OEA chapter opens new office, will host area seminar Friday

The YSU chapter of the Ohio Education Association will open its new headquarters and faculty lounge on the second floor of 237 Lincoln Avenue Thursday as part of the chapter's October "OEA month" activities.

All interested faculty members are asked to stop by and meet OEA members as well as Mr. Joseph Newlin, director of the division of Higher Education of the Ohio Education Association. The center will be open Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and refreshments will be available.

On Saturday the OEA will host an open workshop on "changing times in higher education," for Northeastern Ohio Faculty. There will be a $1 charge to all YSU faculty members attending. Keynote speaker for the workshop will be Ohio State Senator Oliver Ocasek.

Dr. Charles B. Simpson, director of the division of higher education of the National Education Association, will lead a workshop discussion on "The National Scene in Higher Education."

Joseph Newlin will lead a discussion on "the Ohio Legislature and higher education."

Atty. Eugene Green, counsel for the chapter, will discuss "the courts and professors," at the workshop.

All workshop speakers will deal with interpretations of the wage-price freeze as it affects higher education.

CCM medical clinic to open this quarter

The Cooperative Campus Ministry announced the formation of a free medical referral clinic yesterday.

The CCM announcement cited the lack of adequate health facilities for YSU students and the high cost of medical care as reasons for the clinic.

The clinic will serve both YSU students and the near North and East side communities.

The CCM will spend the next several weeks completing the technical details for the clinic and will then announce its hours and location. Although no formal site has been selected the CCM has stated that it will be within easy walking distance of the campus if not just off campus.

Last year the Jambar reported that there were no plans for a medical clinic in the Beeghly Health and Physical Education Building. Dr. Darrell F. Rishel, dean of student affairs said yesterday that the new facilities will not provide for an on-campus doctor for the YSU students.

The current health facilities provide only an on-campus registered nurse during the hours of 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The referral clinic will be staffed by volunteer physicians, nurses, and staff members. In its initial stage the clinic will help in referring patients to the least expensive treatment facility available.

Those participating in the development of the referral clinic are Olin Knudsen, Rev. John Wigle, Rev. Gary Schreckengost, all members of the CCM, and Joseph Fogarty, D.O., and William Bunn, M.D., consulting physicians.

The CCM board has investigated other clinics in operation around the country including the Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Berkeley Free Clinics.

The clinic will rely on personal contributions in monetary or any other feasible form. Any physicians, nurses, students or faculty members interested in donating time or money are requested to leave their names and phone numbers with the CCM at 747-9202.

In discussing the need for the facility Rev. Gary Schreckengost, a CCM board member, cited the unwillingness of students to pay $8 to $10 for an office call to a doctor to find out if they are sick enough to require medical attention. The referral clinic will be staffed by physicians who can supply this information free of charge.

Council clears Dunmire, new advisor named

Acquittal of council member Dan Dunmire by the discipline committee, replacement of Dr. Coffelt as advisor to student council, adoption of new Council publicity programs, appointment of a new representative to council, and appointment of a new secretary of finance highlighted the YSU Student Council meeting at 3:30 p.m. yesterday, in the Buckeye Room of Kilcawley Hall.

Council member Dan Dunmire of the School of Arts and Sciences, whose eligibility to be on council was questioned in an anonymous letter sent last week to Dr. Darrell F. Rishel, dean of student affairs at last week's council meeting, was found eligible for his seat on Student Council. Ron Kessler, chairman of the discipline committee, said at the meeting yesterday.

Dunmire's eligibility to be on council was questioned because his accumulative average fell below a 2.25 at the beginning of the summer quarter. According to Student Council by-laws, all representatives on council must maintain a 2.25 Accum.

The chairman of the discipline committee stated that, although the by-laws were vague, the committee believed that the summer quarter's accum. should not be considered because it is not necessary for council members to be full-time students in the summer, even though they must be full-time students the rest of the year, and because council does not meet in the summer.

In addition, eligibility is determined at the beginning of each quarter, and Dunmire had raised his accum to the prescribed level by the beginning of the fall quarter. Accordingly, the discipline committee ruled that Dunmire was eligible and should therefore, remain a member of council.

In other business, Dr. C. David

Alpha Mu Meeting

Alpha Mu, honorary business fraternity, will hold its first meeting of the Fall Quarter at 9:30 Thursday in Pollock House. Current members and those interested in becoming members are encouraged to attend this meeting. Men must wear coats and ties with corresponding dress for women. Membership is open to both men and women. To be eligible for membership the student must have a 2.50 overall accumulative average and a 2.75 in his major.

Robert O. Greer

Robert O. Greer, assistant superintendent, Urban Education, Ohio Department of Public Instruction, will be the keynote speaker at YSU's Cross-Cultural Seminar. The program will begin at 10:30 a.m., Friday in the audio-visual room of the university library.

Two counties to deposit documents at YSU

YSU has been selected as the site of a Local Documents Depository by the Mahoning-Trumbull Council of Governments (COG), it was announced today by Youngstown Mayor Jack C. Hunter, chairman of the executive committee of COG, and President Albert L. Pugsley.

The action was approved by the General Assembly of COG which is made up of various public officials from the two-county area.

Under the University's Center for Urban Studies, the Local Documents Depository will collect, catalog and make available to the public all documents, reports, codes (building, housing, etc.), studies and all other materials pertaining to the Mahoning-Trumbull County area which deals with the physical, social and economic characteristics of the region.

A complete set of various reports and documents covering the past, present and future of the two-county area will be cataloged by the Center which will then hold these documents open for public inspection. According to Frank J. Costa, director of the Center, some 1,000 documents have already been filed.

The university was selected by COG in the belief that the university could best operate the Depository in its role as a non-partisan center for the dispensing and receiving of information.

Bertelsen succeeded Dr. John Coffelt as advisor to Student Council. Dr. Coffelt is vice-president of administrative affairs and a letter from President Pugsley to Bill Jones, chairman of student Council, said Dr. Coffelt's present responsibilities will be extended with the university's expansion program. Dr. Bertelsen is assistant dean of student affairs.

Council also accepted proposals from publicity committee chairman Chuck Hettler that council: set up a table once a month in Kilcawley breezeway manned by Student Council members in order to give students and council members a chance to discuss council's plans, procedures, and programs; meet at least once a month in an area large enough so the meeting can be attended by large numbers of students (only a few students can fit into the Buckeye Room where all meetings are now held); send a copy of all official letters sent in the name of the YSU Student Council to the editor of the Jambar to be printed at his discretion; authorize the Publicity Committee to distribute an opinion questionnaire among the student body in order to determine student opinion concerning issues before the council, to tabulate the results and to report the results to the council.

Your friend is a man who knows all about you and still likes you.

Beede stays, Senate told

YSU football coach Dwight V. Beede should be the one to set his own retirement date, Dr. Peter Baldino, associate professor of educational foundations and chairman of the athletic council, told the YSU Senate at its meeting Friday.

Coach Beede has been a member of the YSU faculty for 30 years, and should be treated accordingly, Dr. Baldino said.

Dr. Baldino also said soccer wasn't recognized as a varsity sport because of a lack of available funds. President Albert L. Pugsley said that a decision was made to use the funds for sports that would be housed in the new Beeghly Health and Physical Education Center.

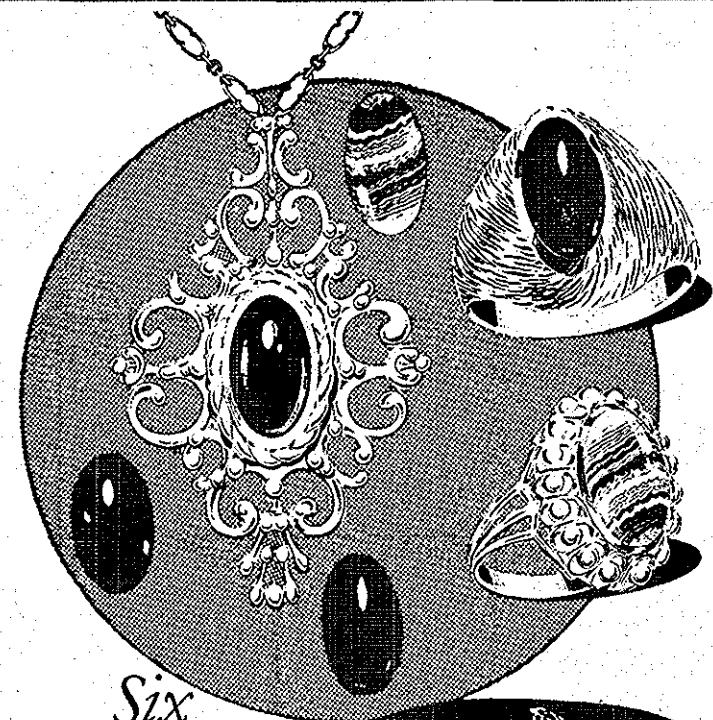

Larry Simko, president of Student Government and senior engineering major, introduced the other student representatives on the Senate. They are Bill Jones, president of Student Council and senior in Arts and Sciences; Theodore Brachfeld, senior in Arts and Sciences; John Greenman, senior American Studies major; Ray Horner, senior philosophy major; and Jerome Parm, senior education major.

Col. John Wales, chairman of the Student Affairs committee, and director of financial aids, said that his committee would soon present a new student code.

President Pugsley read a letter from Dr. Bhagwati P.K. Poddar, president of the YSU chapter of the Ohio Education Association, recommending the contracted faculty pay increases be placed in an escrow account. President Pugsley read his reply which denied the request and called a request for joint trusteeship with the OEA "odious."

Medical Gap

Although the Cooperative Campus Ministry's free medical referral clinic will benefit YSU students, it will still leave a gap in the medical care available to members of the university community. What is needed at YSU is a clinic and infirmary staffed by at least one full-time physician and several registered nurses.

The existing university health service provides students with a "referral" service by necessity. The service is staffed by registered nurses who cannot actually treat ill students without a doctor's orders. This means that each time a student becomes ill, he can go to the health service to obtain advice on whether or not he should consult a physician. Each visit to the doctor is accompanied by an $8 or $10 charge.

In a university with 15,000 students, some 3,000 of whom live on or near campus, it is an outrage that no physician is available for consultation and treatment. The student fees have been raised starting this quarter to provide funds for new buildings and facilities on campus. On top of the list of priorities should be an adequately staffed clinic and an infirmary with beds for those ill enough to require nursing care around the clock.

The quarters planned for the health service in the new Beeghly Physical Education building are not much larger than what the facility has now.

The CCM referral clinic will be one step above the services presently offered by the university, but only in that it will be staffed by physicians who can prescribe medication.

We applaud the actions of the CCM board in their endeavors to provide for the university students that which the university itself does not provide. We also would encourage the CCM to go beyond a free referral clinic and to become an actual free clinic. Free clinics have proved successful in most major American cities and we are sure one could succeed in Youngstown.

However, the success of a free referral clinic and the creation of a free clinic is dependent upon donations of time, money, and equipment from those who are sympathetic to its function. We ask all university and community members to give the idea some thought and join in.

It is most unfortunate that a university with a student population of 15,000 cannot provide its own clinic and infirmary staffed by physicians. Anything less is an embarrassment.

Forum and Letters Policy

The Jambar wants students, faculty, and staff to express their opinions on University subjects and issues. To this end the Jambar offers two avenues of expression, Letters to the Editor and the Forum.

The Forum is intended to permit comment on matters that are broader than immediate campus issues. The Jambar will print only those manuscripts which conform to accepted literary standards and which do not exceed 700 words. The author should fully identify himself.

Letters should be typed, triple-spaced, and should bear the author's signature, address, school-class, and phone number. Letters under 250 words in length will be printed in full, providing they contain no libelous or otherwise offensive material. The editor reserves the right to edit or otherwise condense letters which exceed 250 words.

Viewpoint--

The freeze: evidence of inequity

By Dale Peskin and Ted Brachfeld

There is an inequity on this campus and on several other campuses that has many faculty and students up in arms. The inequity of course is the university's right to increase tuition rates but at the same time freeze the salary scales of most teachers. The student is paying the price quite literally while the administration and the Ohio Board of Regents conjecture about how the freeze affects them.

The point is obviously this: students are paying "inflationary" increases, as much as $125 a quarter over last year, during an economic period when such increases may be illegal.

The University is moving ahead with the fee hike on a ruling which even President Pugsley says is unclear. We wonder how far a student would get in similar conditions. For example, a student hearing of the wage and price freeze assumes that his tuition will not go up and consequently pays the old fee. Will he be admitted to class? The answer is no, yet he is bound to the other conditions of the wage and price freeze and is unable to raise his income.

Even if the university has legal ground to stand on with its fee hike, the very increase violates the spirit of the wage and price freeze. We can't help but feel that the wage and price freeze was instituted to stabilize the economy, rather than to provide a boost for selected powerful institutions.

Herein, the fault does not wholly lie with the university, but with the federal and state governments. The federal government has not clarified its position on the matter, while the state government has used the period of indecision to continue its practice of ignoring education. Ohio, which ranks 48th in state aid to education, could well use the estimated $60,000 they'll

"THEY MAY LAUGH AT HIS TACTICS IN THE HUDDLE... BUT WHEN HE THROWS HE HITS HIS RECEIVER"

University Forum
 "Outcry Against Vietnamization"

I am writing this article in hopes of making the students of this university aware of the great governmental deception that is taking place. Once again the government has succeeded in soft talking the American public into a false sense of contentment—this time through a policy called "Vietnamization." I realize that the war as a topic is a overused one, yet, if we are to live realistically it is one which we must continue to examine.

On November 3, 1969, Mr. Nixon due to strong public dissatisfaction, issued his program of "Vietnamization." The true concept of this policy was made clear in the House Committee on Appropriations hearings by the words of former Secretary of Army Stanley Resor, "that if we can make it clear to the enemy that we can reduce the level of the war to something that the American people will support for a significant period," then the NLF would "negotiate or possibly just reduce the level of combat." In employing his device Nixon's first phase requires Saigon forces to take over all ground combat responsibilities, with Americans providing only logistical, air, and artillery support. Now nearly two years after we heard the word Vietnamization our forces, which Mr. Laird softly labels "residual" or "transitory," number 215,000 in Vietnam and an equal number in support roles throughout Southeast Asia. I quote Gabriel Kolko, professor of history at York University in Toronto, as saying Vietnamization "...was a 'pipedream,' one Pentagon officer commented in July to believe Nixon would have U.S. forces down to 50,000 by end of 1971; 150,000 to 200,000 as late as 1972 was now considered much more likely."

The second phase of the "plan" is to leave U.S. forces in training and advisory roles, with air, artillery and logistical support mainly in the hands of the South Vietnamese. The wild optimism of this unforeseen phase purports the image that the Saigon army is going to achieve a victory that neither France or the U.S. has been able to do in twenty-five years of fighting. Secretary Laird stated, "...phase two will take longer to complete," though how much longer was never predicted.

I need not mention phase three, for already in phase one and two we have committed ourselves to a large financial as well as personnel role for many years to come. Concerning the financial role I again quote Gabriel Kolko, "The most comprehensive available index of what the Nixon administration is planning for the Indochina war is the budget data it persists in classifying "secret" because the administration knows that publication of these data would, more than anything else, reveal the illusory nature of its vague references to "withdrawal."

In conclusion I must state that I hesitated in relating the aforementioned material due to the fact that there are underlying issues which are far more convincing that our role in Vietnam is a mistake. For example, there exists the fact that the "democracy" our government backs in Vietnam is sporting only one presidential candidate, who strangely enough is afraid to campaign before "his" people and the added fact that this candidate has ordered potential voters shot for dissenting on the streets against him further leads me to believe me that our basis for being in Vietnam is so false that there should be no face-saving phases for us to use to get out. We should be out now. Perhaps Vietnamization is just Nixon's code word for Americanization...if so we should practice substituting the terms so that we may better understand our leader. Let there be reality!

Complex comes of age

FINISHED — Al Sabino, President and General Contractor and Rich Crisone, investor and operator of the firm that built the complex, stand before the newly completed student apartments, welcoming their new tenants.

DECORATING — Rick Crossman, a junior majoring in criminal justice, adjusts his stereo systems, fitting it comfortably into the built-in shelves in his apartment.

Housing accents 'spiffy' living

"Really spiffy" is how Bob Grossi, junior advertising major describes his unit in the new student apartment complex on Ohio Avenue, south of Wick Park.

The complex consists of two units. The "California-Style" architecture of the complex is most evident in the stucco walls of the buildings and wrought-iron railed balconies which face the inner courtyard.

The twenty-six furnished units accommodate 106 students. Each unit consists of a livingroom, two or three bedrooms, each having two beds and separate study areas, one or two baths, and a combined kitchen dinette.

Extras included in these units are sunlamps, sundecks, individual temperature control, and wall-to-wall carpeting. Each unit has an outdoor entrance.

Laundry facilities are provided in every building. A partially roofed parking area stretches across the back of the complex.

The cost comes to $65 plus utilities per person per month. Nearly all units have been rented so far this quarter with only four units remaining empty at this time.

Bottom-left SOUP'S ON — Marie Lou Dantonio, a freshman Speech and Drama major, smiles as she eats lunch in the kitchen of her apartment.

Although the complex is being occupied now, it is not completely finished. A landscaping project, which entails sodding and planting of shrubs and other fauna, has yet to be carried out.

According to Al Sabino, president of the private firm which erected the complex, ground is now being broken for another similar student apartment project directly across the street from the existing complex. These should be ready for occupancy by the middle to winter quarter, according to Sabino.

When the Jambar asked a few of the new tenants how they liked their new living accommodations, both sophomore Geani Jellison and junior Sherry Park said that they loved the apartments. Miss Jellison also added that "there is much more freedom here than at Lincoln Towers Dormitory," where she had previously resided. Barb Powell, sophomore, said that she loves her buddies in apartment 10.

YSU's birds are blanked by terrible Tampa, 49-0

"We never quit; there was no let up even when it was apparent we weren't going to win. This was very gratifying to me," said Coach 'Dike' Beede after the Penguins were defeated by the University of Tampa Spartans, 49-0, Saturday before 15,147 fans.

The Spartans were in control the whole way as they scored seven points the first quarter, 14 the second, 21 the third and seven points in the last quarter of play.

The only sustained drive by the Birds was moved to the Spartan 11-yard line late in the fourth stanza. The aggression was stifled on fourth down when a Ron Jaworski pass fell incomplete.

This was the first shut out since 1965 when Baldwin-Wallace blanked the Penguins 30-0.

Coach Beede said that when Tampa was scheduled four years ago they had a different program than the one they have now. In the four years since the two games were scheduled (last year's and this past Saturday's) Tampa went into an intensive recruiting program and are now out of YSU's class. "If YSU played Tampa 25 times we would probably lose all 25."

"We schedule teams that have a good chance of beating us," Coach Beede said. "The essence of sports is to present a challenge. Some schools win on the scheduling desk by playing weak and inferior teams. We don't do it here, never did and never will."

"Our team is getting stronger every year even if the won loss record doesn't show it," he said.

YSU's foe this week is the unbeaten Northern Michigan Wildcats, 4-0, a physically strong team that has a good running attack. The Wildcats beat Central Michigan 37-14 and Central Michigan beat the Penguins 47-19 in the season opener.

On defense the Wildcats have two unusually good linebackers in Tim Kearney (6'3", 222.5 lb.) and Ken McLean (5'11", 215 lb.). Their offense is led by quarterback Marty Brenner who can throw when half back Reggie Barefield isn't moving the ball on the ground.

Even though the Penguins are smaller don't count them out if the defense can stop Barefield and the offense can take care of Kearney and McLean, but it won't be easy.

YSU will probably start the same offensive and defensive line-men as in the past. Ron Jaworski, quarterback, who injured his ankle in the Tampa game is expected to recover for this week's contest.

Parking

a fair assessment of the parking problem at YSU he believes that after car pools are formed and more students begin to walk or ride bikes the situation will improve. He also said the 29 parking lot watchmen and the five student lot attendants will aid the students and faculty in their search for a parking space.

The student lot attendants "are doing a very good job," he said. The student attendants are used on the busier lots and assist the regular parking lot attendants.

The new parking area on Bryson Street was instituted more for safety factors than for additional parking space, according to Schwartzmiller. He recommended that Bryson Street be turned into a parking area after he noticed the congestion caused by the heavy pedestrian traffic.

Schwartzmiller is not new to Youngstown. He spent some time in the area as a state policeman. He said he is presently renewing many of the old acquaintances he made when he worked here. Schwartzmiller resides in Rootstown, Ohio, where he and his wife own 30 acres of land.

SMASHED AGAIN! — End Bob Ferranti (84) is tackled immediately after receiving a toss from quarterback Ron Jaworski for a substantial gain. YSU lost 49 to zip.

make from YSU alone during the freeze. Assuming that this money was to be used in salary increases which have been frozen, we can't help but wonder how this unallocated money will be used. Will these funds that were to be applied to the education of students at their respective universities, disappear in the chaos of the state budget.

It's not that we feel the money will be wasted, but that the funds might be applied to the physical characteristics of the university instead of to the advancement of quality education and educators.

Perhaps it will take a legal battle to clarify the innuendos of the wage-price freeze and the subsequent fee hike by the university.

Until a clarification is reached, the students will bear the brunt of indecision. Not only will we pay for a quantity of parking spaces that is not there, but a quality education that may never come.
