Handicapped student defies campus obstacles

*EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a three-part series on handicapped students at YSU.*By ERIKA HAZELY
Jambar Assistant News Editor

Peggy Wolf greeted me at the door of the classroom with a warm smile and a handshake. I had promised to walk with her to Kilcawley Center for the Handicapped Support Group meeting.

But before we left Beeghly, Peggy had a few things she wanted to show me. She wheeled herself over to the drinking fountain that was specifically designed for people in wheelchairs and proceeded to get a drink.

It appeared to me that this fountain suited her purposes very well until I noticed that The Jambar Peggy had put into her lap was drenched. A drink for Peggy, obviously, was also a shower.

From the water fountain we proceeded through an electric door into the bathroom. Peggy had me sit on a toilet for handicapped people. I perched, feeling somewhat stupid and then realized that my feet didn't even touch the ground.

Peggy told me that she would never make it on or off the toilets if her arms weren't so strong.

Now for a look in the mirror and to wash her hands. The regular mirror was too far off the ground for Peggy to see into, but she could use the tilted mirror. The only problem with that, she reminded me, was that some non-disabled sometimes used the special mirror instead of the regular one and she can't see around other students to comb her hair.

Find out how YSU students find support in overcoming campus barriers in the next issue of The Jambar.

Peggy and I left the bathroom and headed toward Kilcawley. Instead of going out the convenient front entrance or closest side entrance, however, we had to go out the door that was equipped with a wheelchair ramp. Peggy used her legs to propel herself and to act as brakes on the slope. I watched her as she turned her chair around to go up a sidewalk ramp in reverse because it was too difficult to go forward.

Peggy Wolf is a student at YSU. Like other students she takes classes, does homework, writes papers and does her own laundry, cooking and cleaning at her own apartment.

Peggy was diagnosed with encephalomyelitis, resulting in a head injury on Feb. 14, 1985. Within 24 hours, her speech and ability to walk and move her arms with dexterity were severely impaired. She has used a wheelchair ever since.

Peggy lives by herself in the Goodwill apartments in Youngstown. She takes the WRTA bus to YSU and to her job at Reliable Source of Metalwork Inc., getting up at 5:30 a.m. to make it to her 9 a.m. class. When I asked her how she liked being so independent, she replied, "I don't consider myself independent—I consider myself inter- and intra-dependent."

According to Peggy, there are approximately 63 handicapped students at YSU, ranging from those using wheelchairs to students who have severe heart or back problems. "We are going to see more handicapped students on campuses everywhere," she said, due to the increasing amount of encouragement from support groups.

It was through the Handicapped Support Group at YSU that Peggy found some much-needed help. She mentioned she was having trouble typing her research paper because her fingers weren't agile enough to type quickly. John Powell, president of the support group, asked her to come to the computer lab in DeBartolo Hall. Peggy laughed, "I don't know diddly beans about computers!"

Peggy started using a program called "Mindreader" that is designed for people who don't type often or have difficulty typing. When a person types in the first few

ROTC plans week of events

YSU — Starting on Monday, April 18, the YSU ROTC will be hosting an ROTC Awareness Week to better inform the campus community about the purpose of the corp of cadets.

A POW-MIA seminar will be held from 6-9 p.m. on Monday, April 18, and Tuesday, April 19. This seminar will feature a documentary on POWs and MIAs from WWII thru Vietnam.

In addition to the film, ex-POW's will be guest speakers. The seminar will be held in the Ohio Room and is free to the public.

On Tuesday and Thursday during the week, there will be the rappelling workshop. People can try their hand at a big leap. Instructors will assist first timers in their attempt. This workshop is also free to the public.

On Friday military equipment of both the U.S. and the Soviet Union will be on display.

Blevins attorney wants trial moved out of area

By LISA M. SOLLEY
Jambar Editor

Brian Scott Blevins' attorney said he is not so concerned at getting his client's case to trial as he is about conducting a fair trial.

In efforts to have his client judged fairly, Atty. R. Scott Krichbaum has filed a motion for postponement of Blevins' July 18 trial date. The attorney also requested a change of venue due to the media attention the case has received.

Blevins has been charged with aggravated murder with two separate death specifications, involving aggravated robbery, aggravated burglary and kidnapping, in the February 16 death of YSU senior Kenmore Drake. If convicted, Blevins faces the death

Annual accounting dinner set

YSU — Alpha Tau Gamma, YSU's accounting fraternity, will present its 38th annual dinner and accounting clinic at 6 p.m. April 20 at Mr. Anthony's in Boardman.

Ronald B. Cohen, managing partner of Cohen and Company in Cleveland, will speak on "What Are We Here For?"

The program is open to the public and tickets may be purchased at the door for $15 ($10 for YSU students). Proceeds will go to the Dean Robert C. Miller Scholarship Fund at the Warren P. Williamson Jr. School of Business Administration.

William Petrych and Inez Heal, both from accounting and finance, are the advisers for the fraternity. The department of accounting and finance is a part of the Warren P. Williamson Jr. School of Business Administration.

Officers for Alpha Tau Gamma are: Cindy Charniga, president; Deanna Ridel, vice-president; Jeff Joseph, treasurer; Janice Janjani, recording secretary; and Annette DePizzo, corresponding secretary.

Professor receives appointment to National Council of Teachers

YSU — Dr. Virginia Monseau, and the profession at large on English, has been appointed to women's issues. The group will also act as a resource for the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE).

The task of the group is to focus attention on the status and image of women in the council and in the profession, and to recommend ways of ensuring the women equitable treatment. The group will advise the NCTE Executive Committee and the profession at large on women's issues. The group will also act as a resource for women's issues for this and other organizations. The NCTE is a professional organization for teachers and supervisors of English at all levels. Its aim is to improve the teaching of English and language arts in the nation's schools and colleges.

Crisis center starts classes

YSU — Potential volunteers are being recruited for the Battered Persons' Crisis Center Spring Training classes.

Training classes will be held from 5-7 p.m. beginning Monday, April 25, and will run every consecutive Monday after that for a total of six weeks. Attendance is required.

The Battered Persons' Crisis Center program serves domestic violence victims in Mahoning and Columbiana counties. It provides crisis counseling, legal advocacy, support groups and a safe, temporary shelter for families who have been victims of domestic violence.

Because the program provides comprehensive services 24 hours every day, there is a constant need for dedicated volunteers.

Volunteers should be warm, caring individuals.

Anyone interested in volunteering should call for an application at 744-5101 (Mahoning County) or 1-800-438-1167 (Columbiana County).

Panel shares Hispanic customs

By ROB CICCOTELLI
Jambar Reporter

A large crowd turned out Thursday in the Ohio Room of Kilcawley Center to heighten their awareness of various hispanic cultures.

A student panel, consisting of three YSU students and a YSU graduate, shared their knowledge gained through personal experience of various hispanic countries and their cultures.

Each of the panel members gave a brief description of the country of their knowledge. A question and answer session with the audience followed.

The first person to speak was Luis Martinez, junior, A&S, and a native of Puerto Rico. In his speech, Martinez discussed the strong sense of family and national pride instilled in him. He also mentioned several successful Puerto Ricans including actor Eric Estrada and golfers Nancy Lopez and Chi Chi Rodriguez.

The next person to speak was Federico Sanguinetti, junior, A&S, of Peru. His discussion stressed the importance of bilingual education and the inclusion of culture in the teaching of a second language.

The third person to speak was YSU graduate Mike Adams, of Youngstown, who spent time in Honduras serving with the Peace Corps. Adams stressed the warmth and friendliness of the people of Honduras and their genuine awareness of the feelings of others.

The final panel speaker was Erica Shann, junior, A&S, who recently spent some time in Mexico. According to Shann, the strongest impression made on her while she was there was the contrast between the Mexican philosophy "Be kind to strangers; you never know when you'll be one," and the American saying "Don't talk to strangers."

Topics discussed in the open forum with the audience were mainly the truth behind the myth of laziness associated with siesta time.

Rest time is justified in the heat of day when the climate is 110 degrees in the shade. Hard work resumes later in the afternoon and often extends into the evening.

Also mentioned in association with the laziness myth was that most hispanic cultures value the flexibility to stop and smell the roses and enjoy the little things in life rather than live by the clock.

The consensus of the audience, as well as the forum, was that hispanic cultures are laid back, not lazy.

Objectivity focus of elections

Newspapers play an important role in government elections. The Jambar will also play an important role in the upcoming Student Government elections.

Government elections will take place May 4-5. Students need to stress the importance of electing a president and vice president who will be concerned with representing student interests.

Since several students may be running for these positions, the students need to know what the candidates stand for, what issues they support and what type of leadership skills each possess.

Due to the importance of these two positions, The Jambar will take on the responsibility of introducing each candidate to the YSU student community.

The Jambar's policy for interviewing Student Government candidates is as follows:

- Candidates will be interviewed as a team — president and vice president.
- Each team will be given the exact amount of time for interviews.

- Stories will appear in a news-profile format with each team receiving the same amount of space. Space for these stories will be determined by the editor-in-chief.

- Candidates will be contacted to set up an interview, or candidates may contact The Jambar for interviews. All interviews must be completed by April 29. If candidates fail to show up for interviews, the paper will attempt to make arrangements for a second interview. If the second interview fails, the paper is not responsible for running a profile on that specific team. All profiles will appear in the issue before Government elections are held.

- The Jambar will have a reporter and another staff member present during the interview.

- Once all interviews have been conducted, The Jambar will hold an editorial meeting to decide if an endorsement should be made, and what candidates will receive such endorsements. Editorials reflecting endorsements will appear in the issue before Government elections are held.

- Any letter to the editor that endorses a candidate will appear in the issue before Government elections are to be held. Letters should follow the paper's letters policy format and are subject to space limitations. If space is limited, letters will be run according to the date in which the letter was received.

The Jambar will stand behind objective reporting of all candidates running for Student Government office. If anyone has any questions concerning these policies, please contact our office at 742-3094.

People don't understand media

BRIAN RAMSEY
 Jambar Reporter

A great deal of criticism by YSU students and members of the Youngstown homosexual population has been leveled at the media because of their coverage of the murder of YSU student Kenmore Drake and of the association Dr. Timothy Lyons has with the case.

These people apparently either don't understand the nature of news or believe that it is all right to report stories so long as it is not their ox that is being gored.

A news story contains at least one of these elements: timeliness, proximity, prominence, significance, unusualness, conflict or human interest. Even someone who is not a journalist can figure out that the Drake murder and ensuing events contain at least five of these news elements and perhaps all.

Local media have been unfairly criticized for just doing their job, which most people would define as being the watch-dogs of society. Journalists usually try to report things as fairly, and in as straightforward a manner, as possible. This means journalists have to ask questions about sensitive issues and report what they believe to be true.

What concerns me as a journalist is that during past weeks the media, especially The Jambar, has taken great pains to emphasize the victimization of the now former dean of Fine and Performing Arts. To me, this characterization implies that YSU administration officials have forced Lyons to resign solely because of his sexual preference.

It has been argued (and correctly so) that Lyons' homosexuality should have nothing to do with his fitness to do his job. It should also be argued that just because a murder has been committed in someone's home, that too, has nothing to do with the person's fitness for his job.

This being the case, one should ask: Since in recent years the YSU administration has not engaged in what the homosexual community refers to as queer-bashing, why would it change that position now?

Six years ago when another YSU faculty member was arrested and charged with having sexual relations with a 14-year-old boy, the administration took no disciplinary action. The charge was later reduced to a misdemeanor.

If a faculty member can survive the publicity that comes from being charged with having an affair with a minor, it seems that someone only peripherally involved in a murder could survive this scandal as well. This leads to the conclusion that there may be other significant reasons for the dean's resignation.

So, what are the real reasons for the resignation of Lyons? Questions have been raised by some faculty and students who refuse to go on record. They contend Lyons' departure is not merely because he was the victim of circumstances. They have made serious accusations both about Lyons' character and his performance as dean.

Unfortunately, most faculty and theater majors follow a code of silence similar to that of the police and other close-knit organizations. Because of their silence, the truth of these accusations may never emerge. It is a near-certainty that the administration will never disclose such information.

As a journalist, I feel it is the responsibility of The Jambar to report the facts as it knows them and to investigate all rumors. However, The Jambar must avoid becoming either part of a committed in someone's home, that too, has nothing to do with the person's fitness for his job. See Commentary, page 7

Student wants WUGS aired on campus

Dear Editor:

I am writing this letter in regard to a problem that I feel needs attention.

I feel that The Underground Radio Station can be enjoyed by everyone, but it is not broadcast in enough places for students to hear it.

To the best of my knowledge, the only places where the station can be heard are in the Copy Center and in the Student Government Lounge. Very few people ever go into these rooms, creating an audience of less than 10 people.

I did not realize the problem existed until I went into the Pub and heard the same song that I had played earlier on my shift.

The same is true for Arby's. Considering the number of students in there each day, it is a shame that we cannot be heard. The most upsetting part of all is the involvement that all of the other student organizations have with the student body.

The people at WUGS can help establishments where the daily programming broadcasts with promotions, contests, free advertising and campus employee of the day. I, personally, feel everyone can benefit from the daily programming WUGS provides.

For now, all we can do is hope that someday we will have a normal campus radio station like other universities. If everyone stays closed-minded on the issue, all we will ever do is hope.

Lack of parking spaces angers parent

Dear Editor:

During freshman orientation we were told parking permits could be purchased for our sons and daughters while they attend YSU.

We were also assured that, although more permits were sold than were parking places, there was ample parking at YSU.

We bought the parking permit and my son put his graduation money and wages from his summer job into buying and fixing up a car. Recently, the car was stolen because he could not find a parking place on the grounds at YSU and had to park on Fifth Avenue.

I ask you, what good is a parking permit to a lot that doesn't exist and to a car that has now been stolen?

We have been warned against buying property through the mail. I believe we should also have been warned against buying parking permits from YSU.

It seems to me we purchased a piece of the Brooklyn Bridge.

penalty, and could be sentenced to die in Ohio's electric chair.

Judge William C. Houser will decide on the change of venue motion. The decision on whether Blevins can receive a fair trial in Mahoning County will be determined once jury selection process is underway.

According to Krichbaum, the presumption of innocence is important in any case, but the media has not focused on this aspect. "Sensationalism in the media has attracted people's attention and it is important that my client be given a fair trial, which I don't think he can receive now," Krichbaum said. "People forget about presumed innocence and the media does not tell that story."

In a story published by The Vindicator, Krichbaum is also asking that the state hire a professional, such as a psychologist to testify about the effects of pretrial publicity on the minds of prospective jurors.

Krichbaum intends to show through testimony that it is almost impossible to obliterate news coverage from jurors' memories, despite orders to do so by the judge.

"Publicity on this case has been extraordinary and the case should be moved," Krichbaum said.

If the judge grants a change of venue, the attorney said he would like to have some say as to where the trial may be held, but he does not know if that is possible.

Krichbaum said he requested postponement of the July trial date to allow for case preparation. "It is difficult for me to be ready [to go to trial] when I do not have discovery yet," added Krichbaum.

Krichbaum is still awaiting information concerning the case from Prosecutor Gary Van Brocklin. He said that additional information was needed.

Commentary

If there is truth to the stories that have been reported to myself and other members of the media, including Bing Stemple of WYTV, they need to be substantiated. To substantiate them would demand that people have the courage to come forward and expose themselves to the criticism of their peers. If people feel these stories are important enough to be spread by the rumor mills, they should stand by their accusations.

Only through confirmation of the truth or falsity of these allegations will the matter ever honestly be laid to rest.

For those who are critical of commentaries such as this one, they should understand that The Jambar's coverage of this story tended to examine only one side of the issues involved. This side has, understandably, been sympathetic to Lyons, but in the interest of good journalism it is essential also to bring these darker elements to light as well.

Granted it may mean more scandal in the media, but gossip too is an ugly thing, the consequences of which should be weighted against justice. Justice rightfully lets a person face his accuser and lets people judge a man based on facts instead of rumors which trickle out through the sieve of anonymity.

For example, if Peggy typed ENT, the computer might supply her with the choices: enter, entry, entrepreneur, etc. After a while the computer recognizes words that are used often and automatically supplies the typist with that common word.

Peggy said her experiences on campus have been rewarding and the students have been very helpful. She recalled a time when the blacktop on a sidewalk was slick due to rain and her wheelchair started sliding. A man suddenly dropped all of his books and raced over to stop the chair.

"There have been so many people within as well as without who have helped me," Peggy said. "If I wrote everyone a thank you, I would be typing the rest of my life."

FOOD EATING CONTEST "FRANKLY SCARLET, I DON'T GIVE A DAMN"

First Place Prize-
$50 and "generic" food

Second Place Prize-
"Choose Apathy" t-shirts

We really don't give a damn if you want to win cash and dine on generic food delicacies for a week, but if you do - bring a friend and enter the 2-member team contest.

Tuesday Noon Pub Stage

THE JOHN AND JANE DOE PUB PARTY

What would an apathy party be without the usual "who really cares" trivia, generic potato chips and PAC's free "I don't care" buttons while they last.

DJ Cornell Bogdan, will be the master of the boring ceremonies and give out apathy prizes. Stop in for a piece of our specially-made generic party cake - black and white, of course!

Wednesday Pub Lower Level 2 - 4 p.m.

Join us as the PAC's Mainstage Committee takes a hilarious look at the apathy that often runs rampant on our campus. So what if there are wild contests, cash prizes, free buttons and t-shirts? I'd rather be sleeping through my mid-terms!

True-to-life drama is set to open in Bliss theater

YSU — The Elephant Man by Bernard Pomerance opens at the Spotlight Arena Theater in Bliss Hall April 21.

A powerful and poignant drama, The Elephant Man is the true story of John Merrick, whose body is hideously and repulsively deformed, but within lives a remarkably sensitive and intelligent being.

Exploited at first as a freak, Merrick is befriended by Frederick Treves, an ambitious and brilliant young surgeon. Introduced to high society, Merrick becomes dependent on the success his deformity brings him and is again exploited, although more subtly, by Victorian society and philanthropy.

James McClellan, freshman, Education, has the title role as John Merrick; Robert Dubec, senior, theater, portrays Dr. Treves and Kathleen Gabriel, senior, Education, plays Mrs. Kendal, who becomes attracted to Merrick.

Tania Pshniak, junior, F&PA; Jordan Schilderout, freshman, A&S; Debra Schultz, freshman, F&PA; and Megan Welsch, freshman, A&S.

Also included in the cast are Rayen High School students David Diamond and Garry

Spencer.

The play is directed by Dr. William G. Hulsopple, speech communication and theater; scenic design is by Dr. Frank A. Castronovo, also of speech communication and theater; lighting

Noted cellist to perform as part of concert series

YSU — A public concert by world famous cellist Anner Bylsma will be held in the Bliss Recital Hall at 8 p.m. Monday, April 18.

The free concert is sponsored by YSU's Classical Music Society and is part of the Dana Concert Series.

Bylsma, who began musical studies at age three, studied cello at the Royal Conservatory in The Hague, where he received the Prix d'excellence in 1957. He won the Pablo Casals competition in 1959 and was the principle cellist of Amsterdam's renowned Concertgebouw Orchestra for six years.

Bylsma is currently a faculty member at the Royal Conservatory and the Amsterdam Sweelinck Conservatory.

The cellist is best known for his interpretation of baroque and early classical music and is one of the most recorded baroque specialists.

His concert at YSU will feature the Bach Suites for Unaccompanied Cello. He has received highest critical acclaim for his performance of these six suites, which are considered the supreme works of music for the cello.

In addition to his YSU performance, Bylsma's 15 tour recitals for April include performances at the University of Nebraska on April 15, Kansas City on April 16, Oberlin College on April 19 and Washington D.C. on April 23.

The Dana Concert Series is presented by the Dana School of Music, which is part of the College of Fine and Performing Arts.

Fourth annual New Music Festival set to begin

YSU — The fourth annual Dana New Music Festival at YSU will feature sights as well as sounds during the three-day event, April 20-22.

The festival, which is free and open to the public, is sponsored by the Dana School of Music in the College of Fine and Performing Arts, the New Music Society, Student Government, the Butler Institute of American Art and the American Federation of Musicians, Local 86-242.

Following the theme, "Music and Visual Image," many of the festival's events will center on connections between music and the visual arts.

At 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 20, in Bliss Recital Hall, guest composer and performer Burton Beerman of Bowling Green State University will perform a new work, "Three Fragments," using a new electronic instrument.

Beerman will also speak on "Multi Media and Video Graphics with the Amiga Microprocessor" at 9 a.m. Thursday, April 21, also in Bliss Recital Hall.

Other guest lecturers will include Paul Paccione of Western Illinois University and Sylvia Pengilly of Loyola University, New Orleans.

Performances by the Cleveland Philharmonic Orchestra, under the direction of Dana faculty member Dr. William Slocum, and the Dionysian Arts Ensemble, a Youngstown-based chamber group, will highlight the festival.

Works to be premiered at the festival include: "Renaissance Suite" by Dr. Robert Rollin, Music, who wrote the piece in honor of the 50th anniversary of the Cleveland Philharmonic, which will be under the direction of William Slocum, music; "Concerto for Trombone and Brass Ensemble" by Dana faculty member Edward J. Largent; "Fanfare for Brass Ensembles" by Dana alumna Mary Franklin; "Concerto for Chamber Ensemble," and "Variations and Fugue" by graduate student Lars Brondum.

Al Bright, Art, will join several Dana faculty members, including: Roman Rudnytsky, piano; John Turk, tuba; and James Umble, saxophone; in a painting-music presentation at 1 p.m. Friday, April 22, in the Bliss Hall Art Gallery.

This presentation will also mark the premiere of another of Largent's compositions, "Set Piece for Alto Saxophone and Electronic Tape."

This year's festival committee is comprised of William Slocum, Joseph Edwards and Wendell Orr, Edward Largent and Walter Mayhall, all of Music, and Dr. Louis Zona, Art, and director of the Butler. Dr. Robert Rollin, Music, is program coordinator.

Penguins continue losing skein, drop four more

By RICK GEORGE
Jambar Sports Reporter

The YSU men's baseball team could not shake the losing bug in their last few games. The Penguins lost two games to Akron on Tuesday and another pair to Kent State on Wednesday.

At Akron on Tuesday, the Penguins could not get untracked in the first game. They quickly found themselves down 8-0 after two innings. Akron scored their last five runs in the sixth to make the final score 13-0. Jerry Dennis, Bob Janeda and Dave Ifft had the only hits for YSU. Starting pitcher Joe Herubin fell to 0-2 with the loss.

The Penguins fell on hard times again in the second game with a 5-1 loss. YSU's lone run came in the fifth while down 2-0. Rob Armstrong scored the run for YSU. Akron scored three more in the sixth to make the final 5-1. Scott Baird picked up the loss. Joel Brennan and Dennis each had two hits in the game.

On Wednesday, the Penguins came home to host the Golden Flashes from Kent State. The Penguins were too gracious to hosts by losing both games of the doubleheader.

YSU jumped off to a fast start in the first game. Jim Sotlar doubled home Janeda in the first inning to make it 1-0. The Penguins made it 3-0 in the third when Janeda and Ifft scored on a Randy Ryan double. Ifft was pinchrunning for Sotlar.

The nightmare began in the fourth for YSU. By the time it was over, YSU found themselves with a 5-3 loss. Kent State scored one run in the fourth, two in the fifth and two more in the sixth for their five runs. The Flashes scored four of the runs via the longball. Bob Susa went to 2-4 with the loss. Sotlar and Ryan both went two-for-three with one double for the Penguins.

The nightmare continued in game two for YSU. They quickly were down 4-0 after the first inning and could not recover in the 8-0 loss. Brennan, Sotlar, Ryan and Shawn McCart had the lone hits for YSU. Dennis' record dipped to 1-4 with the loss.

Co-head coach Scott Knox blamed the losses on inconsistency. He said, "Since we are a young team, inconsistent play is natural." Knox was pleased with the defensive play in the Kent State game.

YSU fell to 6-19 on the year.

Slippery Rock and Indiana University of Pennsylvania in consecutive doubleheaders.

The Penguins, 9-3, traveled to Slippery Rock on Monday and swept the Rockets 6-3 and 7-5.

In the first half of the twin-bill, Ruth Pleskovic hurled a five-hitter, striking out four to up her record to 3-2 on the season.

YSU got more than enough offense on 12 hits, scoring six runs. Zina Abbas and Julie Yuhasz each socked a triple and a single while Tammy Schaeffer and Elaine Jacobs each had two singles apiece.

In the second game, Julie Croft picked up her third win on the mound bringing her ledger to 3-1. Abbas, Jacobs and Diane Hoagland paced the Penguins with two hits apiece.

On Tuesday, YSU hosted In-

Intramural Beat Softball, soccer begin play

By GEORGE CAMBOURIS
Jambar Sports Reporter

Welcome back intramural sports fans. Action began in softball and soccer last weekend and here are the first round scores.

On Saturday, six games were played, all on Harrison Field. Sigma Chi posted a 7-4 win over Tau Kappa Epsilon; Alpha Epsilon Rho ousted Mu Crew 9-7; Slidin' SA's slid past Stacked Deck 6-4; the Pub defeated Hi-Spot 7-3. The Masters and Our Gang both won by forfeit.

Sunday had a full slate of action in store. At Harrison Field, South Side Soup Bones just got by Masters 21-5; Alpha Phi Delta squeezed past Sigma Chi 9-7; Sigma Alpha Epsilon ran past Phi Alpha Tau 12-5; Alpha Phi Delta defeated Tau Kappa Epsilon 7-4; Sigma Phi Epsilon got by Sigma Alpha Epsilon 4-3; Smalltown Boys whipped past the Atomic Dawgs 17-6. Defense was prevalent as Ode Aduma defeated the Lost Boys 19-16; MVP's posted a 15-1 win over Phi Mu. The Manipules and F.D.S. posted forfeit wins.

Games were also played at the Outdoor Classroom with Theta Chi getting the nod over Sigma Phi Epsilon 5-3; Theta Chi swept Sigma Chi 12-3. Decacusey, Our Gang and Sami and the Quick Stops all were forfeit winners.

In intramural soccer action, Phi Kappa Tau won over Sigma Chi, 2-0, and Alpha Phi Delta took Sigma Alpha Epsilon by a 7-5 count.

It'll be back next week with more exciting intramural action. Until then...the "beat" goes on.

Tryouts set for football cheerleaders, lifters

YSU — A meeting will be held at 4:30 p.m., Tuesday, April 19, in Kilcawley Center's Carnation Room, for all students interested in becoming cheerleaders and Penguin mascots. Applications and tryout requirements will be distributed.

Tryout practices will be held from 4-7 p.m., April 25-29, in the Beeghly Gymnastics Room.

The actual tryouts will be held from 9 a.m.-noon, April 30, in the Beeghly Gymnasium. Tryouts are free and open to the public.

diana of Pennsylvania and swept them, 1-0 and 2-1.

In the first game, Melanie Gambill's double proved to be the difference in the contest, scoring Yuhasz from second in the third inning. Chris Rohan notched the win, scattering 4 hits.

A great defensive play saved the game in the second half of the doubleheader. Clinging to a 2-1 lead in the seventh inning, YSU centerfielder Marla Penza fielded a two-out shot to center on one hop and threw out an IUP runner at the plate to win the game.

Ruth Pleskovic took the win on the mound as Chris Timko paced YSU with a pair of singles. Shelley Byers and Abbas each had one hit apiece, Abbas' being a home run in the first inning.

You Can Eat All Night And Still Feel Empty Inside.

"I'm so depressed. It was my brother's birthday last night and I was in charge of making the cake.

"Well, I made the cake, a great big triple-fudge layer cake and before it even got a chance to cool, I ate the whole thing plus an entire can of fudge-swirl icing. I ate the Very Vanilla ice-cream, too, a gallon of it.

"Of course, I felt bad about the cake, but it's no big deal about the calories. I just made myself barf the whole thing up.

"The party was awful... one of our family's famous get-togethers, and of course I ate like a pig, so I had to make myself throw up again. I took a handful of laxatives, too. It's funny. My family hasn't the faintest idea how I can eat so much and not gain weight.

"I hate these stupid get-togethers. How can I feel like such an outsider in my own family?"

—Betsy, 22, bulimia victim

Betsy is not alone. She is one of an estimated 500,000 young women in the U.S. suffering from the eating disorder known as bulimia.

This binge/purge addiction is a vicious cycle that wreaks havoc on the victim's teeth, kidneys and intestines as well as the bulimic's personal and professional life. Sometimes, the cycle ends in death from heart failure or a ruptured stomach.

At The Medical Center, we've developed a comprehensive program to meet the special needs of patients with eating disorders. Through our Tri-State Eating Disorders Center, we've helped both patients and their families understand and cope with these problems.
