Petition To Endorse Cantrell

"More than 1,000 students are expected to sign a petition to the Youngstown Council of Churches endorsing the Rev. Burton Cantrell's work on the YSU campus and in the community," John Linder, the originator of the student petition, reported yesterday.

Linder reported that 25 students are circulating the petition and to date, have obtained signatures from 400 YSU students.

Linder estimates that when the petitions are presented to the Council's Executive Committee this Friday, over 1,000 students will have signed.

The informal group's actions were apparently prompted by reports that several members of the local Council of Churches have threatened to withhold funds from the Council if Cantrell's contract is renewed.

SC Accepts New Budget By 9-5-1 Vote

Student Council's vote yesterday to accept the proposed Student Government budget with its recommended changes consummated three weeks of intensive debate which witnessed verbal assaults between members of the Government, and protracted debate on finance policy and procedure.

The 9-5-1 vote came after a final review of the appropriate (Continued on page 4)

The deadline for petition signatures, Linder reports, is Thursday, April 17. Students wishing to sign or circulate the documents are asked to contact him at 538-3553 (Newton Falls).

The Jambar reported last Friday that in light of charges of improper political associations and the open discussion of sexual behavior, Cantrell is confident that the Executive Committee of the Council will support him.

In addition to the student petition, other University offices and organizations have made public their support of Cantrell's continuance at the University.

Friday afternoon, YSU President Dr. Albert L. Pugsley stated that the "University will be pleased to accept his (Cantrell's) services as Protestant Chaplain if the Council of Churches makes him available to the University." The president added that his understanding suggests that "much of the controversy concerning his employment revolves around differing religious philosophies," and that this is a concern which the University "cannot and should not take a position."

In action yesterday, the Student Council voted 12-1-0 to endorse Cantrell in his position as chaplain and many of the members signed the student petition which was brought to their attention by Student Government vice president Pete Isgro.

Also in last Friday's Jambar was a report stating that representatives from the United Ministry in Higher Education would be on campus Sunday and Monday, April 13 and 14 to access the work being performed by Cantrell on the campus and in the community.

Their report along with that of the University Work Committee's will be considered by the Work Committee Friday, April 18.

A joint report and recommendation will be made to the Executive Committee of the Council of Churches Monday, April 22. A final decision on Cantrell's contract is expected to be made at the April 22 meeting.

Hensel Says —

Many SC Candidacies Open

Few students are seeking the available Student Council offices, David Hensel, elections committee chairman, reported yesterday.

The deadline for filing petitions of candidacy is 5 p.m. Friday, April 18.

Hensel stated yesterday that a minimum of 26 students, twice the total number of seats available, must become candidates to meet with Student Council election by-laws.

As of yesterday at 10 a.m., Hensel reported that eighteen students have announced their intention of seeking Council office. Hensel's breakdown of seats available and announced candidacies is as follows:

A minimum of four students must seek the two seats for representative at large, one student has announced; four students have announced that they will seek the three seats for the School of Business, a total of six are required; two students will seek the single available seat in the School of Engineering; nine have announced for the four seats in the College of Arts and Sciences; two students will seek the three seats available in the School of Education.

Hensel reported that although twice the number of students for seats available must announce, no maximum number is set and all qualified students are urged to run for Council office.

Should an insufficient number of students voluntarily run for Council office, Hensel stated that the Dean's of the five schools will be asked to recommend the remaining number of students required, and they will be asked by the elections committee to run for Council.

The process of recommendations, Hensel added, will continue until the requisite number of students are obtained.

Council elections are slated for April 28 and 29. Voting will take place in Strouss Auditorium on those days between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., plus one evening to be announced at a later time.

All information regarding qualifications and procedures may be obtained in the Student council office in Kilcawley.

Jeff Altschul Dropped From Council

Arts and Sciences representative Jeff Altschul was removed from Student Council yesterday because he has not maintained full-time academic status.

The Student Council Constitution requires that its members be full-time students in the University and Altschul's removal was predicated on that rule.

Apparently the former Council member dropped two 3-hour courses which changed his status to part-time.

During the Council's meeting, Discipline committee chairman Paul Dutton pointed out to its members that Altschul's status had changed. Altschul attempted to resign declaring that the class drops had not yet been made official, but was interrupted by the Council's chairman Penny Laakso who stated that the Registrar had been questioned and that Altschul is officially recognized as a part-time student.

In a related development, two other Council members resigned their seats at yesterday's meeting. Without elaborating as to cause, Leslie Emery and Carol Campbell submitted their resignations to Miss Laakso.

Greeks Will Sing This Friday Night

Greek Sing, YSU's annual songfest co-sponsored by Inter-Fraternity Council and Pan-Hellenic Council, will make its return to campus this Friday, April 18, at 8 p.m. at Stambaugh Auditorium.

This year's sing, under the co-chairmanship of IFC representative John Densovich (Phi Sigma Kappa) and Pan-Hell representative Phyllis Banco (Phi Mu) with Mike Wholehan as Master of Ceremonies, offers a program consisting of 26 songs sung by 7 fraternities and 6 sororities on campus.

Trophies will be presented to the outstanding groups of the evening. IFC and Pan-Hell will also award their annual scholarship trophies to the Greeks with the highest per capita average for the year. Also highlighting the evening will be the presentation of the All-Events Trophy to the fraternity with the highest total points in IFC's year-long events.

Honored guests for the evening will include President and Mrs. Albert L. Pugsley, vice-president and Mrs. William Coffield, vice-president and Mrs. John Coffelt, outgoing IFC advisor Dean John Gillespie, IFC advisors William Collins and Donald Mathews and their wives, Pan-Hell advisor Dean Painter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Callahan, and Mayor and Mrs. Anthony B. Flask.

The judges for the sing will be Mrs. Jesse Robertson and Mr. Grant Thompson, and the scorekeepers will be Mr. Ralph Bunkholder and Mrs. Anna Battin.

Alpha Ohi Omega, Gamma Sigma Gigma, and Circle K will handle the ushering of the event.

Campus Fire

Fire engines remain on Bryson St. at 3:30 p.m. yesterday after responding to an alarm turned in from the Engineering Building.

The fire was an over-heated generator in a utility room behind the Political Science lab room on the third floor of the building.

A police science class in the lab taught by Mr. Anthony Grybos of the Sociology Department was cancelled for the day. No other classes were affected.

There was no estimate of damage at the time.

Dana, Youngstown Phil. and Symphony Merge Under Bibo

On May 3 and 4 the Dana Concert Choir of Youngstown State University will be involved in an historic first for the organization as it joins with the Youngstown Philharmonic Chorus and performs Honnegger's "King David" oratorio with the Youngstown Symphony. Franz Bibo, Youngstown Symphony musical director and conductor, will conduct the Stambaugh Auditorium performances.

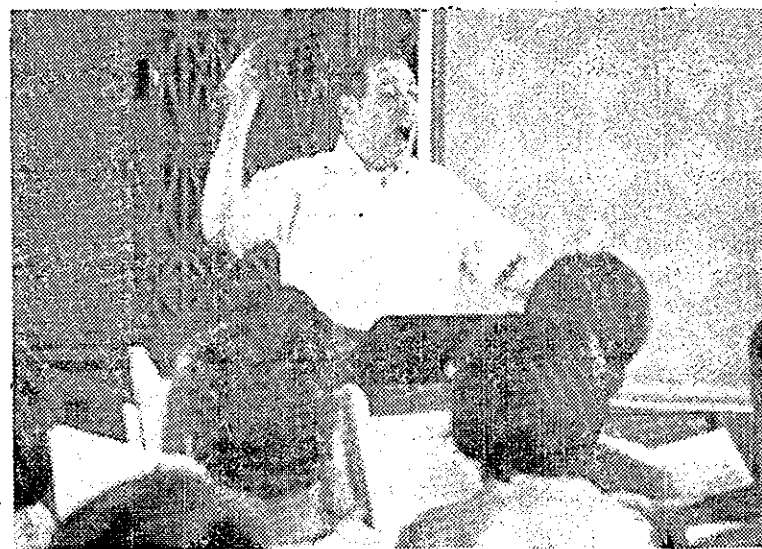

The colorful Mr. Bibo has become a very familiar face to Dana students as he has taken on some of the Concert Choir conducting duties within the last week.

Ronald Gould, the Dana Concert Choir conductor, said that this was the first time in Dana's 100 year history that it has performed with the Philharmonic Chorus and Orchestra in a major effort, but both he and Mr. Bibo are looking forward to future collaborations — possibly even for next season's performance of Beethoven's "9th Symphony."

Soloists for the "King David" concert are Sophia Brooks, soprano; Delbert Mook, tenor; and Metropolitan Opera star, Gwendolyn Killebrew, mezz-soprano. Milton Cross, whose voice is familiar to millions of opera lovers for his Saturday afternoon radio broadcasts of the Metropolitan Opera performances, will be narrator for the performance.

Rev. Belsan Claims—

Rebellious Youth Still Religious

"Youth's revolt against institutionalized religion does not mean they're not 'religious,'" says the Rev. Richard Belsan, instructor in philosophy at YSU.

Rev. Belsan says he found, in his dealings with college students, that they are more concerned with fundamental values and asking more questions than the people of his generation, who tended to accept religion on face value.

"The problem is that institutionalized religion is not answering youth's questions or fulfilling their needs," he says.

Rev. Belsan explains that every generation goes through a type of revolt and young people today are mainly seeking honesty — from religion and life. "A simple, 'I don't know' answer is better than saying you must accept something on faith," he says.

In his philosophy classes Rev. Belsan encourages students to "think for themselves" thus enabling them to reach their own conclusion rather than those of someone else.

He says he enjoys the challenge of teaching and is grateful for the opportunity to teach at

Italian Club To Offer Scholarship

The YSU Italian Club will offer a scholarship to the most qualified student of Italian for the academic year 1969-70. The amount offered is $150.00. All students of Italian with a 3.0 accumulative average and a B or better in the language courses are eligible.

Application forms are available from Dr. Aliberti, chairman of the Scholarship Screening Committee. Deadline is April 15, 1969.

The Italian Club was established at YSU in the fall of 1967. Presently, the Club has over 30 members. Future plans include a series of Italian movies as soon as better facilities are available.

youth today. When asked about his feeling on the legalization of drugs such as marijuana, Rev. Belsan rationalizes and says, "I've always found that things are less inving if they are legal."

He says he's old enough to remember prohibition when the people who would never think of drinking would do so just for the excitement. "Besides," he says, "you can't legalize morality."

As advisor to YSU's Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity, Rev. Belsan says he was amazed to see how intent the members of the fraternity were on doing well scholastically. He says he remembers his fraternity as just "good times."

"Of course, these boys have their good times, too," he adds, "but they're also serious about a good school record." He assumes other fraternal organizations are much the same.

Rev. Belsan and his wife, Elizabeth Ann, are originally from Cleveland. He received an A.B., majoring in philosophy, from Heidelberg University in Tiffin, Ohio, and a Bachelor of Sacred Theology from Yale University. He then returned to Heidelberg for his Doctor of Divinity degree.

Rev. Belsan has served at churches in Cleveland and Sandusky and has been at Pilgrim Collegiate in Youngstown for 10½ years.

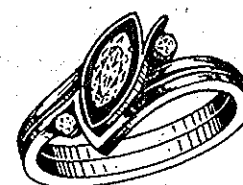

The Belsans reside with their three children, Diana, 12; Claudia, 10; and Todd, 6, at 146 W. Florida Avenue.

Cantrell

Since last Friday, President Pugsley stated that "the University will be pleased to accept his (Cantrell's) services," and a petition began to make the rounds mustering support for the Rev. Cantrell. Add to this the AAUP resolution supporting Cantrell, and one can clearly see that many varied areas are represented supporting Cantrell.

We laud everyone who has come forth in support of this valuable man.

We now hope the Council of Churches can see that an injustice would be committed in not rehiring Mr. Cantrell. When one can claim friends from so many areas of the University, his command of respect from that community must remain unchallenged.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor of the Jambar:

Dr. Chaplain Morrison's latest letter on Vietnam seemed totally out of character with a man whom I sincerely respect. I cannot believe that he would have the arrogance to assume that he was sole arbiter of information and misinformation, as the letter's opening sentence suggests. Can it be that he considers reliable only those sources which can be used to support his own point of view?

I deeply resent being accused of giving false information, as Dr. Morrison suggests. It is a proven fact that Hanoi does indeed control the NLF. I advise Dr. Morrison, who finds this claim unpalatable, to do his homework and re-read page 139 and page 304 of what is obviously his main source of information, Douglas Pike's Viet Cong. If he cares to pursue the matter further, he can consult Staar's "Anatomy of a Liberation Front" (Intercollegiate Review, May-June, 1967) which speaks of North Vietnamese regiments crossing the Seventeenth Parallel in the Fall of 1964.

If Dr. Morrison cares to take issue with the last statement, I hope he does not again try to use the testimony of Senator Mansfield to support his counter-claims. He has publicly and arbitrarily rejected the claims of a member of the U.S. government (Dean Rusk) as "unsubstantiated." By use of this logic, he must also exclude the testimony of Mike Mansfield, a member of that same government. To do otherwise would render his counter-claim invalid by inconsistency of argument.

However, it seems that he is no stranger to inconsistency. He defends the courage of a Lt. Colonel Corson to resist Washington's "betrayal of the Vietnamese and American peoples." Yet he does not find courageous the effort of the South Vietnamese to defend themselves against Northern aggression.

Dr. Morrison has maintained that the present Saigon government is "too unpopular to sustain itself in spite of its repressiveness." Yet this government has dared to go before the people and face a general election. Ho Chi Minh has yet to risk his political fortunes with a ballot-box. If Ho Chi Minh is so popular, as Dr. Morrison states, why hasn't he submitted himself to a North Vietnamese election campaign? Whatever else the Thieu-Ky ticket may be, it is clearly the people's choice. Before Dr. Morrison again attempts the slander of this popularly-elected government, I hope he takes the time to read the individual reports of the membership of the President's Observers Team—a group of American citizens, "doves" as well as "hawks", who were sent to observe South Vietnam's presidential-senatorial elections in September 3, 1967. If he cares to do this, I respectfully suggest that he consult specifically Penman's Decision in South Vietnam.

Angelo James Giannini
 Senior, Chemistry

To The Editor of The Jambar:

It was rather startling to Mary Ure, heroine of the current film Where Eagles Dare described in your review as "a German actress... unknown to American audiences."

Miss Ure is in fact a British actress who, though perhaps unfamiliar to most Americans, is nevertheless well known to those who follow the modern theatre and cinema. She achieved stardom as the heroine of the London and the New York stage productions, and later the film, of Look Back in Anger, the first of the "New Wave" of British "slice-of-life" plays and films that portrayed with grubby realism the drab, dreary, desperate existence of the lower classes in Britain's post-war industrialized, socialized, dehumanized society.

Miss Ure was at the time married to the play's author, John Osborne—the original "Angry Young Man" of the British theatre and the coin, or at least the popularizer, of the term "The Establishment."

In recent years, she has not been very active in her career, having been pre-occupied with the uxorial and maternal duties involved in her present marriage to author-actor-director Robert Shaw.

Student Council Accepts Budget

tions which total in excess of $90,000. A final figure will not be available until all recommended changes are recorded and the revised budget is returned to Student Government president Ray Johnson.

Council's debate yesterday settled several issues that had previously held up approval.

During the past three weeks, Council members have expressed apprehension over funding group projects that some members of the student body would be excluded from participating in. The projects in question included several that were thought to require enrollment in academic courses, and several that were thought to limit membership via constitutional stipulations.

At yesterday's meeting, appropriations for the opera workshop, drama productions, and band were approved with modifications as to amount. The three had previously been questioned regarding class enrollment requirements.

An appropriation of $1,500 was approved for Pershing Rifle Tours, an organization previously questioned as to limitations in membership and academic value.

Pershing Rifles president, Anthony Marvolia announced yesterday that the delegates to its national convention voted last week to drop the requirement that PR's be members of ROTC.

His announcement, which removed the "membership limitation" cleared the way for Council approval.

New for 1969-70 will be a special cultural activity fund recommended by Council yesterday. The proposed $10,000 fund will be allocated to chartered organizations desiring to bring speakers or other culturally oriented programs to the YSU campus.

Left unsettled following Council's debate was a matter dealing with the constitutional power of the Student Government president to alter or modify his secretary of finance's proposed budget. During the past three weeks, Government president Ray Johnson and finance secretary Paul Hura have asked for a ruling on who has the final say in preparing the proposed budget. Both have argued in favor of themselves, and subsequently have interpreted the constitutional power differently.

Brought up at the end of debate yesterday, no official decision was reached.

Doing Your Thing at Playhouse in— You Can't Take It With You

by Patty Jean Richards

Would you believe a hilarious comedy which won a Pulitzer Prize in 1937 about people "doing their thing?" This is the theme of the George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart's production of "You Can't Take It With You" which opened Friday at the Playhouse, under the direction Ella Gerber.

The play evolves around the zany Sycamore family and the Kirby family from Wall Street. Mrs. Sycamore (Helen Moyer) paints portraits and writes plays, her husband (Paul Herman) manufactures fireworks, and their daughter Essie (Cheryl Locke) practices her ballet whenever her husband (John Cole) accompanies her on the xylophone.

If this doesn't sound like a family "doing their thing" there is also the unexpected visits from a drunken actress (Alice Weiss) and the Grand Duchess Olga (Myrtle Grist) who ends up in the Sycamore kitchen fixing the family dinner. One frequent visitor is the mad Russian ballet teacher (Rod MacDonald) who is unique in his own comical way.

The first two acts of the three act play really portray the Sycamore family at the really are. In the third act when Alice Sycamore (Wynn Hall) falls in love with Tony Kirby (Gary Banks), it takes the philosophy of a wise old man, Grandpa (Jerry Goff) to bring the two families together.

The atmospheric one scene was constructed by the technical theater class from the new Night School of the Theater for Adults. It is a room in the spacious Victorian home of Grandpa Vanderhof. There really is no need for more sets in the play because the audience actually can lose themselves in the dialogue and action of the play.

For an enjoyable evening of comedy, nobody should miss this play. The admission is only $1 for students, $3.50 for Saturday performances and $3. for all other performances.

"You Can't Take It With You" will be at the Playhouse from April 17-27. The box office (788-8739) is open daily from 11 a.m. for more information.

If you feel like "doing your thing," do it at the Playhouse.

Scenes from Paramount Theater's upcoming picture, "Shoes Of The Fisherman," scheduled for April 23.

Student Gallery Open

Galerie 1132 opened its April show of multi-medium student art last Friday to a sparse but enthusiastic crowd of visitors.

The small but well designed gallery is owned by Marsha Mishata and Gloria Sowinski, both student art majors at Youngstown State University.

Sculpture pieces being shown were created from chisled and etched bronze, welded iron and steel bumpers, structured plastic, and a moving, noise-making ensemble of illuminated glass.

Students exhibiting their work are Henry Dalverney, James Ausehmer, Mark Schevring, Ed Hallahan, Miss Mishata and Miss Sowinski.

The Galerie will be open every night through April 19 from 7 until 10 p.m. No admission is charged.

Students and faculty members from Westminster College, Thiel College, Slippery Rock State College, Penn State Extension, all of Pennsylvania, and Hiram College and YSU will attend the program which is being coordinated by the Youngstown Chapter.

The president is Terry Zimmerman, 418 Iowa Ave., McDonald; vice president Douglas Keeling, 144 Champion, Warren; and the chapter advisor is Dr. Peter von Ostwalden, associate professor of chemistry.

D. Prince, YSA Leader, Will Speak

David Prince, a member of the Young Socialist Alliance, will address all interested persons on Tuesday night, April 15, at 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium (Room 273) of the Engineering-Science Building. His topic will be "Cuba: Moral Motivation vs. Material Motivation."

Mr. Prince, a 1965 graduate of Oberlin College, is presently doing graduate work at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland. He is an organizer for the Young Socialist Alliance and is on a speaking tour through Ohio and Pennsylvania.

In January of this year, Mr. Prince and twelve other YSA leaders from throughout the United States were invited by the Cuban Government to assist in the celebration of the Tenth Anniversary of the Castro Revolution.

The group spent approximately one month in Cuba, and Mr. Prince will describe his experience there and explain why he feels Cuba is enjoying an optimal development of resources.

Mr. Prince has written articles concerning Cuba in the Militant and was recently quoted by the Cleveland Plain Dealer as saying that Cuba's economic and industrial planning "uses human beings as its basis instead of profit."

Mr. Prince is being sponsored by the Special Lecture Series Committee under the direction of Dr. Sidney Roberts. While on campus, Mr. Prince will be hosted by the Community of Concern.

Admission to the address will be free and open to the public.

The Penguin Ski Club will have a meeting on Wednesday April 16, 1969 at 8:30 p.m. in the Cardinal room of Kilcawley Lounge.

Sane Director Blasts Nixon's ABM System

Is the United States' nuclear force threatened in any way? Do we need a thin ABM system? Do we require any anti-ballistic missile system? Will Russia strike first? Is China any actual threat to us yet? These were some of the questions raised by Sanford Gottlieb, Executive Director of SANE, at the Gates of Eden Coffeehouse last Thursday evening. SANE is the shortened title of Committee for Sane Nuclear Policy.

Mr. Gottlieb answered a firm "no" to the above questions. He told the audience that the proof was in the basic fact that we already have achieved 10 times the deterrent needed to contain any outside threat. He quipped that "a thin ABM system is like a thin pregnancy." He continued, saying that we don't need any more deterrents or defense systems for outside threats. Instead we must face our internal problems and realize that they threaten us as much or more as any outside enemy.

Gottlieb warned that if we continue some of our insane policies toward nuclear armament, Russia and China will indeed be forced to threaten us more by the very threat we pose to them and the rest of the world.

Accounting Clinic Set For Apr. 16

"thin" ABM system alone, but the Harvard Business School says that we probably will have to multiply those figures by 3.2 to get an accurate cost, said Gottlieb.

He then cited the Kerner Commission Report, and asked how that much of the taxpayers' money could be spent on a scientifically and practically useless missile defense system instead of spending it on education. (Mr. Gottlieb cited the Youngstown System as an example), or urban renewal, or air pollution control.

Gottlieb also warned that if and when the Vietnam War ends, the surplus of funds released by the ending of the war are going to create a new battle, a battle between the military, big business, and John Q. Public.

He said that the only effect that the audience would have on this new money battle would be determined by the amount of interest shown by each individual and group. He talked of interests which will have to be determined and coalitions which will have to be formed and the cooperation that will be necessary to achieve victory.

The audience, made up of students, professors, and clergy, was receptive to Mr. Gottlieb's talk, and afterwards there was an open discussion and questions from the floor during which many of the topics were repeated and clarified by the speaker.

In answer to one question from a student who wanted to know if we would't be endangering our security by not allowing for a possible enemy attack, Mr. Gottlieb answered that the fact that we have the means to kill any enemy 10 times if he attacks us tends to discourage any threat. He said it also shows the waste that we have acquired in weapons since everyone knows that you can only kill a person, friend, or enemy, once.

Penguins Drop Two To Point Park College

After opening their 1969 season with an impressive 5-1 trouncing of invading Western Reserve, the Penguins' victory wagon upset with two setbacks from visiting Point Park College of Pittsburgh last Thursday afternoon.

Hurler Dan Barker, unbeaten in six outings last year, worked 9 1/3 innings in the opening game of a twinbill affair, only to have his winning skein snapped in the 10th inning. Point Park, collecting only five hits prior to the 10th frame, pushed across two runs on one hit, which enabled the visiting Pittsburgh nine to break a 2-2 deadlock and eventually capture victory.

The opening game line score saw four runs scattered through nine innings by both clubs, but the declining tenth frame entered three markers. The final inning witnessed the Point Park nine managing two markers on an error, walk, a couple of sacrifice flies, and a double, while the Penguins attempted to duplicate the feat with a walk, double, and sacrifice fly, but home plate was only touched once in that bottom half of the tenth. Coach Rosselli who substituted desperately in the latter portion of the game, pointed out the errors of the Penguins which constituted eventual defeat for the hopeful YSU nine.

Seven Penguin miscues in the first contest accounted for the four unearned Point Park scores and their first setback of the new campaign. Nick Gesacion pounded out a couple of hits in the Penguin cause, but YSU failed to concentrate their six hits into one inning and, as a result, dropped their first contest.

The nightcap was almost a carbon copy of the opening fray, with Penguin errors and lack of confident hitting prevailing over setback number two. Leading 3-2 going into the seventh frame, the Penguins committed three miscues and allowed five Point Park hits, which helped the visitors push across four markers and establish a 6-3 commanding margin with only three outs remaining in the game. The Penguins collected seven hits but the other side of the story reads: 7 errors! Point Park, who grabbed all their runs in the first game on an unearned basis, managed to capitalize on Penguin blunders four times.

Gary Savich, freshman southpaw from Hubbard, went the distance for YSU and yielding seven hits, while walking none and striking two. For the third consecutive game, Nick Gesacion has hit safely along with shortstop, Bob Laylock. Laylock was doubled in each of the Penguin contests thus far.

A rundown of the first game showed: YSU-3 runs, 6 hits, 7 errors; Point Park-4 runs, 6 hits, 0 errors, while the nightcap ended: YSU-3 runs, 7 hits, 7 errors; Point Park-6 runs, 7 hits, 0 errors. The Penguins travel to Pittsburgh tomorrow afternoon with a single game slated against the same Point Park nine on their diamond at 3:00.

Miami of Ohio Victors—

Tennis Squad Drops Opener

Coach Bob Thompson witnessed his 1969 edition of YSU's tennis squad drop their opening game bid for victory to an overpowerful Miami of Ohio sextet last Friday afternoon at the Volney Rogers courts, 9-0.

Obviously enjoying fairer weather than YSU has, invading Miami blanked the Penguins mercifully in each event of the afternoon's festivities.

Youngstown State failed to register any wins in the nine-match duel, as the lack of practice prevailed over the Penguin performances. Due to the unlenient weather throughout early spring practice sessions, Coach Thompson understudies reluctantly exposed their rustiness from lack of decent practices.

Each Penguin racketeer saw only two sets as the Miami six captured victory in each match.

Singles competition saw lead-off Penguin, Bill Glaser, workhorse Steve Wilt, Bill Lanz, Bob Vine, and Jerry Lovejoy defeated in their 1969 YSU debuts, while the doubles competition held practically the same unfavorable medicine.

The Gannon Gold Knights will host the invading Penguins

Mill Creek golf course opened for the season last week with an increase in golf fees. Green fees this year will be $1.50 for nine holes and $3.00 for 18.

Starting times for weekend play can be reserved by buying tickets at the course after Wednesday mornings.

FACULTY GOLF

The proposed faculty golf league is receiving an excellent response. Mr. William Podoll, assistant professor of health and physical education, Room 314, Jones Hall can be contacted for information.

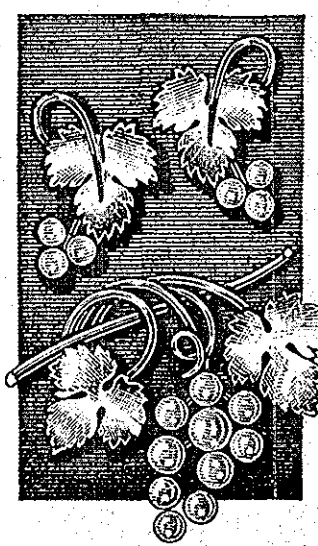

SCIENTIFIC TURF

"Astro Turf," the imitation grass, is being used for tees or greens on at least 81 golf courses in the U.S. Weeds, mowing, fertilizing and watering are eliminated. Sounds like a natural for lawns.

GOLF TIP

Conrad Kovach, pro at Mill Creek golf course, offers this tip for medium iron shots. Use a square stance with the toes of the feet lined toward the target. Play the ball in the center of the stance and strike the ball on the downswing rather than the upswing. This will give the ball backspin and greater accuracy. Keep Swinging.
