of officers. The pledge group, since their organizational meeting on Nov. 23, has functioned with the aid of temporary officers.

Those formally elected to office were: Herbert L. Armstrong, president; Leslie A. Royle, vice-president; Hubert Durlay, secretary; Roy Lyons, assistant secretary; Leroy Walls, treasurer; and Troy Grove, sergeant-at-arms.

After the business meeting Attorney J. Maynard Dickerson of the alumni chapter spoke to the group and praised the work of pledge masters William Higgins and Isadore Blakely.

PHI LAMBDA DELTA —

A delightful party was held by the newly installed members of Phi Lambda Delta at the home of Pat Lombard on Feb. 12 in appreciation of a wonderful rushing season. A centerpiece of individual corsages were made of yellow and white roses. Nylon sweaters were presented to big sisters.

A special meeting was called to discuss the ordering of drapes for the Phi Gamma fraternity house.

Arrangements were made for a joint party with the Kappa Sigs in February and the Sig Delt in March.

PHI SIGMA EPSILON —

The Phi Sigs will sponsor a dance to be held at Stambaugh auditorium on April 25. The affair will be open to the public.

The rush committee, composed of Richard Eiseman, Arseny Melnick, Jack Kramer, Bob Needham and Mario Ross is arranging several rush parties for rushing season.

SIGMA DELTA BETA —

The Sig Delt representative to the Ohio fraternity convention in Columbus is Bob Boyd.

The Sig Delt is planning a party with the Gamma Sigs for Feb. 27. Bob Boyd is chairman for the affair. A party was held on Feb. 3 at the Polish hall.

EPSILON THETA GAMMA —

The newly-formed Negro sorority, Epsilon Theta Gamma, announces that women day students who have completed 28 credit hours are eligible for membership. Those interested in joining are asked to give their names to Doris Thompson or Audrey Parker.

Public Opinion Poll Is Planned by A. V. C.

The newly formed college chapter of the American Veterans' Committee met last week to vote on the proposed local constitution. The tentative constitution was composed by a planning committee which met on three successive Sundays to complete the present document.

Members and prospective members read the submitted constitution and a vote was taken for its ratification. It received a unanimous vote for adoption. This week the A. V. C. submitted this constitution and its by-laws to student council for approval.

The first college project of the A. V. C. will be an opinion poll of YoCo veterans to determine the general feeling on veterans' subsistence. Answers of questions on the ballot will be compiled and findings will be forwarded to the proper Washington authorities and to the national headquarters of A. V. C. The ballots are now being printed.

The YoCo A. V. C. invites all veterans of World War II who are students, alumni or faculty of Youngstown College to attend their meetings. Membership is open to all YoCo veterans who wish to join. You do NOT have to join in order to attend a meeting!

Those wishing to read the story of the Americans Veterans Committee will find an interesting history of the organization entitled "Citizens First, Veterans Second," in the new magazine, "47— the Magazine of the Year." The first edition of this magazine is now on the news stands.

Four YoCo Students To Seek Political Offices

Ben Oles Louis Kish Joseph Peyko

Four Youngstown College veterans will be candidates for city offices in Campbell this May. They are Louis Kish, Ben Oles, Joseph R. Peyko and Percy Sabath.

Kish, a commercial art student, served two years in the army and is a candidate for councilman at large. Oles is also a candidate for councilman at large. He served seven years with the navy and is enrolled in the business school. Peyko, a senior in business administration, served two years with the army infantry and is a candidate for city treasurer. Sabath is a candidate for first ward councilman.

The four candidates are all members of the Republican party which includes an all-veteran slate.

NOTES from Dana's

A special welcome to all the new students who have entered the music school. We hope it will not be long until you will have that old Dana spirit.

The D. M. F. held a Valentine party Monday evening, Feb. 10, in the new Dana lounge. Dancing and games were enjoyed by everyone. Refreshments in keeping with the Valentine theme were served. The next meeting of the Forum will be held in March when Mr. Dehnhostel will be the speaker.

The charter members of the Delta Iota music fraternity gave a recital Friday evening, Feb. 7, in the college auditorium. This was the first public performance of this organization.

James A. Tavolario, member of the Dana faculty, has composed a new march, "The Voice of Freedom," which had its preview playing in Manila before General MacArthur.

The Dana faculty presented a recital Monday evening, Feb. 3, in the college auditorium. The faculty members who appeared were: Nellie Dehnhostel, Elizabeth Hreez, Katherine Guarnieri, Alvin Myerovich, Raymond Dehnhostel, Stanley Davis, S. S. Badal, James Tavolario and Dr. Henry Stearns.

New College Buildings Will Accommodate 400

The 75-year-old barns at 501 and 505 Bryson st. have been dismantled to make way for the four new buildings to be erected by the Felix Pesa & Sons contractors. The contractors are now at work in Camp Perry, O., getting the buildings ready for shipment.

The new buildings will give room to an additional 400 students beyond that of last year's enrollment. Two of the buildings will be used for classrooms and the other two will provide space for library, administrative and faculty facilities.

The transfer of the buildings is largely possible through the efforts of President Howard W. Jones. He is endeavoring to give every veteran a chance to enroll by increasing space and study-room facilities.

The new buildings will relieve pressure from buildings now in use which include beside the main building the Rayen Engineering building, the accounting building, Dana institute of music, Butler art institute, the business school, St. John's church and the public library.

Delta Iota Music Frat
Recital Held on Feb. 7

On Friday, Feb. 7, the Delta Iota music fraternity presented its first recital of the new semester in the college auditorium under the management of Robert MacDonald, president of the active group of the fraternity.

Accompanied by Helen Roberts, Robert Paxton and Robert Furney opened the program with a trumpet duet of Smith and Holmes' "Endearing Young Charms." Following them was William Mathews who played organ and piano solos. Leonard Cesene and Joseph Molinari furnished clarinet solos. Dominic Bisiglia presented his own accordion arrangement of Gershwin's "The Man I Love."

The woodwind quartet, Dorothy Donehue, Leonard Cesene, Paul Shellhammer, and Joseph Cooper highlighted the evening's entertainment with their version of a selection from Haydn's "String Quartet." Vocal solos by Vernon Hamilton, with the piano accompaniment of Alvin Marshall climaxed the program. June Adams and Elvera Hrecz were hostesses.

Independents Plan For Mid-Semester Dance

The Independents held their last meeting on Friday, Jan. 24, in the main auditorium of the Central Y. M. C. A.

Activities for the second semester were planned and adopted. A dance is scheduled to be held in the middle of the semester. Committees for intramural sports were originated.

Dancing and refreshments followed a brief business meeting. The next meeting will be held on Friday, Feb. 14, at 8:00 p. m. on the second floor of the Y. M. C. A. Youth Center on Rayen ave.

Meeting of June, August
Grads Set for Feb. 19th

William Parmenter, president of the senior class, announces a meeting of all June and August graduates, to be held Wednesday, Feb. 19, at 12:00 noon in room 212.

The meeting is a very important one and all members of the class are urged to be there to aid in deciding senior dues and activities.

New Instructors Bolster College Faculty Staff

Eleven part-time instructors have been added to the teaching staff of Youngstown College this semester. Two of the new instructors received their degrees from Youngstown College.

Teaching English are Mrs. Rebekah D'Orsi and Mrs. Dorothy Timbin Miller. Mrs. D'Orsi received her B. A. from Youngstown College in 1938 and Mrs. Miller her B. S. in Education from Ohio State university in 1932, and M. S. at the University of Pittsburgh in 1944.

Mr. C. A. Covington Jr. is teaching commercial law, and at the same time practicing law here in Youngstown. Mr. Covington received his A. B. at Ohio university in 1937 and his L. L. B. from the Ohio university law school in 1939.

Mr. John Pressly, a graduate of Youngstown College is teaching advertising art. Mr. Pressly received his B. S. of Education in 1941.

F. G. Kravec, M. D., is an instructor in the biology department. Dr. Kravec received his B. S. of Medicine, Master of Science and M. S. at Loyola university.

James R. McQueen is teaching social science. Mr. McQueen received his A. B. at Miami university in 1939, and his L. L. B. at Western Reserve law school in 1942.

Mr. Robert J. McCallister is instructing marketing classes. Mr. McCallister received his A. B. at Kenyon college in 1937.

Mr. John F. Walter is teaching classes in education. Mr. Walter received his B. S. at Kent State university in 1934, and his M. Ed. at the University of Pittsburgh in 1942.

I forgot my twister to the slammer so I'm no' hafta hammer on this wooden slab to enter my disc lab. (Bam!) (Bam!) (Bam!)
Open the door Richard! Open the door and let us cats in.

Open the door Richard! Richard, I ain't gonna tell you agin.
Unlock ze door Richardo, make it queek, 'for I slice you thin.

Here you come, Richard, my oh my, Just where have you been?

Now that we're inside we can commence spinning a few ovals of shellac. If any of you want to pick up on the current craze, namely, OPEN THE DOOR RICHARD (if you can find it), COUNT BASIE has it on VICTOR, JACK McVEA shouts in on BLACK and WHITE, DUSTY FLETCHER sings it on NATIONAL and THE THREE FLAMES have it on COLUMBIA. The Three Flames sang it on Arthur Godfrey's Talent Show over C. E. S. Columbia Records, after hearing them, offered them a contract to record it. (Thanks Marty.)

HERBIE FIELDS has a fine arrangement of MOON NOCTURNE. Naturally it features his tricky alto and proves to be a great side. On the reverse is CHEROKEE. But that just proves that no one but CHARLIE BARNET should ever touch this number.

NET should ever touch this number.

FRANKIE finally puts one out that's different. It's THAT'S HOW MUCH I LOVE YOU, on COLUMBIA. A near-blues and bouncy, Sinatra scores with verses such as "If you were a tiger, I'd hang around your den, Sit around and pester you 'till you let me in." On this side he's back by the Page Cavanaugh Trio who supply wonderful rhythm throughout. The Voice hams up I GOT A GAL I LOVE on the flipover.

Not particularly a fan of HARRY JAMES, but I just have to tell you about the superb WILLIE SMITH alto solo on THE MAN WITH A HORN. He and James combine their efforts to make this a must. Current favorite, JALOUSIE, is coupled with this release.

Let me turn slightly square and sentimental for a minute to say something about LES BROWN'S, latest COLUMBIA issue of YEARS AND YEARS AGO. Sung by JACK HASKELL, it carries wonderful feeling and lots of meaning for some people. DORIS DAY sings SOONER OR LATER on the other side.

One of CAPITOL'S latest efforts features DAVE BARBOUR'S guitar and jazz crew on FOREVER NICKI ("Nicki" is the name of his and Peggy Lee's daughter.) Ray Linn is on trumpet and Herbie Haymer blows tenor. The opposite surface is called FOREVER PAGANINI. A fast and furious tune featuring fine piano by Buddy Cole.

Our own MARTY McNEELY runs the Saturday program, MATINEE MELODIES, over WFMJ from 1:05 p. m. to 2:00 p. m. Marty has originated the idea of having guest disc jockeys on his program. To date, Tom McFadden, Fred Pisani and Jim Lowery have guested. If any of you cats want to latch onto some fine and frantic phrasings, yours truly will team up with Marty a week from tomorrow to spin Norman Granz's JAZZ AT THE PHILHARMONIC NO. 4.

Time to cut out and cop some nod between the lily whites, so Richard, you can close the door. I say, Dick, slam that darn do!

What Do You Think?

When it comes to putting the finger on anybody, I'm a funny guy. Don't misunderstand me. In my opinion, Hauptmann still should have fried and Goebbels deserved his fate. What I'm referring to is how the general public, and this includes the sports-writers, can stamp on a guy's face when, in his own mind, he's done right by everybody. I'm speaking of the Rocky Graziano case, of course. I'm not passing judgment on the kid. Maybe his close-mouthedness about the attempted bribe was a great sin to society. But let's look at the Rock's side of it.

Here's a lad that's called the "Golden Boy" of boxing. Barring, Joe Louis, he is the greatest attraction in the ring today. He's young, has what it takes, and is earmarked not only for a great career as a fighter, but for a life of security and wealth, as a result of his pugilistic efforts. His recent battle with aging Tony Zale has been called the best scrap since the Nelson-Gans thing years ago. All of a sudden, he's to fight a western pug by the name of Reuben Shank. Now Shank is no pushover, but compared to "The Rock," he's a ridiculous mediocrity. Funny, things like that get around. You'd have to invest a sawbuck to pick up six bits betting on Graziano. So the match is all set, when a hood gives Golden Boy the word that he can pick up a hundred grand by fading to Shank. Now to Henry Ford II, a hundred thousand dollars is care-fare, but to Graziano and you and I, "them ain't pennies!" "Rock" says no, but this hood is persistent. Finally, when Graziano gets tired of dodging his own shadow, he figures the best thing to do is play dumb and call the whole thing off. So he exaggerates a back injury and hops the Meteor to Florida.

Eddie Eagan runs the boxing-commission in the Empire State, and he says that Rocky erred in judgment, and committed a monstrous wrong to society in general. So he and his outfit revoke "Golden Boy's" license—and insofar as New York boxing is concerned, Graziano's name is mud. Maybe Eagan is right—he's been right before, but when you scrutinize the case more closely, it can and must be logically assumed that Rocky was acting as any normal and conscientious individual would under similar circumstances. Now this hood may have been a tin-horn shooting off at the mouth, but that hundred grand doesn't ring tin-horn.

This reporter may be naive, but he is aware of the fact that certain gentlemen engaged in shady operations of this sort have been known to put holes and such in individuals who don't see eye to eye with their basic beliefs. After all, what had boxing in general or the sanctimonious New York State Boxing Commission done for Graziano. Absolutely nothing. Everything he owns has been achieved through a fighting heart, great determination, and outstanding boxing and punching ability. Suppose he had informed the D. A., and was subsequently found imbedded in a cement kimono deep in the East river. Such things have been known to happen. Now the East river isn't a bad river, but it can't look particularly attractive to anyone hauled from its depths by the New York fire department with grappling hooks.

What would have been said of "The Rock" in that event? Would they have erected a statue of him on Eighth ave.? Would this aid stop big-time gambling? I think not. Money is money, and people are people.

If "The Rock" had thrown the fight, it would be altogether different. There would be no doubt about his being a heel, and yes, a criminal. But he didn't throw the fight, he ran away. Therefore, he can't be all heel.

I fully realize it's a debatable issue and that this dissertation won't aid any—but think of this. One hundred thousand dollars—! What would you have done?

—Joe Walsh

★ The Sportlite

By Gen Goers

The Sportlite centers around two more of YoCo's basketballers, Jack Christein, varsity member, and Joseph Zemba, a reserve.

Jack Christein is a tall slender fellow with friendly eyes and a flashing smile. He stands six feet, one inch, has reddish hair and blue eyes and is a Warren, O., boy. He is unusually modest but not shy.

Jack graduated from Champion high school in '43 where he played four years on the varsity. Playing guard for the Penguins, Jack knows his business on the floor and when performing he is all vigor and power.

A freshman physical education major, he is working for his teacher's degree, after which he wants to teach in this field.

As Jack's schedule is pretty full he limits his social activities to week-ends. He likes the movies for quiet relaxation and reading and music are his hobbies.

As for food, he will eat practically anything that is set before him. His favorite desserts are any that contain chocolate. Although Jack likes his music slow he can jitterbug but prefers to watch rather than participate. The former Glen Miller orchestra was his favorite.

Besides basketball, Jack takes an interest in all sports. He, like many other YoCo athletes, resides at "varsity hall." Jack is also a veteran, having served 30 months in the army air corps.

Joe Zemba, who sees a lot of action on the reserve team as a guard, stands five feet, 10 inches, and weighs 165 pounds. He is 24 years old and has brown hair and brown eyes.

A sophomore here at YoCo, Joe's major is social science and his minor is physical education. After graduation, he plans to do something in the field of physical education.

He enjoys good music and is fond of sentimental, romantic ballads. His favorite song is "Begin the Beguine."

Joe likes to eat, too, especially pork chops fixed anyway. His idea of the perfect evening is to stretch out in a comfortable chair in front of a cozy fireplace and enjoy life.

Witty, he has a gay way of cracking jokes, which he does quite often. His pet expression used frequently is "Butterball." Favorite sports other than basketball are football and golf.

Joe hasn't much time for social activities or a hobby as he is employed part-time at the Carnegie-Illinois steel plant.

His favorite orchestra leaders are Johnny Long and Vaughn Monroe. After graduating from South in '41 Joe entered the army and served 2½ years in India.

Penguin Cagers Upset Baldwin Wallace; Lose To Akron U. Zippers

The Penguins, in a brilliant last quarter scoring spree, upset the highly touted Ohio Conference leaders, Baldwin Wallace, 59-55. Kroll and Bush, with 15 points each, paced the YoCoites to their eighth victory in 14 games.

The line-up:

The Fightin' Penguins

At Youngstown College we've got a team That's full of fight and right on the beam.

The players aren't so very large, But our star center is built like a barge.

Many an opponent has got hit in the moon

From the flying elbow of Charlie Bush.

We've a rugged red-head who's not so lean

Who answers to the name of Jack Christein.

Another kid who's taken many a flop,

Plays under the alias of big George Chop.

Some of the boys who are smaller in size

Are Gibson, Kroll and little Ray Wise.

All these fellas go into the makin' Of a red hot team that's always shakin'.

You'll be able to see 'em fight, If you go to the game come Wednesday night.

Campus Comments

By Kenny Love

If the following drivel seems at times vague and obscure it is merely because I am writing this from the warm depth of what was at one time, during my paters heyday, a fashionable raccoon coat. And although it now resembles Uncle Remus's Bro. Bruin with a bad case of mange, it is performing perfectly its purpose, which is to keep the type O plasma of K. F. L. (the F. stands for Frigid) in a liquid state.

However, with the mercury playing bottom man on the Totem Pole and the temperature reading like the Phillies' standing in the American League, one is apt to find himself confronted with more problems than the United Nations. Paramount among these various problems is that of transporting the body proper (or proper body) from one snow bound building to the next without contacting rigor mortis or contorting a tentacle. And the fantastic manner in which these things are solved invariably turn out some startling results. One amazing chap was seen strolling leisurely around the campus, paper in hand, without so much as a jacket adorning his manly frame. The mystery was soon solved, however, when someone discovered that he was reading the Police Gazette. (Of course I'll let you read it!) While endeavoring to make the treacherous journey from the main building to a class at St. John's the other morn, one sweet little thing, on reaching the top of the St. John's drive, evidently decided (involuntarily) that she could make better time in the sitting position and promptly slid extemporaneously the entire length of the drive on her unmentionables, exhibiting about as much grace as a bear cub at a tea party. Which just goes to show you what a woman can do with her — er — ingenuity (?).

But there is at least one person that likes this gruesome weather and that is a married friend of mind. He says this is the only time during the entire year that he can go home under a full load and still have a legitimate excuse. He says even the best of machines will freeze in this weather if not properly winterized. And he must be a man with the strength of his own convictions because his wife claims that she is the only woman in the world that has a husband with fluid drive.

And as long as we are on the subject of liquid inspiration I might mention the new, so-called dry night club, "The Sahara," which is opening soon. This night club is dedicated as a Utopia for those of you who have no desire to indulge in what is commonly termed as — intoxicants, and if it is as great an idea as it is thought to be by some people it will, no doubt, turn us all into a bunch of xerophytes (one who's drought resistant), which might be for the best. According to latest reports the wheels behind this outfit have engaged the services of one Bill Schweers and his combo, which is, as far as this writer's concerned, just about the greatest thing they could have done to further the interests of the Sahara. Bill wields a mean horn and has a really "gone" bunch to back him. If the rest of the Sahara's program is as good the place can't miss.

But there I go again, getting off the subject. Which just goes to show you what may happen when you start to comment on the weather. And although the weather is unpredictable and at times almost unbearable, it really has its good points. In fact it is probably the only thing left that we all have in common, and it always gives us something to talk about. I have often wondered what people talk about in places where the weather is the same all year around, especially strangers. And here I am screaming about the cold and by the time you get this it will probably be eighty in the shade and no shade.

But right now it's still cold — so all I can say is — "Richard! — Open that door!"

Bivouac ☆☆☆

By William Halferty

Did you ever hear of the Oriental torture where they bury you up to your neck in the dirt in the hot desert sun? To make matters more interesting they hang a slow leaking water bag so that the water drips a drop at a time just close enough so that you can almost reach it with your tongue, but all you can get is a mouthful of sand. Its a big let down they tell me. Various times different people have attempted to follow through these wonderful offers made by WAA. They gave glowing reports of how easy it would be for the returning veteran to buy various equipment to set himself up in a small business. They spend the taxpayers money to pay the salaries of groups of officers whose duty is to make of the distribution of this surplus material. You are treated very nice and eventually wind up with your cute priority slip which guarantees your right to have first crack at the surplus material. IF you have an established business, are not going to use the items for personal use, IF you are a non-profit organization and so on down the line. If you still insist they send you another stall in the form of a mimeographed form that has three little boxes where you are supposed to make an X-mark in the one you choose. Two suggest to you that you have lost the desire to have the surplus and one on the bottom for the affirmative. If you choose the latter you finally receive another mimeograph stating that some federal agency has taken over. Don't you think if they just gave us an honest, old fashioned card and use the money they spend on the priority slips and the guys that hand them out for constructive purposes like the BONUS every body would be much happier? Besides I don't have any place to park a B-29.

S. T. D. Holds Banquet; Paul T. Suter Is Speaker

Last evening the Stoneleigh tea room was the scene of Sigma Tau Delta's semi-annual banquet. Paul T. Suter, local novelist, was the speaker. He specializes in mystery stories. Mr. and Mrs. Karl Dykema were special guests.

Dana Basketeers Head American League Play

Dana, with a record of five won and one loss heads the cagers in the American loop. Blue Jayes still dominate the National league at the top of the standings. Danilov and N. Bartelmay of the National League head the individual scorers. The American and National all-stars will play each other in the preliminary game of the championship playoff. One basketeer from each team will be chosen by four officials, who will take into consideration the ability to play, number of games played, and sportsmanship.

NEWS from Other Colleges . . .

The Veterans' co-op exchange at Kansas State, the first of its kind in the nation, became so crowded during its opening day that it was necessary to lock the door at intervals if business was to be carried on.

Looking for Apartment?

To find an apartment, be slipshod in your method, advises Bill Saks, University of Minnesota Arts sophomore. Perseverance paid off, but inaccuracy played the big part in getting him and his wife an apartment recently.

The Providence College Cowel quoted a freshman who when asked by a patronizing "family friend" how old he was, answered: "Well, my latest personal survey shows my psychological age to be 22; my moral age, 10; my anatomical age, 17; and my physiological age, 16. I suppose, however, you refer to my chronological age which is 18." That silenced all further attempts at conversation.

Lest We Be So Bold

John Quixote was a man the whole world admired. He was famous, wealthy, successful. . . everything anyone ever wanted to be. John was a very good looking man. Had a beautiful wife who always served as an inspiration for him.

One day while John was talking to a life insurance salesman he was suddenly struck with the idea that all these good things couldn't last forever. He realized that DEATH would sneak up on him and quickly snatch away his ability to enjoy the good things he had worked so long for.

Yes, and he went further than that. He decided also that he would be a perfect man. He gathered all his friends around him and told them what he was trying to do. They, of course, were to help him.

Elementary Teachers Feted by New Members

The Elementary Teachers Professional Club of Youngstown College welcomed new members at a Valentine party held Wednesday February 12, at Buechner Hall. A Dr. I. Q. program headlined the evening's entertainment.

New Short Story Policy

Many students of Youngstown College have expressed themselves of the desire to see and be able to read in the Jambar some short stories written by themselves and their classmates. It is the policy of this paper to use all possible contributions from the students.

LETTER TO EDITOR:

INDEPENQUINS

For many moons we have heard various and sundry persons belly-aching about the lack of school spirit in our beloved alma mater. Finally out of the masses there arose a leader who did something besides complain. Now if you boys and girls really meant what you said, this is the time to show it. It is entirely up to your own discretion. John Opritza and his colleagues have spent a lot of their valuable time working out the constitution and arranging social affairs and they deserve your support. If we give our wholehearted support to this organization you might have the pleasant surprise of finding out that there are some pretty friendly folks going to Youngstown College who will welcome your friendship whether your old man is president of the Chamber of Commerce or not.

Anyone who is an independent or inactive brother or sister of the fraternal orders of this college may join. You don't have to shine anybody's shoes or gobble any goldfish; all we have to offer is our sincere friendship for your sincere loyalty. The next meeting will be on Feb. 14. After the meeting there will be dancing, chow, cards or a bull session; whatever you may choose. The admission price for non-members is 25 cents and if you decide you like the club it will only cost you $1 to join.

The purpose of the organization is to have the students of our college get together, exchange ideas, make friends, promote the general welfare of our school and the community, and stop this stupid clique system. Cliques are either a group of weaklings who are afraid to fight their own battles or a group of confused individuals who feel that they have nothing in common with the rest of the world. We are going to try to give them that common ground and something else you can't buy or polish an apple for namely friendship.

Other activities on the list are basketball, softball (male and female), boxing and every Friday at 3 o'clock bowling at the Chmampion alleys. On the tentative list we are planning to have horsemanship classes for those who have the fever. The latter will take place on the week-ends. They will include breakfast in Mill Creek park and possibly a little practical biology, botany and maybe a little sore anatomy. You will be posted on further details.

To wind this thing up for the present we are sponsoring the sale of the polio drive tickets. Our agent for this is Werner Lentz and if you have the time, see him, take a few and this is one time and cause that you should take the time for. If you can't sell them, buy them yourself. It will give that warm and good feeling in your heart the next time you see some youngster who might have been a hopeless cripple walking, running and dancing that no material thing can give or buy you. We who are not handicapped never realize how rich we are until we see those who have to go through life with twisted and warped bodies. These tickets only cost a dollar. Most of us have spent that much in a couple of hours and all we ever got for it was a nasty hangover. I don't like to be mercenary but the club is raffling off a 14x12 colored photograph of the winner of the raffle. Tickets are 10 cents and board members cannot win.

R. I. L. Meeting Dates Changed to Wednesdays

The Religion in Life club has announced that their meetings will now be held on Wednesday evenings instead of Sunday afternoons. There will be a business meeting, a speaker, and then a dance until 11 o'clock.

Prior to this time the business meetings have been held on Sunday afternoons and the dances on Wednesdays.

Dr. Vernon Smith from Philadelphia spoke to the club Sunday, Feb. 12.

Committee Attends Council
The executive committee of the Religion in Life club attended the Council of Federated Churches of America luncheon, Saturday, Feb. 8, at the Westminster Presbyterian church.

The membership committee is opening a membership drive today. Committee Chairman William Knight will lead the drive assisted by Barbara Green, June Bradshaw, Edwina Buchanan and Wendell Van Court.

Persons desiring to join R. I. L. sponsored Dry Night Club may obtain membership applications from R. I. L. members.

Don Hammi Is President Of New Fraternity Here

A new fraternity has been activated at Youngstown College, the Nu Sigma Rho.

On Jan. 10, the fraternity ratified its constitution and elected the following officers: president, Don Hammi; vice president, Don Zangara; secretary, John Maluso; treasurer, Rebel Strollo; and student council representative, James Lowery.

The colors of the Nu Sigma Rho are green and white. The flower is the white carnation.

The purpose of this fraternity shall be to foster and develop among its members within the organization and in their relation to the student body of our college, a social, moral and intellectual fellowship. This fellowship shall be consistent with, and promote the aims and objectives of Youngstown College.

It is the desire of the Nu Sigma Rho to work in conjunction with the other fraternities in promoting friendship and welfare among the members of the various fraternities.

council has outlined the following results they expect to achieve by holding "Greek Week" at this time:

1. To "create . . . favorable publicity for fraternity system."
2. To foster "a speedy recovery from the war years."

The program as scheduled will start on Thursday, Feb. 20, with registration. On Friday there will be a discussion on a "Substitute for 'Hell Week'" and the "Objectives of the Fraternity System."

In the evening the All-Ohio Fraternity Sing will be presented and later the Council of Fraternity Presidents' Dance.

The convention will wind up on Saturday with a discussion on Fraternity Chapter Administration and Alumni Relations.

Freedom and Christianity
Our idea of freedom is derived in part from the Bible, and the true expression of Christianity is synonymous with the true expression of democracy.
