Artist Lecture Series speaker to talk on abuse of drugs

The drug abuse problem and its causes will be the topic of Dr. J. Thomas Ungerleider, assistant professor of psychiatry at the UCLA Medical Center, when he speaks at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 14, in Strouss' Auditorium.

Eight in YSU's Artist Lecture Series, Dr. Ungerleider is the founder and director of Project D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Research and Education) in Los Angeles.

Dr. Ungerleider is currently the technical advisor for the "four and one" television series, "The Psychiatrist," and he has been consultant to NBC Universal Studios and Paramount Pictures for documentaries and educational films.

President Nixon, Governor Ronald Reagan and Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles have given recognition to Dr. Ungerleider for his work with the preventive drug abuse program, D.A.R.E.

Council changes Constitution--

Student body must ratify amendments

All future amendments to the Student Government Constitution must now be ratified by a simple majority of the students voting in regular Student Council elections it was made known yesterday.

The ratification requirement was proposed by Marilyn Guerra, education representative, last week and passed by a narrow margin at Council's meeting yesterday.

The requirement does not apply to an amendment to delete the two quarter's experience required of Student Government presidential and vice-presidential candidates which was passed by the council yesterday.

An amendment to delete a constitutional clause that prohibits representatives-at-large from being affiliated with Greek social organizations was defeated by the Council.

Dan Crishon announced that Bill Mahoney, vice-chairman of Student Council, will conduct an investigation of the University Placement Services. He said that Mahoney will look into the facilities, location, number of prospective employers that use the service, and overall success in placing applicants.

YSU students to direct Black cultural programs

By Pam Zander

Jambar Feature Writer

A YSU student director and ten student assistants will run the $60,000 Black Cultural Enrichment Project of the Youngstown Model Cities Program, Mr. Frank Costa, director of the YSU Urban Studies Center, said yesterday.

The selection of student managers and other personnel be made by the Model Cities Agency in consultation with the residents of the neighborhoods, Mr. Costa said. Consultants from various YSU departments will help in some aspects of the program.

Fifteen hundred Youngstown City students, ranging in age from 12 to 20, will take part in the program this summer. The program will be conducted in two neighborhood centers on the East and South Sides.

The program, which will be administered through the YSU Urban Studies Center, is tentatively budgeted at $58,900.

The program, to be run for twelve weeks, will cover the whole range of Black culture, from music, art and drama to African-American history.

Mr. Costa added that a library, containing not only books but tapes, music, and works of art will be developed. An intensive seminar is also planned for 25 of the participating students, through the YSU Department of Continuing Education.

Poddar officially wins; Federal Court order criticizes University

The University's failure to renew the contract of Dr. Bhagwati P. K. Poddar, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology, without giving him the reasons for the non-renewal "constitutes arbitrary and capricious conduct," U.S. District Judge Frank Battisti ruled in his formal decision of Dr. Poddar's suit against the University, the Jambar learned yesterday.

Judge Battisti enjoined the University from terminating Dr. Poddar's employment without giving him a "written statement of the reasons" for the termination and an opportunity for a full-dress hearing of the reasons.

The University's failure to give Dr. Poddar the reasons for his dismissal "constitutes arbitrary and capricious conduct prohibited by the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment, and violates" Dr. Poddar's "rights under the Federal civil rights statutes," Judge Battisti found.

Dr. Earl E. Edgar, YSU vice president for academic affairs, said that the University will inform Dr. Poddar of the reasons for his termination probably by Friday, and set up a hearing as the court ordered.

Judge Battisti ordered that Dr. Poddar be allowed to attend the hearing "with counsel, to submit relevant evidence controverting the stated reasons, and to cross-examine witnesses relied upon" by the University in support of its reasons.

The order stems from a hearing of the suit on March 16, where Judge Battisti had tentatively ruled in favor of Dr. Poddar.

Attorney Eugene Green, Dr. Poddar's counsel, said yesterday that he could take the case back to Federal court if the hearing proved unsatisfactory.

Stephens, president of Kleinert's, Inc., New York City, whose topic will be "The Professional Consultant in Public Accounting Firm."

Biology students offer slide program on environment

YSU biology students are now qualified to present color-slide programs about environmental problems and solutions to interested groups, Dr. Lauren A. Schroeder, assistant professor of biology, stated yesterday.

The students want to promote continuing public involvement like last April's nationwide "Earth Day" during "Earth Week," April 24. They have prepared and presented "Environmental Crises," a color-slide program, to many local schools and clubs, between classes and study, since last May.

Dr. Schroeder noted that the presentation is a half-hour long, with a question and answer period ending the free program, when concrete suggestions to alleviate environmental problems are presented by the students. Practical suggestions offered by the American Institute of Biological Sciences (AIBS), which sponsors and coordinates the program, include long-range and short-range plans.

Dr. Schroeder cited the use of lead-free gasolines, phosphate-free detergents, returnable and reusable containers, and materials which could be recycled, as

Exam week schedule necessitates Spring, Summer graduation delay

Spring Quarter Commencement will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, June 19, instead of 8 p.m. Wednesday, June 16, as previously announced, Dr. Earl E. Edgar, vice president for academic affairs, said yesterday.

Summer Commencement exercises have been changed from Wednesday, September 1, to 10 a.m. Saturday, September 4, Dr. Edgar also announced.

The scheduling of Commencement for this year has raised serious problems, Dr. Edgar said. The period between the end of final examinations and Commencement has been so short as to make it extremely difficult to accomplish the various tasks involved in the reporting of grades for graduating students and completing the records of those students to clear them for graduation.

Changing the date of Commencement will provide a longer period between the end of final examinations and the ceremony and should facilitate the clearing of students for graduation, Dr. Edgar said.

In the Winter quarter final examinations ended Saturday, March 20, and Commencement was held at 10:00 a.m. on Wednesday, March 24. In the present calendar for the Spring quarter, final examinations end Saturday June 12, and Commencement is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. Wednesday, June 16. The situation is even worse in the Summer quarter, with Commencement scheduled for the evening of the same day on which final examinations for the 11-week and second 5-1/2 week term are given.

To solve the problem in the Winter quarter, the Academic Deans' Council requested early reporting of grades for graduating students. Faculty reaction to this request, as represented by the Academic Affairs Committee, was highly critical of this method of solving the

Dept. heads consider language requirement

A petition with several hundred signatures that asks for the elimination of the language requirements is already being considered by the Council of Department Chairmen, it was learned yesterday. A subcommittee that has the matter under consideration has come to no decision and is believed to be deadlocked.

Dr. Earl Harris, geology department chairman, said yesterday that the language courses are "overdemanding requirements". The supporters of the petition argue that the requirement states that a student complete 20 credit hours in one language, Dr. Harris said.

Tony Romito, a geology major, said he felt the requirement put "an undue burden on students". Romito also said that supporters felt this is unnecessary for their intended occupations.

The petition states, the language requirement places undue hardship upon students who do not possess the ability to be-problem.

Other methods have been considered, such as mailing of diplomas several weeks after Commencement so that final clearance of graduating students prior to the Commencement ceremony would not be necessary. Some universities follow this policy.

come proficient in a foreign language. Proficiency in a foreign language, in most cases, has no bearing whatsoever on a student's proficiency in his major field.

Secondly, the petition states, the language requirement does not fulfill its supposed purpose of helping to provide a liberal education for Arts and Science majors. Unlike the science and English requirement which enables students to select subjects in many cases, the language requirement—twenty hours for those with no high school language credit—limits the student

Letters to the Editor

Calls parking situation 'pathetic'

To the editor of the Jambor:

It seems to me that among the many varied causes of "campus unrest" today, one of the most outstanding influences is that of frustration in the form of trivial irritating policies. The most frustrating concept at YSU that I have encountered since transferring here in January is the notion of paying fifteen dollars per quarter for the remote possibility of finding a parking space before 5 or 10 after the hour. So far this quarter it has taken one parking sticker (when I parked where the attendant instructed me to park), an average of twenty minutes per day to find a space and being late for class three times to make me realize that we're paying for a privilege that we're not receiving.

It's pathetically frustrating to arrive in the parking lot half an hour early for class and then be half an hour late because you can't find a space. It would seem that after paying $275 tuition per quarter as an out of state resident and $15 per quarter parking fees per quarter, I should be able to park somewhere on campus in order that I might receive my money's worth of education. And so I appeal to the students to not waste space and to the administration for an explanation of why it should cost $15 for an outside chance of being able to park our cars.

concrete individual actions. He suggested persons "express individual awareness to legislators" as a further step to alleviate environmental problems.

Senior Jon Rawson, president of AIBS, said "We don't want people to forget there is a problem in our environment." The programs, including colorslides on various ecological topics such as air and water pollution, are a continuation of Earth Day's emphasis "to promote awareness of the environmental crises," he stated.

Language

to one area of study. Thirdly, according to the petition, the language requirement reduces the amount of time which the student may spend in additional study in his major field. Professionalism in one's major field requires that the student spend a greater deal of time in the study of subjects in, or closely related to, the student's major field. The science major, especially, must spend a great deal of time reading additional material in order to keep up with the rapid developments in his field.

Fourthly, the petition argues, the language requirement has been eliminated at many major universities whose reputations are superior to that of Youngstown State University. These universities no longer demand proficiency in a foreign language as a prerequisite for a graduate degree.

Dr. Robert E. Ward, language department chairman, said he is against eliminating the language requirement. Dr. Ward said, "from results of student opinion questionnaires, distributed to all students in foreign language courses, they show that the students are in favor of the foreign language requirement and many wish to see it increased."

In reply to the petition, Dr. Ward said that, "YSU is committed to the philosophy that it is knowledge, not just credit hours which entitles the student to an academic distinction such as a B.A. or B.S. degree."

Dr. Ward said that two years ago the liberal arts curriculum for B.A. and B.S. degrees was studied by a special committee of the University Senate. It was this Senate, he said, that passed the present day requirements.

Dr. Ward said that many in the College of Arts and Sciences are concerned that any further change "will seriously affect the integrity of the B.A. and B.S. degree and indeed the concept of liberal arts education."

"It is true about the elimination of the requirement at major universities," said Dr. Ward, but he also said that the type of student who attends universities of this kind and with "reputations superior to YSU" is decidedly different. Dr. Ward went on to say that the student has been brought up in a background where knowledge of a language played a central role.

Dr. Ward's final reply to the petition was "to eliminate any of the courses now required for admission or graduation for B.A. and B.S. degrees, is to categorically deny the relevance of all requirements."

Local Nader's Raiders organize fund to aid against 'pollution'

"The urgency of the environmental crisis situation must be made known to the public in order to move the government into action," Mary Boucherle, sophomore in biology, co-coordinator of the Mahoning branch of Ohio's Public Interest Action Group, said yesterday.

OPIAG met Saturday, April 9, at YSU in order to organize efforts to collect funds in support of Ralph Nader and Nader's Raiders, who plan to prosecute "forced consumption" in Ohio.

The OPIAG has set a goal of $1 million to be raised by contributions and voluntary gifts. Miss Boucherle said that a goal will be set at the next meeting Thursday, April 15, for this area. Miss Boucherle and co-coordinator Janet Yaniglos, junior in biology, plan to enlist the aid of area high school students and the student body of YSU.

Nader, self-proclaimed consumer advocate, who has been working in the fields of environmental and consumer protection, will bring his 'Raiders' to Ohio for the next 18 months to prosecute big business, often accused of abusing both environment and consumer. Forced consumption as defined by Nader is violation of environmental and consumer laws.

Earth Week, April 19-24, will be the focal point of the fund-raising but Miss Yaniglos emphasized that the fund-raising will continue past Earth Week. Tables will be set up around campus to collect contributions from students, to explain the environmental problem, and to point out the steps Nader plans to take to eliminate such problems as mercury and industrial waste in Lake Erie. Miss Boucherle added that all University clubs such as fraternities, sororities, Circle K, and other campus affiliations will be asked to participate in the fund-raising effort.

Mentor program sponsors free student tutoring

The Mentor Program provides free academic assistance to any YSU student who needs tutoring in a subject that gives him difficulty.

Jerome Parm, Mentor Program coordinator, said yesterday that most assistance is given on an individual basis.

Non-legal holiday but-- WYSU 'off air' Easter

WYSU, the University's radio station, was off the air on Easter even though it was not a University, state or federal, holiday.

The library and other offices that are normally open on Sunday remained open on Easter.

Stephen J. Grcevich, WYSU director, said Easter is one of the station's holidays as declared in the Board of Trustees' statement of policy for the station. The Board has not made Easter a holiday for the University in general, according to Stuart L.

Aubrey, University personnel director.

Mr. Grcevich said yesterday that the Easter holiday was set up to give the student personnel on the station a day off, since the same students work every Sunday. The Easter holiday will probably have to be cut when the station affiliates with the National Public Network on May 3, he added.

Dr. George Jones, YSU librarian, said that the students that worked on Easter had volunteered to do so.

YSU Soccer Club to scrimmage Akron U.

The YSU Soccer Club, under the direction of player-coach, Dr. Stephen Hanzely, will scrimmage Akron University Varsity Soccer team at 5:00 p.m., Thursday, April 15, in Roosevelt Park, Campbell and Saturday, April 17, in Akron.

At the Fifth Annual Akron University Indoor Collegiate Soccer Tournament which was held April 2 and 3, YSU posted a 1-2-1 record and tied for third place in its division. They dumped Indiana U. (Pa.), 3-1, bowed to the Akron blue team, 3-0, and the Elizabethtown blue squad, 4-1, while tying the Wooster gold unit, 3-3.

Rafael Talavera, YSU freshman and a native of Peru, was named to the prestigious All-Tournament Team which included many All-Americans. YSU's Chet Sywarungsymun, junior from Thailand, tied for ninth in scoring with four goals including three against Indiana.

Other members of the Penguin squad who played in the tourney were Giovanni Gangone, freshman from Niles, Angelo Kangelos, senior from Campbell, Mai Kasemsuvan, sophomore from Thailand, Fred Kaufman, junior from Sandusky, Don Perry, sophomore from Sharon, Pa., and Anutr Phuphatana, sophomore from Thailand.

Dr. Hanzely, assistant professor of physics and astronomy, would have competed at Akron, but he was recently sidelined with a knee injury. Since YSU competes as a club team, all the costs are absorbed by the players. Dr. Hanzely can continue to participate in the game he learned in his native Hungary. However, he would quit playing if the University would make soccer a varsity sport, a goal he's been striving for since 1969.

"Being a club team we have to pay all of our own bills," says Dr. Hanzely. "And we are limited to playing the junior varsity teams from other schools in most cases."

Dr. Hanzely, who is assisted by Dr. Friedrich Koknat, is presently trying to arrange for the use of YSU's football practice field in Liberty Township for his home games. The soccer team, composed of about 20 members, practices at Roosevelt Park in Campbell.

Dr. Hanzely, whose charges had a 3-2 record last fall, has his own feeding system since starting an intramural soccer program last year.

SigEps beat Field Boys are cage champions

"This thing has to be settled" was the feeling of the Sig Eps and Field Boys after winning the intramural basketball championships in their respective divisions.

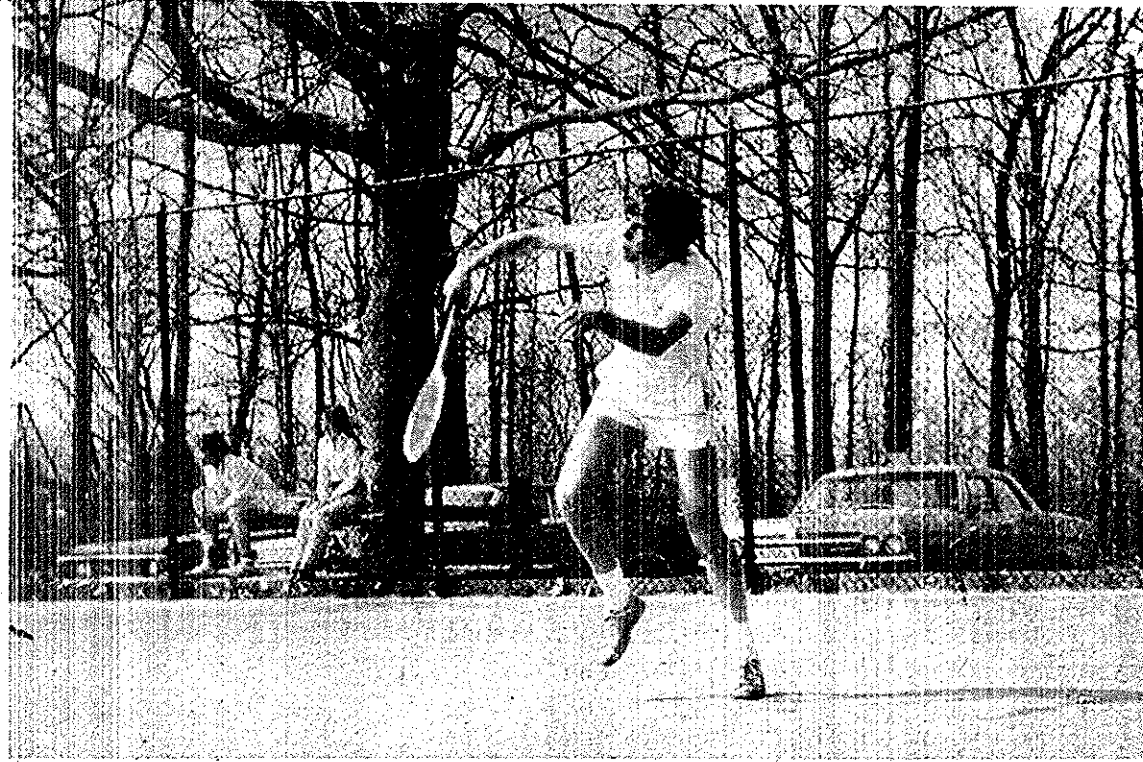

They got their chance last Sunday to settle the issue of an all-campus champion, but performances by both teams were less than convincing.

The Sig Eps eventually came out on top 73-58, but it was obvious that the teams' 3-week-layoff affected the timing on many plays.

Throughout the first half the two teams exchanged the lead several times with the Sig Eps clinging to a narrow 27-26 lead. The game remained close until mid-way through the second half when Larry Tracy, Lou DiDonato and Bob Sferra all found the range for the frat champs and threatened to turn the game into a rout. The Field Boys bounced back mostly on the outside shooting of Nick Evanchan, but it wasn't enough as turn-overs eventually spelled doom for the losers.

Tracy was high-point man in the contest with 25, while Evanchan tossed in 22 in a losing effort.

TENNIS — Jim Lanz, senior history major and a member of the YSU tennis team, is seen returning his opponent's serve. Lanz has been a member of the team for the last four seasons.

Tennis team loses home match

Youngstown State opened its home tennis schedule yesterday on a losing note, while Bill Carson's golfers will see action for the first time Saturday in this week's Penguin spring sports slate.

Bob Thompson's netters, losers to Baldwin-Wallace (9-0) and Duquesne (7-2) last week, were shutout by a strong Mercyhurst team Monday at the Volney Rogers Courts in Mill Creek Park after the completion of six singles matches

Yesterday's singles scores: Hank Diorio-Ed Manning 9-7, 6-2; Jim Lanz-Bill Dopierala 6-1, 6-2; Rick Brill-Steve Gutting 6-3, 6-1; Vic Piccione-Denny Kuhn 6-4, 8-6; Jeff Catron-Dave Kuhrt 6-1, 6-4; and Bob Vine-Dave Williamson 6-4, 6-3.

The Penguins entertain Malone this afternoon and Case Tech Saturday.

The YSU golfers, looking for an encore for their best season ever (18-0-2 last year), will make their first appearance of the season Saturday by competing in the College of Wooster Invitational. Carson has seven lettermen back including regulars Rick Slifke of Ursuline, Jim Grunewald of Ursuline, Jim Maskulka of Chaney, Gil Patrick of Hubbard and Frank Masco of Ursuline.

Dom Rosselli's undefeated baseballers will be put to a tough test with doubleheaders Thursday at home with Point Park and Saturday at Clarion State. The heavy hitting Penguins host the Pioneers, annually one of the district's finest under Frankie Gustine, at 1 p.m. at Pemberton Park. Point Park won two of the three meetings last year and recently completed a training session in Florida.

The Penguins swept their second straight doubleheader Saturday, toppling Case 3-1 and 8-1. The anticipated pitching problems seem to be solved as Coach Rosselli has come up with a couple of fine young hurlers. In the opening fray, Southpaw Ray Baldelli, a freshman from Struthers, pitched a five-hitter and received offensive support from Lou Zitello, a junior from Chaney who drove in one run and Boyertown, Pa. ace Steve Rector who contributed two key singles. In the nightcap another freshman, Rich Hanuschak from Chaney, limited Case to six hits while Zitello led the scoring parade with two RBI's.

WAR IS PREMEDITATED MURDER! Our rules are set up by the Geneva Convention. The Vietnamese have no rules. There are four major ethnic groups in South Vietnam—the Montagards, the Nangs (Chinese), the Cambodians, and the aggregate of South Vietnamese. These four separate groups combined constitute the American allied forces.

Within this allied group there is great antipathy towards one another. One example is a civil war between the Montagards and the South Vietnamese which resulted in the isolation of the Montagards from the South Vietnamese. Consequently, they have as little regard for the lives of South Vietnamese as for the lives of North Vietnamese. They are mercenaries. The Nangs are also mercenaries; their forces are contributed to whomever pays the highest price. The Cambodians can not be truly considered allies of any group, but they will fight when put on the defensive.

Due to these complicated conditions, which exist within this diminutive country, the American GI cannot distinguish the enemy from the ally. They have become distraught by seeing their allies fight among themselves and by being bound by the restrictions inculcated upon their minds by the incongruous rules set by American politicians.

Lieutenant William Calley, a soldier with the additional responsibility of an officer, chose to protect his men rather than follow the insane policies set for conventional warfare. Knowingly, he jeopardized his career and his life for what he felt might possibly become an ominous outcome.

Since the American Society has condoned the actions in Vietnam for thirteen years, are we not all murderers? The American people have made premeditated murderers of every soldier going to Vietnam. Why have we singled out Lt. Calley? He is being tried for not following the impasse rules of our Christian society. Circumstances forced him to revert to the vulpine tactics used in jungle warfare; these same tactics which have caused past atrocities and the enormous quantum of American deaths.

Can we keep restricting our servicemen to fighting by the Geneva Convention rules while the enemy is fighting by their innate instincts? The American soldier is expected to learn in sixteen weeks through martinet instruction what the North Vietnamese is born into through generations. How many more atrocities, trials, and deaths will have to occur before our value of life will become extinct?

As vice-president of YSU's Young Republicans, I, too, was a premeditated murderer.

DRILLING RIG — A portion of a huge drilling rig operating on the site of the new parking decks is seen working above. The rig drills forty foot holes and then drains the water from the bottom (seen above). Steel reinforcements are then lowered into the holes and concrete is poured in to provide caissons as foundations for the new parking decks.

Regents approve child care course

The Ohio Board of Regents has approved the expansion of programs leading to the Associate in Applied Science degree at YSU to include a two-year program in Child Care Technology, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Albert L. Pugsley, University president.

The new program will be offered starting with the fall quarter, 1971.

Offered through the University's Technical and Community College, the Child Care Technology program is designed to meet the necessary educational requirements for employment and licensing of administrators of Day Care Centers, as these requirements are outlined by both Ohio and Federal Statutes.

In announcing the need for such a program, Dr. Pugsley said, "Since YSU is located in, and serves the needs of the citizens of a metropolitan area embracing many low-income families where both parents work or where the mother is the only employable parent, and the Model Cities Project in Youngstown is incorporating into its program a greatly expanded emphasis on the development of Day Care Centers to accommodate children of working mothers, it is logical that the University will expand its technology programs to meet these needs."

The proposed curriculum would include courses in nutrition and food, psychology, anatomy and physiology of man, marriage and family relations, health education, child care and child development, plus courses covering art, music and children's literature. Total credit hours required would amount to 97.

Dr. Schroeder was optimistic about the influence of the program, noting that "all of the programs over the last couple of years have been successful in getting action."
