Student members request Senate vote consideration

Several students, non-voting members, of the University Senate unofficially requested yesterday that the Senate seriously consider giving students voting privileges in the future.

Ted Brachfield, student non-voting member of the Senate, stated that the "Senate, regardless of their reasons, in their failure to allow students voting positions on the Senate, has once again totally ignored the position of the student in relation to the university as a working community. Members of the faculty have expressed opinions that there are conspiracies afoot amongst certain segments of the student body to disrupt campus business. Is it any wonder that students must turn to more sensational and flamboyant means to express themselves, when all attempts to work through the university system are blocked to them by petty squabbles among the faculty and administration? I can only hope that the members of the Senate realize that their responsibility is to help the university function as a whole rather than for their departmental interests which seems to be the case at YSU."

Dan Crishon, President of Student Government, commented yesterday that it was unfortunate that the revised constitution did not receive the two-thirds majority required to pass. He asked that the Senate consider an amendment in the future that would provide for students with voting privileges in the future.

Larry Simko, vice-president of Student Government, felt that it was unfortunate that the issue of giving students a voting voice in the Senate was included in a package of constitutional revisions. He hopes that the Senate Constitution Committee will propose a special amendment to the constitution providing for student "Suffrage" on the Senate. Larry stated that he felt that the provisions were defeated primarily because of the fact that department chairmen were losing their ex-officio seats on the Senate.

Phi Deltas, ZTA's boycott Student Council meeting

In what appeared to be a boycott of Student Council to defeat a quorum and thus to delay action against Chuck Hettler, Council chairman accused of Greek affiliation, all Phi Delta Theta colony brothers and all six Zeta Tau Alpha sorority members failed to attend yesterday's meeting.

Hettler is accused of being a brother of Phi Delta Theta Colony. The Zeta Tau Alpha sorority is reported to be "sister" to the colony. Pat Galterio, Council secretary, is a Zeta Tau Alpha and is reported to be Hettler's girlfriend.

Though most were excused for various reasons, several of the absent representatives were seen prior to the Council meeting and another who reported that she was ill attended an evening class.

Bill Jones, Council representative from arts and sciences, submitted formal charges against Hettler yesterday to Bill Mahoney, Council temporary chairman. Mahoney replaced Hettler who had his privileges temporarily suspended.

The Phi Delta Thetas who were not at the Council meeting are Andy Bresko, Len Fumi, Denny Rowlands and Tom Hronek. ZTAs who were absent were Charlene Carasi, Marilyn Guerra, Henrietta Caruso, Suellen Stiffler, Becky Dixon and Pat Galterio.

The only other absent council members were Ron Orenic and Hettler.

Little activity occurred at the Council meeting, however, Mahoney did announce that he filled the remaining discipline committee appointment with Jim LaRosa, business representative.

Mahoney also said that the dates of the Hettler hearing will be announced at the February 22 meeting of Council. He also said that the discipline committee had decided that the meeting be closed.

Included in Jones' charges was a petition urging an open hearing. The petition asked that the hearing be open because: 1) Council is a public body that represents all students, 2) Council meetings are open to the public, and 3) Hettler's qualifications are a matter of public interest and knowledge.

The following are Jones' formal charges:

1. We charge that Chuck Hettler does not fulfill the qualifications for Representative-at-Large of Student Council.

2. This failure of qualifications is specifically of Article III, Sec. D. 3.

3. Mr. Hettler fails to fulfill the qualification that he not be a member of a Greek social organization.

4. He fails to fulfill this provision because of his association with

Citizens task force advises personal income tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio AP—A statewide personal income tax, revisions in the corporation franchise tax and a broader state sales tax at the present rate were recommended yesterday to Gov. John J. Gilligan by the Citizens Task Force on Tax Reform.

The report also proposed income tax deductions for property taxes, homestead exemption, repeal of taxes on intangible personal property and a higher ceiling for local income taxes.

5. Mr. Hettler has further demonstrated his clear violation of the intent of the above provision in matters of record with respect to the Student Council and members thereof, which will be documented and attested before the committee.

6. The Committee is therefore petitioned to rule that Mr. Hettler is not legally a member of Student Council, and that he relinquish his seat to an alternate.

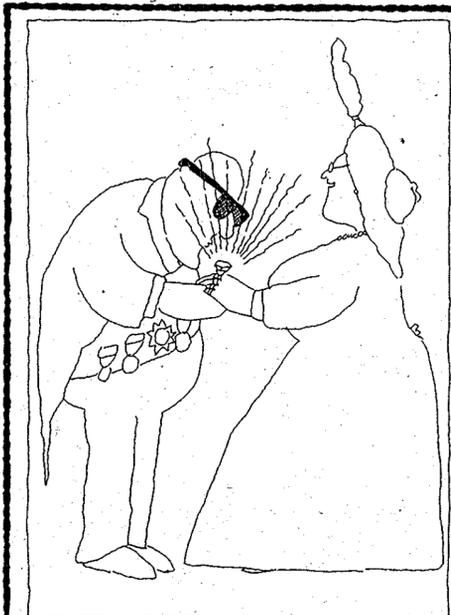

7. This charge is specifically and exclusively against Mr. Hettler's qualification to continue to serve on Student Council as a Representative-at-Large and not against Mr. Hettler or Phi Delta Theta Colony or any of its members.

The Board also appointed James Villani, also a junior English major, to the editorship of the Penguin Review. Coach Rosselli holds career records, honors

In 27 years as Youngstown State cage coach, Dom Rosselli has carved out one of the most successful records in the nation. His career mark to date stands at 420 wins and 260 losses. This outstanding record ranks him as the sixth winningest coach in the country.

Mr. Rosselli's YSU clubs have reached post-season tournaments 9 of the past 14 seasons and won the Ohio NAIA Championship three straight years-1957-59. They advanced to the quarter-finals of the NAIA National Tournament twice and to the second round once. Since YSU joined the NCAA, Rosselli has taken seven teams to the regional playoffs, five finishing third and two fourth.

He accomplished all this while also serving as head baseball coach, intramural director, physical education instructor and, for many years, assistant football coach.

Mr. Rosselli graduated from Youngstown Rayen High and Geneva College, where he became one of the best all-around athletes in the school's history. Rosselli quarterbacked Geneva under present YSU grid mentor Dwight "Dike" Beede and led the Geneva men to victory when the Penguins played Geneva in their first football game in 1938.

Rosselli graduated from Geneva in 1939 and joined YSU as an assistant football coach and head cage coach in 1940. He coached for two seasons before serving four years in the United States Army during World War II. He was discharged, a captain in 1946 and has been Penguin cage coach ever since.

Mr. Rosselli was voted "Small College Coach-of-the-Year" and "Ohio College Coach-of-the-Year" in 1957. He was selected "Italian Coach-of-the-Year" in 1958 and "Ohio College Coach-of-the-Year" again in 1964. Never one to harass officials, the affable Rosselli was the recipient of the first annual Sportsmanship Award presented by the Western Pennsylvania and Tri-State Officials Association in 1967.

One of Mr. Rosselli's highest honors was received last year when President Nixon paid him this tribute:

Dear Mr. Rosselli:

"It is a pleasure to congratulate you on winning the 400th game of your career. You have indeed made basketball history--and you can count me among your many fans. My admiration for your coaching skill is matched only by my gratitude for your enduring service to the youth of our country.

Best wishes to you for the years ahead."

Sincerely,
Richard Nixon

Despite all the honors he has received, Rosselli is prouder still of his family. He and his wife, Connie, have four children--Rosanne, Stephanie, Mary Louise and Domenic Jr. along with one grandchild.

When honored at a testimonial dinner last April, Mr. Rosselli simply said, "I've been lucky because I've been blessed with fine boys." Spoken like the humble gentleman he is.

Two IFC races pend; tournament nears end

With one week remaining in regular season play, two I.F.C. league races are still up for grabs, while two teams can breathe a little easier after locking up their respective titles.

In Sunday's "must" game, Theta Chi jumped off to a 6-0 lead and were never headed in downing previously unbeaten Sigma Alpha Mu, 52-44, avenging an earlier one point defeat. The winners were paced by Rick Canada's 14 points while Bill Berg netted 20 for the Samnies who connected on only 8 of 21 from the charity stripe. Both teams are now tied for first place in their league and, if history follows script, both should triumph this week thus setting up a playoff situation. Though undefeated, Sigma Alpha Epsilon is still not assured of a title after lacing Kappa Sigma 47-27 behind Tom Denny's 17 markers. Hot on their heels is Phi Delta Theta, a 37-22 victor over Tau Kappa Epsilon. Nate Merrill meshed 16 for the winners who need a win this week over SAE to force a playoff.

Theta Xi clinched their league title by edging Alpha Phi Delta, 52-45. Bob Tutko poured in 21 to pace the defending champions. Sigma Phi Epsilon had the easiest time of all securing a title, winning by forfeit as Delta Sigma Phi failed to show.

In other action, Phi Sigma Kappa recorded their initial win, a convincing 64-35 decision over Sigma Tau Gamma. Rick Brill gunned in 19 for Phi Sigs. A fast-breaking Phi Kappa Tau five, led by Chuck Holden's 23 point effort, ran past Delta Chi, 64-27. Finally, John Zubkowsky's 20 points helped Zeta Beta Tau slide past Sigma Pi, 43-40.

Penguin Profiles

Billy Weels, a 6 foot 5 inch 200 pound center, has been doing a good job for the Penguin roundballers this season as a spot starter.

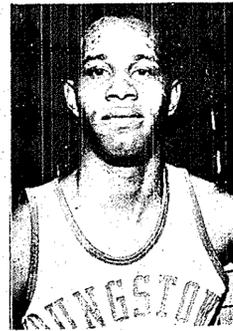

Billy, a transfer student from West Virginia University, averaged 8 points and 8 rebounds a game for the Mountaineer freshman team last year as their sixth man. He has the size and quickness to grab important defensive rebounds and trigger the Penguin fast break.

Coach Dom Rosselli is counting on Billy "to fill in the center spot in coming seasons." He is a tremendous leaper who can compete with men 3 or 4 inches taller than himself.

According to Mr. Rosselli, Billy "has all the offensive moves necessary to become a big scoring threat for the Penguins".

The Penguin coaches and fans are counting on Billy to become one of the building blocks of the future for the Youngstown State University team.

As a spot starter, Billy responds well by working diligently under the boards and playing a tenacious defensive game against his opponents. When given the ball on offense Billy can go to the offensive bucket one on one very well or feed off with accurate passes to his teammates.

Billy Weels

Billy gained second team All-West Virginia University honors at Williamson High School. Here at YSU he is studying American Studies.

Now you're on your way up.

Some people think getting to the top means scaling skyscrapers.

At Hoover, the top is on the fourth floor. Of a neat brick building. On tree-lined streets. In a quiet town. Where the air is fresh. And the horizon is sky.

That's where you'd start. But not necessarily where you'd stay.

Hoover has 14 plants in 9 countries on 5 continents.

Two-thirds of the 21,000 Hoover people work outside U.S.A.

You don't have to go.

You might stay at Hoover's home office. Go into marketing, finance, manufacturing, engineering. Take graduate courses at the local colleges and university.

Or you might go to one of Hoover's 155 District Offices. And learn how we move over 80 different home products.

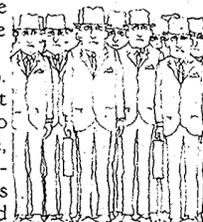

Whatever you do, you'll grow fast. You'll have to. Just to keep up. Hoover's a fast growing company.

First half sales in '70 were up 13%.

The year before wasn't a bad year, either. In 1969, Hoover's total net sales were over $309 million.

So, if you want to go up, go down to your placement office.

Sign up for an interview. We'll be on campus February 16th.

(To about the 68th floor.)

OPINION

Admission Of Guilt

Several Student Council members demonstrated to us again just where their interests and priorities lie.

The only thing that the Phi Delta Theta and Zeta Tau Alpha members of Council proved by not showing up at Council, was that they are more worried about the approaching Hettler hearing than they are willing to admit. Surely Hettler's alleged fraternity brothers (the Phi Deltas) and his girlfriend's sorority sisters (ZTA's), have shown us just how much they do know about Hettler's Greek affiliation. Their votes against pressing charges, against having Phi Deltas on the discipline committee, and now their disinterest in Council meetings can be interpreted as an admission of guilt. At its best the action is a total cop-out. Most assuredly they are not fooling anyone.

When will these foolish members of Council realize that ignoring a problem is not solving it? If they had any interest in proving Hettler's innocence we're sure they would have welcomed a hearing, not avoided one. If they had any ethics we're sure they would register to truthfully testify at Hettler's hearing. If they had any genuine interest in the University or Council itself, we're sure they would not miss important Council meetings.

Letters to the Editor

Dr. Vanaman replies to Pugsley

To the editor of the Jambor:

On page 9 of Friday, February 12, 1971 Jambor, under the heading University Forum, entitled Keeping the University Open, the following statement appears: Quote: "The public schools by law must extend the school year by adding teaching days at the end of the year to make up any class days lost." End Quote.

As instructor for the course Education 949, School Law, and as an advisor to prospective Ohio teachers and administrators, I feel an obligation to respond to this statement. Section 3317.01 of the Ohio Revised Code, School foundation Program; Administration, Paragraph (B), reads as follows: Quote: "Beginning July 1, 1966, the school year next preceding the fiscal year for which such payments are authorized consisted of not less than one hundred eighty-two days during which the schools of the district were actually open for instruction, including such days, not exceeding two, for the professional meetings of teachers when such days occurred during a regular school week and the schools were not in session, except that this requirement shall be waived by the superintendent of public instruction if it had been necessary for a school to be closed because of disease epidemic, temporary circumstances rendering the school building unfit for school use, or other public calamity, provided the number of days the school was actually open for instruction with pupils in attendance is not less than one hundred seventy-five." End Quote. It may be easily seen from this statute that no compulsion to "add teaching days at the end of the year to make up any class day lost" exists except as the State Superintendent of Public Instruction may refuse to waive requests for such closing, or as the number of days the school was actually open for instruction with pupils in attendance is less than one hundred seventy-five.

During my thirty years of experience in and with the public schools of Ohio the various State Superintendents have consistently supported Boards of Education in closing their schools for the reasons cited in the statute. Seldom do schools in this area of Ohio exceed the allowable number of days closed due to the causes listed in Section 3317.01. Consequently, added days of classes due to school closing coming under this statute are extremely rare.

Thank you for the opportunity to clarify this point.

Dr. Overby charges inaccuracy

To the editor of the Jambor:

Inasmuch as the reporting found in the Jambor for February 5 and the "correction" appearing February 12 relative to my recent testimony on February 3 are both inaccurate you are hereby requested to publish this letter in its entirety in your "Letter to The Editor" space.

The following is quoted from actual testimony:

(1) The development of disruption in our society including our campuses has been over an extended period of time.

(2) The basic forces identified with such disruptions continue to be present in our society.

(3) Specific threats from identified sources and planned procedures for non-violent objections to the war in Southeast Asia are of such a nature as to encourage disruption inasmuch as such similar threats and such similar planned procedures have often resulted in violent disruptions in the past.

(4) Although it is documented that those who plan disruptions will exploit any opportunity at any given time it is documented that plans involving campuses, specifically relative to certain student groups, have set the April-May, 1971 time period as a target period.

This quotation is representative of my entire testimony as depicted by a copy of it which is enclosed. Remarks extended after this word for word testimony are all recorded so that inaccuracy is without justification. Your cooperation in printing this letter is therefore appreciated.

Praises coed's poetry recitation

To the editor of the Jambor:

My reasons for writing this letter to the editor are not so much in criticism of the Jambor for allotting only one sentence, in last Friday's edition, to the Black Poetry Readings presented during Black History Week here at YSU, as they are an attempt to show my appreciation and respect for a Black woman whose rare talent has gone pretty much unnoticed here at YSU. I am speaking of Cheryl Patterson, a Junior in Pre-Law.

I was present when Cheryl recited some of her poetry before an entranced audience in Pollock House on Thursday, February 11th at 3:00 p.m. She has a knack for making the listener "feel" her poetry. It was like machine-guns piercing the night air with a deafening report one minute, and the virgin sweetness of a lover's caress the next. It spoke of a nation bedridden with the ills of racism, inequality and hypocrisy for which no cure has yet been found. It spoke of a Black identity and direction; of natural hair-processed minds, the Revolution and the passionate demands of young love. While still more of her poetry spoke of an oppressed people's quest for Liberation in this our 20th Century Babylon.

Her poetry is music, accented here and there with an intricate, pulsating rhythm which when read by its author-fills the air with an intensity that captures the very essence of her being. Her Blackness, her beauty, her awareness of the Black struggle in America, all sprang forth with the strength, emotion and electric urgency that in my estimation... as involved in the Movement as she might have expressed.

All that I've said thus far probably doesn't mean very much to those of you who are unfortunately too busy getting an "education", or attending to other important affairs on that day to get a chance to hear her. (Apathy comes in many forms you know).

My only wish is that if the opportunity ever comes again for you to see and hear Miss Patterson recite some of her poetry, that you take advantage of it. I for one, feel that it will be an experience not easily forgotten.

University
Forum / The "Golden Rule" of Sports

"It is not whether you win or lose, but how you play the game."

This saying is perhaps the golden rule of athletics but, as is the golden rule, is broken more often than not.

The total emphasis in scholastic athletics today is winning. The professionalization of college sports is proving to be financially more lucrative to the schools, but demoralizing to the athlete.

And just as the coaches and schools, the people, or fans are concerned only with winning. People must realize that winning is not the reason for having scholastic athletics. College sports help strengthen character, are healthy, and most of all, are a means of enjoyment.

Scholastic sports are entertainment for all concerned, the PARTICIPANTS as well as the audience. They should remain an entertainment rather than the pressurized positions they are becoming.

No one desires to lose and any true athlete will perform at maximum to attain victory. If a loss is the result, I ask you, "What have we really lost?" Answer: a GAME.

Paulsen plans to repeat campaign for President during 1972 election

By Marie Shellock
Jambar Copy Editor

Pat Paulsen, who ran in the 1968 presidential campaign on the STAG party ticket, will again run in 1972, he admitted in an interview with the Jambar Friday.

When questioned what his first act as president would be, Paulsen fended, "That's personal."

"I can work from the heart," he said pointing to his head.

In reference to a UPI interview printed in the Youngstown Vindicator last week, Paulsen claimed he was misquoted and that the media is out to get him. "They're lying through their teeth—what's left of them after Spiro Agnew's attacks."

Paulsen, who stated that his political convictions really fall somewhere between those of the Black Panthers and George McGovern, arrived in Youngstown Friday following an appearance at Jacksonville State College in Jacksonville, Alabama.

the early '60's he performed at the "Gaslight" in New York's Village where he worked with Bob Dylan, Jose Feleciano and others who also became greats.

His hobbies include playing the guitar, tennis, basketball, and hiking on his ranch in California where he also collects rocks. He claims no "mechanical hobbies," but enjoys reading, particularly history.

Winter Weekend

PAULSEN LOOKS AT THE 70'S — Pat Paulsen delivered an inspiring lecture on the major problems affecting mankind in the next decade at Friday's informal coffeehouse at Kilcawley Student Center.

HEARTBREAKER — The CSU Marauders seriously hindered YSU's chances for a second straight NCAA College Division Tournament appearance when they defeated the Penguins 60 to 48.

UP IN THE AIR — Coach Rosselli's hopes for the first installment of luck were shattered Saturday night at Struthers High Field House. YSU's tournament chances will remain up in the air until this coming weekend's game with Gannon.

"TELL IT ALL BROTHER" — Mickey Hart, one of the First Edition, is snapped while singing the popular pop-rock sound which characterized Sunday night's Winter Weekend headliners.

In Review

Winter Weekend at YSU featured a series of lectures by Pat Paulsen on Friday night along with two folk singers in a coffeehouse atmosphere in the Kilcawley Cafeteria. On Saturday night a capacity crowd watched as YSU was defeated by Central State by a score of 60-48. On Sunday night about 4,000 were present for the two concerts by Kenny Rogers and the First Edition and The Friends of Distinction. Although the audiences were not big the bands both voiced appreciation of the enthusiasm they showed.

Catch—YSU
The Staph
by Skip Miller and Carl Basic

As you sit there and read your copy of the Jambar, did you ever wonder about the people who gather every Monday and Thursday night to put together this fine literary masterpiece?

Well, we have, and as a special service to our readers, both of them, we will now take you on a tour of the Jambar building. Far up in his penthouse suite resides Hugh Peskin the Editor in Chief and Grand Phoobah of all the Jambar playmates. Hugh runs a tight ship. He runs a tight Jambar staff too. All of his activities are directed from a big oblong bed located in the middle of his penthouse. This all stems from his hatred of having to get out of bed in the morning.

Moving right along down the ladder, we have Uncle Bob Belly, Hugh's right hand man (or left hand depending on which side of the bed you're on) who is in charge of laying out the Jambar and anything else that steps out of line. You don't give Uncle Bob any lip because he fights dirty.

Next, we have Danny Undonemire, the local boy wonder and resident paranoid. Danny's job is to stand around and look busy without getting into anyone's way, the latter of which he hasn't mastered too well yet. Once Danny was even permitted to attend a rush party, his first major breakthrough in modern journalism.

Scattered throughout the offices are girls known as Jambarettes. These cute little playmates provide the entertainment and companionship that every Jambar worker needs and wants. As you enter the door of the Jambar club, they greet you with a smile and offer to take your coat and books. You can spot a Jambarette by the way she's dressed and by her large ears.

The Advertising department of this award-winning Journalistic heaven is distinct in its own way. Funny sayings and rejected ads hang on the walls, along with the people who work there. These people are of a different breed in the fact that they don't drink, smoke, swear or get excited in public. It is in this department that all moral, physical, and sometimes rational decisions are made.

Throughout the Jambar building you will notice individuals scurrying around doing little odd jobs. They do these odd jobs in the darkroom, the composing room, the typing room, the layout room, but most of them are done in the rest room.

Occasionally you can hear the patter of little feet as the Jambarettes run from one room to another, usually with a Jambaree chasing them. This is how much of the work in the office is carried on.

In the basement is the beautifully decorated sunken swimming pool that all of the staff are free to enjoy. On almost any day you can see the members swimming, laughing, dancing, and making Mary. If she's not around, someone else will do.

And, last but not least, we take you to the offices of those well known shepherders, Miller and Basic. Sometimes the lid gets stuck and you will have trouble getting into the can, but once you are in there you will be amazed by the plush surroundings. (Available from Abercrombie & Fitch, $1.50).

We realize, of course, that this little tour cannot and will not answer all of your innermost questions about the Jambar. But, if you wish to learn more, watch Jambar After Dark. This fun-filled program can be seen any Monday or Thursday night live, and in full color, by looking out of the third story windows of Tod Hall.

Some of the entertainment this week will be: Shel Rishell talking to a Bunny. Hugh Peskin talking to a rabbit. And a group of Phi Delta Theta setting fire to the Jambar Club with the entire staff inside.

Be sure to look for next week's issue when the center foldout will feature Miller and Basic lying stark naked on a burlap sack in the center of the Mud lot, (probably dead).

Servomation claims
Pepsi, "Dagwoods" are most popular

It has been said: "You are what you eat." If this statement is true, YSU students appear to consist mainly of cheeseburgers, "Dagwood" sandwiches, and Pepsi Cola.

Cheeseburgers and "Dagwood" sandwiches are the most popular sandwiches available from the vending machines in the Snack Bar located in Central Hall. According to Jan Lund, secretary to president of Servomation Corp., these two 40 cent sandwiches are those most frequently selected from an assortment which also includes roast beef, ham, and meat ball sandwiches.

The sandwich vending machines enable students to grab a quick lunch between classes. They purchase and then quickly heat-up the sandwiches by using the small ovens located in the Snack Bar.

Besides stocking the sandwich machines, the Servomation Corp. also services the soft drink and coffee machines both in the Snack Bar and in the other buildings on campus. Judging by the volume of sales, Pepsi Cola is the favorite drink of YSU students. (This does not take into account the stonger beverages preferred by many, but which can not be purchased from the vending machines on campus.) A large quantity of coffee is also purchased, especially during these cold winter months.

Those students who hesitate to "risk their money" in trying to get food from these "apprentice slot machines" should keep in mind that the Servomation Corp. guarantees the refund of all money lost to their machines.
