

DEBs Join National Alpha Epsilon Phi

Delta Epsilon Beta Sorority became a colony of Alpha Epsilon Phi National Sorority at a formal installation Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ralph Lebowitz, an alumnae member of Alpha Epsilon Phi.

Twenty-four girls were formally inducted into the national sorority. Presiding at the ceremony was Mrs. Blanche Greenberger, an official of the mother chapter in Pittsburgh, Pa. Mrs. Mary Guterba is advisor of the group.

The colonization paves the way for the entry of this sorority in Pan-Hellenic Council. This is the first time Pan-Hell has had five member sororities since Lambda Nu bowed out early last year.

The new colony will hold a reception for all the social sororities on campus in the blue room of Pollock House from 7-9 p.m. Sunday.

Charter members include: Susan Routman, president; Nancy Kohen, vice president; Patti Laskin, secretary; Lillian Rosen, treasurer; Roslyn Sinoway, Beth Shifman, Rita Hurowitz, Lenore Jacobs, Jackie Schlosberg, Rachael Marcus, Marilyn Scheinberg, Gayla Corcoran, Nancy Freeman, Linda Mogerman, Diane Tannenbaum, Beverly Santor, Karen White, Eunice Toffler, Linda Engel, Reene Berkowitz, Ruth Barnett, Linda Belens, Jerri Art and Eileen Aronowitz.

'Parenthood' Is Subject of RIL Talk Sun.

Planned Parenthood staffer Mrs. Allen O. Sachs will speak at the Religion-in-Life meeting at 8 p.m. Sunday at the First Christian Church.

Her talk on "Planned Parenthood—Reverence for Life" will be related to the population explosion both in this country and abroad and the subsequent need for birth control.

Mrs. Sachs received her B.S. degree from Simmons College and her M.A. from the University of Massachusetts. She directed the volunteer program at a large state hospital in western Massachusetts, and was a case worker for the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children in the same state.

The meeting will be open for discussion after Mrs. Sachs' talk, with a table reserved for students wishing to do so.

32 Girls Will Pledge Four Sororities

Tears and cheers and a few sighs of relief were heard filling the second floor of Main Building Monday afternoon as rushees received bids to the four national campus sororities.

Pounding hearts, concealed beneath quiet exteriors, the rushees filed slowly into Dean of Women Edith Painter's office, picked up their bids, then slipped into the hall. Here the sobriety ended as the girls cavorted about the halls, yelling and cheering as they opened their sealed bids.

Alpha Omicron Pi led the field with 10 prospective pledges: Judy Beichler, Mary Jo Fitzpatrick, Della Flask, Donna Hasenflu, Barbara Keish, Janice Lesogianis, Jane Ropar, Joy Rzecznik, Joan Sokevitz, and Patricia Stanislaw.

Closely following was Sigma Sigma Sigma with nine: Sherry Billet, Mary Jane Cunningham, Phyllis Elmo, Phyllis Macek, Rebecca Redmond, Mary Lou Rosselli, Michilene Schillias, Judy Wasley, and Claudia Wertz.

Phi Mu has seven pledges: Eileen Cwynar, Sally Degli-Uomini, Donna Fox, Lynne Lockwood, Mary Pushkar, Glenna Richards, and Betty Simko.

Beta Sigma Omicron took six: Elaine Cogo, Elaine Dixon, Jackie Fynes, Frances Koch, Maggie McKissick, and Mary Catherine Swinehart.

A total of 32 girls received bids from the four sororities. This is a surprisingly low number considering the size of the University and the number of women on campus.

Taft to Speak Here Friday

Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., Ohio Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, will speak to students and faculty at noon March 13 in Strouss Auditorium.

A six-year veteran of the Ohio House of Representatives, Taft is currently a member of the U.S. House of Representatives. An attorney by profession, he graduated from Yale in 1939 and Harvard Law School in 1942.

Taft announced his Senatorial candidacy in December and said, "The purpose and challenge of public office lies in its service to those represented and to the entire nation."

Taft, who is 47, added: "The country has correctly been turning to men who are young and flexible enough to find new answers without abandoning the sound principles on which we have built this country."

Subjects upon which his campaign is based include unemployment, education, strengthening of Congress, better government administration and the farm problem.

Taft said he had been in agreement with the Kennedy administration in a few areas such as civil rights.

The areas in which he differs include government spending and fiscal policies, the increasing federal encroachment upon individual freedoms and the necessity of a more forceful and forthright policy in dealing with Communist encroachment in this hemisphere.

Frat Bids Wednesday

All men rushing fraternities are reminded that they may pick up their bids Wednesday, March 11, at the Dean of Men's Office. Bids must be returned before 11 a.m. the following Friday, March 13.

Debate Team To Sponsor YU Contest

The Speech Department, with the cooperation of the Downtown Kiwanis Club, is sponsoring an after-dinner speaking contest. Each campus organization and the Independents of the University may enter one contestant, and are to submit the name of their candidate by April 1.

Each contestant will be entered in quarter-finals, competing in six-member sections, with three judges. Between eight and 12 contestants will be entered in the semi-finals, from which four will be chosen to compete in the final round.

Each speaker may choose his own subject, which must be suitable for presentation to a television audience. The speech cannot be read from manuscript but must be given with brief notes or without notes.

The final winner will receive a trophy and the organization which he represents will receive a plaque. The finals will be held at noon May 8 before the Downtown Kiwanis Club.

Penguins, LeMoyne Meet Today in NCAA Tourney at Akron

Tonight on the Akron University Fieldhouse floor, one of the greatest basketball teams in the history of Youngstown University will attempt the first step in its march for number one small college team in the country.

At 7 p.m. the Penguins will engage powerful, defensive-minded LeMoyne College team of Syracuse, N.Y. The LeMoyne squad will carry a 16-5 record into the fray while YU has a 23-2 record.

The Jesuit-sponsored school has played two common opponents of Youngstown. Early in the season, LeMoyne lost to Niagara 66-53. Last week, LeMoyne beat Buffalo 65-63. YU smothered Niagara 78-58 and beat Buffalo by a like margin of two points.

LeMoyne's other four losses came at the hands of powerful Kings College, nationally ranked Assumption and Cortland State twice. Assumption managed only a six-point victory.

Included among the New Yorkers' victims are St. Frances of New York, Los Angeles State, St. Peter's and Iona.

Carrying the burden of the attack is 6-2 Gary DeYulia who commands respect with a long jump shot. DeYulia is averaging a 16-5 record into the fray while YU has a 23-2 record.

Biggest man in the LeMoyne lineup is 6-5 Dick Myers. He is aided in the rebounding department by 6-4 Danny Fowler and 6-3 Ralph Yahn.

Tom Cooney, 5-8 playmaker, fills the starting lineup for tonight's battle. The winner will face the victor of the Akron-Ithaca game at 9 p.m.

The Penguins are assured of plenty of support from the fans as over 1,200 tickets to the contest have been sold already. Fans are reminded that in order to sit in one section they will have to get to Akron early.

For those who cannot make the game, WBBW and WKBW radio stations will be broadcasting the contest.

Council Bans Student Parking in Aisles

Parking will no longer be permitted in the aisles of the three student lots, according to a ruling by Student Council at its meeting Friday.

Council decided that a severe problem existed because of this practice. Two legislators reported that they themselves have been delayed from leaving the lots because they had to move several cars out of the way.

Signs will be posted next week informing students of the new rule. Violators will be subject to disciplinary action.

A motion raising The Jambar editor's scholarship and one that would allow the newspaper's business manager to collect a percentage of the total advertising both passed but were later declared null when a councilman pointed out that neither of the motions had been in the hands of the Constitution Committee for one week as required by Council by-laws.

The University's chapter of the NAACP received its permanent charter by a unanimous vote. The chapter has been operating under the provisional temporary charter for the past three months.

SPRING IS SPRUNG and Dave Davidson is sure to take advantage of the balmy weather experienced here Tuesday to remove winter's accumulation of salt and mud.

Convocations

Convocations, extra-curricular lectures and informal discussions with faculty members and outside guests are an integral part of student academic development.

Last year featured four major convocations sponsored by the Student-Faculty Convocations Committee: Dec. 5, 1962—William L. Zurkey of Ohio Bell Co. spoke on national defense and Telstar; Feb. 5—TV personality Hans Conreid entertained a capacity crowd in Strouss Auditorium; March 27 — Dr. George Murdock, Mellon Prof. of Anthropology at University of Pittsburgh, spoke on societies of the world; April 3—author Mrs. May Hill Arbutnot spoke on children's books.

Thus far this year only one such speaker has been made available to the students — labor columnist Victor Riesel in October. This is a poor record compared to the previous year. And it is poorer yet compared to other colleges in the nation. For example, Hofstra University in New York has listened to Norman Lincoln Rockwell, leader of the American Nazi Party; Gus Hall, head of the American Communist Party, and Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi, to name a few.

We aren't asking to have the University schedule such persons as Hall, Barnett, Rockwell, Goldwater, each controversial and radical in his own right; but we are asking for someone. Why not utilize our own facilities? It could cost less, convocations could be held more frequently and the discussions probably could be more interesting.

Student Council, for example, could hold a mock U.N. session on world affairs; there are some 60 foreign students from 20 countries attending the University; Council could ask students from Greece, Turkey and Cyprus to debate the turmoil now occurring in each of their homelands. A faculty member from the history or political science department could be moderator.

Enlarging this idea, Council could reserve the Audio-Visual Room at a designated time every one or two weeks for faculty members to discuss ideas associated with their respective fields.

For instance: Dr. S. I. Roberts, history, could discuss his book dealing with businessmen in Chicago at the turn of the century; Dr. Bruce T. Riley, philosophy, could discuss the controversial trends of modern philosophy; Prof. Karl Dykema, Dean of College of Arts and Sciences, could discuss the development of slang, and any of the economics instructors could discuss the new tax bill.

In the city, Vindicator Political Editor Clingan Jackson could be asked to discuss the Presidential and Ohio senatorial races, and members of both labor and management could be invited to discuss unemployment or automation. Both lists are expandable. The benefits to the students is incalculable.

The Jambar strongly urges Student Council to appoint a committee to explore the possibility of such a program. The monetary cost will be negligible and that—in time—worthwhile. The benefits will supercede both.

No Go - Why?

A half-filled auditorium enthusiastically responded with awe and delight to the student-produced One-Act Plays staged last weekend at Strouss Auditorium.

Bob Vargo, Charlene Miller, and John Vesey displayed talent and a professional touch in their direction of these plays. The University players seemingly acted to their fullest ability with few flaws.

The only thing that didn't glow at this startling performance was the glitter of fraternity or sorority pins. Last week, the Art Club reported their disappointment because the Greeks failed to attend a function to which they were formally invited. Why don't the Greeks cancel their parties for one evening and make an attempt to attend University functions sponsored by groups other than their own?

The lack of Greeks was not the only sorry observation made at this well-publicized play. Where were the University professors, the business majors, the engineers, the administration? It seems only one or two representatives from each department faithfully attend University functions.

Where the empty half of the auditorium was last weekend, we will never know. Maybe they were complaining that nothing ever happens in this town, catching the latest Doris Day movie, or twisting at a party. But one thing is certain, the cultural lag in Youngstown will continue to lag, lag, lag into Nothingness unless the students and professors emerge from their underworld of secrecy and begin supporting "Culture on Campus."

—P.F.

... of Interest

When is interest interest, but not really interest?

In the case of deferred tuition payments when interest (which is very high) is termed "carrying charges." Students have felt the burden of this play on words for some time, but at last the government has come to the rescue.

Under the new tax cut bill, which will be in full effect in 1965, students and parents making such installment tuition payments get to call this "non-interest" interest and can deduct the amount from their income tax.

In addition, a student who earned $900 in a year would pay a $44 income tax under the old law; he now pays no tax on that amount. This is a break; students can get more for the same amount of work but, alas, the government won't give them more for less work.

But remember, every little bit helps.

OSU Paper Humors Measle-Hit Students

OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY—The Lantern, in an editorial, alerted all Americans that "Ohio State students are becoming un-American."

The editorial explained that "Without any apparent concern for the sanctity of this country's pure and clean way of life, our brethren are coming down with the GERMAN measles."

"What is to be done with our wayward students? Are they to be allowed to have their German disease with its red tinge right here in the heart of God's own country?"

"... Our students should contract blue and red measles to contrast with white skin in the truly American way. The American measles should last only one day instead of the old-fashioned three day of that . . . that . . . foreign disease," the editorial concluded.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY—The Akron Beacon Journal recently reported a ban on kissing had been imposed at Sycamore Hall, Indiana University, because of the "disturbing exhibition" there.

Many letters of protest were received by the campus newspaper, continues the Beacon. One student wrote, "An attempt to deny young people one of their greatest joys."

However, explains The Beacon, the rule is limited to the lounge. The student governor of the hall said it will not "put any crimp" on activities in the basement recreation room.

BALL STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE — The Ball State News printed a story from London with an unusual thrill.

The News reports a 44-year-old London man had an unusual excuse for police when he was picked up for running into a hedge.

Explains the paper, "The man was fined $5 for drunkenness despite his claim that he was chased into the hedge by a werewolf."

UNIVERSITY - OF CALIFORNIA—They did it again in the residence halls, says The Daily Californian, University of California at Berkeley.

They conceived another means to those poor students. They have officially outlawed goldfish.

YU Theater "One Acts" Successful

by Eugene Stearns

The absurd, the satirical, and the realistic were the themes of four one-act plays presented last Saturday by the University Theater.

In "The Chairs," a tragic farce by Eugene Ionesco, Gloria Dunnam and Dennis Spiesak portrayed an aged couple frustrated by the emptiness of their lives. Miss Dunnam's antics, first representing empty motherliness and then empty eroticism, became keyed with burlesque motions which excellently exhibited the essence of the playwright's philosophy.

Since Ionesco feels the universe is absurd, the abstract representation of reality is legitimate. Some of the audience might not have been able to work through these mystifications, but all were pleased by the performance. Robert Vargo did an excellent job of directing.

G. E. Shaw's "Dark Lady of the Sonnets," a short satire under the direction of Charlene Miller, starred J. B. Ferguson as William Shakespeare and Claire Talley as Queen Elizabeth. It was a highly polished performance, especially appealing to those with Shakespearean background.

The plays by Tennessee Williams, "This Property Is Condemned," and "Mooney's Kid Don't Cry" completed the program.

In "This Property . . ." Pat Elser and Rick Matter portrayed a delightful set of innocents, one "condemned" to lose her innocence, the other too naive to care. Miss Elser and Matter were pleasingly natural in their parts.

Edd Grobovsky displayed both bluster and tenderness in his reading of Mooney. He was perhaps at his best in the final moments when he rocked his "kid" tenderly on a wooden hobby horse. Donna Hasenflu, "Mooney's" wife, was also capable in her role as the woman with no fixture and future and no desire for one.

John Vesey, an excellent actor in his own right, showed another talent in his new capacity as director.

In the final analysis, the company's presentations were sophisticated, and the applause of the much-too-small audience was well-deserved.

"Mom" Breeding - Always Offers a Smile, Helping Hand

If you have any problems or want to know anything concerning just about everything, the first place to go is the Registrar's office.

Upon entering the door, glance to your left and you will see a lady with a very pleasant smile. When she greets you with a cheery "Can I help you?" you know you have found the right woman.

"Ask Mrs. Breeding" is as familiar a phrase around campus as "Meet me in the cafeteria." Mrs. Mildred Breeding has been supervisor of the Registrar's Office for the past five years.

During that time, countless students have filed through the Main Building office to seek and receive the answers to most of their problems.

Her motto, "Start the day with a song in your heart and a smile on your lips," is the key to the kind of person "Mom" Breeding is.

She is the wife of Austin Breeding and the mother of two children. Her eldest, Barbara, is a graduate of YU and her son, Bob, is a junior in the school of Business Administration.

Barbara's husband is also a graduate of YU and is a charter member of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity. The Seely's just recently presented Mrs. Breeding with a new grandson.

Mrs. "B" says that she loves her work. She enjoys meeting students and assisting them whenever possible. An avid sports fan, she likes to spend her vacations fishing in Virginia.

Mrs. Breeding and her family attend Zion Lutheran Church where she is president of the Organization of Church Women. She directs the junior choir, sings with the senior choir and teaches Sunday School. She is also an active member of a TKE's Order of Diana.

If a Mrs. Popularity were elected at YU, "Mom" Breeding would win "hands down." Our hats are off to a woman who takes time out to be polite and helpful to everyone.

Council Says 'Yes'; Jambar Says 'No'

A news story and editorial in the Feb. 21 Jambar was the subject of discussion at the Student Council meeting last Friday for the second straight week.

A consensus called for by Council President Denny Frattaroli at the Feb. 21 meeting had shown that nine members felt that a Jambar article on student parking was inaccurate to the effect that former Council President Paul Banoci had not suggested the issuance of student parking tickets at the meeting.

Frattaroli asked The Jambar to print a story or other notice correcting this alleged inaccuracy and further pointing out that The Jambar may have misinterpreted a statement by Banoci in the same article pertaining to social probation as a punishment for parking violators.

In printing this account of Frattaroli's request, The Jambar believes that it has cleared up any inaccuracy and misinterpretation.

Jambar Editor Jack Tucker said statements in the Feb. 21 story pertaining to Banoci were obtained in an interview with Banoci after the Feb. 14 meeting of Council.

Tucker added that the editorial was based on the news story and any misconception that it was based on the Council meeting itself is regretted.

Omicron Lambda Honorary Biology Fraternity held a memorial dinner last Sunday honoring the memory of Dr. Clair L. Worley, former chairman of the biology department, who died recently.

In honor of Dr. Worley, the fraternity presented a copy of the Crick-Watson model of the DNA molecule to the biology department. This substance, discovered in 1952, provides the basis for modern study of the chemistry of heredity.

A large portion of biochemical research has been devoted to the activity and characteristics of DNA in the last 10 years.

Mrs. Worley and her son, Ian, were special guests at the dinner attended by members of the biology faculty and fraternity.

Fraternity President David Brown presented the gift to Dr. Charles Evans, acting head of the biology department.

Five D.C. Universities Pool Grad Facilities

WASHINGTON (CPS) — Add together two Catholics, one Methodist, the "Negro's Harvard" and one private non-denominational university for the recipe of one of the most unique moves in U.S. higher education.

It's called the joint graduate Consortium — a pioneer pooling of graduate facilities of the five major universities in the nation's capital.

While not the first, the Washington Consortium promises to be the most varied, important collaboration of U.S. academic life. It came alive this month with an agreement between Howard, American, Catholic, George Washington and Georgetown universities.

A long-range goal of the move is to shatter the "top 20" universities' monopoly on Ph.D. production. Another will be a flood of funds from foundations and the federal government underwriting graduate work once beyond the scope of the five universities.

A main theme of the Consortium comes from Hurst R. Anderson, president of American University. "Eventually I would hope to see a great graduate center here that will offer programs and research opportunities no one school is strong enough to finance and staff," he said.

James Nabrit, president of Howard University, long has been an advocate of a MIT-type complex—a center for advanced research in sciences, space and nuclear studies. But he also envisions a top language center "that would attract

Kingston Trio To Sing at Stambaugh

The Kingston Trio, one of the original folk-singing groups in the nation, will make its first appearance in Youngstown at 8:30 p.m. March 13 at Stambaugh Auditorium.

Composed of Nick Reynolds, Bob Shane and John Steward, the group began its career in the spring of 1957 in the "Cracked Pot," a colorful college hangout near Stanford University, Calif.

Of the 13 albums the trio has recorded for Capitol Records since 1953, five have become million-sellers. The trio has played most of the nation's top night clubs, major colleges and universities and toured the Far East and Australia. Tickets for the concert are on sale at the Record Rendezvous, 107 W. scholars in Urdu and Cantonese as well as the traditional European languages."

Thomas Carroll, president of George Washington, noted that the five Consortium members will keep their separate university identities. "But it will be the reputation of the joint Consortium they all hope to promote."

Two-thirds of the nation's Ph.D. graduates come from 20 "name" universities, mostly in the East and West. About half of these schools get a major share of $1 billion in federal grants for graduate programs and research each year.

THE SLOW RUSH

Illustrated below is the membership pin of a brand-new national fraternity called Signa Phi Nothing. To join Signa Phi Nothing and get this hideous membership pin absolutely free, simply take a pair of scissors, cut out the illustration, and paste it on your chest.

Let me hasten to state that I do not recommend your joining Signa Phi Nothing. The only thing I recommend in this column is Marlboro Cigarettes, as any honest man would who likes good tobacco and a good filter, whose heart is quickened by a choice of soft pack or Flip-Top Box, and who gets paid every week for writing this column.

I am frankly hard put to think of any reason why you should join Signa Phi Nothing. Some people, of course, are joiners by nature; if you are one such, I am bound to tell you there are any number of better organizations for you to join—the Cosa Nostra, for example, or the Society for the Placing of Water Troughs in Front of Equestrian Statues.

cut it out and paste it on your chest

But if you insist on joining Signa Phi Nothing, let me give you several warnings. First off, it is the only fraternity which admits girls. Second, there is no pledge period; each new member immediately goes active. Perhaps "inactive" is a more accurate word: there are no meetings, no drives, no campaigns, no sports, no games, no dues, no grip, and no house.

The only thing Signa Phi Nothing has in common with other fraternities is a fraternity hymn. In fact, two hymns were submitted to a recent meeting of the national board of directors (none of whom attended). The first hymn goes:

*Signa Phi Nothing,
Shining star,
How we wonder
If you are.*

The second hymn, rather more poetic in content, is to be sung to the tune of Also Sprach Zarathustra:

*A Guernsey's a cow,
A road is a lane,
When you're eating chow,
Remember the main.*

Pending the next meeting of the national board of directors (which will never be held) members are authorized to sing either hymn. Or, for that matter, Prenez.

Perhaps you are wondering why there should be such a fraternity as Signa Phi Nothing. I can give you an answer—an answer with which you cannot possibly disagree: Signa Phi Nothing fills a well-needed gap.

Are you suffering from mental health? Is logic distorting your thinking? Is ambition encroaching on your native sloth? Is your long-cherished misinformation retreating before a sea of facts? In short, has education caught up with you?

If so, congratulations. But spring is upon us and the sap is rising, and the mind looks back with poignant longing to the days when it was a puddle of unreason.

If—just for a moment—you want to recapture those care-less vaporings, that warm, squishy confusion, then join Signa Phi Nothing and renew your acquaintance with fecklessness. We promise nothing, and, by George, we deliver it!

"US Poverty" Study Set For D.C. College

An intercollegiate conference on "Poverty in America" is being sponsored by the George Washington University student council April 24 to 26. The conference is directed to giving students an understanding of the depth and seriousness of the issue.

Among the speakers and panel members will be Christopher Jenks, editor of The New Republic; David Bazelon, author of "The Paper Economy"; Congressman Henry Gonzales, D-Tex.; Peter Irons, legislative staff, UAW, AFL-CIO; and Jesse Gray, a leader in the New York rent strike movement for better housing.

Requests for information should be addressed to the Conference, George Washington University, 2131 G Street, N.W., Washington 37, D.C. Applications should be sent to "Conference on Poverty" at the same address, and should include a registration fee of three dollars.

Free housing will be provided in the dormitories at request; students wishing to take advantage of it should take along sleeping bags.

Education Extension Plan Gaining Favor

WASHINGTON (CPS) — A plan providing two free, compulsory years of college is gaining the support of President Johnson's administration.

An indication of the White House backing came in a speech this week by Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz who proposed extending the legal required education age to 18 in an effort "to get youth unemployment out of America's bloodstream."

If states now required students to continue their education for two years after high school, Wirtz said half of the 2.5 million in the hard-core unemployment lists would be back in school. He noted that the number of unemployed youths with meager educations is radically higher than among those with 11 to 12 years of education.

While not offering this plan as an official government program, Wirtz emphasized that it was a thought germinating within the administration for the past several months. Observers saw his statement as a further indication that administration economists fear that the historic income tax cut bill won't sufficiently help unemployment problems facing the nation.

A state-federal all-out effort for two years of public college would drastically drain the nation's limited teacher resources at first. But education officials feel a new demand would spark higher quality and salaries for U.S. teachers.

The largest U.S. education group, the National Education Association (NEA), has termed present free education standards inadequate for life in complicated U.S. society. As Wirtz said, current standards "were adopted 150 years ago and are 150 years out of date."

A report from the Education Policies Commission, sponsored by NEA, said "Public colleges should exist in every population center, and they should expand beyond their range through their immediate environs through radio, TV, self-teaching devices, extension programs and correspondence courses."

Neither Wirtz nor the NEA group mentioned the cost of a two-year free college program.

"Carousel" at Area Temple

The Ohav Tzedek Temple will present its sixth annual musical "Carousel" March 14 to 22 at the Temple, 5245 Glenwood Ave. Ext.

The famous Rogers and Hammerstein musical brought such numbers as "If I Loved You," "June Is Bustin' Out All Over," and "You'll Never Walk Alone" to the American stage. The production draws its cast, crew, musicians and other talent from the Youngstown Area.

Tickets for "Carousel" may be ordered from the Temple, Shy Lockson, Segall's Furniture, or the Newport Delicatessen. Group rates and special student tickets will be available at the door for any week-day performance.

Barbra Streisand's New Album "Great"

by Mike Plaskett

With her latest vocal album out, Barbara Streisand certainly needs to offer no proof to the listening public that she is quite a marvelous singer. She can approach any material and by her dramatic talent, add immeasurably to the tone, content, impact and meaning of a song.

Her talents are given the acid test in "Barbra Streisand—The Third Album." The songs are of a more ordinary nature than her usual tunes, veering perhaps a little too close to Tin Pan Alley for comfort.

A question here: If such Tin Pan-type tunes are so abundant, is Columbia Records getting stingy by including only 10 selections on the album? Instead of a dozen masterpieces, this time there is less in quantity. You may want to listen before you pronounce on quality.

It is a mystery why such pedestrian string men as Ray Ellis and Sid Ramin were called on to write for Barbara. If there's anything this girl doesn't need, it's someone to smother her voice in layers of violins, trombones and trash. The lean and lithe arrangements by Matz, often powerfully swinging, gave her much more room in which to kick around.

One tune on the album, "Just in Time," was arranged by the redoubtable Leonard Bernstein. It's a curiosity, with a rather odd harpsichord sound to it, but Barbara must have liked it because her performance in this track is magnificent. There are some extremely tough key changes she jumps on in the song and uses to heighten the effect of the words.

Which all goes to prove you can't keep a good (that is, terrific) talent down. Barbara Streisand has done another fine album, and it's the kind of record you begin to get tired of only on about the tenthousandth playing. Now we're waiting for the score of Funny Girl to come out! We're greedy.

DEVELOPMENT OF MANAGEMENT IS OUR MOST IMPORTANT FUNCTION

At the 1963 stockholders' meeting, Arjay R. Miller, President of Ford Motor Company, emphasized the Company's far-sighted recruitment program and its accent on developing management talent:

"Obviously, our long-run future will be determined by the development of our management. Here, every one of us—at all levels of supervision—recognizes this as his most important function. Since 1946, the Company has recruited widely varied talent—talent that can be blended to give us the required combination of tight administration and creative scope.

"Under a carefully conceived management development program, we try to recruit the best personnel available, both in training and experience. Once we get them, we have a program for giving them varied opportunities and increasing responsibility. This program is in force in all parts of the Company—in manufacturing, finance, styling, engineering and marketing.

"The program is paying off. We have developed a real depth of management talent in the Company, and we are dedicated to seeing it continued and reinforced. Because of this, I feel not only very fortunate in being associated with this management group, but also very confident of its long-run success. We know our goals and how to achieve them."

Rosselli Named "Best" By Ohio Coaches Poll

Second Title in Six-Year Span

by Tom Green

University basketball coach Dom Rosselli added another honor to his ever-growing list when he was selected as Ohio basketball coach of the year last Saturday.

The popular cage mentor has been head coach at YU for 20 years compiling a 286-215 record during that time. This season's trip to the NCAA regionals marks the fourth straight year the Penguins have accomplished this feat.

The selection, sponsored by the Columbus Dispatch, was made by 49 college coaches in Ohio. Coach Rosselli was a solid favorite, receiving 57 votes on a 1-2-3 basis.

This was the second time Rosselli has won the coveted honor. The poll judged him best in the field in 1957 following his team's fine 23-7 season.

Rosselli and his wife, Connie, will be honored March 16 at a banquet in the Ohio State Union. He will be presented with a plaque and a huge trophy that will remain at YU until next year's selection.

The announcement came as little surprise to most Penguin followers as the diminutive coach was considered a "logical choice." His squad has the best record in the state and was one of two Ohio squads to be rated in both Associated Press and United Press International ratings throughout most of the year.

Dom Rosselli
... Coach of the Year

Learning that he had been selected to the top college coaching honor in Ohio, Rosselli said that he was "very honored, particularly because it was my fellow coaches who selected me."

Rosselli also had words of praise for his squad, which he said "made this selection possible. Whatever honor is bestowed upon me is a direct result of my team's performance. They gave me loyalty and they showed determination from the very start."

Dom Praises Team For Fine Season

Two of the proudest girls on the YU campus are Roseanne and Mary Louise Rosselli, two of Dom's three teen-age daughters. Mary Louise is a freshman and Roseanne a senior at the University.

Another fine booster of his father is "Chipper" who has traveled with the team on most road trips. Chip, age nine, is a budding basketball player himself. He once urged the bus driver to speed it up or else be late for basketball practice. Chip plays for a youth center on Gypsy Lane.

Mrs. Rosselli has followed her husband and the team on every trip except the long Philadelphia excursion. Stephanie, age 16, has also cheered her father's team through some tight moments.

Tonight when Youngstown takes the floor to begin its march to the national college title, Ohio Coach of the Year Dom Rosselli will have five personal rooters in his family and a couple of thousand others who wish the very best for one of the nicest guys in the business and for the best small college team in the nation—Youngstown University.

YU Rifle Squad Downs Carroll

The University rifle team edged out John Carroll last week 1387-1362. This moved Youngstown to fourth place in the Lake Erie Inter-College Rifle Conference. A win over Kent State today will put them in third place—a trophy-winning position.

High man for the match was Jim Heyer with 281, and Jim Woronka placed second at 280. Youngstown has three of the top ten individual positions in the Conference with Dick Wanick fifth, Mary Ann Harper seventh and Heyer in ninth position.

Penguins End Season With 23-2 Record

YU started the season in grand style with a 117-81 victory over Malone College. The 117-point total set a new school scoring record which was later to be broken and that record in turn tied before the season ended.

On Jan. 11, the Penguins soundly tromped Lakeland College of Wisconsin 127-53 and then on Jan. 29 Geneva College fell victim to a 127-71 YU victory.

Youngstown ran up 16 straight victories before suffering its first defeat to a powerful Central State squad 75-69 on the Marauders' home floor. Following that game, the squad received another blow with the announcement that star rebounder and scorer Ronnie Allen would be ineligible for the second semester. At the time, Allen was averaging 16 points and 15 rebounds per game.

This loss was severely felt when the team traveled to Erie, Pa., to meet Gannon College four days later. Gannon soundly defeated Youngstown 78-63 which reversed an earlier 74-44 YU victory. The team got back on the winning track and wound up the season with six straight wins including an impressive victory over major college Niagara 78-58 and a hard-fought decision over powerful Philadelphia Textiles 50-49.

One of the major highlights of the 1963-64 season was the announcement that Coach Dom Rosselli was named Ohio College Coach of the Year. This was the second time Dom received this honor, the last time in 1957.

WRA Attends Ohio Meeting

Three members and the advisor of the University Women's Recreation Association recently returned from the Athletic and Recreation Federation of Ohio College Women's convention held at Springfield, Ohio.

Judy Boles, Judy Bramble and Sandy Sorbo along with Miss Laborde, advisor, attended the two-day workshop. The purpose of the gathering was to discuss with all the WRA's of the state the differences and similarities among the various programs offered throughout the state.

Featured speaker at the convention was Dr. Delbert Oberteuffer, well-known physical educator and author. Other highlights of the convention were a natural hike, a campfire songfest and a grand banquet.

WRA is open to all women on campus and all members are eligible towards a WRA award presented at the banquet at the end of the school year.

HOOP-LA

By Ken Nervie

It's T-minus a few hours, and the NCAA tourney draws near. Game time is 7 p.m. at Akron Memorial fieldhouse. Yesterday's rally started the support that should be the rule for tonight, tomorrow and next week.

Fred Jones, one of the Penguin sparkplugs, said earlier this season, "When the students come out to cheer at the game, it really means something to all of us." Coach Rosselli said last year, "The student support gives the team a lift a coach can't give them."

It's up to the students to provide the needed incentive for a large cheering section. The only way the support can be effective is for everyone to sit together as a student body. It worked last year. Let's make sure it's successful this year.

Tonight, Lemoyné provides the opposition for the YU cagers. If they win, the Penguins get a shot at the regional title and then the trip to Evansville.

Whatever the outcome, The Jambar joins with the student body in congratulating Coach Rosselli for being named Ohio College Coach of the Year, and the team for its fine performance this year. Good luck!

As We See It . . .

He's the Greatest . . .

by Tom Green

Before we begin another galley of wasted type we would like everyone to bow their heads for a few seconds on the occasion of The Jambar editor flunking out of school. We were shocked when we received the notice from Jack's parents. It read:

Tom

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Tucker, Ohltown Road, have announced the flunking out of their son, Jack, from Youngstown University. While a student in good standing, Jack was editor of the University newspaper and advisor for the Student Council.

A reception for the Tucker family was held in the Dean's Office on the campus. Mrs. Tucker wore a three-quarter length dress fashioned by Livingston's. Jack had on a stained sweatshirt and levis.

Jack is a graduate (dishonorable) of Austintown Fitch High School. He plans on working as publicity director for Student Council until he is eligible to return to school.

Tom Laffey, editor of The Neon, almost made it out but he pulled grades at the last minute. Tom told us that he didn't have time to flunk out this semester.

Flunking out has become the real prestige symbol on campus. We're wondering if the whole system shouldn't be reversed. All those who got under a two point may rush, only girls with a 1.5 pt. average or lower may run for queens, etc. We're sure IFC and Pan-Hel would endorse the idea.

With Student Council members we would raise the standards. All those with a 3.8 or above may not serve on Council. The Stud. Con. president would be picked from those holding the lowest grades.

Did you hear about the freshman who demanded a receipt from the bookstore after buying three books? He felt that when he got to heaven St. Peter wouldn't believe the price he had to pay and he didn't want to be accused of lying nor did he want to look all over hell for the person who sold him the books.

And once yearly we are required, according to corporation laws, to gold beads. Nothing may be reprinted in whole or part without first touching your right ear with your left hand and singing "Peeping Through the Knot-hole in Daddy's Wooden Leg."

The opinions, ideas and convictions expressed in The Jambar in no way reflect the opinions, ideas and convictions of the student body. They have no ideas, opinions or convictions.

Did you hear the one about the one-legged fellow who went to an Arthur Murray studio and asked them to teach him the cha?

We have an idea that would go a long way towards pointing out that this world could be a peaceful place to live in. We would place a large cage labeled "Coexistence" containing a bear and a number of lambs outside the library.

This would impress all who viewed it and would convince everyone that the world can really be a nice place; that peace and tranquility can be attained by mutual trust; and that past actions need not necessarily be considered in determining future events. It would be a graphic display. The only maintenance required would be to throw a few fresh lambs in each day.

You can believe it when you hear it on the . . .

BETWEEN OUTER SPACE

AND THE DEEP SEA

THERE'S A WIDE RANGE OF OPPORTUNITY IN THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANIES

To outer space and into the deep sea, we take the sum total of our scientific and managerial knowledge. A case in point is Telstar, which represents the first step toward a worldwide communications system. Another example, the new deep-sea amplifier that simultaneously transmits two-way messages. Both communications triumphs stem from Bell System planning, research and development.

Such trailblazing projects command the best of managerial and scientific talent. That's why you'll find, throughout the Bell System, men with college training as diverse as the responsibilities they shoulder. Their backgrounds run the gamut from liberal arts and business courses to science or specialized engineering majors.

Admittedly, the work is demanding. It requires that unusual caliber of man who finds a greater satisfaction in challenge than in ready solution . . . who is eager to see his education yield dividends . . . who wants an immediate opportunity for leadership.

Men with this kind of impatience will discover the stimulation, welcome and rewards they seek in the telephone business.
