"The peaks in your life will be reached if you have the patience to prepare yourself and the perseverance after you are prepared."

The Silent Partner

It takes Simpson, Tolan, Wykoff, and others, less than ten seconds to dash a hundred yards, but back of that supreme effort are countless hours of training and preparation.

Do you have the patience and perseverance necessary to success? Right now you can "He has achieved success who havend your time to no better c has lived well, laughed advantage than to get a broad educational foundation, followed by special training in some particular field. Your earning capacity is less than it will ever be again. The present period of unemployment has brought clearly home to us how absolutely necessary it is to be prepared.

> Will you persevere patiently to the end and win the race of life, or will you fall by the wayside and give up before you have even started?

DR. BOWDEN DISCUSSES FUTURE OF DRAMA

Youngstown College students who have an interest in the find and venerable art of make-believe are due for the time of their lives during this and succeeding semesters if plens mede by Dr. R. D. Powden, who is in charge of college dramatics, materializes.

Dr. Bowden, who joined the college faculty in 1930, has besides his teaching experi-once, an interesting background as a lecturer and playin.got.

il definés drama as the undeavor to express ourselves as we would like to be rather than as we are, and maintains that we all have within us, to a greater or lesser degree, a surse for and an appreciation or the dramatic element in life,

When asked what makes a successful drama, Dr. Bowden Members of the fencing squad; replied that a drama is composed Lyden - captain and coach, of conflict, clever lines and Miller, Chambers, Heralâ and attractive situations. "By Goldberger, were awarded ... those that will awaker a those that will awaken a response in the minds of the individual members of an audience. Unless a play touches in some way, each indi-vidual's life. it is a failure

"The winning spirit is a heritage to be passed on and we have it now in our keep-ing." Thoughts of that nature characterized the message delivered by Coach Thorne of Grove City College, at the Fourth Annual Athletic Banquet held in the "Y" Auditorium last Thursday.

Those present enjoyed a diversifying program in which both students and faculty members participated. Habel Brown acted as toastmaster.

Grace Gail expressed the students appreciation and the response was given by Captain "Hickey" MacDonald. Dr. Foard entertained in telling of the boys as he knew them.

Letters were presented to the following players by Coach Jack McPhee: Capt. MacDonald, Mullin, Peterson. Hunter, Cole Marks, and Boylan. Jim Chambo received a manager's letter. Members of the fencing squad; Goldberger, were awarded appeal, It is always safe and there are always plenty of chances for attractive situations, conflicts and clever lines. If it is handled with any degree of intelligence by the playwright, it does not fail to touch the audience sympathetically.

In a story or play of this type, some character is always idealized. Like the little girl with the single curl, in the nursery rhyme, someonc must be "very, very good!" and in order to furnish contrast, somebody else must be "horrid". However, if we overemphasize these characteristics, we get the effect of melodrama at which we moderns look askance. We must keep our character consistent and true to life, using only enough exaggera-tion to make his traits stand out. Even if we are dealing with goblins we have to keep them true to life, remembering that even a goblin has a sertain amount of selfrespect.

KAMPUS KOMMENT

Well, people, Grandma has an announcement to make, one that is of grave importance and deserves your unmost consideration and attention. A week hence, on March 25, an election will be held in order to determine the most peculiar of the inmates of our institution. One member of each sex shall be eligible and shall be chosen according to his respective qualities which shall fall under the following classifications: 1 - the most popular; 2 -the best athlete; 3 - the best looking; 4 - the wittiest 5 - the biggest pull; 6 - the laziest (last year Habel Brown was voted the laziest); 7 the noisiest; 8 - the heaviest line; (Grandma suggest Mickey MacDonald for that) 9 - the best sport; 10 - the best student; 11 - most promising; (the one who is most likely to succeed in life) 12 - the most bashful; 13 - the sunniest disposition. No more than one honor shall fall to a person. Watch for the day, be on hand to vote, and choose wisely.

SUNSET At the Grand Canyon

Did you ever see the canyon when the setting sun was low,

And the spires and steamship towers were bathed in rosy glow,

And the haze of purple stillness cast over all a spell,

Phat brought a catch of beauty that is difficult to tell?

The majesty of mountains is in its crested spires, Inside the Isis temple where once burned sacred fires, And the laughter of the river is a mockery to men, Who feel that ell of nature is easily in their ken, For who could sketch the mountains in all their colors gay,

Or who could name its beauty at the closing of the day?
