A student's efforts to prevent ticketing of his dead automobile met with failure Friday. A City traffic officer disregarded the misspelled sign and issued a citation for illegal parking.

Vote On Reapportionment Unanimous--

T&CC Gets On Council

The Technical and Community College was given representation on Council, Chuck Hettler took the responsibility for a weekly "Student Council" Jambar column and a $300 request for the Dana Madrigal Singers were passed at yesterday's Student Council Meeting.

After the constitutional change giving the Technical School representation passed unanimously, the amendment's sponsor and Election's Chairman Don Leone encouraged participation saying, "They now have the seats; now we'll need students to run." Under the new apportionment of Council's 25 seats Technical and Community College will have two representatives.

RAL Chuck Hettler let his motion to initiate a student government newsletter drop "since the Jambar has offered us space." The Jambar made the offer in last Tuesday's Editorial.

The newly appointed member from the School of Music, Rod Wollam, introduced a motion requesting the Student Council Budgeting Committee to allocate $300 for the Dana Madrigal Singers from Student Council's unallocated fund. Mr. David Starkey, the new musical director of the Singers, said the group of sixteen music and non-music majors has been in existence for five years, has presented concerts at the University, and has performed on radio and television. The Singers have requested the money to help purchase outfits.

In other action RAL Larry Simko introduced a constitutional amendment which would allow the President of Student Body to be a part-time student. The amendment requires a second reading before the final vote.

Fireworks Unrelated To A Phi O Initiation

Horseplay with fireworks resulted in the accidental loss of a finger to Jon Rawson at an Alpha Phi Omega service project last Saturday at Camp Stambaugh.

Contrary to earlier reports by local news media, the accident was not the result of a fraternity hazing practice, A Phi O president Ray Palmer said yesterday.

Rawson, a junior in the School of Arts and Sciences, suffered the loss of his index finger on his right hand, two broken fingers and third degree burns of his hand and arm. Hospital authorities at Salem

City Hospital stated his condition as "fairly good" and that he will remain there for about a week.

Palmer said that the accident occurred because Rawson, who was lighting firecrackers brought from home, panicked when he was unable to open a cabin door to release the explosive.

Terry Novak, an A Phi O pledge, was also injured, but was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Dr. Darrel Rishel, Dean of Student Affairs, said that his office will take no action concerning the incident.

Senate Acts On Tenure Proposal

Recommendations to establish departmental review boards for the purpose of awarding faculty tenure and new requirements for attaining tenure, were approved by the University Senate last Friday. Several qualifications and definitions of terms were also prepared, but action was deferred to a later meeting.

Confusion on the University's tenure policy prompted the Senate action. Presently three statements of the tenure policy exist; one as stated in the Senate bylaws, another in the Board of Trustees regulations, and a third in the Faculty Handbook.

Tenure is determined by full-time service at other institutions in addition to continuous service at the present university. Administration policy statements to both the Senate bylaws and the Board of Trustees regulations agree as to the "present service" requirement, but differ in the "prior service" requirement.

The review boards recommended by the Senate action will determine whether a faculty member, after meeting "service" requirements, will be granted a tenure position on the faculty, or will not be rehired.

Tenure is defined as the "right to continuous employment," and can only be cancelled by just cause. It is generally regarded as a part of faculty rights throughout the nation.

The Senate Friday voted to make all faculty members of professional rank eligible for tenure at the time of their sixth appointment, but also voted to reduce this time by three, two and one years in the cases of full professors, associate professors, and assistant professors, for prior service at other institutions.

President Pugsley distributed a letter expressing his views that longer periods of "observation" were desirable before tenure be granted.

The Senate was considering recommendations on tenure policy presented by the Faculty Affairs Committee. Dr. Raymon W. Hurd, associate professor of mathematics, is chairman.

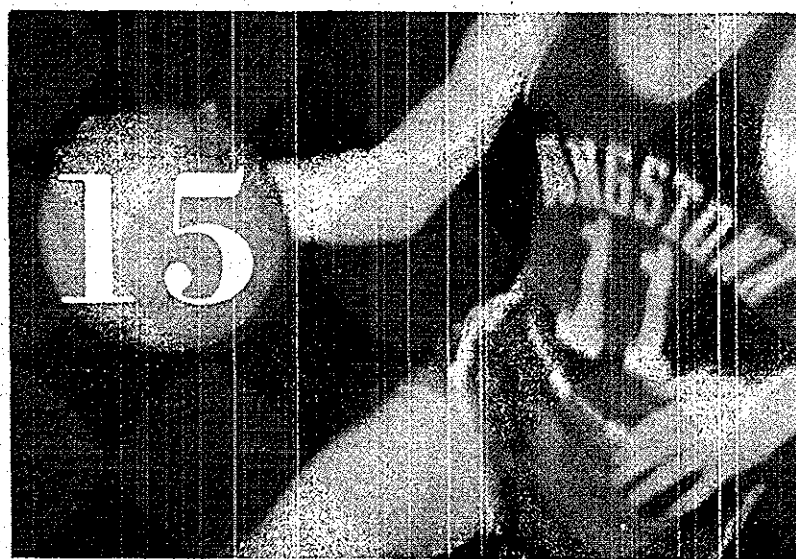

Thirteen Sign For Elections To SC Seats

Only thirteen petitions have been requested for the fourteen seats to be contested in the Student Council elections February 16 and 17. However, Don Leone, election chairman is confident that more applications will come in before the deadline Monday, February 2.

Seven of the thirteen applications are in the hands of Larry Simko, Student Council representative, who hopes to get a coalition of independent students for a block vote.

The other six applications were obtained by Susan Quinz for liberal arts, Pat Galterio for representative at large, Tom Hronek for music, Rod Wollam for music, Charlene Carasic for liberal arts, and Nancy Hedlund for education.

State College Fee Hike Requested

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - The Ohio Board of Regents has six requests for fee increases from state supported colleges and universities.

More may be on the way.

The requests to hike fees have come from Ohio University, Bowling Green State University, Miami University, Kent State University, the University of Toledo, and the University of Akron.

All want to raise either their instructional fees or general fees during the 1970-71 school year. They plead the rising costs of education.

State law permits the state supported schools to levy instructional fees or general fees during the 1970-71 school year. They plead the rising costs of education.

State law permits the state supported schools to levy instructional and general fees totaling $220 per quarter.

With the exception of the University of Akron, all want to raise instructional fees by $10 per quarter to $170.

Nixon Vetoes Education Bill; Close House Vote Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) President Nixon Monday night vetoed the $19.7 billion education and labor appropriation before a nationwide television audience, calling it "the wrong amount for the wrong purpose...at the wrong time."

Signs Veto On TV

It was Nixon's first presidential veto, and the way he did it was unprecedented.

After an 11 minute broadcast report to the nation, he picked up his pen and signed the veto message, before the television cameras.

The bill carries $1.26 billion more than Nixon's budget recommendations, most of it for education aid and for health research.

The House completed action on the bill by accepting a minor change made in the Senate to earmark funds for specific anti-poverty programs.

The action was by voice vote. Meanwhile hundreds of teachers and other education workers button-holed congressmen individually, lobbying for support of a drive to override the veto.

The educator's drive came even before the House completed congressional passage of the measure, as finalized yesterday.

Teachers, principals, librarians and others checking in with Lee's organization were directed to rooms in the House Office Building where special state desks were established. There, they were given specific figures on how failure of the bill would affect educational programs in the state, along with the voting records of the members on whom they were to call.

To measure results, they received also printed forms for recording the contact, any commitments obtained, and their own impressions of the leanings of uncommitted members.

Lee said he expects nearly 1,000 persons to participate.

Senate Heads Endorse "No-Knock" Drug Bill

WASHINGTON AP - Senate leaders of both parties today endorsed a controversial "no-knock" provision in a pending drug control bill which would permit federal agents to conduct authorized narcotics raids without giving the traditional warning.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said the federal courts would be relied on to issue warrants for no-warning raids with careful discretion and to correct any abuse of the new law-enforcement tool.

Both Mansfield and Scott said they would vote against an amendment by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., which would strike the no-knock provision from the bill as an undue invasion of privacy.

"We considered this very carefully in executive session," Scott said. "We were concerned about

"We concluded that the fact that the drug pusher can shove the stuff down the sink and destroy it—and does so in many cases—outweighs his right to privacy.

Narcotic distributors "are contributing to murder and suicide and the destruction of a person's personality," the Republican leader told reporters. "They are an exceptionally vicious criminal."

"We are encountering a certain amount of 'sob-sisterism' from people who tend to weep about the right of the drug pusher and minimize the effects of their dreadful trade," Scott said.

The no-knock provision was scored by Ervin Saturday who said he viewed it as a flagrant violation of the Constitution's Fourth Amendment protection against unreasonable search and seizure.

Schools Studied For Accrediting

The schools of education, chemistry, engineering and music are now being reviewed for accreditation, which beside adding prestige to the departments, insures protection and quality of education for students in their graduate and professional pursuits.

The National Council for Accreditation for Teacher Education is currently considering the YSU undergraduate school of education for full accreditation. If granted full accreditation in June, the school will have to be reviewed for accreditation only every ten years instead of every three years as in the past.

The chemistry department is currently seeking membership in the American Chemical Society, the approval body for chemical education. Representatives from the Society will visit YSU May 15 to determine if the department is eligible for membership.

On February 19 and 20, the engineering school will be reviewed by the Engineering Council for Professional Development. The mechanical, civil, and electrical departments are seeking renewal of their accreditations, while metallurgical and chemical departments hope to gain accreditation for the first time.

To remain accredited the Dana School of Music must review itself two years and pass The National Association of Schools of Music appraisal every four years. Two representatives of the Association are due at YSU in April to study Dana again.

Valparaiso U. Band Concert To Be Held

Valparaiso University will present its annual concert band program at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Glenwood Middle School, 7635 Glenwood Ave. The program will represent a blending of standard concert selections, light numbers, marches, and solos.

Tickets can be bought at Dana School of Music. Student rates are $1 and adults $1.75

PHEAA Recipients To Be Reimbursed Shortly

Residents of Pennsylvania who have been attending this University on scholarship grants from that state will finally receive part of that money within the next few weeks, it was learned today.

The delay, which has caused some four hundred sixty-one students to seek emergency funds from the University and other lending agencies, was due to a three month budgeting tie-up in the Pennsylvania legislature.

According to Mr. William Collins, assistant director of financial aids, the University has now received approximately $160,570 from the state of Pennsylvania which is about half of the allocated scholarship funds.

Checks totalling one-half of their designated grant will be mailed to the recipients' home within the next few weeks, Mr. Collins said, provided the student has attended both the Fall and Winter Quarters.

When the balance of the money is received it will be retained by the University as partial payment for Spring Quarter tuition.

Need Workers For Child Aid

The Youngstown Home School Visitation Program, a federally assisted agency to aid educationally deprived children who reside in low income areas, is currently in need of student volunteers.

Mrs. JoAnne Creed, volunteer coordinator, stated there are approximately 100 children in area inner city schools who need immediate assistance with scholastic problems resulting from conflicts between home and school situations.

The program is flexible to individual availability, and the volunteer could be used in various capacities. University students, beside aiding in various tutoring programs, could be of great help to a child in a big brother or sister capacity. There are many children who simply need a friend to lean on and give them attention, Mrs. Creed stated.

The program is in special need of young men, especially blacks, to help with recreational programs, but anyone interested would be greatly welcomed. Those desiring more information may contact Mrs. Creed at the Home School Visitation Offices at the Butler School.

Excavation continues on the $5 million Beeghly Physical Education Center. Though frozen ground has hampered the digging, expected warming trends should offer encouragement.

Change Power Clause For Budget

Impending budget preparation brings to light a flaw in the power structure of Student Government which mitigates against its money spending effectiveness. University finance policy requires that each budgeted item must be backed by a working proposal to spend the money. Topically related "lump sum" allocations as found in local, state, and federal budgets are strictly prohibited. The restrictiveness of this policy is compounded by the awkwardness of the budget's preparation.

Next year's budget will be prepared, reviewed, and acted upon by the present Student Council and Government officers. Since the budget will be completed before the 1970-71 president takes office, his administration can only execute the obligations of this predecessor since he will not have funds to implement the programs he ostensibly was elected to create.

If Student Government officers were elected earlier and were granted at the time of their election the power to design and submit the Student Government budget, then this inefficient entanglement could be relieved.

The new president's predecessor would continue in office until June and would maintain the powers of the president's office with budget preparation the only exception.

This simple but significant change would accomplish two goals. It would place in the proper hands the matter of money spending and would allow candidates for Student Government president the opportunity to campaign honestly for new programs which require financial backing.

Short And Long Run Library Expansion Plans Announced

With expected growth for Youngstown State University, plans are being made to increase the size of the library including the conversion of the former Records Office in the basement to study areas and enlargement of bound periodicals. Also being planned is a $6 million addition to the present library building.

Dr. Jones, Head Librarian, stated yesterday the renovating of the library basement will add approximately one fourth more space to the present library facilities. It is also expected that the library will receive more physical space when the classrooms in Tod Hall are moved as space opens for classrooms.

"Although progress is slow, the removal of office facilities in the library basement has begun," stated Dr. Jones, adding that he hoped work in setting up the library equipment could be started soon.

Plans for the new library are now under study by a 12-member committee made up of four faculty members, two students, two faculty deans and four administrators, with the assistance of Dr. Robert A. Miller, University Library Consultant.

The Committee's purpose is to develop a written educational program which will provide the necessary information for requesting a release of architectural planning funds from the State Controlling Board, and will be used by the architect in preparing preliminary design plans for the proposed facilities.

The committee will identify the operational goals of the library, the basic functions to be housed there and the general and specialized spaces needed to accommodate the projected educational program for the University and a full-time-equivalent day enrollment of 17,000 students.

The committee's statement will also take into consideration the fact that the new library will be an addition onto the present structure, with the moving of classrooms in Tod Hall.

The University is planning to occupy the new library building in 1973, which means that a target date of July, 1970, will have to be met for the planning stages enabling the University to request a release of planning funds from the state.

Committee members include: students Margaret C. Barsodi and Lawrence M. Simko; faculty members Dr. Marvin W. Chrisp, Dr. Thomas N. Dobbelstein, Dr. Winston H. Eshleman, and Dr. Charles M. Lovas.

Other committee members are Professor Karl W. Dykema, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences; Dr. George H.G. Jones, Head Librarian; Nick J. Leonelli, Director of Planning; Raymond D. Orlando, Director of the Physical Plant; and Dr. William H. Coffield, Vice President for Academic Affairs.

Sub-Zero Weather Chills YSU Students

The recent cold spells have caused some discomfort to many YSU students through colds, the flu, and some cases of frostbite.

According to Mrs. Mary Murphy, R.N., one of three campus nurses, there have been no severe cases of frostbite. The biggest complaint among YSU students is the flu. She also stated that students are doing a good job of dressing for the unbearable cold.

She recommended "if you do not have the flu it is advisable to stay away from those who do; if you do have the "bug" plenty of rest, aspirins, and fluids are suggested." Although only a few cases of frostbite have been reported, they were not severe. "Remedies for frostbite include warm water, or warm soaks on the frostbitten area."

Mrs. Murphy was adamant in stating that ice and rubbing cause more pain in frostbite cases, and recommended that severe cases should be seen by a physician.

No University Standard—

Time Out Of Joint

By Spencer Lockson
Usually the best method of telling time is to consult your local clock. However, this does not hold for YSU students. In fact, the best way to tell time is to not look at a campus clock at all.

There is no "official" clock on campus. A comparison of clocks in major buildings shows a variance of as much as six minutes. In fact, two clocks in the same hallway in Ward Beecher announce two different times.

A maintenance spokesman said that all the campus clocks were set last week but cold weather and inconsistent temperature inside the buildings caused the time pieces to vary.

Clocks in Engineering Science are consistent with each other due to a central controlling clock, but they are all three minutes fast.

Jones Hall clocks are generally right except for the one on the third floor which is three minutes slow. Probably the most comical clock on campus is the one outside the library. This revolving clock, with two faces, consistently records two inconsistent times.

Student-Faculty Seats Open

Applications for seats on Student-Faculty Committees are available in the Student Council offices in the Kilcawley Student Center. According to Pete Isgro, Student Government president, seats are open as a result of student resignations.

Students are at a loss for time because even if they have an accurate watch instructors often adjust their watches with University clocks.

YSU Wins Twice; Win Streak at 15

The Youngstown State University Penguins, ranked 4th nationally in the AP small college ratings, coasted to their fifteenth straight victory by defeating the San Francisco State University Gators 89-50 last night before 2500 fans at Austintown Field House.

Ron Smith canned 12 of 16 shots from the field to lead the YSU Penguins with 24 points. Will Teague poured in 22 points and Bill Johnson and Chuck Montgomery added 15 and 12 respectively to the diversified scoring attack.

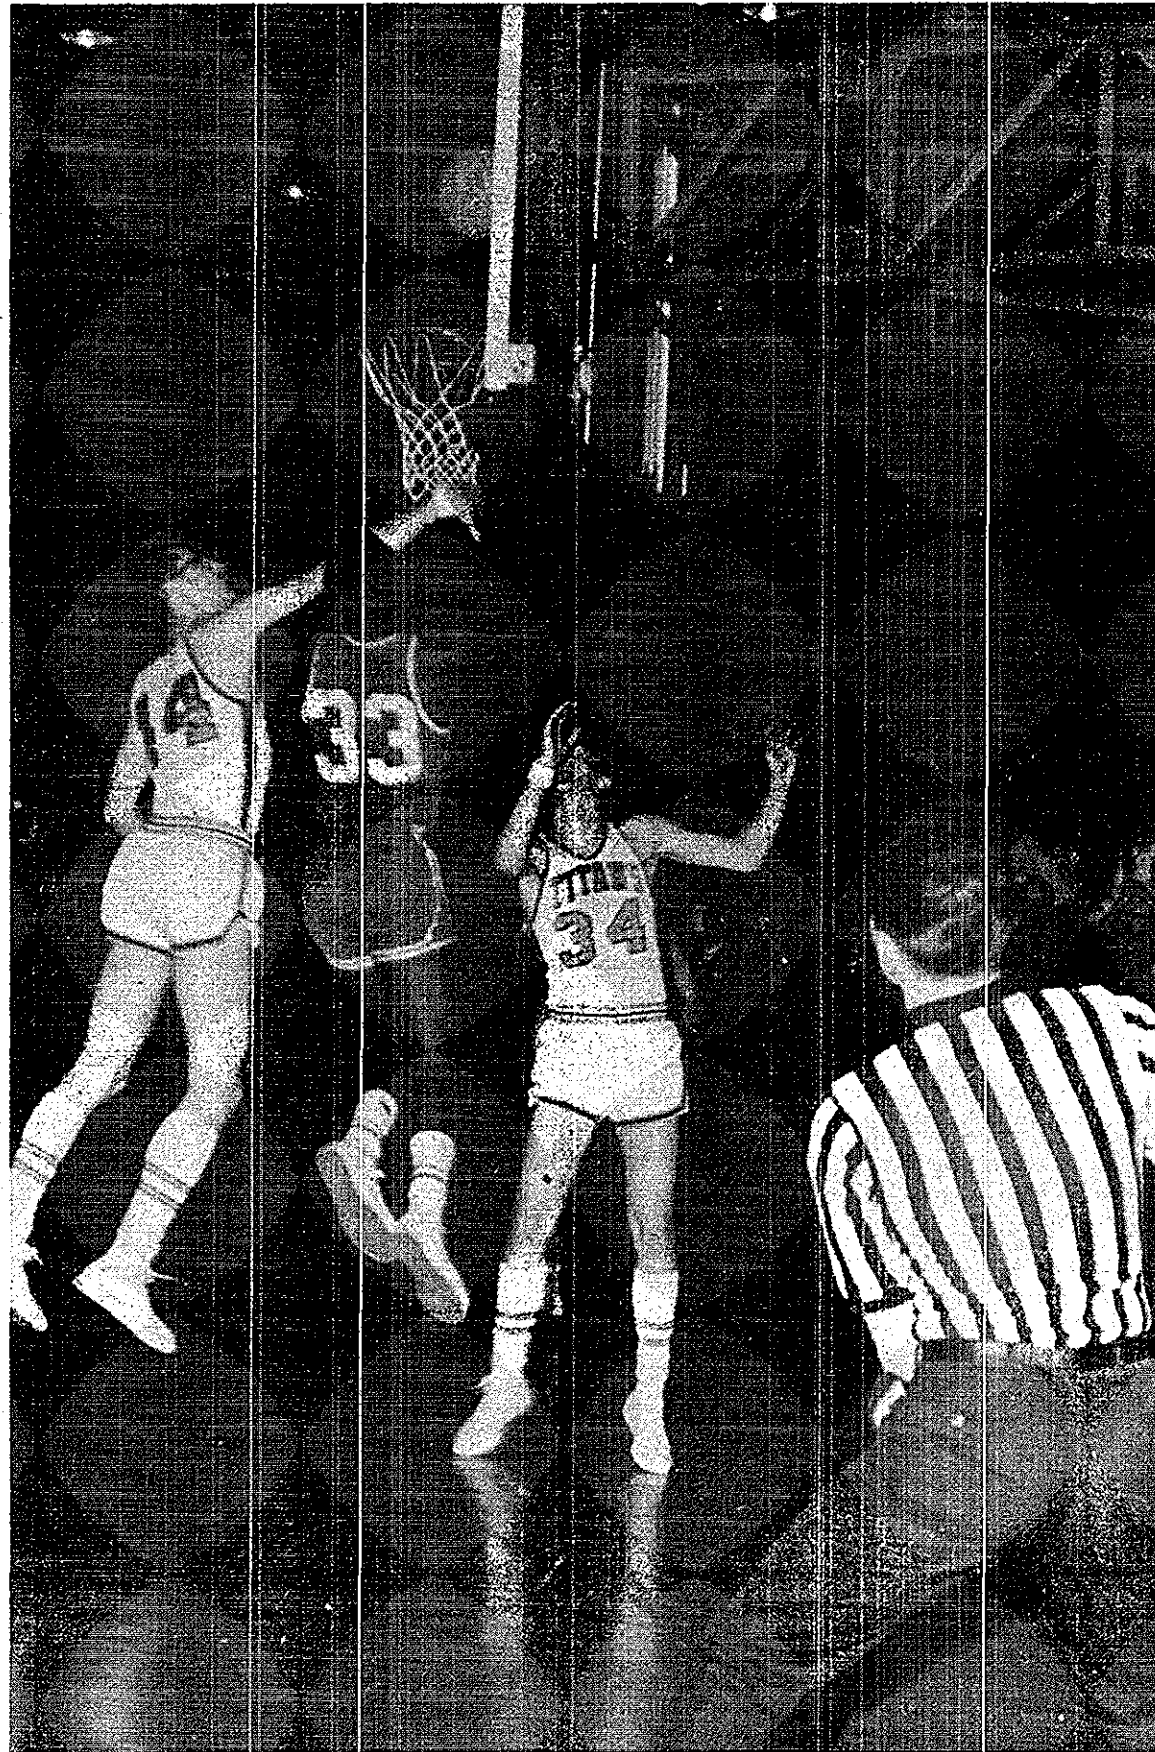

Down Westminster Saturday

On Saturday evening the Penguins came nearer to the existing consecutive win record with an impressive 86-65 win over rival Westminster College. 2,500 fans, mostly YSU followers, packed the Westminster Gym to watch the Penguins completely overwhelm the Titans for the second time this season.

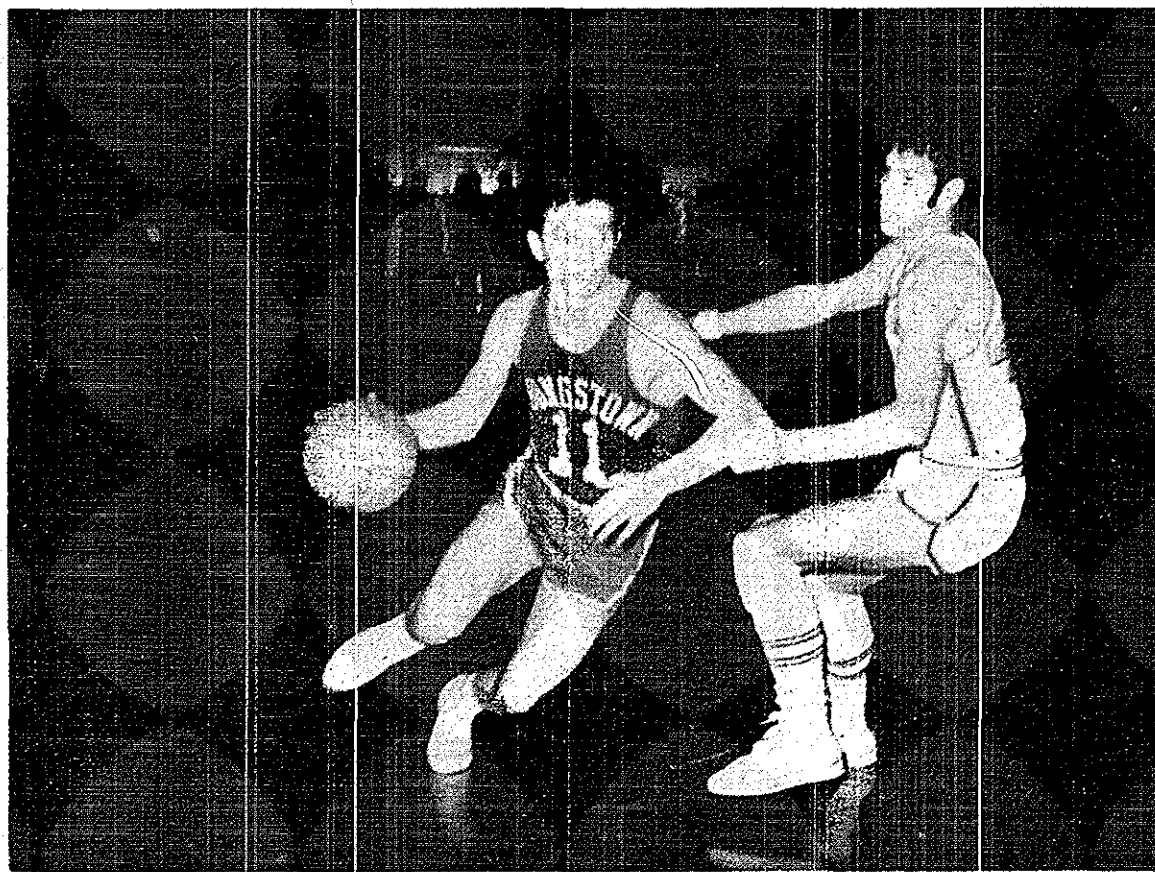

Billy Johnson once again led the Penguin scorers with 22 points. Ron Smith added 18 points and Chuck Montgomery and Bob Patton tallied 14 points apiece, in the Westminster win.

Can Tie Record Tomorrow

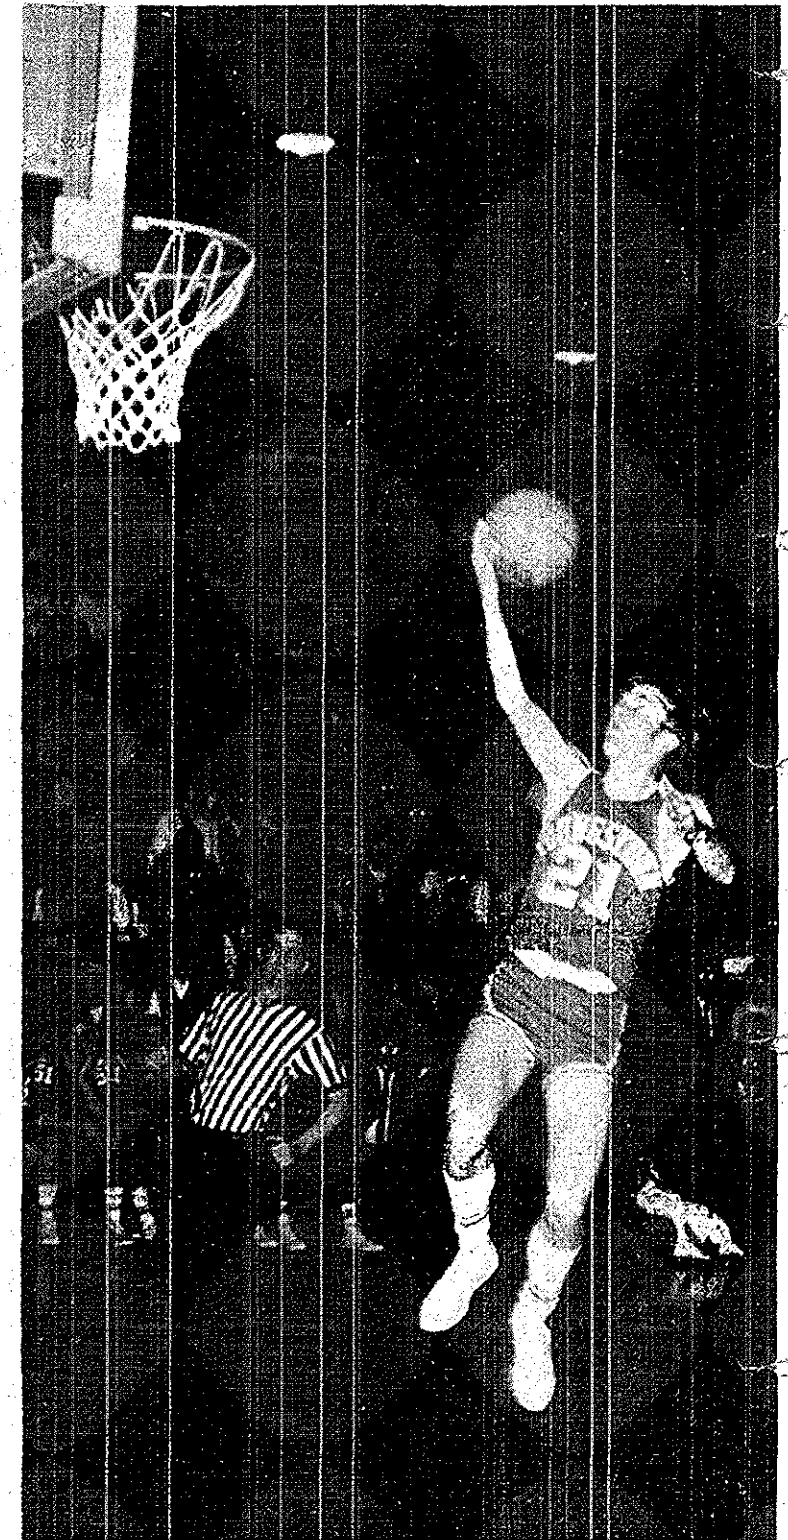

Tomorrow night the cagers will bid for their 16th consecutive victory of the season when they host Geneva College of Beaver Falls, Pa., at the Austintown High Field House. A win tomorrow night would tie the school record of 16 straight wins set by the 1963-64 team.

Forward Ron Smith extends beyond center Ted Schumacher for two points. Smith collected 18 points and 12 rebounds in the 86-65 win.

Sophomore guard Chuck Montgomery drives around Westminster defense for two of his fourteen points.

Penguin high scorer Bill Johnson goes up for an uncontested two-pointer. Johnson, who found first-half going rough, tallied 18 points in the second half and finished with 22 to lead YSU to its fourteenth straight win.
