Van Doren Tonight

Stambaugh Scene Of Critic's Lecture

Dr. Mark Van Doren, Pulitzer-Prize winning poet and noted literary critic, will deliver the fourth Skeggs Lecture tonight, April 5, at 8:30 p.m. in Stambaugh Auditorium.

At his lecture Dr. Van Doren will read from selected works in "An Evening With Van Doren."

A varied program is planned to welcome Dr. Van Doren during his visit to the campus today.

Dr. Van Doren will hold a news conference at 10 a.m. in the Carnation Room, Kilcawley Student Center.

At noon he will lunch with the English faculty and at 3:30 p.m. will meet in an informal discussion session with the honors section of English students.

All of the meetings will be limited with the exception of the address. Although not needed, tickets for the address may be obtained at the University's Admissions Office, Dean of Men's or Women's Office, and the Public Relations Office. They are also available at the door the evening of the lecture.

Dr. Van Doren is noted as a playwright, novelist, short story writer, critic, editor, and prize-winning poet.

His works include "Collected Poems," for which he received the coveted Pulitzer Prize in Poetry in 1940, "7 P.M. and Other Poems," "Spring Thunder," "Now the Sky," "Collected and New Poems," "Selected Poems," "The Narrative Poems of Mark Van Doren," and "100 Poems Selected by the Author."

In addition to his volumes of poetry, Mr. Van Doren has also published many dissertations and essays, plus writing his autobiography.

He received his A.B. and A.M. degrees from the University of Illinois and his Ph.D. from Columbia University.

Dr. Van Doren is the 4th in a series of Skeggs Lectures held in honor of the late Leonard T. Skeggs, Sr., former secretary of the Youngstown YMCA and an instrumental figure in the founding of Youngstown State University.

The semi-annual lectures were established in 1966 with the purpose of bringing distinguished men of the arts and sciences to the campus.

The lectures are supported by the Skeggs Foundation which was established by the Skeggs family.

History Club Will Sponsor 3 Candidates

A symposium will be sponsored by the History Club at 2:00 p.m. in Strouss Auditorium on Thursday, April 11 which will feature three of the four candidates for Representative to Congress from the nineteenth district.

The three candidates present will be Robert Hagan and Thomas P. Gilmartin, both democrats, and Donald J. Lewis, Republican.

Michael J. Kirwan, Democrat, the incumbent, is unable to attend.

The candidates will present their views on national and local problems. A question and answer period will follow.

Mark Van Doren

"Choice 68"

Youngstown State will take part in Choice 68, a program sponsored by Time magazine and often referred to as the "National Collegiate Presidential Primary" on April 24.

On the ballot will be 12 candidates for consideration. The candidates range in political leanings from the Socialist Workers Party Candidate, Fred Halstead, to Republican former vice president, Richard Nixon.

Also included on the ballot will be three referendum questions of national importance. Two of these deal with the country's current involvement in Vietnam, and one with the government's spending in confronting the "urban crisis."

Nino D'Alto, Student Council Discipline Committee Chairman, stated that several local referenda and political contests will also be added to the national ballot.

The "Choice 68" program grew out of the great amount of student support which Senator McCarthy utilized during his New Hampshire primary campaign.

"Choice 68" is attempting to kindle this spirit of political interest in all students by making an exclusively college election available to them.

Ray Johnson, vice-chairman of Student Council, stated that he hopes the students realize the excellent opportunity which "Choice 68" affords them.

Cincy Enquirer Editor To Discuss Ohio Politics

Mr. Forrest Brady Black, vice president and editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, will be on campus Thursday, April 11, discussing Ohio politics, 1968.

Mr. Black will be introduced by Mr. Cingan Jackson, political editor of the Youngstown Vindicator, at the evening meeting to be held in Dana Recital Hall at 8:30 p.m.

The meeting is open to all students, as is the student coffee hour to be held at Pollock House following the program.

Members of Gamma Sigma Sigma service sorority will serve as hostesses.

Mr. Black, who is considered dean of Ohio newsmen, began his newspaper career as sports editor of the Ashland, Kentucky Independent in 1927, becoming city editor in 1938.

He joined the staff of the Enquirer in 1940, becoming managing editor in 1956, and taking his present position in 1964.

Mr. Black is a director of the International American Press Association.

The Black campus visit is sponsored by the Lecture Series Committee.

A coffee hour at which Mr. Black, Mr. Jackson, and Mr. Mansell (Youngstown Vindicator editor) will be held for journalism students in the Carnation Room of Kilcawley, 4-5 p.m. Thursday.

Political science faculty and students will have dinner with Mr. Black at 6 p.m., Carnation Room.

Discipline Committee Releases Decisions

The University Discipline Committee Newsheet was published recently listing disciplinary hearings and the results of those hearings for the Spring semester of this year.

Four cases are listed. One case which was reported in the October 20, 1967 issue of the JAMBAR was omitted. The omitted case involved tampering with the ballots in Spring Weekend booth competition by two students.

The four cases which were listed in the newsletter included one of a student erasing the probation notation on his registration card and then registering illegally for 19 credit hours last spring. The student was suspended for one year.

Another case involved a graduate taking the admission tests for a student to get into the school of education. The student was suspended for one year. The graduate received no punishment.

The third case, which occurred in the fall quarter of 1967 involved a plagiarized article which appeared in the Jambar. The student was reprimanded and forbidden to work for any campus publication for the remainder of the academic year.

The last disciplinary action which was reported in the newsletter concerned three students who collaborated on a take-home mid-term exam and handed in identical papers (one of them a Xerox copy).

The students were given an F in the course and placed on academic probation for the remainder of the year.

Omicron Lambda Visits Schools During Break

Members of Omicron Lambda, Honorary Biology Fraternity, visited seven area schools over the semester break presenting programs describing career opportunities in Biology to high school students.

The schools visited were Rayen, North, East, Mooney, Chaney, Poland, Campbell, and Austintown-Fitch.

Participating in the program were Ken Kacenga, Ken Miller, Gene Pisegna, Mary Jane Focht, Jerry Burlingame, Tony Costarella, Ted Pysner, Marty Schwebel, and Larry Char-niga.

"Art Happening" In May

An "Art Happening", now in preparation by the Art Club, will take place in Strouss' Auditorium in May, the date and time to be announced later.

It will cover many facets of the arts, including interpretative dancing, monologues, visual effects.

"We're hoping to present an exciting show, not only utilizing our own talents, but opening up opportunities for any students who are interested in creative expression," said Miss Jacqueline M. Joy, President of the Art Club.

All Are Welcome
Anyone who would like to participate is welcome to come to Clingan-Waddell Hall, on Raven Avenue, east of Wick, where members of the club may be located.

An organizational meeting was held at 4 o'clock Wednesday. Under discussion were plans for giving various presentations, lining up speakers, and probing new areas to be included in this quarter.

Also in May, a Student Show will be held at the Butler Institute of American Art. The annual award—a monetary prize, will be presented by the Art Club, which will host the opening day. Refreshments will be served.

Began in '45
The Art Club had its beginning in 1945. Head of the Art Department, Mr. John M. Naberezny, M.A., was one of the founders.

"The purpose of the club is to present various media, not only to the student body, but to the general public," said Mr. Naberezny.

"Two student exhibitions have already been given this school year, and one national print show in which prints were for sale.

Field Trips Too
"The club also sponsors field trips to museums in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, and Canton. A trip to Buffalo is now being planned."

During the Christmas vacation the Art Department, scattered all over the campus, with its headquarters in the basement of Kilcawley Hall, gathered together most of its remnants and moved into Clingan-Waddell Hall. The small exhibition room is just being readied.

President of the club is Jacqueline M. Joy, B.S. in Education with a major in Art; Vice President is Aaron Howard, B.A. in Art. Terri A. Ortega, B.S. in Education with an Art major, is Secretary; Alternate Secretary is Diane L. Sprague, B.S. in Education, majoring in Art. Ray Crognale, B.S. in Education with an Art major, is Treasurer. Mr. James G. Lucas, M.A., and Mr. Richard C. Mitchell, M.F.A., instructors in Art, are advisors.

Membership is open to everyone interested in what's happening primarily in the visual arts. It isn't necessary for a member to be an Art major. Any student on campus may join the Art Club.

Encouraging Others
"Right now we have very few who are not in Arts," declared Miss Joy. "We are trying to encourage others to join the 20-25 members." "Through an exchange of ideas and interests, increasing knowledge is acquired of the concepts of visual arts and what is attempted through them. Usually some of this exchange is accomplished within the group." Talks on the subject, on the average of twice a month are given by university professors.

MUSIC ON CAMPUS

By Nicholas J. DeCarbo

Memorial Concert for Robert and Eve Witt
Members of the student body and faculty of the Dana School of Music will dedicate a performance of Francis Poulenc's Gloria and Joseph Haydn's Lord Nelson Mass to the memory of Robert and Eve Witt on Sunday evening, April 7, at 8 p.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church. Mr. Witt was a professor of composition at the Dana School of Music and Mrs. Witt was a recent graduate.

Participating in the concert will be the Youngstown State University Concert Choir, under the forty-four member Dana Artists' Orchestra, and soloists under the direction of James Elson of the Dana faculty.

Guest soprano soloist for the Gloria and Lord Nelson Mass will be Janet Frank of New York City.

Miss Frank has appeared as soloist with a number of choral societies in the New York City area, as well as having been heard in recital. She had held the position of soprano soloist at Christ Methodist Church, the Church of the Incarnation, and Temple Emanu-El in New York.

Soloists for the Lord Nelson Mass will include Eleanor Pudil Anop, contralto, member of the Kent State University voice faculty; Wade Rardon, tenor, of the Dana School of Music faculty, director of the University Singers, the Dana Madrigals, and the Youngstown Choral Society; and William Foster, bass, well-known soloist throughout the Youngstown area, appearing in numerous performances of oratorio and cantata.

Probably the best known of Haydn's late Masses is the Missa in Augustis, known also as the Lord Nelson or Imperial Mass, in D minor, composed in 1798.

Among the many impressive features of this magnificent work, the beautiful setting of the "Incarnatus" and the spirited close of the "Benedictus" are moments of particularly high inspiration.

I sincerely believe this to be an impressive performance. I certainly am looking forward to a good representation from YSU faculty and students. Admission to the concert is free.

Ode to Peter

(Now, at least, he is immortalized.)
The penguin won't come out,
He stays in there all day,
Peeking out from his mock-ice house

At students who are wobbling to class.

He doesn't seem to realize his purpose in this place,
Or that people would like to stare

At his body and watch him eat
After his keepers have pulled him out.

No, the penguin won't come out
To breathe the campus smog,
Or listen to the scholars who curse him and his pen;

That wise old penguin stays in there all day,
Watching studious students wobble into classes late.

Visual Art Work
Pictures, paintings, sculpture, new frontiers in the effects of light, photography, and graphic arts (such as printmaking, posters, package designing) are examples of visual art work.

The literary arts are not included, although many members are actively engaged in the fields of writing, poetry, logic, philosophy.

Miss Joy, currently working on a painting, gave her views on her efforts. "It is a new attempt for me," she said, "in not limiting the work, by confining the elements of painting (such as the visual experience of color) to merely a small rectangle, but to utilize the entire wall as my space or ground."

"I am working on rectangles in asymmetrical arrangements. The attempt is to give a total art experience, minimizing my materials and interpretations."

*"A Naughty 2nd Grade Class"Student Lounge A Problem

Taking care of the Student Lounge is like taking care of a "naughty second grade class" was a comment made by Carol A. Annuzzi, a student employee of the lounge.

"We are not policemen, we are here to help, but, the students do not seem to realize this," stated Miss Annuzzi.

Carol's job is to be in the lounge in the case of an emergency.

She said that on several occasions students had fainted in the lounge and she was there to call a nurse to aid the student.

On one particular occasion a student had a seizure while in the lounge. Quick-thinking Carol called an ambulance to take the victim to a hospital.

Upon hearing that students felt there was a lack of activities in the lounge, Carol listed numerous activities available to the student. Cards, both pinocle and regular decks, chess, checkers, and scrabble are a few of the games available in the lounge.

When asked how the conditions and environment of the lounge might be improved, Carol said that employees had met on numerous occasions to discuss this issue.

She said that they had exhausted almost all their efforts on improving the conditions of the lounge.

One of the things tried was pictures with moveable parts. Carol said that within a week they were destroyed.

One of her suggestions, which has not yet been tried, is to paint the lower border of the wall with black paint so the scuff marks would not show.

Student opinion on the lounge varies. David F. Beacorn, an English major, stated that, "there is no need for change because it is a good place to study and talk."

Daniel J. Barker, a sophomore majoring in General Business, said, "I think it is too small, and the walls should be painted."

Ronald E. Meyers, complained that "the furniture is not strong or soft enough. The music should be loud enough to hear."

$16,000 Evans Bibliography Acquired By YSU Library

Youngstown State has been fortunate to acquire the famed Evans Bibliography, a 24,000 volume series entitled "Early American Imprints" which are on micro-cards, announces librarian Dr. H. G. Jones. The cost is $16,000.

The micro-cards, which will be housed on the first floor of the library in the micro-film room, contain the complete text of every existent book, pamphlet, and broadside printed in the United States from 1639 to 1800.

The monumental task of copying verbatim every work was accomplished by Charles Evans from 1903 to 1934.

Had he not done this, one would have to wander across this vast country in search of the books, of which frequently only one edition exists in various libraries. Evans' achievement makes possible a perusal of 24,000 books in one library.

Operation and use of the micro-cards is simple.

Each of the cards, which is six by nine inches, contains about 100 pages of a book.

By placing one of the cards in the viewer and manipulating a dial, a certain page is thus magnified to regular size.

Considering the punitiveness of the cards in relation to the amount of information on them, the dial need only be turned slightly in order to progress from one page to the next.

Y.S.U. librarian Dr. H. G. Jones and Miss Sandra Van Such inspect the Library's purchase of Evans Bibliography Microcards.

The tremendous advantage of micro-cards is readily evident in the aforementioned.

But further, they will be a great space-saver—the cheapest manner for a library to make books available to the public.

For if one considers the amount of books that would have had to be reprinted, the myriad of space they would occupy, and a shocking cost of $200,000, the "Godsend" comes into thankful focus.

The bibliography will be a huge reservoir for primarily graduate level students, as well as under-graduate. It contains a broad matrix of information on American History, Literature, and Social Science.

The typing of catalog cards for the library's main catalog on the first floor and subsequent filing, will require months of work by the library staff.

To supplement the catalog cards is a ten volume set of books in the reference room of the library listing the books.

Most of the books were photographed in such private libraries as the famed Athenaeum Library in Boston.

Alumni In The News

Two YSU graduates played important roles in the development of the new Air Force C-5 Galaxy transport plane, the world's largest aircraft. The alums are Joseph T. Abbas (1950) and Vincent A. Ferry

Mr. Vincent A. Ferry

(1961). Mr. Abbas served as the Air Force's engineer on the navigational equipment for the C-5. He is a graduate electrical engineer. He was prepared for the job of handling the navigational equipment when he flew 43 combat missions as navigator in World War II. For this effort he received three Air Medals.

Mr. Abbas now resides in Dayton, where he did his work on the C-5 at Wright-Patterson AFB. He graduated from East High School and holds a B.S.E.E. degree from YSU.

Mr. Ferry acted as a development systems manager for the project. His job was to collect data from Lockheed-Georgia and General Electric during the development, production, testing, and operation of the C-5.

He now also lives in Dayton. He too holds an engineering degree from YSU where he was affiliated with Sigma Phi Epsilon.

These YSU graduates have demonstrated that our students are more than ready to make their contribution upon leaving the school. In the future, the JAMBAR hopes to spotlight more outstanding alums.

Mr. Joseph T. Abbas

Games for Lounging in the Student LoungeMusical Chairs Part 1:

Wait for some student to go to the restroom. Steal his chair. Then place bets on who he will steal a chair from.

Musical Chairs Part 2:

Wait for student to prepare to sit. Pull chair out from under. Bet on which bone will be broken. (e.g., Leg, Arm, etc.)

Bend the Ashtray:

Use ashtray as prop under table leg. Then sit on table to impress the female students of your ability to cross your legs while sitting at a 30 degree angle. This goes over big when you slide off table onto your fat head.

Variation version:

Place ashtray in palm of hand. Squeeze tightly. Make faces to impress other students present. Notice how steel edges cut into hand. Bleed all over rug.

Flip the butt:

Stand with legs spread apart like John Wayne. Sneeze: Take cigarette in right hand. Place between middle finger and thumb. Aim across room. Spot a distant ashtray. Flick middle finger sharply. Butt will fly across room. If lucky, you will avoid other students and land approximately 7 ft. from target. Of course this game is not fun unless you smack someone between the eyes with the butt.

Score two points for "rug burn"

three points for "ricocheting off students head"

five points for "hitting student between eyes" ten points for doing back flip after student punches you halfway across room.

Footsie on tables and chairs:

Sit on floor and place footsie upwards on chairs. This will speed blood circulation to head. This will also show other students your "chartruse" ski socks that go with the color of your gills after sitting this way for 10 minutes. If this does not draw attention, then stand on table and wave arms. This is good practice in the event you may walk by a T.V. camera someday. This is also good for future training in the paratroopers. (In case a chute does not open.)

Little Las Vegas:

Take all the chairs you can find. Call twenty friends to your table. Seat them all around you. Use one deck of cards. Play against one of the twenty only. The group around you will "kibitz" and shout with every play of hand. This will cause more students to congregate. After you have acquired at least 50 students, quit playing cards and make a speech.

Ever Think Of Going To Work For A Company Such As Ours? Read Below And You Might Want To Spend A Few Minutes With J. E. Auld On Tuesday, April 9, At The Placement Office

Our long-established, progressive company is a leading manufacturer of machinery for molding plastic material, machines for die casting non-ferrous metals, hydraulic and mechanical presses for the metalworking and process industries, and hydraulic valves. Three of our product lines are sold in some of the fastest growing industries in the country . . . plastics, die casting and metalworking. Hydraulic valves have one of the biggest potential markets.

Our aggressive young management team needs ambitious young men who are interested in an immediate challenge. You would be working in an environment of energetic, bright businessmen and will work in our headquarters in the pleasant village of Mount Gilead located in the north central part of Ohio. Everyone in the organization is recognized on a first name basis. We employ around 1200 people who work in three plants located within one mile of each other. Our health and insurance plan and other fringe benefits are excellent.

Promotion from within the Company is a company policy. Actual case histories of advancement from trainee to their present positions are HPM's president and two vice presidents.

Since 1956 we have been a division of Koehring Co., Milwaukee, a highly reputable corporation that has grown to the enviable position of being number 374 in the list of 500 largest United States corporations published by FORTUNE magazine.

If you think you would be interested in becoming associated with a company such as ours, we would like for you to spend a few minutes with our Manager of Industrial Relations, J. E. Auld, who will visit your campus on the above date. We are not a large company as compared to some of the companies you may be considering, but we are a good company with an excellent reputation. HPM, as we are known internationally, was established in 1877 as The Hydraulic Press Mfg. Co. in Mount Gilead, Ohio. Our first product was a hydraulic cider press which we no longer make. Our continuous research and development program has resulted in the fine line of industrial equipment we manufacture today.

MISS YOUNGSTOWN STATE 1968

Rose Mary Romeo

Photos by Paul Muter

The crowning of Miss Rose Mary Romeo as Miss Youngstown State University for 1968 was the climax of the Second Annual University Beauty pageant last Saturday.

First Runner-up was Miss Patty Vasko. Second Runner-up was Miss Diane Schuller.

Miss Wyn Hall was the winner of the Talent Award.

Pageant Director Frank Bordonaro produced, as he had promised, an evening even more exciting than the one enjoyed by so many last year.

Guests at the pageant, which was sponsored by the Y.S.U. Alumni Association, were President Albert L. Pugsley, Dean John P. Gillespie, Mr. Clyde Painter and Dean Edith Painter, President of the Alumni Association, Rose D'Orazio, and Alumni Association Secretary, Mr. John Ulicney.

The Jambar's congratulations go to the pageant winners, especially Miss Romeo, and everyone's sincere appreciation is due to all those who made the pageant the great success that it was this year.

Miss Sandra Bair, former Miss Youngstown University, crowns her successor, Miss Rose Mary Romeo, at Saturday's Pageant.

President Pugsley stated that he was very impressed by the handling of the pageant and hopes it will continue.

Mr. Ulicney said, "I am sure I speak for all members of the Alumni Association in saying that we were most pleased with the production of this year's pageant."

Miss Rose Mary Romeo, 19, is a junior majoring in English and minoring in Speech. She is a member of Newman Club and the Student National Education Association. She plans on teaching English or Speech in junior or senior high school after graduation.

Miss Patricia Vasko, 19, is a junior majoring in English. She is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority. After graduation she plans to teach English on the high school level.

Miss Diane Schuller, 20, is a junior majoring in Business Education. She is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority and the University Campus Christian Fellowship. After graduation she hopes to obtain a Masters degree and eventually teach business at the university level.

Miss Wynn Hall, 19, is a freshman majoring in art and minoring in drama. She is a member of the Little Sisters of Theta Chi and the YSU Art Club. After graduation she would like to teach drama or pursue a career in fashion illustration.

Students Voice Opinions On

Johnson and Kennedy

With President Lyndon B. Johnson's startling announcement that he would not seek the Democratic nomination for re-election, the Jambar questioned a number of people on campus in an attempt to get the students' opinion on the President's decision.

The students were also asked to give their opinion on Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, the President's greatest critic and newest Democratic rival for the nomination.

There were a number of pros and cons voiced over the President's decision. Some of the opinions are as follows:

John F. Foster, a senior majoring in pre-law, said it was "... the most honorable thing to do for a man obsessed with winning."

William H. Normal thought that "He is taking the easy way out. Now he does not have to worry about political pressure."

Janie A. Williams, a freshman majoring in Elementary Education, had this to say: "I think it is terrible."

Janie went on to say that she felt that Senator Robert Kennedy would now get the democratic nomination and win on his brother's name and deeds.

Bonita G. Neville, a freshman majoring in Industrial Engineering:

"There was nothing else he could do."

A Thankless Job
"I feel bad because it is a thankless job, yet I feel glad because he can now do what he feels is right."

Ronald E. Meyers felt that it was "disgusting" because Johnson is sure he cannot win the nomination and he wants to go out a winner.

Faculty View
The faculty point of view resembles that of the pro view point. Konold N. Nelson, an instructor in advertising, commented during one of his classes Monday night, that he thought it was great for business.

His opinion can be backed up by the rise in the stock market on Monday.

What About R.F.K.
What do students here at Youngstown think are some of the attributes that make Robert F. Kennedy so appealing?

Keith Licht, a junior in the School of Engineering, stated, "Senator Kennedy is the right man for the job because of his fine past record as attorney general and that he also has many new and refreshing ideas that this country can benefit from."

Not The Right Man
A senior in the School of Business had just the opposite view saying, "Mr. Kennedy is not the right man for the job because he is not clear on his stand on the war in Viet Nam." This senior also stated that if Mr. Kennedy were to come and speak here he would go to hear his talk out of curiosity rather than out of interest.

Gary Gottschalk, a senior in the School of Arts and Sciences, stated his opinion in this fashion, "Senator Kennedy appeals to me if for the only reason that he is the lesser of two evils." His line of thought followed that of many during the Johnson-Goldwater comparison.

More Energetic
A woman who is a junior in the School of Education felt that Senator Kennedy's youthful appearance made him look more energetic than the other candidates; and this is what made him appeal to her.

John Densovich, a sophomore in the School of Arts and Sciences, stated, "I believe that Senator Kennedy is seeking the nomination because he feels a sense of duty to his country, and this is why he appeals to me."

With President Johnson's announcement this past Sunday, March 31, that he would not seek or accept the nomination for re-election, all of the people who were talked to felt this event did not change their ideas about Senator Kennedy and if anything, gave him a stronger chance.

Same Appeal
Looking at the overall picture at Youngstown State University would seem to indicate that Senator Kennedy's appeal to the youth here is the same as at other universities. The biggest appeal was that prior to President Johnson's announcement, Senator Kennedy was in complete disagreement with the President's policies on Viet Nam and that the Senator was willing to risk his future in an effort to knock the President out of the White House.

Through the senator they have someone who is youthful and who also best expresses how they feel, especially on their ideas of the policies of the Viet Nam War.

During the month of March, 1968, Senator Kennedy drew some 15,000 students at the annual Alfred M. Landon Lecture at Kansas State University and some 20,000 more to cheer a speech at the University of Kansas.

Still Popular
Moving to the southern part of the United States, his popularity did not cease. Again he was mobbed at the airports, again cheered by student crowds of 8500 at the University of Alabama and some 10,500 at Nashville's Vanderbilt University.

Senator Kennedy then moved his campaign to the west coast. His first stop was Los Angeles, California, and if this stop was any indication of how they would react in the rest of the state, this state was his.

With this appeal to the students, Senator Robert F. Kennedy will try and ride this crest of enthusiasm to seek the democratic nomination for president in Chicago on August 26, 1968.

Dana School Offers New Degree Programs

The Dana School of Music has established two new degree programs leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree, it was announced by Dr. Albert L. Pugsley.

The curriculums leading to the B.A. degree provide opportunities for the liberal arts oriented student to major in music theory or applied music.

Previously the Dana School of Music has offered liberal arts students the option of the study of music history and literature leading to the B.A. degree. Students studying for the Bachelor of Music degree have their choice of six professional curriculums.

Charles H. Aurand, Jr., dean of the Dana School of Music, has stated that he feels the two additional choices of curriculum offer new and important options to the undergraduate student and signify a continuing determination on the part of Youngstown State University to meet the needs of the student.

ISO NEWS

The first meeting of this quarter was held last Friday in the East Hall. The atmosphere of the gathering was of an informal nature with the Arab section of the group headed by Suheil A. Yacoub entertaining the members and guests with songs, political slogans and one-act plays. In addition, two very informative films were shown.

The first one was made available to us by Munir Rafiti and was titled "Fields to Wheels"; a film on the General Motors Plant in Lordstown.

The second film "The Coronation of the Shah of Iran was obtained through Javad Khakvaz, a foreign student from Iran.

Mr. Mehdi Ghaffarzteh, the newly appointed Assistant Professor in Civil Engineering attended the meeting.

Next Meeting

The next meeting will take place in Room 10 of the East Hall today at 8:30 p.m.

A business meeting will be followed by a special program on "The Role of the Female in Various Cultures".

A panel including representatives from Formosa, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, India, Greece and Turkey will be presented.

The audience will be permitted to participate.

Say To Speak

It is rumored that Mr. Suheil A. Yacoub (known as Prince SAY) will deliver a recitation on "My Impressions on the American Educational System and the involvement of the American Student in Politics".

"SAY", a native of Lebanon, has transferred to YSU in 1967 from Northwestern State College in Oklahoma.

He is a junior majoring in Business Administration and wants to be known as "a disciple of Kahlil Gibran, the man from Lebanon".

Last year SAY was in charge of the ISO participation in the Homecoming activities.

At present, he is acting as Social Chairman and Public Relations officer of the Organization of Arab Students. SAY's appointment as a co-chairman of the ISO Publicity committee was announced last Tuesday. Asked about YSU, SAY stated:

"It is a very fine University with excellent academic and extra-curricular activities", and in his characteristic humorous manner he added, "however, I believe that the now existing zoo needs to be expanded. The least to be done at this time is the selection of a mate for the poor fellow (Pete the Penguin)".

Campus Profile

Dean Gillespie: Familiar Face Returns

A familiar face has returned to the campus after an absence of two months. John P. Gillespie, Dean of Men, is back at his desk in Jones Hall after a leave of absence from his duties due to an illness.

Has 26 Years at YSU

Dean Gillespie has been affiliated with Y.S.U. for 26 years. He joined the university faculty in 1942 as a part time teacher. A native of Youngstown, he is a graduate of South High School and Youngstown State University.

After teaching on a part time basis for 12 years, Dean Gillespie joined the full time faculty in 1954. Teaching had gotten into his blood and he couldn't get it out.

Until he made the choice to go into teaching as a full time career, Dean Gillespie had been Vice-president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

When actively teaching, the School of Business is his home and over the years he has taught salesmanship, advertising, marketing and public relations. Although he is not teaching classes this quarter, he hopes to return to teaching. He enjoys being with young people and instructing them, stated the Dean.

Dean Gillespie has occupied the position of Dean of Men since 1956. The main responsibility of this position is the advisement of the male students of Y.S.U.

"I think that all many students need is someone to listen to their problems," stated Dean Gillespie. Many students, he commented, have no one to whom they can go and just sit down and talk things over.

Understands Students Problems
He feels that he has a deep understanding of the problems that face the young people of today. After all, he said, "I did raise four children of my own." He can also offer 67 years of valuable experiences as guidance to any young man who seeks his assistance.

The men of the campus bring personal as well as scholastic problems to him. About ten to fifteen men visit his office daily.

In order to learn a student must want to learn, he said. If a student really wants an education, he will get it.

When a student comes to him with scholastic difficulties, he talks things over with the student, then talks to the dean of the school in which the student is enrolled and then with his teachers, in order to get to the root of the problem. Usually things can be satisfactorily worked out.

Students Can Get Confused

"Students sometimes get confused," he said. He tries to get them straightened out and motivated in the right direction.

A student's first responsibility, Dean Gillespie stressed, is to study. Once this is done, the student should then participate in as many extra-curricular activities as the time left will permit.

"I'm a great believer in fraternities, sororities and other extra-curricular activities, as long as they don't interfere with the primary responsibility."

Dean Gillespie participates in as many student activities as time permits. He is co-advisor to the I.F.C. and to Student Council and is advisor to the Newman Club.

Proud of Y.S.U.

After having been associated with Y.S.U. for 26 years, he is very proud of the university and its growth. He is especially interested in the "great plans for the future."

Before the university started its expansion program, Dean Gillespie filled a number of positions on the university staff that have now been expanded into individual branches of the administrative staff.

For many years he aided the Public Relations Department by visiting area high schools and talking to the senior classes about the benefits of entering Y.S.U.

In the past he also handled all student financial loans.

All financial loans are now handled by the Office of Student Financial Assistance.

Dean Gillespie has been a widower for three years, has four children—Kathleen, Mary Ann, John J., and Dennis—and eleven grandchildren.

Musc. Dystrophy Nets $338 in Wheelchair Race

The Muscular Dystrophy Association of Youngstown will be the recipient of $388.00 collected by two service organizations, Gamma Sigma Sigma, a service sorority and Alpha Phi Omega, a service fraternity, in a wheelchair race held on the city square Saturday, March 30.

On hand to officiate the race were two local Muscular Dystrophy officials, Mr. Gillespie and Mrs. Fischio. Accompanying them was the District Director of The Muscular Dystrophy Association, Mr. Troachsel.

Gamma Sigma Sigma was the victor in this very close contest staged before hundreds of people Saturday morning between Haber's Furniture Store and The Home Savings and Loan Bank on Federal St. Gamma Sigma Sigma collected $182.00 in their winning effort, while Alpha Phi Omega collected $156.00 to finish as a close runner-up in what was termed as a very successful drive to collect money for a very worthy cause.

WRASponsors Out-of-Class Sports Events

The Women's Recreational Association is sponsoring a program of extra-curricular sports activities for the students of Youngstown State University.

The activities include: badminton, softball, field hockey, and gymnastics. These activities are open to non-physical education majors as well as physical education majors.

The badminton and gymnastics activities are currently being offered Monday and Wednesday from 4 to 6 p.m.

These activities are open to both men and women.

Softball and field hockey will be offered later in the quarter.

These activities will be limited to women.

The Women's Recreation Association is made up of non-physical education majors as well as majors.

Miss Bertina A. Laborde is the faculty advisor for the club and its officers include: President, Jane Wem; Vice-president, Sandy Ketchem; Secretary, Bonnie Kent; Treasurer, Regina Woolfer.

Anyone wishing to participate in these activities should contact someone in the Physical Education Office in Elm Street School.

Student Council Highlights

By Ray Johnson, Vice-Chairman and Penny Laakso, Secretary

Monday at 3:30 the Student Council met in room 202 of St. Joseph's School. At this meeting we discussed the following ideas.

Cinema 16

Council is considering a possible renewal of "Cinema 16". The "Madison House of Divine Metaphysics" has offered to be in charge. A committee has been appointed to discuss the films to be shown and to determine an appropriate time and place.

Walkway Suggested

After a week's investigation, the missing pencil sharpeners have been found and will be placed in as many rooms as possible of the new Engineering Building. Council passed unanimously a recommendation to Mr. Leonelli. This recommendation suggests that a temporary walkway be installed between the cafeteria and the new Engineering Building.

YSU Radio

We again discussed the Y.S.U. Radio Show. The plans have increased from 10 watts to 40,000 watts. It will cost approximately $60,000. It will be located in the planned Arts and Sciences Building. However, if the necessary funds can be raised before the building is completed (2-3 years) it can temporarily be placed in the Rayen Engineering Building.

New Sorority

A new social and service sorority was chartered unanimously by Council. It is the Zeta Gamma chapter of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. A spokesman for the new organization was at the meeting. She explained that her sorority would stress high ideals and scholastic achievement.

Alarm Defeated

Frank Braden, "father of the penguin", moved that Council allocate $100 for the purchase of a burglar alarm for Pete's cage. The motion failed.

As soon as the Secretary of Student Organization is appointed, a news-brief will be sent to various campus organizations. It is hoped that this will become a bi-weekly letter.

Coming soon—"Choice 68".
REMEMBER: All Student Council meetings are open and you are welcome to attend. Monday at 3:30, room 202 of St. Joseph's School.

SFP Vietnam Week Schedule of Events

Beginning this coming Monday, and running through Friday, the Students and Faculty For Peace will sponsor Vietnam Week at Y.S.U. The week will be full of speakers, discussions, and movies concerning the war in Vietnam.

MONDAY

Monday, April 8, the movie "Vietnam: How did we get in? How can we get out?" will be shown in the audio-visual room of the Library at 2, 4, 6 and 8 p.m.

TUESDAY

Tuesday, April 9, there will be an all afternoon symposium in Strouss Auditorium.

From 1:30 to 2:30, Dr. Morris Slavin of the History Department will discuss "The Nature of Our Involvement."

The Reverend Burton Cantrell, Protestant Chaplain at YSU, will discuss the "Pragmatic Considerations of our Vietnam Policies" from 2:30 to 3:30.

Finally, Dr. James Kiriazis of the Sociology Department will talk on "Vietnam as Related to the Foreign Interest of the U. S." from 3:30 to 4:30.

WEDNESDAY

Wednesday, April 10, the symposium-discussion will continue in Strouss Auditorium with Dr. Chaplain Morrison of the History Department discussing "Why We are not Winning the War in Vietnam" from 1 to 2.

Dr. Henry Fukui of the Chemistry Department will speak on the "Moral Considerations of Our Vietnam Policy" from 2 to 3.

Dr. Elizabeth Stenberg of the Political Science Department and Mr. Ron Daniels of the History Department will discuss "Vietnam as Related to the Foreign and Domestic Interests of the U. S." from 3 to 4.

FRIDAY

The final program for the week will begin at 8 p.m. Friday evening in Strouss Auditorium.

Here a dramatic presentation entitled "Angry Arts Against the War" will run until 10 p.m.

This is a series of Anti-Vietnam vignets presented by Arts and Drama students.

Immediately following the program Friday night, there will be a silent march to the downtown Central Square.

Acting as moderators for the various programs throughout the week will be The Reverend Raymond DiBlasio of the Philosophy Department, Dr. Ward Miner of the English Department, Dr. R. Donald Elser of the Speech Department, and Professor Pauline Batty of the Sociology Department.

Newman Mass Set

On Sunday, April 7, 1968, the Newman Student Organization of Youngstown State University will hold a folk Mass at 7:30 p.m. in the Newman Chapel.

Following the Mass, N.S.O. will have its Spring Quarter "Get-Acquainted" Party and Dance.

A well-known band, "The Aardvarks", will entertain.

The party and dance will provide an opportunity for Y.S.U. students to meet "Newman of Y.S.U."

All students are invited and most welcome.

In the future Newman will have its "Annual Formal Dinner Dance".

More information on the dance will be given next week.

If you have any questions concerning future Newman events, please inquire at the Newman Center, 26 West Rayen Ave.

Gene Springer Guest Speaker At ADS Meet

Mr. Gene Springer, head of Public Relations for the Youngstown Hospital Association, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the David Ogilvy Chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma National Advertising Fraternity, held on March 27th, at the Pollock House.

"Public Relations in The Hospital" was Mr. Springer's topic for the evening.

He mentioned in his speech that the need for a public relations department in a hospital has only recently been realized. It has now been in operation for approximately one year.

One of Mr. Springer's accomplishments has been to establish a paper covering both North and South units. Previous to working for Y.H.A., Mr. Springer was employed by WKBN Radio and Television for some 15 years.

Flad's Movie Features Best Commercials

The Advertising-Public Relations Department, under the direction of William Flad, showed the film, "The Best TV Commercials of 1967" at the third floor Library Audio-Visual Room Tuesday from 9:30 to 11 a.m.

One foreign product, Vademecum Swedish toothpaste, made the list.

"They claim to have conquered the toothpaste tube with a key to wind up the used portion."

State Farm Mutual could have helped all the kings men put Humpty Dumpty together again with their insurance coverage for accidents.

D-Con roach killer got a good reaction from the students when flamenco dancers were told, "Stop! That's no way to kill roaches."

Then there was a sexy dark-haired Italian girl who was supposed to be Mama Mia warning the photographer not to cut to the box of pizza mix or "I'll kill you!"

SAM Bounces For Local Heart Fund

The members of Sigma Alpha Mu Fraternity will sponsor a "Bounce-for-Beats" program downtown for a 24 hour period beginning at 8 a.m. on Thursday, April 25.

The idea behind the "Bounce-for-Beats" program is that a bouncing basketball represents the beating of a human heart. The members of the fraternity will bounce a basketball for 24 hours in the area of the central square and collect money for the Heart Fund at the same time.

Radio station WHOT will help the fraternity in their project by doing some remote broadcasting from the "Bounce" center at various times during the day.

On Discipline

During his speech on Monday night, Howard Besser, a lawyer and member of the American Civil Liberties Union, commented that in any non-civil on-campus offense (cheating, plagiarism, etc.) it is not only the right, but the duty of the administration to prosecute these offenses, in order to maintain the integrity of the school.

We have read the newsletter distributed by the Discipline Committee (see page one), and find it sorely lacking in its duty. In the first place, the offenses cited for the spring semester of 1967 are incomplete. The case of a certain student, disciplined for the rigging of a Spring Weekend booth, is blatantly obvious by its absence.

But this omission is minor in comparison with the actual punishments decided upon by the committee. We see no rationality in giving a student caught cheating in a course an F, when, in fact, he has probably already received such a grade from the instructor. Why else would he be in front of the committee? Surely the instructor desires more serious action.

And to forbid a student to again write for a student publication, which he has already endangered through plagiarism, is equally ludicrous.

We are not sadists. We simply feel that good universities cannot maintain their integrity with such a "wrist-slapping" policy, for it not only endangers the student body as a whole, but defeats the very purpose of a disciplinary committee by discouraging the faculty to take action, and thereby encouraging cheating.

Van Doren

After rather catastrophic turn-outs for the Sorensen and Lerner Skeggs Lectures the student body apparently began to realize the joy of attending something which is on a higher plane than a movie or party.

The student attendance at the R. Buckminster Fuller lecture was something to be quite proud of, especially on a campus where the word "apathy" is used so often to rationalize a conglomerate of evils.

It can only be hoped that the students recognize tonight as the same fine opportunity for an enjoyable and intellectually stimulating evening.

Besides, why not just surprise the hell out of your instructor—see him tonight at the Van Doren lecture. DBM

More About Parking

Parking in what was previously a free parking area along Scott street is now a thing of the past. Due to the building of the expressway this area, in which perhaps some three hundred cars parked daily, is now closed.

With the closing of these lots comes an almost complete end to free student parking. About the only space left now is that along the streets. And this is extremely limited.

It would be completely futile, and, in a way, unjust to condemn the closing of these lots under the circumstances. Actually, were it not for the expressway these lots wouldn't have been cleared even for the few months that they were.

But it does not seem futile, or unjust, to ask the City to remove the No Parking signs along Bryson and Lincoln streets on one side.

In the issue before finals week the JAMBAR announced the beginning of a petition calling for a re-examination of these restricted parking areas. First day reaction to the petition was good with some 500 students signing.

But with the coming of finals the JAMBAR office was closed for most of the week, and few additional signatures were procured.

The office schedule is now back to normal, and students are urged to sign the petition between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

The closing of the Scott Street lots have made it even more important that the student voice his opinion on the apparent restriction of parking in some areas. DBM

Our Man Hoppe

Hark, Opportunism Knocks!

Arthur Hoppe

—Chronicle Features

Once upon a time, the country called Wonderland fell upon evil days. It was ruled by an old king hardly anyone liked.

The people thought him untrustworthy, devious, bullying and downright unrefined. For he was fond of saying things like, "Don't spit in the soup; we all got to eat."

Doubt and mistrust enveloped Wonderland. And the people said things like, "How can we be brave and noble and gentle when we are ruled by a ruthless old opportunist who pushes weaker sorts around?"

For, as is well known, the people admired bravery and gentleness and nobility above all things.

But everybody was afraid of the old king and none would give him a battle—not even The Young Knight, who was wealthy and of noble lineage and who had a vast army at his command.

The Young Knight said nobly that he believed in loyalty. And anyway the omens were ominous and why not wait for another year? So he swore fealty to the old king and the people gave up hope of deposing him.

Then one day, a Gentle Knight mounted his somewhat spavined horse and announced quietly that, not having much else to do nor anything much to lose, he would give the old King battle.

And, oh, how the people laughed. They said they certainly admired The Gentle Knight's bravery, nobility and gentleness, but he was obviously no match for the ruthless, opportunistic old king.

Yet—would you believe it?—in his very first battle, the Gentle Knight fought the old king to a standstill!

Oh, how the people cheered. "It just shows you," they said, "that bravery, nobility and gentleness will lick ruthless opportunists every time."

The Gentle Knight had just raised his visor to accept the plaudits of the throng when there was a thunder of hoofs and The Gentle Knight was knocked eight ways from Monday before he knew what hit him.

"I'm terribly sorry," said The Young Knight. "But you were in my way. And I must get on with the task at hand, deposing the old king—a task for which I am obviously more fit than you."

At first, the people were somewhat uneasy about their new hero. Indeed, some said he seemed a bit of an untrustworthy, devious bully—in fact, a ruthless opportunist.

But The Young Knight addressed the crowd, saying things like, "Give me your hands and I shall build a new Wonderland."

And everybody came to agree that he wasn't like the old king at all. For obviously, he was very refined. So they flocked to his banner in droves.

As for The Gentle Knight, he eventually wandered off somewhere. But he was always universally admired—by those who remembered his name.

For, as is well known, the people of Wonderland admired bravery and gentleness and nobility above all things.

Moral: Admire the brave, the gentle and the noble—and support the ruthless opportunist of your choice.

Joe College At The Dance

Last week Joe College had the pleasure of attending a Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan Dance at Smith Hall at Young City College. It was groovy.

He walked in the door and paid his $8.25 to vote for his fraternity brother, look at all the girls, and hear Willie Cerebellum and the Four Brains Psychedelic Rock Band.

In the past such groups as Egbert and the 8 Yolks, the Toilet Papers, the Young Dropouts, Henry and the 8 Women, and J. B. and the Headaches, have all entertained at these affairs.

They were all dropouts from the Danny School of Music.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of the JAMBAR:
 This letter concerns itself with your announcement in the March 29th edition of the JAMBAR regarding Vietnam Week.

Students and Faculty for Peace is extremely fortunate in having a member with the initiative and deep moral conviction of Chaplain Morrison. Dr. Morrison is, however, a member and not an elected official of SFP. As such he would not, could not, and did not announce Vietnam Week. This program was planned by the organization, organized by several hard working individuals, and announced by our Public Relations Department. Our press release began "Students and Faculty for Peace announce . . ." To associate the program principally with Dr. Morrison is unfair to him as well as the members and elected officials of SFP.

stomach by a big guy with some Roman letters on his jacket.

As Joe was bending over with pain, the big fellow grabbed his Johnny Weissmuller tickets and ran. The girls made off with the other tickets.

Joe really didn't mind the pain, but it was the principle of the thing. He paid, so he should have had the privilege of casting his own lot.

Joe finally made it over to some of his own fraternity brothers. They were making a deal with one of the sorority girls to trade all their Maureen tickets for all of the sorority's Johnny tickets. This seemed like a far more involved plot than any test-selling scheme Joe had ever devised.

One girl approached Joe and offered to go out with him the next night if he would give up his Maureen ticket. Joe was about to steal a ticket to take her up on her offer when the girl spotted two men behind her and ran away.

They were from the I and S squad. Too bad.

That part of the story had a lot of possibilities, but we sometimes must surrender to propriety.

Finally it was time to award the trophies to the best Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan.

Some of the candidates had spent long hours making their own costumes, but the prize naturally went to someone who was dressed in street clothes, but who had the biggest fraternity on campus.

Joe thought about this a long time. Maybe he had the right idea about college. It appears that deception does play an integral part in the student's life a good old Young City College.
 Moral: If you can't win, take.
