Dana Accepted By National Agency

Association Praises High Standards Here

The National Association of Schools of Music, at a recent meeting announced the admission of the Dana Institute of Music to full membership.

For two years Dana's has been an associate member of the agency, the only national accrediting organization in the country. Its purposes are to elevate educational standards and improve musical relations among the associated schools.

Full membership in the Association of Music Schools puts the Youngstown College music students on a standard with students of the Julliard School of Music, Eastman School of Music, Cincinnati Conservatory Baldwin-Wallace College, Cleveland Institute of Music, Oberlin College and the University of Michigan.

The announcement climaxed a three-year period of preparation. The Dana Institute applied for associate membership in 1947 and obtained it after a year of investigation. Recommendations made to the college by Dean Price Doyle of Murray (Ky.) State Teachers College, a representative of the agency, were reported to be exceeded by the music school.

Comments On Policy

In granting full membership, the association commended Dana's on the progressive policy that has been followed for the past several years.

College appropriations for library and instrumental expenditures were said to have been increased to a point sufficient to maintain a high standard of music scholarship. The agency investigator found the practice and recital rooms capable of supplying the space for considerable music activity on the local campus.

The standings were checked and averaged by Dr. Howard and Kenneth Kitchen, Pan Hellenic Council Advisors.

Local Graduate Authors Poetry

The Dorrance Publishing Co. of Philadelphia is now selling copies of "Take Heart," a book of poetry by John William La Rocca, graduate of the liberal arts school of Youngstown College.

La Rocca, who is doing post-graduate work at YoCo, is currently planning a work of fiction.

The young poet entered Youngstown College upon graduating from Memorial High School in 1941. He joined the armed service in 1943, but returned to receive his Bachelor of Arts Degree in August, 1948. His collection of original poems was published in the fall of 1949. One of his verses, "Autumn's Lullaby" is reprinted on page 2 of this issue.

WOMEN'S SPORTS TAKE SPOTLIGHT IN PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPT.

Miss Berta Laborde, standing on the side of the pool, keeps a watchful eye on her swimming class pupils. This class is part of the women's physical education program.

by Jeanne Law

Activities in the Women's Physical Education Department, under the direction of Miss Bertina Laborde, have recently been greatly expanded. Classes are now being offered in eight fields, including fencing, volleyball, swimming, modern dance, bowling, archery, badminton, and golf.

The program was organized to accommodate, as much as possible, the requests of the students. In addition the Physical Education Department was expressly interested in making available those activities which would retain interest and at the same time provide the girls with fun after classes.

Future classes will be organized as rapidly as facilities, staff and equipment become available. These classes will be planned to meet needs as they develop.

Committee Organized

In conjunction with the Physical Education Classes, requests from many students have led to an expansion in the women's intra-mural program. Accordingly, it was decided to organize an intra-mural planning group, which would consist of representatives from the various women's campus organizations. Invitations were sent out and a meeting was called in February.

SHOULD A WOMAN WORK AFTER MARRIAGE?

JUANITA YOHO— Soph.

If Necessary
It depends on the circumstances. It is okay for the first few years because they are putting money aside for a home and furniture. If the wife's work lies in a field like teaching she should be able to perform her wifely duties in addition.

If it became necessary for her to work she would have some experience to fall back on. But—after the big objects are bought, she should be able to do the work of one person instead of two. When there is no necessity for wife to work, she should devote her time to her home and family.

SALLY McCREARY— Soph.
No!—But . . .

My answer is definitely no. However, there is one exception which must not be overlooked. That is, a girl may find it necessary to continue working for a time, after she is married, in order to help a struggling, young husband make the grade. After all, any real husband wants to feel that he can bring home the bacon without assistance from the little woman. He wants to think of her as being at home during the day—the domesticated, rather than the career-type woman.

Marriage is a career in itself, a truly full-time occupation. Even those of us who have not yet taken this greatest of all steps will agree to that. Thus, I strongly believe that a girl should give all of her time, her whole self, and her whole heart to the making of a happy, successful marriage for herself and her husband. She should stay close to those vows. After all, what else are they for?

JEANNE LAW— Soph.
Not For Long

Of course, each individual case should be decided jointly by the husband and wife concerned. If the woman works, though, it should only be for a year or so, or until the children arrive.

Any woman who marries should be willing to sacrifice her outside interests, if necessary, in order to make marriage her career.

Autumn's Lullaby
By John William La Rocca
Hear the lullaby of autumn
Singing winds of hymnal chorus
Through the mire and wooded forest,
Through the depth of summer's ruin.
All is silent, dead in slumber,
In a long and solemn dream;
All now lies beneath a carpet
Wooded by autumn's song to sleep.

LOCAL GRADUATE

Himrod. Besides continuing his creative endeavors, he intends to study for a Master of Letters Degree.
"Take Heart," which sells for $1.75, may be obtained by writing to Dorrance & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

PHIL CROOKS— Sr.

For A While
So called "marriage experts", say that marriage has changed and that it is proper for the wife to work. I will agree that for the first few years this is a good thing. The couple generally lives in an apartment and the wife will, if she doesn't work, have a lot of time on her hands. Also the extra income will be an aid in establishing the home they dream of.

When the home becomes a reality though, it is time for her to forget a career. By that time they have a place in the community, and civic and family activities will fill her time.

JIM DONEGAN— Soph.
Quality Preferred

A person may perform a reasonably unlimited number of activities in any given amount of time. Usually though, the quality of the effort put into such activities is inversely proportional to their quantity. A woman could, I believe, hold down a job only at the expense of neglecting her married happiness. Keeping a home is a full-time job itself.

Nonetheless, if the husband finds himself in need of financial assistance, his wife should be the first to lend a helping hand. This is true especially during the first year or two of marriage when a young couple is confronted with many expenses. It might also be necessary when the husband wishes to finish school after being married.

In my opinion then, the wife's occupation is permissible, provided it is only temporary.

TED KOTSOVOLOS— Sr.
Full-Time Marriage

Generally I would have to say no, although I realize that many women are perfectly capable of successfully combining marriage and a career. Any statement to the contrary would be disputed by the many women who are succeeding in dividing their time between rearing a family and earning a living.

I feel, however that, for most women, either a career or marriage is a full-time occupation which does not permit her to direct a part of her attention elsewhere.

Looking Around...

by LULU and FARMER

Hope we're not getting too far ahead of ourselves when we say that spring is pretty nearly here. We're looking forward to seeing all our old friends as soon as they come out of hibernation. If it's snowing when the paper comes out, skip the first paragraph.

Just to prove that we're not the only ones thinking of spring, here's a poem composed by Looking Around's poet laureate.

Tis Spring and Crocus is in bloom;
And veins run warm with—ah—blood;
The air is filled with sweet perfume,
As pigs frump in the mud.

BUM'S RUSH

Rush season is here! Profs will kindly forgive the variety of costumes that may appear in the next two weeks. Prospective Greeks may appear in anything from blue jeans and plaid shirts to black crepe dresses and heels. Ah, youth!

Really enjoyed the wide variety of speeches in behalf of the brick campaign. The frosh did a good job we're thinking. Especially one . . . CAROL CUTHBERTSON urged Prof. Dykema's English class to drop in our contributions "when this bag comes around." The last was accompanied with a nod toward her companion. It happens to the best of us, Carol. Your pal made a terrific "straight man."

ORCHIDS

Looking around congratulates Gamma Sigma Sorority on the honors it received recently. Two queens—CAROLE ANDERSON, Junior Prom queen, and PHYLLIS GALOSE, May Day queen—were elected from its ranks. The scholastic award was given to the sorority for the highest organizational point average. A good job, as all will agree.

Classes seem to be getting the best of us, we're afraid. Even RED TYRRELL is making like a student. In Biology Class the other day, the prof was explaining the complexities of mitosis. Red was asked to use the word in the sentence and obliged with "Mitosis cold." And up goes his point average!

There's always time in between classes to cut up, though. We hear that MARGUERITA LOPEZ and BUD KEAN put everyone into hysterics with their imitation of apes. One act they missed in the variety show.

If it's cheesecake you want wander over to the Lincoln some day and watch "DYKE" DYKINS vie with YoCo's coeds for the medal in leg art! (How do you put a long-low whistle into print?)

PANHELL DANCE

PAUL DELLIC stopped the show at the Pan-Hell dance the other night. The "beautiful crop of women" made his job as master of ceremonies a real job. He couldn't keep his eyes on the "mike", but neither could anyone else. JOAN PARROTT wore her crown beautifully and her attendants furnished an attractive background.

We promised ED DURDA that we'd say something nice about him for a change, and as soon as we heard something nice to say, we'll print it, O.K., Ed? . . . JOHN TISONNE surprised everyone by dating the same girl twice. (We told you spring was here!)

Mr. BUCHANAN has become quite a hand at card tricks. Be careful of that last one, though! . . . This boy CHUCK BANNON turned out to be quite a cook. The other day he whipped up a batch of cup cakes that made us all sit up and take notice. Duncan Hines—move over!

ERIN GO BRAGH

St. Patrick's Day is getting mighty close. All our Irish buddies claim there's only two kind of people—"Those that are Irish and them that wishes they wuz!" That's the day that O'Simko and O'Farnell grab their shamrocks and make like the rest of the crew. Someone tell us how to pronounce Erin Go Bragh just in case we have to say something in Irish. Our old schoolmates RUTHIE SWEENEY and DICK DUNN are floating a bill to make St. Pat's Day a national holiday.

Among the new students at YoCo is ROY LEVY. Found out that agriculture was too much for him at Ohio State so decided to join us here . . . LOUIS LOGUE waited to get home in a hurry the other evening so she got in on the South Side car pool. Four days later . . .

Williams still claims he wasn't in on that Brinks deal in Boston, but he's sporting a brand new car! (There go our chances for a ride in it.)

Next on the social calendar is the Phi Gam popularity dance. One thing we'll say—the boys can really keep a secret. They say that none will know who Mr. and Miss Popularity are until the night of the dance. If you're as curious as these two cats are, you'll be there. See ya!!

The Party Line . . .

Can the voting students of YoCo be trusted to cast their ballots intelligently? The answer to this question, it seems, would be the key to the solution of the hot potato currently being passed around in Student Council.

The plan for direct representation regardless of affiliation with social organization, has won the support of many council members. The majority recognize the justice of electing student representatives on the basis of their ability to win and organize the support of their fellow classmates. They also see in the plan a possibility of creating much more student interest in council programs.

However, several others, representing both Greek and Independent groups, apparently feel that the time is not ripe for such a democratic step. This minority fears that the voters would be led like sheep by the leaders of their respective groups. For which reasons, the obvious possibility of an entire council made up of either Greeks or Independents horrifies these few. Although examples of "rebel" voting may be found not too far from council itself, it must be allowed that straight party voting is a distasteful possibility. But is this such a shocking turn of political events? Anyone who is familiar with the perennial election of student council officers need not be told that machine politics is nothing new to the local campus. Why not, then, let the interested, voting, students determine whether or not party politics shall be the rule?

Find out how your council representative stands on this important matter! It may mean a great deal to you and your class!

Letter to the Editor . . .

Dear Sir:

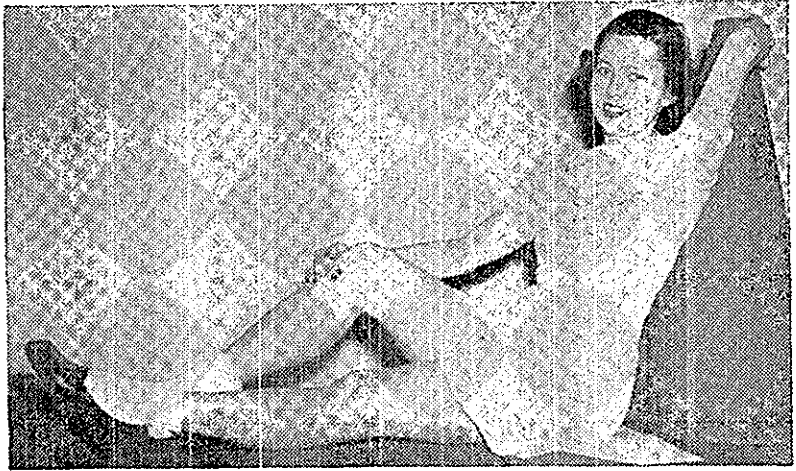

Two issues ago there appeared in the Jambar an article entitled, "If This Be Treason Make the Most Of It." Brave words, but all they prove is that the author has read Nineteen Eighty Four and is up to date on Little Abner.

If the author will check several past issues of the daily bulletin, he would know of the trouble in the testing section. I am citing the cases where people have taken tests for friends. If he will check with the bookstore he will be told of forged veteran orders. We, the students, have made the identity cards a necessity.

I would like to take the author back several thousand years into Biblical History. He would find that murder was outlawed after Cain killed Abel. And I am afraid that there are many students in Youngstown College who carry the "Mark of Cain."

I remain
William P. Fiore.

Jambar To Have Monthly Sweetheart

The first of the Monthly JAMBAR Sweethearts is Barbara Taylor.

Barb Taylor Is First Jambar Sweetheart

Beginning with this issue, a girl will be chosen for the title "Jambar Sweetheart". Each month, the Jambar will carry a picture of the new "Sweetheart", chosen on the basis of popularity, personality, beauty, talent, and scholarship.

This issue's "Sweetheart" is Miss Barbara Taylor, vice-president of Alpha Theta Delta Sorority, a member of Student Council for two years, member of the Religion in Life Club and Staff Editor of the 1949 Neon. Barbara was one of the students chosen for the national publication "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities". She is a senior, majoring in Liberal Arts.

Three Judges Chosen

The judges were chosen by Dean Smith, Bill Dailey, president of Student Council, and George Lininger, chairman of Pan Hellenic Council.

The judges for this issue's "Sweetheart" were Dr. Clarence Gould, head of the History Dept., Harry Schwab, president of Pi Beta Chi Fraternity, and Sam Ciferia. The identity of the judges and their selection is kept a secret until the publication of the Jambar.

Congratulations are in order for the first Jambar Sweetheart... lovely Barbara Taylor.

School Spirit---You Betcha!

Minutes of the 3rd meeting of the League For The Preservation of School Sprit at YoCo:

After refreshments were served, the student body sang Let Us Rally to the Standard, and All For Thee Dear Alma Mater. The meeting was called to attention by the Pres., "Ebo" Schwartz.

"Friends, students, comrades! We must now get down to the serious side of the meeting. We have all noticed of late, a certain element at YoCo who are sadly lacking in SS (School Spirit). Now friends, to what element can we attribute this lethargy? Yes, Frankie?"

"Far be it from me O Exalted One to run down the Vets, but I think we all recognize the fact that they have contributed least to 'SS'. In fact I noticed two the other day at the rally who seemed highly indifferent at its most frenzied moment!"

Pres: "Verily?"

Frankie: "When the crowd hath cheered, they hath slept. Ambition should be made of sterner stuff!"

Pres: "You mean they lack 'Zim, Zam, and Zowie'?"

Pres: "As a good SS man Frankie, tell us what repercussions this has on the student body as a whole."

Frankie: "It makes them dispirited, cynical, and creates an attitude completely foreign to our High School Ideals."

Pres: "They also smoke too much! What is it, Mary?"

Mary: "My brother joined the Reserves last month, and HE isn't cynical, mature, or scolarastic."

Pres: "You mean Abizmo, who is pleasant and unassuming and yet there is an air of mystery about him?"

Mary: "Yeth!"

Pres: "Is he game to wearing a beanie, and singing Sigma Chi at the drop of a hat? Has he a ukelele? You see how important all this is, Mary? We must have complete cooperation. Is he ready to do-or-die-for-Doo-Wa-Diddie? We must ask ourselves these questions. These are the finest years of our lives! Are we to be intimidated by maturity?"

All: "NO!"

Pres: "Then let's band together in the common-cause. Will you swear by your activity book?"

All: "Yeth Indeedy!"

Pres: "We will now rise and take the oath!"

I hereby resolve, to do the utmost in my power to instill Siss-Boom-Bah (so to speak) into the scholastic attitude held by all students, save the Veterans who can be distinguished by their jaundiced expression and cynical mien coupled with a noticeable lack of Zam and Zowie.

I further promise that I shall not let a day go by without furthering the cause of SS by

A) Wearing soiled saddle shoes
B) Wearing a completely disarming smile

C) Being a platter collector; vis, nothing long-hair;
D) Talking loud about the theory of Karl Marx on a crowded bus, or in any other conspicuous place.

E) Repeating the newest clever saying at the slightest opportunity for at least 3 months.

The meeting ended in a happy note as Roscoe Featherhead gave a few barryard imitations and Sally Salubrious imitated a man putting on a garter. The general merriment was in no way minimized by the ugly scene at the end of the meeting, when Roscoe beat Sally about the head and shoulders (no trauma incurred) because of professional jealousy. Spirits arose again when the Pres, fell off the stage on his head (injuring numerous follicle. Exit Limping.

March Dates Set For Wilde Satire

The college stage is alive again. For the past several weeks, the cast of "The Importance of Being Earnest" has been treading the boards in rehearsals. The play, a satirical comedy of manners in the Victorian era, which will be presented in Strouss Memorial Auditorium March 23, 24, 25, shows Oscar Wilde at his wittiest. Exaggerated motions and English accents set the mood for the production.

The plot centers around Mr. Jack Worthing (Wilson Hamilton) who invents a brother, Earnest, a youth of reputed wildness, as a means of escaping from his usual social surroundings.

Worthing's ward, Cecily (Margarita Lopez) has formed a strong romantic attachment for this hypothetical chap, so when Worthing's friend Algernon (Millard Biggs) introduces himself to her in the character of the wayward Earnest, complications of a very amusing sort are started which result in a laughable farce.

The play is being produced by William Foley, and directed by Don Tamburro. Danny Nunamaker is stage director.

The cast includes:

- John WorthingW. Hamilton
- Algernon MongrieffM. Biggs
- Gwendolyn FairfaxE. Lehn
- Cecily CardewM. Lopez
- Rev. ChasubleL. Mahar
- Lady BracknellM. Pope
- Miss PrismC. Anderson

Jet Plans Featured In Short Air Force Movie

Master Sgt. Joseph A. DeLuca, of the Youngstown Recruiting Station, announced today that Bomber and Fighter operations, Jet planes, and action shots of the very latest aircraft presently in operation by the U. S. Air Force, will be featured in the latest Air Force film, "Flight Plan for the Future". It will be shown on the campus at Noon, 16 March, 1950, in the Strouss Memorial Auditorium.

This film, produced by the March of Time Inc., tells briefly the life of an Aviation Cadet, and the various phases of flight training. One of the outstanding features of the picture will be a forced landing of a giant bomber with the aid of Radar. Also appearing are different phases of aviation executive and pilot training. Major portions of the film depict the varied career opportunities of graduates of Aviation Cadet Training, such as Radar, Electronics, and Engineering. The film is twenty minutes in length.

What Goes with the Engineers?

by John P. Barrett

The Saturday thermo lab had the morning off the other day. The pipe to the cooling tower was frozen, and so the experiment had to be called off. The part they missed came later, though, when Mr. Grabski spent a profane hour or so on the end of a four-foot pipewrench. With the temperature standing at 10 above, he wasn't in too good a mood. R squared Miller was out there with Mr. Grabski, and he wasn't in the most jovial of moods either. That wrench was really something, though. Yours truly hasn't seen one so long since they took down No. 4 blast furnace at Carnegie. It was quite a sight, and those who witnessed kept wondering whether Grabski was using the wrench, or vice versa.

Mr. Deesz would like to have a note of caution printed. He would like to have your attention called to the "no whistling" law down at the Engineering school. It seems that each time a new crop of students comes in, the old rule seems to be forgotten, and it isn't good. You've all had the experience of being disturbed during a test by someone whistling, and it shouldn't happen. Another thing that is happening more frequently all the time is students dropping butts on the floors. It's strange, when you stop to think that no matter where you're standing, there's a butt can, within about 6 feet. Let's be a little more careful, fellas. We don't want the smoking prohibited entirely.

Westinghouse Show

Last Friday, the whole Engineering School walked down to the Ohio Hotel to see a demonstration put on by Westinghouse, and sponsored in Youngstown by the Ohio Edison Company.

They took pains to point out all the advantages of their equipment, not so much as a sales stunt, but seemingly to promote aids to mass-production. One of the demonstrations included smoke clearing, and I feel sure that the man on the stage didn't quite understand the big laugh he got. There were demonstrations that showed vividly the necessity for adequate wiring in a plant, and the show went into the effects of good and bad lighting. One demonstration showed the effect of using capacitors in a motor circuit, and the benefits to be derived from their use.

Big Vote

A nod of the head should go to all the engineers who voted in the election for Junior prom queen. I have learned that about 1/3 of all the votes cast were cast AT the Engineering School. The score on May queen was high, too but exact figures are not available as this column goes to press.

In closing this column, I'd like to introduce to you a fella named Jim McLaughlin, who will take over this little chore in the future. The column will be written by him, and I know he'll do a good job. I can wish him the best of luck, and I can also hope that the instructors as well as the students will make it easier for him by passing along newsworthy information. It's all yours, Jim.

Council Studies Planned Election System Changes

A special committee appointed by the Student Council Faculty Advisors recently submitted a plan to elect future council members on a representative basis regardless of affiliation with social organizations. As a result of its study, the committee, originally composed of six council members, proposed that each school, engineering, business administration, music, education, and liberal arts should elect representatives in proportion to their full time enrollment.

It was also proposed that the council membership be limited to 19 members. According to the plan, the representation ratio will be flexible. The number of elected council members (x) will be determined by the formula: x over school enrollment equals 19, total enrollment. As the total enrollment increases, the number of students electing each council member increases. Each school would send at least one representative to council. The details of allotting representatives for fractions of school enrollment have not, as yet, been worked out.

The committee suggested that, if the change is approved, the system be given a two-years' trial. At the end of this period, a committee would be appointed to review its operation and make recommendations as to its efficiency. If the faculty then should accept the recommendations, it would empower the Council Faculty Advisors to appoint a student committee to work out the finer details of the transition to the new type of representation.

STUDENT COUNCIL NOTES

Motion to add three new activities to honor point list and to change points on seven others passed.

Financial report on Freshman Reception indicated that the committee spent $231.49.

Motion to send four delegates to the meeting of the NSA Committee on Human Relations at the University of Chicago passed.

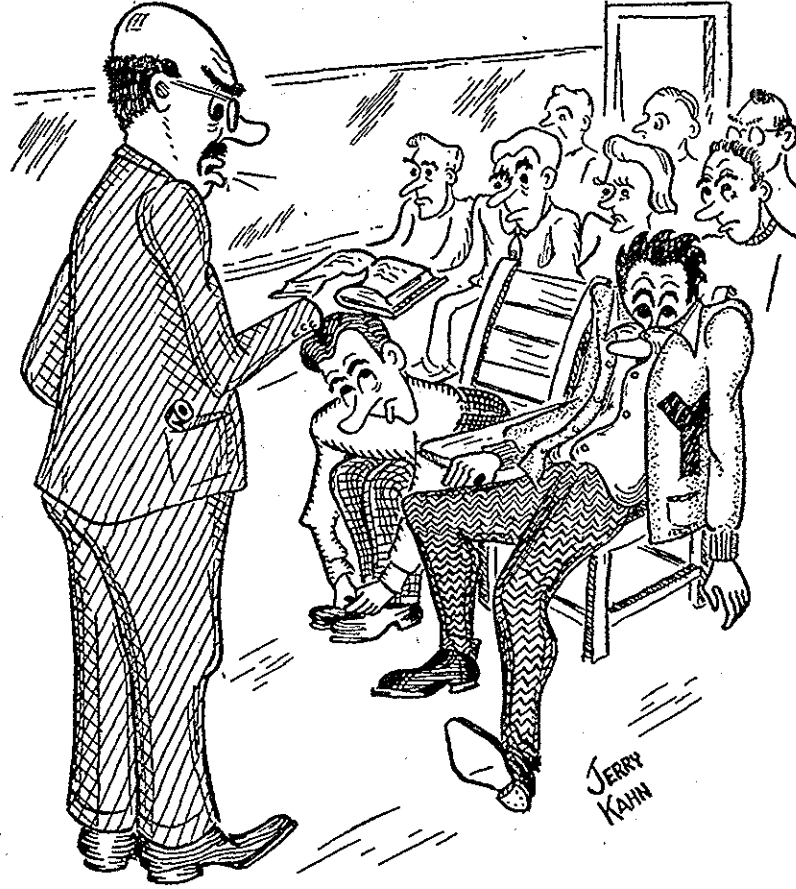

Motion that Council President Bill Dailey and Jody DeGenaro go to Baldwin-Wallace College for installation of Student Council officers passed.

Westenfield Speaks To Women' League

In a recent talk to the League of Women Voters of Warren, Professor R. C. Westenfield, head of the political science department of Youngstown College called for support in the attempt to revise the Constitution of the State of Ohio.

Professor Westenfield reminded his listeners that Ohio's Constitution will be 100 years old in 1951 and that many sections of it are vague and obsolete. He noted, as an outstanding example, the out-of-date system of representation according to counties instead of directly in proportion to population. A typical result of this injustice is the indifferent treatment by the General Assembly of the State's large cities.

Although the speaker stated that political scientists generally favor a unicameral legislature, he doubted whether such a radical reform is politically feasible at present. The college teacher urged all voting groups to be ready to vote intelligently when the issues arise.

THE CRY OF THE WILD FRESHMAN

by Barbara Savage

Since I became a freshman, and started college life, I've discovered problems, that all mean lots of strife.

I enter class so meekly, as confused as I can be, that I lose the point of the lecture, and waste the cost of my fee.

No one hails me in the hallways, a friendly face I've yet to see. "I'll walk alone" is my theme song, for I find there's only me.

The work keeps getting harder, and the tests are racking my brain. All that I've learned becomes a jumble and I wonder if I'm quite sane.

But this is just the half of it, the miseries are great. There's an eight o'clock class in the morning, and it seems I'm always late.

Yes a freshman's lot is a hard one, but in a year or two, I'll get the hang of college life, if I'm not hung before I do.

Never question your wife's judgment. Think what a reflection that would be on the rare gentleman she married.

Stearns Composition Featured at Concert

An original composition by Dr. Henry V. Stearns of the Dana Music School faculty, was featured at a recent concert by the Youngstown College Symphony Orchestra. Dr. Stearns' composition is entitled "Gavotte and Musette".

Under the direction of Alvin Myro, an instructor at Danas, the orchestra also played Dvorak's "Largo" from "The New World Symphony", the five-part "Suite on Fiddler's Tunes", by McKay, the overture from "Fidelio" by Beethoven and Moses, and Smetana's "Furiant" from "The Bartered Bride".

"Hora Novissima", a cantata, will be a feature of the next Dana program on March 14.

Seniors Advised To Finish Arrangements

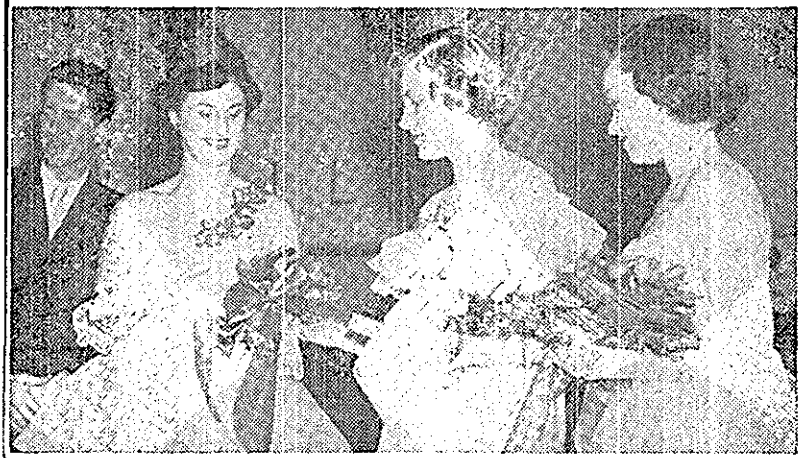

A recent bulletin from the Registrar's Office recommends that all June and August graduates contact their advisors before May.

The Seniors are advised to make an appointment with Miss Patterson, who will give them a copy of their records. These copies are to be taken to the advisors and a final check completed there.

The Office also requests that all incidental matters, Curriculum Committee Letters, and tests still to be taken, be cleared up as soon as possible.

Breathless and Beautiful, the Queen Smiles

Joan Parrott Is Crowned Pan Hellenic Queen

Last Friday night marked the Eighth Annual "Sweetheart Dance" sponsored by Pan Hellenic Council.

Dancing to the music of Benny Jones, the colorful descriptions of all the sororities, and the crowning of the 1950 Sweetheart all added to the success of the "Greek Letter Ball".

During intermission . . . the royalty was presented . . . Miss Joan Parrott of Phi Lambda Delta who was crowned by last year's Sweetheart Miss Pat Mariner of Gamma Sigma, and the Queen's lovely court which included Barbara Flint, Phi Lambda Delta; Carol Nord and Lillian Salem of Gamma Sigma; and Majorie Grimsley and Claire McKay of Alpha Theta Delta.

Gifts were presented to Miss Parrott and her court by Pan Hellenic Council and the individual fraternities and sororities.

A special announcement was made after the coronation, by Dr. Howard Jones. He disclosed that scholastic honors this year go to Gamma Sigma Sorority who have maintained an accumulative 1.83 average.

Paul Delic, general chairman and his committees who worked long and hard for the dance, deserve special recognition . . . congratulations too to the 1950 Sweetheart . . . lovely Joan Parrott, her attractive court and all the sororities and fraternities whose cooperation helped to make the Interfraternity Dance such a great success.

Pop Poll - - A Popular Idea

A few years ago . . . Phi Gamma Fraternity decided to sponsor a dance . . . a new and different kind . . . a Popularity Dance. There were Queens and Courts but no one had ever voted for the most popular on campus. The crowd at the first dance proved that the students liked the idea and the number of votes cast showed that they had definite views of the most popular.

The first poll held in 1947 revealed Betty Houser of Gamma Sigma Sorority and Dick Organ of Phi Gamma Fraternity as most popular. They were presented during intermission. Mr. and Miss Popularity of 1948 were Harry Deskin of Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity and Mary Agnes Hatagan of Gamma Sigma Sorority. At the third annual popularity dance, Miss Alice Chiefo of Tau Kappa Nu and Augie Yahn, Independent, were elected as the most popular of 1949.

Tomorrow night the fraternity will announce the results of the 1950 election during intermission. Who are Mr. and Miss Popularity of this year? We'll know tomorrow night, and not before . . . unless you have a friend in the underground and even then it's doubtful . . . so see you at Tri Lan Ballroom . . . from 9 to 1.

JESTER'S BALL SET FOR ELMS MAR. 31

The Jesters Ball, annual Alpha Phi Omega dance, is scheduled for the Elms on March 31. Music will be supplied by the orchestra of Jimmy Malone. Intermission entertainment for the affair will be provided by Johnny Sinchok.

The dance will be informal, from 9 to 1. Tickets, at a dollar per person, may be obtained from any member of Alpha Phi Omega, or at the door.

Chairman Frank Plichik has announced that the proceeds of the dance will be used to continue the service work of the fraternity.

The happy news has arrived! The Dana School of Music is now a member of The National Association of Music Schools. Both the faculty and students are to be commended for their fine work in gaining this recognition.

Cece Blake, Vaughn Monroe's star singer, has quit to go out on her own. As yet, she hasn't been replaced. Charlie Barnet, who quit the biz back in Dec. to take over a booking office job, is back on the road again. The 'Mab' has a nine-piece combo and from all reports is going to go commercial!! As you probably know by now, Charlie Ventura has used his combo as a nucleus and has built up a 17-piece dance band. Ventura will feature the soft dreamy stuff but for a little diversion, will bring out the combo and blow bop for the people if they want it.

KENTON — 'THE MOST'

This writer has just heard the new Kenton album which was issued on March 2. The album, besides having a beautiful leather cover, contains four 12-inch records that are examples of probably the greatest musical versatility ever put on wax by musicians and arrangers that are not to be considered as 'Longhair'. Kenton's piano is definitely tops and his style and technique fits in just right. His basic playing pattern hasn't changed much and one can see that he occasionally uses 'Artistry' rhythm patterns. Pete Rugulo has developed his style to an exciting, technical system of notes and chord patterns that almost always befuddle the average listener. June Christy is back, although she sings on only two sides, one can immediately ascertain that she is the best female vocalist in the biz today. Male vocals are handled by Carlos Vidal, who used to beat the bongos and sing for Barnet. The technique, versatility and musicianship of the sidemen is the finest. The records themselves are completely different from the 'Artistry' hops or anything else Kenton has turned out previously. Whether or not the band will be a success remains to be seen. Kenton should make a go of it, although one must remember that he now has 40 pieces on the road compared to 19 in his old band. Business for non-commercial outfits has been lousy in the past year as was evidenced by Herman and Barnet breaking up. Should it prove a flop, Kenton could always resort to making records exclusively as this is definitely his largest potential for income. The sides are reviewed as follows:

1 . . . TRAJECTORIES

This side features the new string section which takes the lead all the way thru. Kenton's piano is interesting at times but not outstanding. Screaming brass breaks punctuate the comparatively quiet work of the strings and Don Bagley on bass does a fine job of backing up the latter.

2 . . . THEME FOR SUNDAY

This side is a complete break from the old Kenton work. Strings lead again and are intermingled with some tasty piano by the maestro. Brass is used for background only and is rather quiet.

3 . . . CONFLICT

This is one for Miss Christy and she really does it up right. Her intonation is so perfect that at first, one hardly notices she is singing. Ensemble work is odd at times and, as usual, the brass comes screaming thru and literally knocks you off your feet.

4 . . . INCIDENT IN JAZZ

This arrangement is the closest Stan has come to his old style. The side literally jumps and all groups (strings excluded) put out some tasty rather quiet work. Then like a 'double whammy', the brass breaks thru and they really blow. Great stuff, indeed.

5 . . . LONESOME ROAD

This is June's other side and she comes thru with a superb job on the vocals. Believe-it-or-not, you can dance to this side!!

6 . . . MIRAGE

An instrumental side and it gives one a good idea of the odd effects produced by Rugulo's intricate arranging. There is a faint trace of the old Kenton but very little.

7 . . . SOLITAIRE

Milt Bernhart's trombone is featured on this side and he does a fair job with his score. He is definitely not another Kai Windling, but sounds a lot like Bill Harris. This arrangement is mostly repetition and as a result is rather dull. If Milt had a score more adapted to his style, he could undoubtedly do a better job.

8 . . . CUBAN EPISODE

This side is about the queerest yet. Carlos Vidal beats the bongos and comes up with some odd shouting in a rather unorthodox way. The brass does a nice job, but this one is really hard to figure out. Side ends with some drum work by Shelly Manne and Carlos still shouting in the background.

COLLEGE ART SHOW TO BEGIN MARCH 31

RIL To View Film On Missionary Work

Religion In Life Club members will have an opportunity to view the sound motion picture "Out of the Dust", March 12, at Trinity Methodist Church. The film is an outstanding religious picture depicting the spread of Christianity in Latin America.

Penguin Patter

by Tom Manche

Across the nation with a penguin or a bird's eye view of the news: A 19-year-old youth went on a rampage in Brooklyn, with a butcher knife yet, and slaughtered four persons and stabbed three others. After slashing his victims without warning, he was told by the authorities who captured him, "Ya' know, son, one of these days you are gonna go too far!"

Nearly 80,000 miners became deliriously happy as the coal strike ended. One miner expressed the sentiments of his fellow anthracite workers when he was quoted by newsmen as saying, "Gee."

Experts sniffed at a 22-foot monster piled up on the shore of Delake, Oregon and wondered what to name the monster. Half a dozen tails radiated from the body and the dead thing was beginning to smell. As the horrible thing remained, unnamed, Oliver Butte, biologist, suggested it be named Bertha, after his mother-in-law.

Murder She Says
Mrs. Yvette Madsen is on trial for the murder of her lieutenant-husband in Frankfurt, Germany. He ridiculed her accent, she says, so she shot him. Mrs. Madsen testified this week, "He was zee fat peeg and he mak laugh on me cause I speak fonnee. So, bong, I, how you Americans say? I let heem have eet."

Discovering that Campbell residents have been undercharged, city officials could account for only 9,000,000 of 20,000,000 gallons of water each month. Authorities blame the shortage on increased popcorn sales. If the situation is not relieved soon, they threaten to close local theaters.

Dirty Dirt
Youngstown is only one of two cities in Ohio to get housing aid from the government. Slums will go and land will be cleared for re-use value. Clearance directors were quoted as saying, "Dirt has gotta' go. We ain't aimin' to have none of that there dirt in this here city. We hate dirt. Dirt has gotta' go!"

A Youngstown College student was found last Monday evening floundering about Mill Creek Park gibbering, senseless garble to himself. He was thought to be a writer on the Jambar staff. Let's see—was that Penguin Patter?

Flash! The Sig Deits are coming up with a real live men's fashion show later this month. Watch for it. These models will work and talk and everything! S'long.

Prospective Greeks, Stop! Look! Listen!

by Mary Agnes Hatagan

Rushing season is officially in progress. For three weeks Greek social fraternities and sororities will entertain prospective members of their organizations.

Perhaps the best possible advice that can be offered to prospective rushees is "Don't hurry!" Stop, look and listen . . . it's your time of decision. The period will be marked by an unusual amount of activities and will call for an unusual amount of clear, level-headed thinking.

The rushing season will be a time of party manners and party faces, which are subject to change. Chances are that you will see only what is meant for you to see. Easily made friends that you will acquire and laud to high heaven, you may refer to as "skunk" a little later.

Caution Required

Caution can not be over-emphasized. The effects do not end with your decision, they just begin. You will be tagged as a "whatever you choose", and you will be expected to work and play with them. When you become a member of any group, you will assume the properties, good or bad, of that group. It is you and your reputation that will rise or fall. The splendid experiences and happy memories you can gain by the proper choice are unlimited; on the other hand, the heartaches and disappointments you can fall heir to by an improper choice are not easily removed.

March 26 is Date of Newman Club Retreat

The annual day of recollection for the Newman Club will be held Sunday, March 26, at Ursuline High School. Masses will be offered at 9:00 by Rev. Robert Knuff, Ass't. Director of Retreats and former Newman Club chaplain.

Following the mass, breakfast will be served and a series of informal talks, discussions and spiritual exercise will be conducted. The retreat will close Sunday evening with the "Passion Play" given by the Dramatics Club of St. Patrick, Hubbard, at Rayen Auditorium. Rev. Ralph Friedrich is directing the play.

A general lay-out for the Spring Officers Convention was also outlined at the meeting held last Sunday evening. Youngstown chapter is playing host to the Newman Club Officers of Colleges and Universities throughout Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Michigan. About 200 representatives from various colleges are expected.

The convention will open Friday evening, April 28 with an informal mixer at the Catholic Action Center followed Saturday morning by registrations, panels, and business meetings. A luncheon will be served at noon in the ballroom. Saturday evening a formal dinner-dance will be held in the Cascade Room and the convention will close Sunday morning, April 30, with a communion breakfast offered at St. Columba Cathedral by Bishop Emmett M. Walsh.

Newman Club Paces I-M Keglers With 18 Straight Wins

by Rudy Braydich

Sigma Sigma went down swinging as the league-leading Newman Club swept three games from them last Sunday afternoon. P. Freisen and Filipovich paced the winners with 546 and 526 respectively. Delic's 532 and Vross's 525 were high for the Sigs.

Phi Sigs won three from E.T. P. C. as O'Brien scored a 515 series for the second-place squad. Yurcho of the "teachers" blasted the pins to the tune of 523. Led by McCurdy's 560, Pi Beta Chi took three from Kappa Sigs. McDonald was high for the losers with 433.

The Sharks had an easy time with A-Phi-O as they captured three tilts. Walko's 549 and Hurluk's 534 were high sets for the winners. Sinclair rolled a 479 for the service frat five. Blue Ribbon was victorious in two out of three matches when they met R. I. L. Heaton and Welsh led the winners with 550 and 521 while Vicker chalked up 448 for R. I. L.

SNARKEY SEZ . . .

by Snarky Parker

The other day I had a chat with the celebrated YoCo Handball Coach, Carl Fox. He seemed rather elated over several scraps of paper he had found lying in the cafeteria. It seems they were part of the plans for a new stadium, to be built way out on South Ave., Ext. He crept out that way one night, and he is sure he heard sounds of someone digging. Maybe it will be an underground stadium.

Good News!! Baseball season opens soon, and the Penguins seem to have quite a team ready for action. They are now on an exhibition tour, and will climax the pre-season action with an exhibition contest at Idora Park on March 26th. The opponents will be none other than the Cleveland Indians. Bob Lemon will hurl for the Tribe. Everyone be sure and attend. Game time is 2:30 a.m.

Sporting Views

by Dick Wolter

Canisius has discontinued football. To put it bluntly, it isn't paying them, and rather than operate the sport at a loss, they have decided to give it up and devote more time and money to other, and better paying sports, such as basketball.

This news, first made public by the Vindicator several days ago, will come as a genuine shock to the grid fans of the district. What was developing into a tremendous rivalry is no more, and the "Golden Griffins" will be missed by everyone. Never failing to put on a good show, they always packed Rayen Stadium. In 1948 the Penguins emerged triumphant in a 33-20 thriller. Last year the "Griffins" avenged the defeat and edged YoCo, 28-26 in a game that will long be remembered by all who saw it.

Newman Club, Nu Sigma Rho, Varsity Hall Topple Intra-Mural Nat League Opponents

by Bill Murphy

With the Varsity Hall basketball squad edging out the Scufflers in a close, hard fought contest, the regular season of the YoCo Intramural Basketball Leagues came to a close. The victory gave Varsity Hall the Peanut League Championship, and enabled them to maintain the leadership of the league which they possessed at the end of the first half of the season. The Scufflers were downed by a 31-28 score.

In the Chestnut League the Newman Club finished with an undefeated season and Nu Sigma Rho triumphed in the Walnut League. All that remains now is

by Dan DeGenova

Youngstown College fraternity history will be made next Monday, the 13th. On that date an intra-fraternity basketball tourney will be launched.

The idea for fraternity competition is the brain-child of Joe Gerek of Sigma Delta Beta who is the chairman of the tournament. Games will be played in the upper gymnasium at the YMCA, and approximately fourteen games are now scheduled.

A trophy with an overall height of 25" will be the prize for the victors. Three time winners will be allowed permanent ownership of the trophy.

Intra-frat competition is still in the embryonic stage. Bowling has flourished, and if the response to basketball is equally favorable, it is very probable that the frats will go a step further and establish a softball league.

Party Scheduled

A party celebrating the league inauguration will be held Monday, March 21 in the main branch of the YMCA on Champion St. An informal non-date mixer, the get-together will have dancing and refreshments.

Here's the opening day's play:
Kappa Sigs vs. Sigma Sigma
Nu Sigma Rho vs. Phi Sigs
Kappa Alpha Psi vs. Phi Beta Chi

the play-off for the College championship.

Pesut High Scorer

The Nu Sig's will be counting on a great deal of assistance from Joe Pesut, the individual high scorer of the three leagues in both halves of league play. Joe finished with a total of 216 points for the entire season, despite the fact that he only participated in three second-half games. In recognition of his fine play, Joe will be awarded a trophy.

Dom Rosselli, who is directing the I-M cage league, has done a magnificent job of directing the teams and setting up schedules.

A team plays every opponent in its respective league four times throughout the season, which allows for "off" days.

TRACK TRYOUTS

Tryouts for the YoCo track team are being held at the "Y". Anyone wishing to bid for a berth should contact Mr. Webster.

Dean Miller, on his efforts to better the standing of his department. Miller is a graduate of the University of Michigan and the Eastman School of Music. He was appointed Dean here in August, 1947.

Degrees that the association has authorized the Dana Institute to confer are: Bachelor of Music in Applied Music, Bachelor of Music in Theory-Composition, Bachelor of Music in Music Education (both 4 and 5-year courses), and Bachelor of Arts in History and Literature of Music.

Begun By Stearns
Music education was initiated at Youngstown College by Doctor Henry V. Stearns in 1930, when, with a group of part-time instructors, he organized college courses in the theory and practice of several musical instruments. In 1941, the Dana Institute of Warren merged with the college school and formed the present organization.

At this meeting it was decided that the intra-mural program would be planned and managed by the students with the faculty acting in an advisory capacity. The program will be open to all women students, regardless of group affiliation. Teams may represent campus organizations or participate under an independent name.

At a second meeting to be held March 9, the Planning Group will determine which sports are to be offered and how they are to be organized. It is hoped that this program will be functioning by March 20. Girls who wish to participate should contact Miss Laborde.

Women's Matches Held

Last Saturday another major step forward was made when the Physical Education Department sent basketball and volleyball teams to Mount Union College to participate with Mount Union and Wooster Colleges in an invitational inter-collegiate match sponsored by the Mount Union W. A. A.

Girls from the Physical Education classes were asked to participate and teams were selected from those girls who expressed an interest.

The first YoCo playday was a tremendous success. The girls enjoyed the trip greatly and were very successful in both sports. The basketball team was victorious over the girls from Mount Union 49-33. In a second game, later in the day, the basketball team with the help of Mrs. Mary Smith and Miss Laborde won over a "pick-up" team from Mt. Union, 36-30. This team was composed of members of the Mt. Union team and student instructors. The outstanding forward combination was Frances Sampson, Sharon Frech, and JoAnne Olive, while the best individual performance was given by JoAnne Price who scored 29 of YoCo's 49 points in the first game against the Mounties.

The volleyball team was not as fortunate but made a good showing, holding Mt. Union to a 47-47 tie, while losing to the Wooster girls, 34-28.

Plans for the Future

With the successful inauguration of Sportsday, it is hoped that many more days will be forthcoming. Tentative plans have been made to contact other schools in the area to find out if it would be possible to participate in such a program with their groups. It is also hoped that YoCo can sponsor such a program in the near future.
