President sets up selection proposal

By ERIKA HANZELY
Jambar Assistant News Editor

Student Government President Marvin Robinson announced at yesterday's meeting a proposal for choosing the two students who will sit on the Board of Trustees.

Robinson proposed that one of the student slots be automatically filled by the Student Government president and the other name be selected by the governor from a list of four names chosen by the student body. He is meeting this week to discuss his plan with President Neil D. Humphrey.

Robinson also presented the $28,000 proposed Group III budget for the 1988-89 academic year. Although the budget contained $2,000 less than Robinson expected, he said, "All in all I feel that this budget is pretty secure in its sincerity to meet the requests of student organizations." The budget was accepted by Student Government.

In other Government business Amy Otley, second vice president of the Body, announced she was accepting names of students to sit on the advisory boards and committees of the University. She also announced petitions for Student Government elections are due April 18.

The Special Projects and Research Committee will be focusing this quarter's activities towards the crime watch program and changing the faculty evaluation form.

In support of the crime watch program, SG is sponsoring an open house at 1 p.m. Sunday, April 17, at 1000 Wick Avenue. Demonstrations will be presented by area police and crime prevention officers on home first aid, home safety with weapons, stun guns and K-9 dogs.

Any YSU student who has been a victim of crime near the campus is encouraged to file a report at the SG office. Government is trying to compile evidence through reports to present to Campus Police and the Youngstown Police Department in order to get more assistance from them.

Valuables are stolen from auto

By SUE KNAPIC
Jambar News Editor

After classes last week, one student returned to her car to find all of her valuables had been stolen.

According to Campus Police reports, the 1985 gold Volkswagon Golf was parked in the M-23 parking lot (on Rayen Avenue, next to City Datsun) at approximately 9:45 a.m., on Tuesday, April 5.

The student went to classes and upon her return she discovered someone had broken the passenger-side window and removed several items valued at approximately $760, stated the report.

Among the items stolen were a complete set of mixed brand golf clubs ($400), an Escort Radar Detector ($260) and an Edwin Watts brand golf bag ($100).

Damage to the auto was estimated at $130 dollars ($100 for the right-passenger window, and $30 to the rear view mirror), noted the report.

No suspects were listed for the burglary and the case is still pending.

College recruitment focuses on older students

By The College Press Service

Forty-five percent of the people now enrolled in college are older than the age of 25, a still-unpublished report by the College Board revealed at a national higher education conference recently.

Nontraditional students may make up 50 percent of U.S. college enrollment by 1998, the report predicted.

Report author Carol B. Aslanian said, while most colleges have started campaigns to recruit older students to compensate for the declining numbers of 18-year-olds in the population, many haven't installed programs that serve the older students yet.

While Aslanian wouldn't comment on the report, which is not officially released yet, it caused a big stir at the American College Personnel Association convention in Miami.

Most said they agree with the report's conclusions that campus orientation programs, geared to 18-year-olds, generally don't address the needs of older students, who in some cases are never invited to orientation.

Colleges, moreover, have found they're attracting a different type of nontraditional student than they had expected.

Though most schools expected to enroll suburban housewives who had money to spend, the nontraditional students actually registering for classes often are poorer women aiming to train themselves for clerical jobs.

The schools, said Adrienne Aaron Rulnick of Berkshire Community College in Massachusetts, "didn't expect (welfare) mothers or a student who wanted to be a secretary."

Students attend traditional contest

By J.J. CHARIGNON
Jambar Darkroom Technician

Participation in the Annual Northcentral Regional AIChE Conference is a tradition for Chemical Engineering students of the William Rayen School. The University was well represented with 28 students from the department this year.

The emphasis of the event was the formal presentation of senior theses projects, having practicing professionals as judges. Of the approximate 15 presentations scheduled, YSU had prepared three.

AIChE competition winners included, 1st, Andrew Biaglow (Case - Western Reserve) discussing "Rotating Packed Beds for Chemical Engineering Applications," 2nd, Curt Walker (Purdue University) who presented "The Transport of Penetrants and Drugs Through Highly Crosslinked, Hydrophilic Polymers," and 3rd, Nancy Gronluno (Michigan State) whose work dealt with "Measurements in High Pressure Microwave Plasmas."

Research began nearly one year ago, with the majority of time spent planning their ideas.

JOHN CHARIGNON/THE JAMBAR

After choosing a topic, the work of designing and constructing the actual testing models began. Dr. Stanley Zager, and Dr. Leslie Szirmay, aided the six seniors in running their respective tests.

Gary Bowlin and Marian Toumazos studied a variety of compounds which they hoped to prove useful in medical applications. As an alternative to dialysis, specific resins were used as filtering mediums in an effort to locate a more practical and less expensive method. The paper was entitled, "Removal of Urea from an Aqueous Solution by a Complexed Ion Exchange Resin."

Hotline can offer helpful tips

By VIVIAN AXIOTIS
Jambar Reporter

At first glance, the cluttered room on the second floor of the old house seemed entirely too small. The walls were tightly packed with directories of every sort, allowing little breathing space.

Two volunteers sat behind their respective desks talking about nothing in particular. Facing the volunteers and commanding attention, lay the tools of their trade: a huge rollidex and a telephone.

Suddenly, the phone rang and a voice, needing only someone to talk to, asked, "I'm not suicidal, but can you talk to me?"

Help Hotline, a 24-hour agency dedicated to providing support and information to those in need, is currently looking for volunteers who are interested in answering questions like the one above.

Help Hotline (HHL) receives over 3,000 calls a month and these calls are answered by a staff of 60-70 dedicated volunteers. For each of the five work shifts, two qualified volunteers answer the phones and provide emotional support, answer questions and make referrals.

HHL was established 17 years ago when a 6-hour a day phone line was provided to offer information about drugs. Today HHL has expanded into a complex telephone network servicing Mahoning and Columbiana counties.

"They noticed people were not just concerned with drugs but with a lot of problems," said Cathy Grizinski, program coordinator. She explained the program offers free and confidential assistance for crisis intervention, suicide prevention and information and referrals. See Help, page 10

Conference to focus on family health

YSU — The ever-changing family will be discussed during a Tri-County Maternal/Child Health Association conference from 8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., April 16, at YSU.

"Caring for the Healthy Family: The Other 90 Percent," is being co-sponsored by YSU's Office of Continuing Education.

Application for 6.4 Continuing Education contact hours has been applied for from the Ohio Nurses' Association, the Licensed Practical Nurse Association of Ohio, Inc., the Commission on Dietetic Registration and the International Childbirth Education Association.

The keynote address will be by Dr. Regina Leaderman, professor at the Helen Denne Schulte School of Nursing and project director for the Maternal/Newborn Nursing Graduate Program at the University of Wisconsin.

Her topic will be "Psychosocial Challenges to the Family During Pregnancy." Leaderman is the author of a book on the same subject.

Other general sessions on the agenda will include, "You're a Better Parent Than You Think," led by Dr. Raymond Guarendi, a clinical psychologist at the Columbiana County Mental Health Center, and "From Parent to Grandparent in One Easy Step" by Nancy Mosca, instructor in the YSU Department of Nursing.

Concurrent mini-sessions will cover such topics as "Lovemaking and Pregnancy" with Rosemarie Hogan, associate professor of the Kent State University School of Nursing; "Quality Perinatal Care on a Shoestring," by Dr. James Quilty, chief of the Division of Maternal/Child Health, Ohio Department of Health; and "Adolescent Pregnancy: Dealing With It in Ohio," with Dr. Antoinette Parisi Eaton, past chair of the Governor's Commission on Teenage Pregnancy in Ohio. Five other workshops will be offered.

The conference fee is $60, or $45 for those registering prior to April 4. For more information, or a brochure, call 742-3358.

Strays are something to bark about

Abandoning dogs around the YSU campus has become a growing problem. Several wild dogs running around the campus perimeter at night are the result of such action.

People are leaving puppies near YSU because the campus is heavily populated and they believe someone will take the stray home, Campus Police officers report.

However, the majority of these puppies are left to fend for themselves. They survive without any human contact, eating garbage or whatever else they can find.

The dogs reflect the irresponsible actions of their short-term owners.

Man's so-called best friend has become a lonely vagrant, afraid of human contact.

The dogs are not presently dangerous, but there is a chance they can become rabid given their living conditions.

The dogs are not the problem — people who abandon the helpless puppies are.

Owners think they are getting rid of a nuisance. What they have done is create a tragic problem for others.

If the dogs do not starve or freeze to death, they are hit by cars in the highly-traveled areas around the University.

County Animal Welfare leagues make arrangements to harbor stray animals. For a fee, people are able to make pets of these stray animals.

Rather than abandoning dogs in the YSU area, owners should make arrangements with services such as this one or find homes for these animals.

A dog's bite may be worse than its bark if this growling problem continues.

Friends discuss communal stuff, AIDS

By THE COLLEGE PRESS SERVICE

PENELOPE WHITNEY
News Editor, University of California

CPS — When 10 people live in a house they talk about a lot of communal stuff: painting murals on walls, feeding the neighbor's dog grenades, cleaning the living room. A lot of talk, not so much action. So when we agreed to take the AIDS test together, I kind of doubted we'd follow through, even though it was one of our more important decisions.

None of us were heroin addicts but we hadn't exactly led cloistered lifestyles either. Someone once said Santa Cruz is so incestuous, if you've slept with one mountain biker, you've slept with them all.

The next thing I knew, the 10 of us were wandering around the county parking lot at the ridiculous hour of 8 a.m., looking for 1080 Emerline St. We found 1050, 1060, 1079 and the Mental Health Services office. But where was 1080?

"I think this is a scam. I think the FBI just made up this place to see who'd show up to take the AIDS test," Ben said.

"Yeah," laughed Didi, "they're probably in the bushes snapping photos right now."

We finally found it: "WAITING ROOM — FREE AND ANONYMOUS HIV ANTIBODY TESTING." We entered and went to the desk and got information sheets with fake names to guarantee anonymity.

Mine was Bob. Then we sat down on the blue cushy plastic benches to read the papers they gave us, and things weren't so funny anymore. "It's not who you are, it's what you do. Individuals known to be at risk are..." and it listed IV drug users who share needles, hemophiliacs and others who had blood transfusions, gay and bisexual men and everyone else and their mother who doesn't practice safe sex and have had multiple sexual partners of either sex. And the real heart-stopper for me was: sexual partners of any of the above individuals.

It went on to explain what test results mean. "Positive" indicates you've been infected with the AIDS virus and your body produced antibodies. In most people, this means an active virus is in the body and can be passed on to others. But positive doesn't necessarily mean you have or will get AIDS or AIDS Related Complex, or that you're immune to it.

"Negative" means no antibodies to the AIDS virus were found in your body at the time of testing. The obvious conclusion is you're not infected, right? But you're not home free yet. It could mean you've had contact with the virus but haven't become infected and haven't produced antibodies. Or it could mean you have been infected but haven't made any antibodies. It takes most people from two to eight weeks to produce them after infection.

I was mulling over that dreary information when I heard a voice calling "Bob." My friends nudged me and said "Hey, that's you." I rose, went with the nice young man. Didi sat with Ben, face hidden in his dreads. She looked like I felt.

Down corridors, past closed doors, open doors, into a small sterile room used for family planning I went. As he told me about AIDS, went over everything in the sheet and the anxiety deepened.

Then the questions started: "Have you ever used intravenous drugs or shared needles?"

Director wants fire alarm education

By RON AEY
Associate Director, Maintenance

The following information is in response to a fire that broke out in Room 119 of the Engineering Science Building on Feb. 29.

YSU campus buildings are monitored by a computer energy management system. The building fire alarms are a major sub-system which constitute a major part of the life safety system. This system continuously monitors the building environment and will set off an audible signal (fire alarm) when it senses a change within that environment.

YSU has one of the most modern, sophisticated, high tech alarm network systems of any college or university in this state.

When a building fire alarm activates, it triggers an alarm condition in the Campus Police Dispatch Office and the Facilities Maintenance Work Control Center. Each area also receives a computer print out of relevant information and guidance messages.

Police officers and maintenance personnel are immediately dispatched to the scene and in less than a minute, several key personnel will respond to the scene and assess why the building fire alarm went off.

In recent years, smoke detectors have become a major sub-part of the building fire alarm systems, and along with education, thousands of lives have been saved, especially in residential settings.

A common misconception in civilized society is that when the building fire alarm goes off with no imminent fire danger, we have a "false alarm." This is a serious and sometimes fatal misconception.

No such thing as a "false alarm" exists. The system is reacting to its environment, as it was designed to do, providing an early warning that something has gone wrong.

This lifesaving signal provides building occupants with the critical time element to preserve human life.

A major problem of these refined and sophisticated systems is unwanted alarms that should be labeled "nuisance alarms." The term "false alarms" should be dropped.

Nuisance alarms numb occupants' response to alarms, causing slower reactions than would be effective in a real emergency.

We have been working with our alarm contractor to reduce the number of unwanted alarms. The problem is complex because of our continuing desire for maximum early-warning notification time and our need to eliminate the unwanted alarms.

The more sensitive a detector is to fire, the lower its alarm threshold, and the more prone it is to nuisance alarms caused by particles.

Also, a combination of humidity, temperature and air currents can increase the chance of unwanted alarms. If the temperature and humidity increase, the detector's sensitivity also increases.

Unwanted alarms are difficult to prevent but the benefits of an alarm system far outweighs the disadvantages.

A major problem addressed in The Jambar editorial of March 2 was when building fire alarms sound, some people fail to leave the building. This apathy is due to the "false alarm" syndrome.

Apathy plays a major role in keeping U.S. fire statistics high. Many adults have the notion "fire only happens to the other guy." Any person who ignores the fire alarm can be overcome by smoke and toxic fumes far from the fire origin.

YSU has a duty to protect its employees, students and visitors. Anyone who chooses or refuses to react to the fire alarm is negligent in protecting the life, health, safety and welfare of everyone.

We will do all we can to minimize unwanted alarms.

Human life is far too valuable to lose in a fire. Protect yourself by leaving the building when the fire alarm sounds. The life you save may be your own.

Computer system displays latest in technology

YSU — The University has what many colleges and universities just dream about — a parallel computer system that's the latest in computer technology.

The uniqueness of YSU's Multi-Max Parallel Computer lies in its 10 central processing units, which enable it to execute countless programs.

Dr. Richard Burden, chair of the mathematical and computer sciences department, said there are two characteristics of the computer which make it so valuable: the Multi-Max can carry on research into parallel computing, making it easier and quicker; and it's a very good Ada compiler.

He called Ada, a program language developed by the U.S. Department of Defense, the computer "language of the future," and said the department is currently teaching Ada to upper level undergraduate students.

The parallel computer was not purchased to be an instructor, he said, but an educational aid. He added that there are no plans to add to the 16 terminals.

However, the $100,000 system is continually being upgraded and is now valued at over $140,000. Burden said a significant discount was given to YSU for the purchase of the computer, which was obtained with funds from the Ohio Board of Regents' Academic Challenge Fund.

According to Burden, the Multi-Max Parallel system is very advanced and is in much demand at universities.

Burden said this computer system will soon be making its way into other fields of research and is definitely in "the wave of the future."

Crime Stoppers seek info on Girard woman's death

YOUNGSTOWN — The unsolved brutal murder of Eileen Zarlengo has been selected as the "Crime of the Week" by the Greater Youngstown Crime Stoppers.

Zarlengo, at the time of her death, was divorced, unemployed and resided at 1082 Patricia Drive, Girard, Ohio. Capt. Anthony Tabachino, Mahoning County Sheriff's Department, stated that on Jan. 30, at 3:30 p.m., the body of the 29-year-old Girard woman was discovered in a wooded area about 60 yards off Gladstone Road, east of State Route 45 in Jackson Township. Her body was found clad in a blouse, with her throat cut.

Tabachino further stated that the last time the victim was seen alive was during the evening hours on Monday, Jan. 25, by her neighbors. Relatives became concerned when they called her apartment Tuesday morning and discovered her 3-year-old daughter had been left alone.

Anyone with information on this murder is asked to call Crime Stoppers collect at 746-CLUE from 8 a.m. - 4 p.m., Monday - Friday. Persons with information do not have to give their names. A code number will be assigned to each caller. If the information leads to the arrest and indictment of the person(s) responsible, a cash reward of up to $1,000 will be given as authorized by the Crime Stoppers Board of Directors. In addition to the reward offered by the Crime Stoppers, the family of Zarlengo is offering a $10,000 See Crime, page 11

Open house to offer safety tips

YSU — A community Crime Awareness Open House, sponsored by Student Government, will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday, April 17, at 1000 Wick Ave.

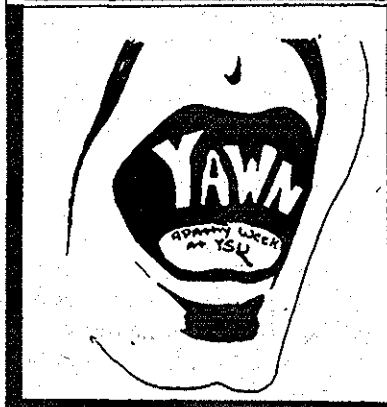

Demonstrations on home first aid, home safety with weapons, stun guns and K-9 dogs will be presented by area police and crime prevention officers.

The open house is free and open to the public and will feature Officer William Bailey of Crime Stoppers, Sondra Bell of Crime Watchers, Randall Wellington, chief of the Youngstown Police Department, Dan Nickel, director of the American Security Investigations and K-9, and representatives from YSU Campus Police and Student Government.

According to Marvin Robinson, president of Student Government, the goal of the program is to "make students aware of crime and how to protect themselves."

He said the program will focus on the North Side area because a high concentration of students who live there

Continuing Education offers variety of courses

YSU — From office to classroom to pool, YSU's Office of Continuing Education is currently offering a variety of classes.

Individuals can plunge into one of several swimming classes taught by Michael Puskas, a licensed Red Cross water safety instructor, in YSU's Beeghly Pool.

A "Swim and Trim" class will be held from 5-6 p.m. Tuesdays from April 12-May 31. Participants will be taught ways to increase muscle tone and circulation through basic water exercises. The fee is $90.

"Beginning Swim" for ages 6-12 will teach youngsters how to swim, float and maneuver in the water without fear. Certification in Red Cross Beginners' Swimming will be awarded to those successfully completing the course.

It will be offered from 11 a.m. - noon Saturdays from April 16-June 4. A $90 fee will be charged.

"Beginning Swim for Adults" will teach functional aquatic skills to adults with little or no water experience. Instruction will be highly individualized to accommodate those with differing abilities, fears and goals.

Participants who successfully complete the course will receive a Red Cross Swimming Certificate. The course will be held from 10-11 a.m. Saturdays, from April 16-June 4. The fee is $75.

"Conversational Italian" and "Conversational German" classes will be offered for those wanting to learn or brush up on their language skills.

"Conversational Italian"

meets from 5:40-7:30 p.m. Thursdays, April 14-June 2. It will cover the most useful elements of the Italian language for those who may be traveling to Italy but have had little or no experience with the language.

Mary Ann Koontz, a teacher at Howland High School, will be instructor for this eight-week course.

"Conversational German" will be offered from 5:40-7:30 p.m. Tuesdays, April 19-May 24. This beginners' course will cover survival skills for those traveling to German-speaking countries, such as asking and answering questions about shopping, theater, restaurants and directional phrases.

Susan Viehmeyer, a limited service faculty member in YSU's Department of Foreign Languages, will be the instructor.

The fee for either course is $94.

The OCE has also scheduled a survey course on "Vietnam," the longest and most controversial foreign war in American history.

Classes will meet from 5:30-7:30 p.m. Wednesdays, April 13-May 11.

Besides dealing with the history of the military action, the course will briefly discuss the Indo-China region, American involvement, diplomatic maneuvering, the home front and consequences of the war. Protest music and its significance will also be analyzed.

Charles Darling, history, and instructor of this course, said he expects lively class discussion, particularly with adults who have memories of the war.

The fee for this course is $94. After decades of "programming" employees to conform to corporate structures, many American businesses are now realizing they have all but eliminated the creativity of their work force.

A course in "Business and Creativity" will provide participants with five basic skills needed for creative thinking as well as methods for practicing and developing these skills. In addition, creative problem-solving techniques will be covered.

Dr. Joseph Altinger, mathematics, will teach this course. He is also a consultant to private businesses.

The course will meet from 7:40-9:30 p.m. Wednesdays, April 20-May 25. The fee is $140.

In cooperation with the Builders Association of Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, the OCE will offer a four-week course, "Estimating for Construction Office Personnel."

It is designed for the non-technical and office personnel in the construction industry. Topics will include: job descriptions and responsibilities, plan and specification management, bonding and bidding, warranties and industry terminology.

Instruction will be provided by Herb Moore, an architect/designer with YSU's University Facilities Office.

The class is scheduled from 5:40-7:30 p.m. Thursdays, April 28-May 19. The course fee is $105, or $80 for those who register before April 14.

For further information on any of these classes, or to register, contact the Office of Continuing Education at 742-3358.

Nominations being accepted for two recognition awards

By Jambar Staff Reports

Students and staff are encouraged to submit their nominations soon for two awards that recognize individual commitment to the University community.

Nominations are now being accepted for the Student Services Award, recognizing two outstanding individuals who have demonstrated exceptional commitment to the students of YSU.

All faculty, staff (exclusive of Student Services) and members of the University community are eligible for this award, which will be presented at the YSU Annual Awards Banquet on May 26.

The first annual Gillespie-Painter Achievement Award has been established by Student Services to recognize outstanding achievement by Student Services personnel.

All members of the Student Services unit of YSU are eligible to be considered for this recognition.

Nomination forms explaining the selection process for both awards are available at the Kilcawley Information Center, and must be returned by Thursday, April 21.

Violence, 4 stabbings spoil Spring Break

By The College Press Service

In the worst Spring Break rioting since 1986, four people were stabbed and two police officers were hurt as an estimated 3,000 vacationing students rioted on Mustang Island March 20:

No one is sure how the midnight beach riot on the island just offshore from Corpus Christi began, although policeman Jim Kaelin noted, "There is no tremendous amount of intoxication going on. All it takes is for someone to bump into someone else to start a riot." Other witnesses reported the violence began when a 26-year-old man hit a 16-year-old girl with his car, which was then overturned and trashed by angry bystanders.

Though the girl subsequently was treated for minor abrasions at a local hospital, it took 100 police officers using helicopters and tear gas to break up the ensuing riot, in which a car was run into the Gulf of Mexico off a pier, a portable toilet was burned and rocks were thrown.

Police arrested eight people. The incident was the worst since April 1986, when hundreds of high school and college students threw rocks and bottles at police and ripped the clothes off women at Palm Beach, Calif. Police arrested more than 500 people during a week of drinking and vandalism.

Since then, the Texas Gulf Coast, Jamaica and Daytona Beach, Fla., have been the only areas still advertising to encourage college students to visit them for Spring Break.

Commentary

That's easy. "No."
"Have you had more than one partner in the last five years?"
"Hal" I laughed loud. "Yes."
The man didn't smile. His hand moved over the small rectangle of paper that said "BOB" at the top. Check. "Were any of them bisexual or intravenous drug users?"

I stalled and images ran past like movie credits. One screeching halt, focus. A 6-foot-5 skinhead from Paris, told me afterwards, "I never get tired of sex. There are so many things you can do with two bodies..." Other blur-stop-click memories. And I thought I was having such a good time.

I sucked in air. "Probably." He didn't look up. Scratch-scratch. Another crisp X.

"Have you ever had a blood transfusion?"

"Yes." One more mark. Three strikes, you're out right?

The man looked and told me the blood would be tested in Santa Clara. He said if it tested positive they'd send it to Berkeley to retest. He said it'd take two weeks. I schedule an appointment to get the results. Hewent to get the nurse. "Have a good one!" he said as he left.

I didn't move.
The nurse entered, friendly and asked how I was doing. I told I hated blood tests, how a couple of times nurses hadn't been able to find my vein and went rooting around with the needle, jabbing, and turned my arms black and blue.

I didn't tell her I hated this particular test, hated what it meant, how the epidemic was far from over. The generation before me slept around and got herpes and cold sores. We sleep around, get AIDS and die.

I shut my eyes, still clenching my fist when she told me it was over. I saw two vials of dark red stuff on the table.

"Two teaspoons," she said.

Two weeks.
I felt faint.

Gary McGurgan and Rich Blom, who carried on the previous work of their advisor, Szirmay. Their studies attempted to reinforce the use of the adsorption technique for column distillation of combined gases. On the industrial level this would allow the corporation to distill from air necessary gases, rather than purchasing them from a supplier.

Thomas Gober and Michele Davison prepared a study dealing with, "Controlled Release of Anti-Cancer Drugs from Polymers". By using plastic implants they would provide a controlled release rate of medication into the body. Instead of peak concentration levels, they could release and maintain a consistent amount of the required drug. Their findings will be incorporated into the report by Dr. Charles Gebelein, Chemistry, who will present his research for publication in Los Angeles this fall.

Help

According to Grizinski, HHL is a central clearing house for information on social services, medical and mental health services and other support agencies and groups. HHL also serves as an after-hours link to these agencies so persons who need help after 5 p.m. can receive it.

HHL also provides information about questions dealing with adoption, counseling, runaways and substance abuse. Grizinski, admitted to being proud of the program and explained HHL helps the callers make contact with the proper agencies and organizations.

Because of the need for more volunteers, Grizinski is encouraging interested YSU students to become HHL volunteers. Applicants will be interviewed and will be asked to complete a spring training session. The session will be held from 5:30-7:30 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday nights, April 21-June 2.

The sessions are divided into 38 hours of classroom training and 40 hours of on-the-phone supervision. The training sessions are offered four hours a week.

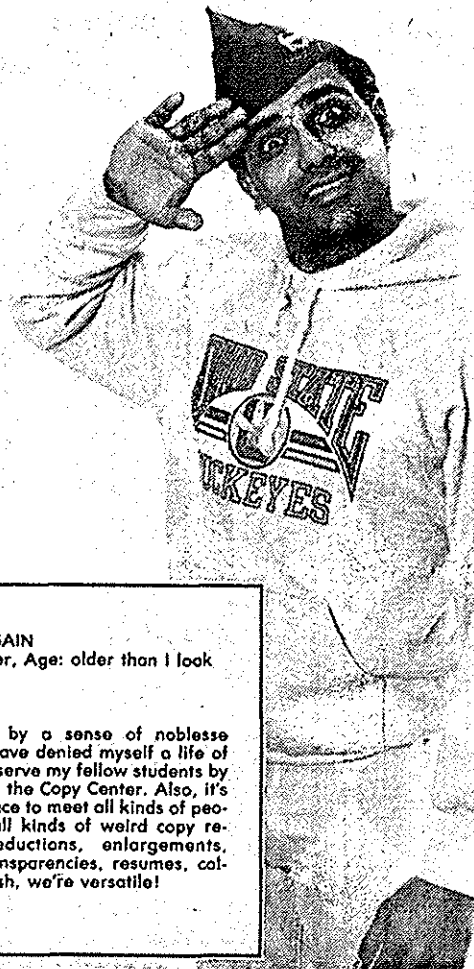

Grizinski said volunteers can gain from the experience because the job is rewarding and fulfilling.

According to Grizinski, volunteers learn good communication and listening skills as they learn to use different resources to deal with the situations they face each day.

Linda Sferra, an employee at HHL, said she encourages YSU students to participate. "Employers are impressed with volunteer work. It says a lot about someone. It's a rarity — most people won't volunteer," she added.

Movie reveals hidden anger among blacks

By JONI DOBRAN
Jambar Entertainment Editor

When thinking of prejudice, usually the colors black and white come to mind. However, studies have shown that there are cases when dark-skinned and fair-skinned blacks find fault with each other as well.

In the movie School Daze, which opened this past Friday at the Austintown Cinema, director/producer/writer/actor Spike Lee addresses this issue, pitting various students at Mission College against each other.

School Daze contains within it comedy, drama and music, providing an outlet for all types of film-goers. The seriousness of the subject adds somewhat to the film's basically light mood.

Mission, a predominantly black college, is the home of Gamma Phi Gamma, a powerful fraternity headed by Julian (Great Brother Almighty). The G Phi Gs and their organization of little sisters, the Gamma Rays, are the fair-skinned blacks, accused of acting like white people; the men with their so-called white attitudes and the women with their long, white-styled hair.

Mission is also where Dap Dunlap is a student. He is a dark-skinned black, an apartheid protestor with a tendency to belittle his fairer-toned peers, and throughout the film he and his friends have confrontations with the G Phi Gs; Dap accusing the fraternity of selectivity and anti-black attitudes and they accusing him of old and useless ideas. The situation is YSU — A euphonium virtuoso performance by Francis Laws entitled "The Euphonium Connection" will be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 14, in Bliss Recital Hall.

The recital is free and open to the public.

Laws is an associate professor and chair of the music department at Wright State University in Dayton.

His program will include Mozart's "Concerto No. 1 for French Horn" and the Harold Brasch arrangement of "The Carnival of Venice" as well as other works transcribed for the euphonium (part of the tuba family). He will also play pieces on the baritone horn and the double-bell euphonium.

Laws has performed as soloist and member of various ensembles and symphonies. He has also served as an adjudicator for contests, band festivals and symposiums at the regional, national and international levels.

For one portion of the musical program, Laws will be joined by pianist Judith Darling and Dana School of Music Tuba Quartet members Tracy Guerin, George Miklas and John Turk, Music.

The group will perform works by Gabrieli, Boyce, Stevens and Frankenpohn.

Women win pair as Rohan whirls no-hitter

By MARK S. ARP
Jambar Sports Reporter

The YSU softball team crossed the state line Sunday and brought back two impressive shutout victories from Robert Morris College by scores of 7-0 and 10-0, raising their record to 5-3.

In the first game, Julie Croft (2-1) engineered the mound and turned in a two-hit, six-strikeout performance for YSU.

Croft's effort was backed up by a healthy dose of offense, which struck early, scoring three runs in the first inning and two more apiece in the second and third innings.

Tammy Schaeffer led the Penguin offense with two singles and one run batted in, and Debbie Thornton collected two RBI's. Five other YSU batters each contributed singles.

In the second game, sophomore hurler Chris Rohan orchestrated a pitcher's dream—a no-hitter. In six innings of work, because of the 10-run rule, Rohan fanned four batters and walked only two, bringing her record on the mound to 2-0.

Rohan also had strong support from her defense, who committed only one error, and from her offense, who smacked out 15 hits for 10 runs.

Zina Abbas went three-for-four to lead the Penguins. Chris Timko, Marla Penza, Shaeffer and Elaine Jacobs each had two hits apiece, while Jennifer Aurilio, Julie Yuhasz and Timko each had two RBI's.

Men lose four contests in Kentucky bluegrass

By RUSSELL FARMINTINO
Jambar Sports Reporter

The Youngstown State baseball team went on a four-game three-day swing through the Bluegrass State of Kentucky this past weekend. As things turned out, the Penguins probably wish the tour of Kentucky wouldn't have taken place as the Penguins dropped all four contests.

In the opener against the University of Kentucky, the Penguins lost a 16-7 slugfest. Next came a doubleheader against OVC rival Eastern Kentucky. The doubleheader turned into a double-faced dose of heartache as the Penguins came up short in a couple of heartbreakers, 3-1 and 1-0.

Finally, in a single game with EKV to wrap up the trip, the Penguins were never in the game as they dropped an 11-0 nod. The Penguins ended up the road trip with a record of 6-15 overall, 0-6 in the OVC, and as the bearers of a four game skid.

Against the UK Wildcats, the Penguins battled back from 5-1 and 6-3 deficits to forge ahead 7-6 after 6½ innings but just couldn't hold on.

After the Wildcats struck for three runs in the bottom half of the second inning, the Penguins answered with a single tally in the top of the third.

John DePiere led off the frame with a single and came around to score on a fielder's choice two outs later by Joel Brennan to slice the margin to 3-1.

The Wildcats then proceeded to score single runs in the fourth and fifth innings to assume their 5-1 advantage. The Penguins retaliated with a pair of runs in their half of the sixth. A single by Brennan, a walk to Bob Janeda and a single by Shawn McCart, coupled with a wild pitch, plated the Penguins' tallies.

Trailing 6-3 following a UK tally in the bottom of the sixth, the Penguins exploded and put fear in the hearts of the Wildcat faithful by scoring four times in the top of the seventh inning to assume a 7-6 lead.

Unfortunately for the Penguins, the roof fell in as the Wildcats scored 10 times on only four hits in the bottom of the eighth inning to make the margin 16-7, Wildcats.

Offensively, the Penguins were paced by Sotlar's grand slam and multiple-hit games from Brennan and DePiere, who collected three and two hits, respectively.

The Penguins then trekked across Kentucky to take on the ECU Colonels. It was there that the YSU bats fell totally asleep, as the Penguins were held to one run and seven hits in the three-game set.

The lack of offensive production, unfortunately, overshadowed two great Penguin pitching performances in the doubleheader loss. Bob Susa limited the Colonels to three runs and seven hits in the opener. Brennan had a solo blast and DePiere hit a single.

Jerry Dennis pitched a one-hitter, but was the bearer of a heartbreaking 1-0 loss.

Hendrix takes three medals

Cara Hendrix's three first-place finishes led the YSU women's track team to a third-place finish in the Hiram Women's Invitational this past weekend.

Hendrix, a junior, captured the 200m dash, 400m dash and anchored the winning 1,600m relay team. Also on the Penguins' winning relay team were Renay Falibota, Chris Street and Margaret Sample.

The Penguins' third-place finish was in a field of eight teams. The YSU men's track team made their season debut last Saturday at the Case Western Reserve Invitational where they finished seventh out of ten teams.

Dave Ritter was the Penguins' only first-place finisher in the meet. Ritter won the high jump competition with a 6-10 jump.

Other top finishers for the team were Tom Borton, with a third-place finish in the 5,000m; Randy Spayd, with a fifth-place finish in the 400m hurdles; and Joe Misik, with a sixth place finish in the 3,000m steeplechase.

First-year track coach Patty Metzler said she is optimistic going into next Saturday's men's and women's meet at Akron for the Akron Relays Invitational.

"As long as we remain healthy, we should be able to give anyone a run for their money," said Metzler.

Penguin tennis teams lob wins, losses

The YSU women's tennis team evened their record to 4-4 as they played host to Allegheny and took the match by an 8-1 margin.

Judy Ciacatello disposed of her opponent in two sets, 6-3, 6-3; Sandy Kocak followed suit defeating her counterpart 7-5, 6-0.

Michelle Julius downed her opponent 6-4, 6-3, while Pam Higgins notched two sets 6-2, 6-2.

Janet Polish took two sets, 6-3, 6-1 to defeat her opponent while Camille Iannizzaro rallied after losing the second set and the tiebreaker 7-6, 7-2 to a 6-1 decision, thus sweeping Allegheny in singles action.

In doubles action, the Ciacatello-Kocak tandem won in consecutive 7-5, 6-3 sets; Julius and Higgins rallied after dropping their first set 2-6 to notch a victory with two sets of 6-2, 6-2. Robin Penny were defeated in the last doubles matchup to give Allegheny its only win in the match.

The women's team is in action today at Akron.

In a busy weekend, the men's tennis team dropped three contests, dipping their record to 1-13.

On Friday, the Penguins hosted Pittsburgh and surrendered to a score of 1-8. Dan Haude notched the only YSU victory of the match, defeating his counterpart 7-5, 6-3.

On Saturday, OVC rival Middle Tennessee invaded Youngstown and emerged victorious 8-1. Again Haude gained the only win in the match downing his opponent 6-4, 6-2.

Sunday rounded out the Penguins weekend as Mercyhurst came to the home courts of YSU. Haude claimed the only victory for YSU, going three sets 6-3, 0-6, 7-5 as the Penguins bowed 1-8.

Head Coach Don Getz stated that in spite of three 1-8 matches, he felt his team played extremely well and showed the most consistent play this season. Getz also added that the cool temperatures and winds were less than ideal conditions for his netters.

Commenting on his players, Getz says of Haude (12-2) "He won a very hard fought singles match against Mercyhurst, known as a tennis powerhouse. Fighting wind, blisters and a very stubborn opponent, Dan won in the third set with brilliant play to break serve and win the set 7-5."

Getz commended freshman Brian Fry for showing steady improvement and putting on a strong performance against Pitt and Mercyhurst in singles while forcing Pitt to a tiebreaker in doubles with partner Haude.

Getz also mentioned the performance of sophomore Scott Orlando. "Scott played his finest match this season against a very good Pitt opponent, but came up short in a second set tiebreaker" said Getz.

John Huebner also received praise from his coach, playing two fine matches versus MTSU in singles and gave his best showing this season against Orange Bowl participant Raul Raymond of Mercyhurst.

Summing up the overall performance of his team, Getz stated "I was very pleased with the team's improvement this week, while I am disappointed in our overall consistency. We just haven't put two good sets together at any one position except at the number one singles. These guys are close to putting their individual performances together as a team and that is the key to winning in college tennis."

The men's team will host OVC foes Murray St. and Tennessee Tech this weekend.

MISSION IMPOSSIBLE?

Our Mission, should you choose to accept it, is kids.

Kids around the world who know poverty and hunger.
Kids who desperately need help and love.

Some say they are beyond help, unreachable.
Some call it a "Mission Impossible."

We say no way.
We are the Salesians of Don Bosco and we live for poor kids.

But to continue we need more help.

We are looking for a few good men to become Brothers or Priests for the young, to share in our "Mission" by working with needy youth around the world.

YOU COULD MAKE OUR MISSION POSSIBLE.

YES, I'd like to find out more about the Salesians.
