Jones defeats Hettler in council chairmanship bid

Bill Jones defeated Chuck Hettler for election as the new chairman of Student Council at yesterday's meeting in which the old members gave way to the new in a brief inaugural service and awards ceremony.

Elaine Pochiro defeated Becky Dixon and Andy Bresko for election as vice chairman of council and Barbra Busch was elected secretary of council by acclamation in other elections that served as the first business of the new council.

Each of the old members presented the challenge for a better and more active council for YSU in short talks before the new members.

The last business of the old council was the presentation of service awards. Student Council service pins went to Cynthia Anderson, Charlene Carasi, Henrietta Caruso, Pat Galterio, Marilyn Guerra, Gary Johnson, Bill Mahoney, Ron Orenic and Bobbie Ropar.

Girl grabbed near YSU; police search for two men

Police are still searching for two men who abducted a 16-year-old Austintown girl near the Lincoln Towers Dormitory Saturday at 11:45 p.m.

According to police reports, the victim and an older friend, an 18-year-old Kent State student, were visiting in Lincoln Towers. When they left at about 11:40 p.m., they stopped outside to talk with other friends. The victim kept walking toward Fifth Avenue where their car was parked.

As she passed a house just beyond the dormitory, two men pulled up beside her in a car and asked if the Red Barn was open. As she leaned over to answer them, one of the men opened the door and pulled her into the car. They then blindfolded her and drove to a house presumed to be in another section of town.

Two hours later they released her, again blindfolded, at the City Library on Wick Avenue.

City Council must now act on Elm Street without advice

"The university is disappointed that the full membership of the Youngstown Planning Commission was not present at last Friday's hearing on the closing of two blocks of Elm Street," according to Dr. John J. Coffelt, vice president for academic affairs, yesterday.

Five of the seven members of the Planning Commission were present for the lengthy hearing and voted unanimously to refer the closing to City Council without a recommendation.

In order for a street-closing ordinance to receive a positive recommendation from the Planning Commission, four affirmative votes are necessary. When the issue was voted on three members voted for and two against it. City Law Director Nicholas Manos then proposed that the issue go to council without a recommendation so that the university's deadline of June 30 for contract bidding could be met.

Mayor Jack C. Hunter explained after the meeting that the proposed closing of the two blocks, between Lincoln Avenue and Spring Street, would have to be introduced at Wednesday's council meeting in order to provide the three week notice required before open hearings at council can be held on the matter. If the issue is introduced Wednesday, open hearings will probably be held June 9, and council will vote on the issue June 16, according to Mr. Manos.

During the hearing, allegedly one of council's longest, Dr. A. L. Pugsley, several faculty members, several students, J. Paul Mossman, executive vice president of the Youngstown Area Chamber of Commerce, and an Elm Street businessman testified for the closing.

Dr. Pugsley pointed out that the ordinance only proposed the closing of two blocks of Elm Street and that this closing would be beneficial rather than detrimental to the traffic situation. He also spoke of the university's close working relationship with the city in the past and of the proposed buildings to be located on the site.

Alan Goldstone, owner of a drugstore located in the 900 block of Elm Street, testified that a thoroughfare through the middle of a campus could only be detrimental and a safety hazard to all were many North Side residents including Michael McCullion, a former councilman. Several of the residents who live in the 600 block of Bryson Street pointed out that should Elm Street be closed they will only have the busy Wick Avenue as access to their homes. Mr. McCullion suggested that the city try closing the two blocks in September just to see how well it works out but this was objected to by the Mayor since the university has a June 30 deadline for letting bids on construction.

Black holiday set, observe Malcolm X Day

Black students at YSU will join with other Blacks in the community in observance of Wednesday, May 19th as a Black holiday for Al Han Malik El Shabazz-Malcolm X.

Freedom Inc., a local Black cultural and self-help organization, has joined with other community organizations and proclaimed May 19th, the birthday of Malcolm X, a Black Holiday. The day will be set aside for reflections on the contributions of this Black teacher and leader.

In an effort to provide appropriate activities for the holiday, Freedom Inc. will hold an open house at the "Uhuru Center" on Hillman Street from 12 noon to 6 p.m. The open house will include films on "The Life of Malcolm X" and "Liberation Struggles in Southern Africa." Also, educational workshops on the contributions of Malcolm X will be held.

A solidarity rally will be held at 7 p.m., Local Union Hall No. 125.

WEATHER FOR TODAY: The temperature will be in the high 70's but there is a good possibility this may pass as the cottonball clouds will unite and swoop down across the University and dump barrels of water all over. The sky will flash and streak with white light as the thunder keeps the beat in the background.

Research Paper Published

Dr. James M. Adovasio and Dr. Gary F. Fry, both assistant professors of sociology and anthropology, have been notified that their recent joint research paper, "Population Differentiation in Two Archaic Sites in the Eastern Great Basin," has been accepted for publication in the "Occasional Papers of the Nevada State Museum." It deals with the ecological and artifactual evidence that proves two adjacent rockshelters in Utah were not occupied by the same population for most, if not all, of their 9,000-year history.

Women's Club

Mrs. Edna K. McDonald, advisor for International Students, was elected president of the YSU Women's Club for the 1971-72 year at the group's annual spring luncheon in the Kilcawley Student Center Saturday. Approximately 100 people heard guest speaker President Pugsley speak on the "State of the University."

Chemical Society Meets

John B. Thompson, a consulting chemist and a director of the Trace Metal Research Laboratory, Homewood, Illinois, will be the main speaker at the May meeting of the Penn-Ohio Border Section of the American Chemical Society, Friday, May 21, at the Brown Derby Restaurant in Youngstown. This month's meeting, the last for the academic year until September, will be hosted by the chemistry department.

Last Colloquium Speaker

Dr. Lawrence Van Vlack, professor of materials science at the University of Michigan, will be the sixth and last speaker in the 1971 Metallurgy and Materials Science Colloquium series being held at YSU. The Colloquium will be held at 5 p.m. Friday, May 28, in the Schwebel Auditorium of the Engineering Science Building and is free and open to the public with each program designed to focus on a different aspect of metallurgy and materials science.

Professor Presents Paper

Edwin R. Pejack, associate professor of mechanical engineering, co-authored a scientific paper which was presented at the American Institute of Chemical Engineer's meeting in Cincinnati. Entitled "Electrostatically Induced Secondary Flows in a Channel," the authors considered the flow of air in round and rectangular air ducts.

History Club sponsors showing of WW I film

The YSU History Club will sponsor a free showing of the film "Over There" on Wednesday, May 19, at 2 p.m. which will be shown in the Engineering Science Auditorium.

The 90-minute film concerns the First World War, 1914-1918. It depicts with insight and compassion the plight of individual soldiers on both sides—the pawns in one of the most disastrous international power plays in history.

Much of the footage used in this documentary has never been publicly shown before. Included are newsreels, official army films, suppressed and contraband films, propaganda productions and even films shot by amateur soldier-cameramen.

There are scenes of the great battles of Verdun, Mons, the hundreds of miles of trenches which reveal, for the first time, the horrifying magnitude of the War which was supposed to be "the war to end war."

Correction

It was incorrectly reported in last Friday's Jambar that there were no women faculty in the School of Business Administration. Miss Vera Jenkins is an associate professor in the accounting department.

SANE director leads noon rally

Mr. Sanford Gottlieb, national director of SANE, will speak at a noon rally Wednesday on the topic of demilitarizing the American society.

Dr. Alice Budge, assistant professor of English and a member of the Community of Concern, said yesterday that Mr. Gottlieb has come in from Washington specifically to confront the World Affairs Forum. As the director of SANE he has acted specifically to develop a sane nuclear policy world wide. He was also one of the four national directors of the April 24 march on Washington Wednesday's rally will be held in the Kilcawley amphitheater.

Tonight at 8 p.m. the Community of Concern and the Mahoning Valley Peace Action Council will sponsor a public meeting at the Catacombs at which Mr. Gottlieb will speak with members of the Youngstown Community. Mr. Gottlieb's topic will be reordering our national priorities. All YSU students and faculty members are invited to attend.

A rally will also be held at Kilcawley on Thursday at 11 a.m. to gather support for a large rally to be held at the Youngstown Playhouse at 1 p.m. The playhouse rally is in protest of the World Affairs Forum presentations on Vietnam and Southeast Asia that morning according to Dr. Budge.

On Friday the Community of Concern will show the film, "You Don't Have to Buy War, Mrs. Smith," in the Audio Visual room on the third floor of the library at 9, 10, 11 a.m., 12, 1, 2, 3, and 4 p.m. The film is narrated by Bess Myerson Grant and proposes alternatives to exorbitant defense spending.

Holiday

MALCOLM X

The principal speaker for the rally will be Ron Daniels, former history instructor at YSU and Chairman of Freedom Inc. His subject will be: "The Vision of Malcolm X."

Statute of Limitations

The Senate approved at its last meeting a so-called "Statute of Limitations" which became effective immediately. Dr. James A. Scriven, dean of admissions and records, however, has asked students to delay their petitions under the Statute for a couple of weeks in order to permit academic deans to work out procedures. See stories on the front page of the last two Jambors. The full text of the new policy is printed below.

A student may petition the dean of his school to exclude from the calculation of his grade point average grades earned five or more calendar years before. If the petition is approved, all grades (not merely D's and F's) earned during the specified quarter or semester and all previous grades (not merely D's and F's) will then be removed from the calculation. However, all grades remain on the permanent record.

Excluded course credit (transfer credit as well) will not count toward the total required hours for graduation. However, courses passed may fulfill basic curriculum requirements and may satisfy as prerequisites for higher courses where applicable.

Courses excluded from the calculation may be taken again, and repeated once without infringing upon repeat privileges spelled out in catalog course descriptions. Courses excluded are not subject to examination. A student whose petition has been approved is ineligible for graduation honors. Only one petition from each student may be approved.

Crishon gives views on YSU, raps administration paternalists

Outgoing Student Government President Dan Crishon scored "the paternalistic attitude of some administrators toward students" as hindering the development of YSU as a community.

"The paternalism, or maternalism, depending on who you're talking about, is part of the old idea system that must give way as YSU grows to a first-rate university," Crishon declared.

Crishon said some members of the administration are "convinced that students should have few rights and little say in decisions," while others "will go out of their way to consider student views and help them out."

Crishon had praise for Dr. C. David Bertelsen, assistant dean of student affairs, who "helped out whenever I needed it and gave me a lot of good advice," and President Pugsley. "He has made this university what it is today. I have to respect him for that, no matter how much I disagree with him on many issues."

"Ideas, institutions, and personnel must change if the trend away from a commuter school towards a center of learning is to continue," Crishon said.

Crishon didn't claim any accomplishments, but said that he had worked with many others on the new student code, and that "it is nowhere near perfect, but a step in the right direction," and noted "a small but growing student sense of pride in YSU that I've helped to build."

The ex-president said that Student Government "has been developing some of its great potential" as a vehicle for student participation in the YSU administration. He said he expects the trend to continue under the new leadership.

"I came in with a lot of plans, hopes and ambitions for my term in office, but in the crunch of limited time, student apathy

The Creative Switch

Why has the Mamiya/Sekor DTL become the favorite 35mm SLR camera of campus photographers? Because you're more interested in creative possibilities than record making. The Creative Switch allows you to choose between two separate exposure meter systems, and guarantees perfect exposures every time. Why two? Because front lighted subjects are measured easiest with an "averaged" meter system. With back and side lighting you need a "spot" meter system to read the most important part of the picture. Most fine 35mm SLR cameras have one of these systems; the Mamiya/Sekor DTL has combined both with the Creative Switch. Who cares about exposure if you're only interested in taking pictures of the baby or Aunt Agatha? But the most interesting pictures usually have tricky lighting and you want to capture on film what you see in your mind. See your photo dealer for a practical demonstration. The DTL is priced from $185 plus case. If you want a folder that will tell you all you need to know before you buy, send the coupon below to:

Praises student art show at Butler

To the editor of the Jambor:

I feel I must comment on the student art exhibition presently at the Butler Art Institute. The show illustrates the great artistic potential by the many students who have displayed their works. I think it is important to be aware of the local talent right here on our campus.

Personally, our show is something which I can identify with on a human level. It's truly gratifying to receive as much aesthetic appreciation from the show as if I were to view the great masterpieces of the world—and to think that I am acquainted with the many students who have participated in this great show of talent truly satisfies me.

Many of my fellow students have illustrated their artistic potential and I am sure that this talent will not go unnoticed. I urge those of you who have not seen the show to stop by and appreciate what the art department has established. This is only a beginning of the many shows the art department has in mind.

For now, though, stop by and see our efforts. I hope that you can identify with these works as I feel I have done and leave the show with a feeling of admiration and respect for our local talent. . . a word of thanks and praise to those beautiful people who made this show possible.

Question students' patriotic beliefs

To the Editor of the Jambor:

In reading the letters to the editor in the May 14 Jambor, we were amazed at the sort of insecurity that would prompt Dennis Sullivan and his supporters to defend themselves and their voluntary participation in campus R.O.T.C. programs from purely imaginary attack. Mr. Sullivan is free to observe campus rallies with as much inattention as he desires; certainly it is his privilege to attach his personal interpretation to whatever he may see or hear at these rallies. However, once he uses the courtesies of the Jambor to assign motives and purposes to the May 5 rally that were in no way endorsed by the organizers and participants in that rally, he must expect to have his rash judgment challenged.

Much of Mr. Sullivan's letter is deeply offensive to his fellow "concerned students and responsible citizens," in that he claims patriotism and legality and sincerity for those of his political persuasion but is unwilling to find them in others. If Dennis has not yet found the sense to realize that a public apology is in order, this letter is not likely to bring about his enlightenment. Perhaps Mr. Sullivan deserves to live within the narrow confines of his fears and prejudices.

We do think it important, however, to call to the attention of the Jambor readership some of the things that Mr. Sullivan failed to notice or chose to distort:

1. Father DiBlasio and other rally speakers spoke out against MILITARISM, which Webster defines as "predominance of the military class or prevalence of their ideals; subordination of the civil ideals or policies of a government to the military; a policy of aggressive military preparedness." It does not follow that those who fear the trend toward disproportionate, uncontrolled military growth would object to reasonable national defense measures under appropriate civil control.

2. The May 5 rally on campus and at Central Square, like the April 24 demonstrations in Washington, was entirely LEGAL, observing all applicable regulations. We cannot accept Mr. Sullivan's wishful rewriting of the Constitution, which guarantees us public assembly for precisely the purpose of registering peaceful dissent. Since there was never any hint of disruptive, destructive, or violent demonstration in Youngstown, it is specious of Mr. Sullivan to claim that our peaceful demonstrations "infringe upon the rights of others." Dennis, by his attitude seeks to infringe upon the constitutional rights of those students who are more articulate, more resourceful, and more solidly committed to their ideals than he. He should curl up with the Presidential Commission Report on Campus Unrest and learn to distinguish between lawful and unlawful means of dissent.

3. The rhetoric of the May 5 rally was most decidedly "one-sided." In this observation, at least, Mr. Sullivan is gratifyingly accurate. One-sided rhetoric is needed to offset the rhetoric of the OTHER SIDE, a side that enjoys the heavy advantage of free presidential press conferences and addresses and a Pentagon Propaganda budget estimated at 190 million dollars annually. By any standards, the underdog is us. Mr. Sullivan saves his pity for the side with the money and the power. Strange sympathies are at work here.

One last question for Dennis: "If you're a true believer, anxious for the salvation of your poor "duped" fellow students, why did we only learn of your feelings when they appeared in print? We see you every day at the Newman Center talking up a storm. Why couldn't we have the benefit of your sincere, legal, patriotic views in face-to-face dialogue?... or aren't we sincerely patriotic enough to talk to?" Funny... we feel sincere. Patriotic, even!

Miss YSU to be named at pageant Saturday

The 1971 Miss Youngstown State University Pageant, sponsored by the Kilcawley Student Center in conjunction with the Office of Student Activities, will be held at 8 p. m., Saturday, May 22 in Stambaugh Auditorium.

Seven YSU co-eds are vying for this year's crown. They are: Miss Justine Serednesky, sophomore education major; Miss Jana Marker, freshman education major; Miss Valanta Ellis, sophomore; Miss Virginia Frescko, sophomore education major; Miss Diana Hernandez, freshman education major; Miss Rita Timko, sophomore education major; and Miss Charmane Bennett, freshman.

The entertainment and background music will be provided by YSU's Steel City Six, Acid Brass and Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, Greek Sing Winners.

Complimentary tickets are available at the Kilcawley Information Desk from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. today through Friday and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., on Saturday. A valid ID must be presented.

Crishon

and administration inertia a lot of them fell by the wayside," he said. "We got some things done, though."

"The most important thing I learned," Crishon said, "was that people have to cooperate to get things done. I learned the hard way to listen to others and respect their views, even when we disagreed."

Crishon said the worst thing about YSU is the lack of love or respect for the university, which is reinforced by some postures of the administration. "It's time for everyone to take pride in this school, get behind it and try to make it better."

When asked what his successor should work for, Crishon cited the need for a draft referral system and a day-care center to directly benefit students and student voting representation on the University Senate as a proper channel for students to participate in decisions that affect their lives.

Wants sports internally improved

To the editor of the Jambar:

Intramural and IFC sports activities are only as poor as those who participated in them. Although I agree that lack of facilities have hampered sports activities on the Youngstown State University campus, not all the blame should be placed there. Like any other organization, student activities and intramural sports cannot function properly without cooperation with itself. Softball, for example, was superficially well organized. We had ample bats and balls. The umpires showed up for every scheduled game and their umpiring was good. In the more important or contenting games it wasn't unusual for two or three umpires to be there. The fields were always reserved for us at Mill Creek Park. The rules and schedules were passed out well before the start of the season.

All these bats, balls, fields, umpires, rules and schedules don't make competition. It's the teams on the schedule and how they are scheduled that does. Fifteen teams signed up for intramural softball and a mere six games were scheduled for my team. Of the six games scheduled for the season, my team only got to play three. We were plagued by teams who had no serious intentions from the beginning and a lack of foresight to realize, correct and adjust to it early enough in the season so it wouldn't hurt. Why? Complacency in the fact that bats, balls, fields, rules, schedules and umpires would make a well organized league.

Rules are no good without proper respect for them. The only way to get respect for rules is to enforce them and if they are unjust or inappropriate, amend them. Don't pass the buck in using a scapegoat and believe the pleasing majority is always the answer.

Common sense and, above all, fairness to the minority should be considered in all decisions. If we are to improve, we have to work within the structure and not artificially satisfy the organization's appearance to the majority.

Questions basis of student arrest

To the editor of the Jambar:

After long contemplation of the facts of the arrests made on five YSU students this past week, I feel it is necessary that we take a look now, not only at those facts, but of all relevant knowledge and implications of those arrests, and being a person who possesses a great concern for human value, I feel it is important that everyone is informed of the implications brought on by the arrests.

The basic facts which led to the arrests of five YSU students are the following: On the 4th day of May, 1970, five persons were found trespassing at a local public high school, for purposes of handing out literature which announced a May 5 Peace Moratorium on the YSU campus.

Three of the five persons were found in the school itself while the other two persons were standing on school property outside of the school. These facts can not be argued for I will testify to them, but do we drop the subject there or do we look at all aspects of the arrests? Should it not be mentioned that the convicted were not once warned of the fact that they were indeed trespassing, or, that these people were not, at any time, prior to or during the arrests, informed of their constitutional rights? Should we be content with omitting the fact that these individuals were, time and time again, intimidated, cursed at, down-graded and indirectly threatened? Must we be content on listening to or reading only those premises by which the arrests were based on, or is it of any concern that we seek out all aspects of law enforcement policies? If it is of any concern, then, we must mention the inauspicious conditions of the jail cells themselves and agree that imprisonment can hardly rehabilitate if one comes out of jail dirtier than when one goes in.

The validity of these arrests must be questioned. We must ask ourselves why persons who are committed to peace and going about their convictions in a peaceful manner are locked up in an institution which is supposed to be maintaining peace. Has our society regressed some 2000 years, when at that time a man was put to death for committing his life to peace and being executed in the name of law and order. Is it now again a time in which we must retract our beliefs and commitments to peace, in the name of law and order? But these people were jailed and extensively interrogated for just that reason.

Is it reasonable to believe that these five individuals were infringing on any other individual rights? Is it reasonable to believe that literature announcing a Peace Moratorium creates a public nuisance? Finally, is it reasonable to believe that these individuals dedicated enough to peace as to spend time informing the public of an upcoming demonstration for peace are public enemies? Then, if you feel these arrests were reasonable, you can not in good conscience, say that peace is reasonable or even of public interest.

Honor's Day program scheduled for Tuesday

Students in the top one percent of their class in the six undergraduate schools and colleges of the University will receive special recognition at YSU's Twelfth Annual Honors Day program to be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, May 25, in Strouss Auditorium.

Designed to honor the outstanding graduates and students of the University, this year's program will feature Dr. Donald W. Robinson, dean of the School of Education, as the main speaker.

Special awards to be presented include the Vindicator Awards—to the top students in the humanities, English, social science and the best all-round student academically; the Outstanding Woman Scholar Award; and five YSU Pin awards based on leadership and scholarship.

Dr. Albert L. Pugsley, University president, will welcome guests and honor students, while the purpose of Honors Day will be explained by Dr. Earl E. Edgar, vice president for Academic Affairs. The presentation of special awards will be made by Dr. Edgar and Dr. John J. Coffelt, vice president for Administrative Affairs.

The Reverend Joseph R. Lucas, associate professor of philosophy and religious studies, will deliver the invocation, and the Reverend Earl E. Eminhizer, assistant professor of philosophy and religious studies, will give the benediction.

SPRING WEEKEND QUEEN - Betty Galluppi, junior engineering major, reigned Friday night at the semi-formal Spring Weekend dance. She holds the trophy presented her after she was officially crowned Spring Weekend Queen.

Approximately 1500 YSU students enjoyed themselves at the events of Spring Weekend last Friday through Sunday. The events began with a semi-formal dance on Friday when the Weekend Queen, Miss Betty Galluppi, was crowned by Miss Jane Barrett, last year's Spring Weekend Queen.

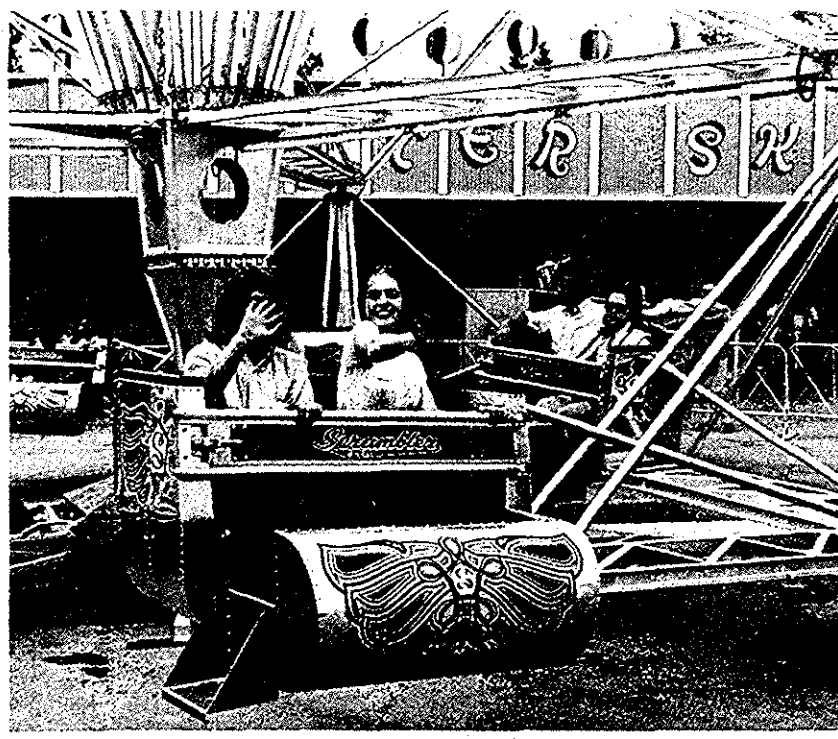

Saturday evening saw Kilcawley Amphitheater turned into a carnival with various food and game booths. Entertainment also went on in the cafeteria with the music of Tiny Alice and local folk singers, Shelia Stone with Richard and Christian Anderson. Also performing was Louie Basso.

A sunny Sunday was the fun move out to Idora Park for an afternoon of free rides. The Weekend closed on Sunday evening with a concert at Struthers Fieldhouse with "Bread" and a comedy routine by Godfrey Cambridge.

New YSU aqua coach holds news brief today

Robert F. Leahy, who has been named assistant professor of health and physical education and director of aquatics at YSU, will be introduced today at a press conference at 12 noon in the Cardinal Room of Kilcawley Student Center.

Mr. Leahy, 28-year-old native of Milford, Conn., is presently swimming coach at Hamline University in St. Paul, Minn. He will begin his duties here September 1.

One of the nation's most successful young coaches, Leahy will replace Ralph Johnson who resigned in September. Due to Johnson's resignation and the subsequent refusal of the team to swim for acting coach, Dr. Lewis B. Ringer, YSU had no team this past season.

A 1964 graduate of Southern Connecticut State College (New Haven, Conn.), Leahy earned All-American honors by placing second that year in both 1-meter and 3-meter diving at the national NAIA Championships. He has a five-year coaching record of 63-15 including two conference championships and a tie for runner-up in the national championships.

Leahy, who built Hamline a respected swimming program, was quick to state that he envisions a bright future for the YSU aquatics program. "I think the entire aquatics program, both the teaching of swimming and swimming on the competitive level, will be moving forward very rapidly because of the new facility," said Leahy. (Beeghly Physical Education Center, scheduled for completion early next year, will include an Olympic-size pool.)

"I believe we will have one of the finest pools in the country," he added. "You won't find many larger nor more complete. I'm sure you're going to see a real good swimming program develop."

Leahy's first head coaching job was at Bemidji (Minn.) State College in 1966 where he posted 14-1 and 13-1 records, winning the Northern Intercollegiate Conference title both years. His 1967-68 squad lost only to Nebraska. Bemidji finished tied for second in the 1967 NAIA Championships and placed sixth in 1968. Bemidji's 400-yard medley and freestyle relay teams both won All-American honors in 1967 with the medley relay placing first in the NAIA Championships.

Commenting on Leahy's selection, Dr. Ringer, chairman of YSU's health and physical education department, stated, "Mr. Leahy is very well qualified for the position. I am sure he will make an excellent contribution to our program."

Willard L. Webster, director of athletics at YSU, said he was "very much impressed with Bob Leahy. I found him very enthusiastic about swimming and coaching. He knows we have to rebuild and I'm confident he'll do the job."

YSU stickmen may be "winningest" team yet

Dom Rosselli's stickmen, now 18-7 and with a chance to become the "winningest" team in YSU baseball history, visit Malone tomorrow for a doubleheader, then compete in the Akron Invitational Saturday with the host Zips, Baldwin-Wallace and Wooster.

The Penguins must win seven of the remaining ten games to eclipse last year's record of 24 victories. However, YSU would like to "take 'em all" since the Penguins are shooting for their first NCAA College Division Tournament bid since 1966.

The "Big Red Machine" ran into engine problems last week as the Rossellimen dropped four of five games. YSU split a twin-bill with Westminster Monday, dropping the opener 10-8, but capturing the nightcap 1-0 despite being limited to just two hits. Daryl Smith hurled the win (his third without a loss), scattering five hits and lowering his ERA to 1.36.

YSU dropped a 3-2 decision to Ashland the following day as ace sophomore Ken Kravec fanned 12 Penguins in chalking up his seventh victory without a loss. Kravec has the pro scouts drooling over his blue darts and a curve that looks as though it is being dropped off a table. The cool southpaw went the distance despite a 45 minute delay waiting for umpires.

YSU suffered two more setbacks Saturday in the Turnpike Tournament in Cleveland. Cleveland State shutout the stickers 3-0 in the first game, while "big-time" Detroit drilled YSU 14-4 in the consolation tilt.

Colts, Sig Eps win intramural golf tourney

The YSU Intramural Golf Tournament, held the past two Saturdays at the Mahoning Country Club, has been won by Sigma Phi Epsilon (Fraternity Division) and the Colts (Independent Division).

The Sig Ep's well-balanced lineup posted a 669 total to outdistance Theta Chi who registered 683. Phi Sigma Kappa placed third at 690 followed by Theta Xi at 693. Mark Resek of Phi Delta Theta captured medalist honors on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff with Sig Ep's Chuck Pavelko. Both finished the regulation 36 holes at 159. The Colts had too much class as they cakewalked to victory. Their 627 team total was 67 points better than the runner-up P. E. Majors' total. The top three medalist leaders all played for the talent laden Colts. Tom Cessna, a deft master around the greens, shot 78-74-152, to corral the individual title.

YSU golfers hold 23-4 record, hope for NCAA tourney invitation

Bill Carson's golfers, rated by many as the best small college team in Ohio, are a good bet to be invited to their fifth straight NCAA College Division Tournament.

The Penguins, "winningest" golf team ever at YSU with a 23-4 slate, defended their Gannon Invitational title yesterday and visit Hiram Friday. The linksmen have won the Gannon event three years in a row.

According to Mr. Carson, "the boys have not yet hit full stride. Despite the record, they are capable of shooting much better. Too many times a player will waste a nine by shooting, say, 41, and then have to come back and shoot in the mid-30's for a decent score."

Last week proved to be a successful one for the Penguins, gaining six wins and losing but one. The only loss came to nemesis Kent State who handed YSU a 15-9 setback at Avalon. As in three other matches with the Golden Flashes, the Penguins won the match play competition, but were defeated in total strokes.

In other matches last week, YSU traveled up the pike to down Cleveland State, 16-8. As usual, the Penguins were led by Jim Grunewald and Rick Slifka who fired 73's. YSU set the new single season win standard (bettering the 1968 mark of 19 victories) in a triangular meet in which they ripped Ashland, 18½-5½ and Alliance, 24-0. Slifka racked up a two-under-par 70 to pace YSU.

Rounding out the busy week, the Penguins captured the Ashland Invitational Tournament by defeating Akron, Ashland and Cleveland State. Jim Maskukla registered a 36 hole total of 153, good enough for runner-up medalist honors, while Slifka's 72 was low for 18. After the first day, only eventual winner Ohio University and Toledo, both in the University Division, posted better marks than YSU. Grunewald continues to lead the Penguins in average at 74.5, but is followed closely by Slifka's 74.6. Other averages include Maskukla at 77.0, Tony Joy, 78.6, Frank Marsco, 78.7 and Gil Patrick at 79.2.
