Jones, Ward Beecher, Kilcawley— Decorations Go Up

A festive holiday spirit is beginning to be felt by YSU students as holiday decorations are beginning to appear in many offices and on some of the campus buildings.

Although the past week's weather conditions kept the YSU Maintenance crew busy shoveling snow, time was found yesterday to erect the "Noel" decoration on the south side of Ward Beecher Science Building. Similar holiday greetings will be seen on Jones Hall sometime next week.

Tomorrow the brothers of Circle K service organization plan to decorate the south side of Kilcawley Dormitory with an 80 foot man-made Christmas tree, an annual Circle K project.

The tree, a project which began several weeks ago and already entails approximately 500 man-hours, will be decorated with 110 large colorful lights, 100 four-foot red bows, and a ten foot in diameter lighted star at the top.

The Peskin Neon Sign Co., Inc., Youngstown, will assist in erecting the tree and the greens to be used were donated by the Eastern Ohio Conservation Club.

Jones Says Some Faculty Abuse Library Privileges

Deans Differ On Quarter Book Rule

Contrasting opinions on the right of faculty members to keep out books longer than the allotted time they are due, were obtained from the deans of the various schools of the University yesterday.

The survey was prompted by Margaret Barsodi's resolution to Student Council Monday that would eventually limit faculty members to the same library privileges as students have now.

Karl W. Dykema, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, expressed the viewpoint that the library privilege was extremely necessary for faculty members in the terms of research. Dean Dykema stated that those books used for faculty reference often have little use for students and remain crucial to the needs of the faculty.

"The function of the library," Dykema said, "is to supply books for students and faculty as well. Although there is an overlap, a substantial number are books faculty members can't afford to buy and must be used extensively." Robert L. Miller, dean of the School of Business, reflected a somewhat different view of faculty library privileges. Dean Miller maintained the function of the library was to serve both students and faculty on an equal basis. Miller stated if there is only one available library copy of a book, faculty should not have the right to monopolize the book, regardless of its nature.

Dean Miller explained, however, that business faculty members rarely use the library because most books are out of date. Periodicals are used much more extensively for research purposes. Dr. Michael Jean Charignon, dean of the School of Engineering, said faculty members have a legitimate right to hold out books if they are strictly for research purposes. Dean Charignon stated a ten-week quarter is sufficient time to obtain research from a book however. Dean Charignon also stated that it is the library's responsibility to enforce the "quarter rule" so that books can be made available to students on a projected day.

The library "quarter rule," a policy that allows faculty members to keep books for a quarter without renewing them, is a procedure that "some faculty members abuse," Dr. George H. Jones, University librarian, revealed yesterday.

Dr. Jones stated that although some faculty members do keep library books longer than the one quarter limit, the majority of faculty members cooperate with the library privilege and return the books when they finish them. The time that books are held out varies with the individual faculty member's purpose for checking out the book, Dr. Jones said.

Dr. Jones explained that faculty "quarter rule" policy was established because of faculty needs to keep out books that were necessary for research purposes. Faculty members are notified when students are in need of a book that they have out.

In order for students to keep books longer than the allotted time, they must return the book on the date due and leave it with the library for three days. They are then able to take out the book again. Dr. Jones stated that some students have used this technique to keep books out for up to three quarters.

Dan Crishon

A member of student affairs, Crishon said the committee should consider part of his proposal today and if approved by the committee the proposal will receive final consideration by administration officials.

"Unenforceable"—

Crishon Wants Social Regulations Dropped

Dan Crishon, discipline chairman, told the University's Calendar Committee Wednesday that ten of the thirteen social regulations should be eliminated as they are "ridiculous and unenforceable."

The matter will come before the Student Affairs Committee, however, Crishon said because a discussion with Dr. Darrell Rishel, dean of student affairs, and Dr. Edith Painter, dean of women, indicated that the calendar committee had no power to change the regulations. Crishon said regulations requiring chaperones at all social functions, a 1 a.m. ending time for weekend functions, and one year advance planning for functions are "unenforceable, ridiculous, and suggest that students here need babysitters."

Pertaining mostly to social fraternities and sororities, Crishon criticized policies preventing women from being entertained in fraternity houses, and suggested that a ban on social events immediately prior to finals be removed.

International

BRUSSELS — Expressing pessimism about the Paris peace talks, Secretary of State William P. Rogers advised foreign ministers of the other 14 North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations Thursday not to be lured into a premature European security conference by the Soviet led Communist bloc.

Rogers, speaking at the yearend session of the alliance's Council of Ministers, said North Vietnam has rebuffed all American peace overtures for Vietnam.

SAIGON — American casualties in the war have passed 300,000 although the U.S. Command reported Thursday that battle deaths last week were among the smallest weekly totals of the entire conflict.

The U.S. Command said 70 Americans were killed and 1,049 were wounded in the week that ended Saturday, raising total casualties for the war to 300,829. The 70 dead were the lowest in two months and compared with 130 the week before, the highest in nine weeks.

National

WASHINGTON — The threat of a nationwide rail shutdown was erased Thursday when agreement was reached on a wage increase for 48,000 shopcraft workers after 20 hours of nonstop bargaining.

The agreement still must be ratified by members of the four unions involved, but Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz said "We will not be having any strike on the railroads." William W. Wippsinger, the chief union negotiator, agreed.

WASHINGTON — President Nixon sought Thursday to light a fire under Congress by threatening to call a special session on Dec. 26 to complete this year's appropriations bills.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana took a similar stand.

The President's threat was carried back to Capitol Hill by the Republican leaders, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, after their weekly meeting at the white house.

WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration has found it more difficult than expected to fill the shoes of Gen. Lewis B. Hershey as director of the Selective Service System.

Last Oct. 10 the White House announced that Hershey would be replaced next Feb. 16. The delay was to give his successor a chance for on-the-job training as Hershey's deputy while awaiting the transition.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said then the successor would be named "in the near future."

Almost two months later, the estimate had mellowed to: "as soon as possible."

WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration Thursday lifted a seven-month freeze on a controversial urban renewal program affecting over 300 cities. It announced planned expenditures of between $330 million and $340 million for accelerated rehabilitation this fiscal year.

In addition to the dollar ceiling, the Department of Housing and Urban Development limited participating cities to 80 of approximately 315 applicants.

State

ST. MARYS, Ohio — The possibility of as many as four toll bridges across the Ohio River between West Virginia and Ohio was raised Thursday by West Virginia Gov. Arch Moore.

Moore said a feasibility study may force West Virginia to replace the now closed St. Marys Bridge with a toll bridge.

The St. Marys Bridge was closed in December, 1968 after the collapse of the Silver Bridge. The St. Marys Bridge was built with the same design and at approximately the same time. The West Virginia State Road Commission inspected the bridge before ordering that it be closed.

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A legislative committee today proposed the purchase of three parcels of land on East Broad Street just north of the statehouse for construction of a new state office building.

The Ohio Legislative Office Building Committee asked that the Ohio Building Authority proceed with purchase of property at 30, 40, and 50 East Broad St., from United Redevelopment Corp.

Lottery Leaves Loophole—

Timing Key To Dodger

Timing and awareness can be the keys to legal draft dodging for artful students whose numbers fall in the middle third of the draft lottery's order of call.

President Nixon's draft lottery system has left open a perfectly legitimate way to duck the draft entirely, a White House aide confirmed prior to the drawing. Peter Flanigan, Nixon's expert on the draft, confirmed in an Associated Press report that a draft registrant could choose the year he wants to be most exposed to the draft by deliberately dropping out of school.

The developing situation creates a loophole that could conceivably let thousands of college deferred students skip the draft. The loophole, however necessitates a knowledge of the monthly draft calls, a keen sense for timing and a lot of luck.

The student could give himself a choice of four years to determine when the draft call will be at its lowest point, by starting college at 19 when his draft liability begins. If he is currently in school his choices are reduced but his chances remain good.

If, during one of his school years, it appears from the lottery

Researchers To Sponsor Lecture Sat.

The Association for Research and Enlightenment will sponsor a "Round the World" slide lecture at 8 p.m. tomorrow, at the Farmer's Savings and Loan Bldg. in Canfield.

Wallace and Joyce Forbes will be narrating the slides which they took last spring along with some interviews they conducted with outstanding psychics and spiritual leaders of the world.

There will be a donation of $1. For further information call Mrs. Frankhauser 533-4913.

Organizations Must File Reports Fri.

Campus organizations who have not completed and filed Report of Officers and Annual Report forms must do so by Monday, December 8, or face the possibility of suspension.

Forms for those who have not already received them are available in the Student Council Office.

Film Cancelled

The department of foreign languages and literature's film, scheduled for 7 p.m. tonight has been cancelled due to the unavailability of the film.

that his draft number won't be called (he can check by calling his local board for the monthly call), he can simply drop out of school or fail his courses, join the 1-A pool and wait out the one year he has to wait out. When the year runs out, so does his biggest chance of being drafted. He has beaten the draft unless the monthly draft call is increased excessively.

Timing is the key. Once a student knows his number won't come up, he could simply wait until late in the school year, drop out of school, be reclassified 1-A, watch his unlucky buddies with low numbers be drafted, and wait out the year content that his draft notice won't come in during the only year he has to worry about the lottery.

Wants Explanation

To the editor of the Jambar:

Recently I read an article in the Jambar about a student being expelled for falsifying a physician's excuse.

The student missed two weeks of class because of his working schedule. When he was confronted by the instructor as to why he missed class he became scared and said that he was sick. He was told, I understand, to verify his illness or receive an F in the course. He presented a falsified excuse. The student appeared before the Faculty - Student Discipline Committee in November, Fall quarter 1969, and was expelled for four quarters and received no credit for the class in which this incident occurred.

I have before me a copy of the Faculty Handbook for Youngstown State University, 1969-70. On page 52 the topic is Attendance of classes. "It is expected that students will attend each class meeting. However, a student is not required to present a physician's or nurse's excuse following an absence nor a readmission slip from the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women."

Will someone please explain to me why and how this student was punished so severely? I would prefer that the answer be published in the Jambar unless it is something that should not be brought to the attention of the Student Body.

Drop Social Rules

Another "old guard" system may fall as a result of Dan Chrishon's proposal to eliminate ten of the thirteen University social regulations. The sensibility of rules created by Dean Painter, faculty committees, and the administration has been challenged and may result in the elimination of repressive policies considered "sacred" for too long a time.

Perhaps the Calendar Committee has run too smooth. Fraternities and sororities rarely question Dean Painter on social regulations. Dean Painter responds by rarely investigating the enforcement of these regulations. The result is an unsteady agreement; the Greeks don't tell, and Dean Painter doesn't yell.

The situation is an interesting one. Chrishon's recommendation represents the first formal attempt to drop the rules. Organizations would be reluctant to admit to their own violations in an effort to abolish the regulations.

Chrishon, however, is in an awkward position. First, he is a committee chairman whose responsibility is to see that the social regulations are enforced. Second, he is a Greek who knows that the numerous violations are never enforced.

His solution is simple, and sensible; do away with the social regulations altogether.

The fact that social violations do exist is common knowledge. Many functions are not registered, a majority of them don't have proper chaperoning, few are over at one a.m., and in most, "illegal" alcoholic beverages flow prolifically. Add to this the fact that women can be found at fraternity houses at any time and you have a list of violations that could put most campus organizations on social probation.

The University's response to these violations should not be further restriction or social probation. Dean Painter, the Calendar Committee, and the administration must realize that the University is not the babysitter for 15,000 students. Their outdated social regulations have repressed maturity, not expanded it, and should be changed.

Faces And Thoughts

In order to sample local feelings towards the Monday draft lottery drawing, male students on this campus were asked Wednesday if the drawing had affected their academic status.

Compiled by Miss Sally Novicky

Jeff Caplan, Arts-2, No. 5: "No, I had planned to teach and be deferred from the beginning. It was just my luck I was one of the first."	Dave Fabilli, Arts-1, No. 78: "Now I have to take twelve hours and remain full-time thus cutting down on my work time."	Tim George, Engineering-2, No. 34: "no, I still have three years deferrment. Lottery system is not perfect but is better than what was there before."	Joe Brigante, Education-2, No. 137: "Yes, must keep my accum up to keep my deferrment. I like the lottery because everyone has a fair chance."	Ron D'Apolito, Police Science-1, No. 330: "Yes, I'm going to ask to be reclassified 1A, go to Miami Beach after finals, and enroll only part-time."
Gerald Burks, Business-4, No. 366: "No, I planned on going on to graduate school no matter what the outcome was."	Jim Lade, Arts-2, No. 65: "No, my academic plans have not been altered in any way. At least I know my status."	Don Allen, Engineering-4, No. 72: "Yes, I was planning on going to graduate school (no deferrment) and now it depends upon what deferrment I get."	John Nicastro, Arts-3, No. 115: "Yes, my academic plans were up in the air before the drawing and are more so now."	Allan Hlebovy, Arts-1, No. 118: "No, I had planned to enter teaching and thus be deferred."

LaRue Backs Jambar

To the editor of the Jambar:

After reading the letters submitted by Chuck Hettler, Michael Bongiorno, et al., and Peter J. Isgro, I can only conclude that the members of student government (or what passes for it on this campus) have failed to do their homework before going to Council meetings and, that they have conned some of the students who follow the action (or is it inaction?) of Student Government that they are doing something. Members of Council cannot legitimately complain that the Jambar has not covered their proceedings adequately. It has done an excellent job; indeed, this year's Jambar is the best that I have read in my time at YSU, and I am now in my sixth year here.

If the Jambar has not written extensively on the proceedings of Student Government, it is because Student Government is following the same policy that it always has, i.e., concerning itself with such trivialities as whether or not the notebooks of Council should be red or black (and spending 15 minutes on this issue of grave concern to the student body) as it has in the past — or it recognizes that it has no business to tend to at all and adjourns after 40 minutes, as it has done at least once this year.

I attended the first meeting of this year's Student Council. I could not help but be impressed by the officers of SG who said they were determined to make SG responsive to the needs of the student body. The speeches were excellent — well thought out and well delivered. So far, I have not discovered that SG has improved in any respect since my time on Council except that there are now better speakers. They are long on rhetoric and short, very short on action. They are re-attempting to govern by publicity, but the Jambar has realized what they are attempting to do, and apparently will have nothing to do with it.

The Jambar recognizes that one of its roles is to report and interpret the goings-on of SG; it is not in existence to provide publicity for ambitious members of that Government. Its duty is to examine: to praise where praise is merited and to criticize where criticism is earned. It does not attempt to govern, although it does suggest improvements. Likewise, it is not the duty of members of SG to write a column of self praise about their actions or rhetoric in the Jambar. The press and the government are separate and distinct? when the government covers itself, it rarely fails to omit that which is unfavorable to the author and almost always includes that which is favorable.

Already the Jambar, although not this year, has provided a column to former members of SG who were ambitious for higher office. These people were successful in their ambitions, and SG did not function to anywhere near the level that it should have as a result of their election.

I would suggest that those who have criticized the Jambar to re-examine their position and to ask themselves what SG has done except bicker among themselves on parliamentary difficulties and deliver decent speeches on what SG should be and do. It certainly would not hurt Mr. Hettler, Mr. Isgro, Mr. Bongiorno et al. to read James Reston's The Artillery of the Press.

Students and faculty who are seriously concerned are urged to attend.

The Newman Club is also sponsoring its third fund raising drive for the Christian Appalachian Project.

This year, they will be selling Christmas wreaths made by Parking attendant, Horace Shotts not only sees life through a window in a small, white booth on the corner of Spring and Bryson Streets - he comments on it.

A modern philosopher, Mr. Shotts has written a novel, song lyrics, poetry, and aphorisms since his early youth.

Transposing Shakespeare's Julius Caesar funeral oration into a parody of the coming prohibition brought his first high school recognition in 1923. Since then, he has written a novel, Two Grains of Sand, published song lyrics with the George Liberace Publishing Company, and is writing collections of aphorisms.

A salesman for the Wonderbread Company for twenty-four years, he named their Detroit news gazette "Between the Slices."

"You have to be in the mood to write" he says, "like sitting in the kitchen drinking beer." Mr. Shotts says the majority of his works were written during his job on small sheets of paper.

His second year as "car arranger", Mr. Shotts has no real ambition to publish his works. Mr. Shotts chuckles that "they will probably remain in my car" which sits in the YSU corner parking lot.

Here are a few of Mr. Shotts sayings: "On miniskirts: 'I'm finally finding out where legs come from.'" "There are bird watchers; There are weight watchers; then, there are leg watchers." "Do not think you are the whole ocean because you have a wave in your hair." "We once poured from the bottle; now we drink from the bottle." "Once you have said it, someone will remember. Once you have written it, this could be history." "A pencil is only as sharp as the person that uses it." "Locks were made to close the doors, Now we should use two by fours." "You may bury the hatchet, but hang on to that handle." "You close the windows And draw the shades, But you cannot keep out the commercials." # Vikings Miss Boat In Tilt

by Terry Lawrence, Sports Editor

Coach Dom Rosselli's YSU Penguins opened their 1969-70 cage season successfully when they trounced Cleveland State University 67-48 at Austintown Fitch High School Field House Wednesday night.

Before a full-house crowd, the Penguins were quick to take the lead in the first quarter as sophomore guard Bill Johnson and senior center Will Teague sparked the action. Johnson tallied five field goals and one free throw for 11 points in the first half while Teague burned the nets with five baskets and five charity tosses for 15 markers. Greg Merrill led the Penguins in the second stanza with five fielders for 10 tallies as YSU took a 42-25 halftime edge.

LaMoyné, Porter and Eddie Trice came back strong for the Vikings in the third period and the CSU defense sparkled as Youngstown was able to score only a scant two points. But in the final quarter the Penguins' will to win became apparent. Teague scored eight markers with four netters during this time period while Johnson tossed in two baskets and two foul shots for six points. Chris Ellis rammed in two field goals in support as YSU turned on the power to gain a 67-48 victory over CSU.

Teague took medalist honors with 22 tallies as Johnson scored 17 points. Trice gained 13 markers to lead the Vikings.

After the game, Rosselli stated that Ellis was especially impressive on the boards and Johnson played a fine steady game.

Tomorrow night the YSU Penguins take on St. Vincent at Austintown's Field House. The tipoff is at 8 p.m.

The Bearcats dropped their opening contest to Duquesne 123-55 on the Pittsburgh court. The Penguins, still searching for a starting five, will have their hands full against the balanced height of St. Vincy: Tim O'Shea, 6'5", Jim Demussio, 5'7", Tony Yerep, 6'5", Den Berrier, 6'2", and sophomore letterman, Bob Bikasa, 6'6".

Delsignore Named To LAA Squad

Dave Delsignore, split end for Youngstown State University, was named yesterday to the Associated Press' third team Little All-American squad.

Delsignore, a senior from Youngstown's Chaney High School, broke virtually all existing YSU marks for receivers in his three year career.

Named to the first team were pro prospects Terry Bradshaw, quarterback from Louisiana Tech, Richard McGeorge, tight end from Elon, Douge Wilkerson, offensive tackle from South Carolina Central, and Joe "Turkey" Jones, defensive end from Tennessee State.

Quiz Winner

By virtue of a drawing Bill Downie, a freshman from Poland, was declared winner of last week's Jambar Sports Quiz. Bill will be presented the 1970 Playboy wall calendar.

Computer Predicted Within 3

In the May 9, 1969 Jambar the TL "computer," 7-2 last season, predicted the 1969-70 cage slate in advance with YSU a 23 game winner. The 67-48 decision over Cleveland State was close to the "computer's" prediction of a 16-point favorite and 75-59 score.

Tommorrow's tilt against the invading St. Vincent Bearcats foresees the Penguins enjoying their second taste of victory with a 23-point choice and cushioned score of 92-69.

Sig Tau's Lead All-Star Picks

Sigma Tau Gamma had seven brothers named to the All-Star IFC teams to lead the fraternity clan of all stars. Sig Tau prexy, Cy Shaheen, captured first team center slot, while former Canton McKinley Bulldog teammate, Frank Bors, the 255-pound human wall, grabbed a blocking back berth. One of IFC's few three-sport standouts, Rich "Nato" Didonato, was picked top flanker for the 1969 season.

Twelve time champions, Theta Xi, placed six members of their championship squad on the all-star list, including the dynamic duo of Tim Williams and Bill Murphy. Semi-final round finishers, Alpha Phi Delta, managed to plant six on the All-IFC selections.

The Jambar Sports Page added to the All-IFC all star listing with two honorable mentions choices: Jim Donlin and Craig Wolf. "Dusty" Donlin, former All-City candidate from Ursuline High, menaced Sig Tau foes from his middle linebacker slot during the 1969 campaign. In the championship tilt, Donlin erased eleven Williams passes in the secondary. Craig "Gomer" Wolfe, former Columbus area superstar, was voted the the Jambar as the "most underrated player of 1969" from his offensive tight end position for the Theta Xi champs. Wolfe posed as a decoy and blocking end on Theta Xi end sweeps and proved extremely valuable in the Xi's successful capture of the IFC gridiron crown this year.

The following are the IFC All-Star Football selections for 1969:

Senate Approves Student Seats

Six students will have non-voting status on the University Senate as a result of action taken by the Senate last Friday. The delegates will be chosen by the President of Student Government in consultation with the chairman of Student Council.

The approval of the resolution came following a recommendation by the Constitutional and By-laws Committee of the Senate that students be allowed representation on the now faculty-administration body.

The passing of the resolution will allow six delegates from the student body to attend the University Senate meetings as non-voting participants with the privilege to speak from the floor, and receive minutes of Senate meeting.

The resolution was passed with the understanding that student membership and voting representation in the Senate structure will be reviewed by the Constitution and By-laws Committee.

The final vote was 54 in favor of the motion, and 29 against.

Dr. William H. Coffield, vice president for academic affairs, expressed his opinion that the Senate's approval of motion was step that greatly improved the administration-student relationship.

Dr. Coffield stated the opposition to the proposal was primarily at the method students would be selected to the Senate, not whether or whether or whether not students should be granted membership.

Many Senate members expressed the desire to draw student representatives from each school at the University. The present resolution does not require equal representation among the schools, and is determined by Student Government appointments.

A second resolution submitted by the Constitution and By-laws Committee was passed following a request by the Senate Executive Committee that a complete study of the membership structure of the Senate be made. The resolution, prompted by inquiries from the Student Affairs Committee on student participation on university committees concluded that students should be non-voting participants of the Senate until the whole problem of the the structure of the Senate has been explored.

Six To Be Filled—

Appointments Made Soon

Appointments to the six student seats on the University Senate will be made at the beginning of next quarter, Pete Isgro Student Government president announced yesterday.

The statement came following a University Senate resolution last Friday that created six non-voting student seats. The resolution provided that the seats be filled by appointment of the Student Government president (Isgro) in consultation with the chairman of Student Council (Greg Bednarcik).

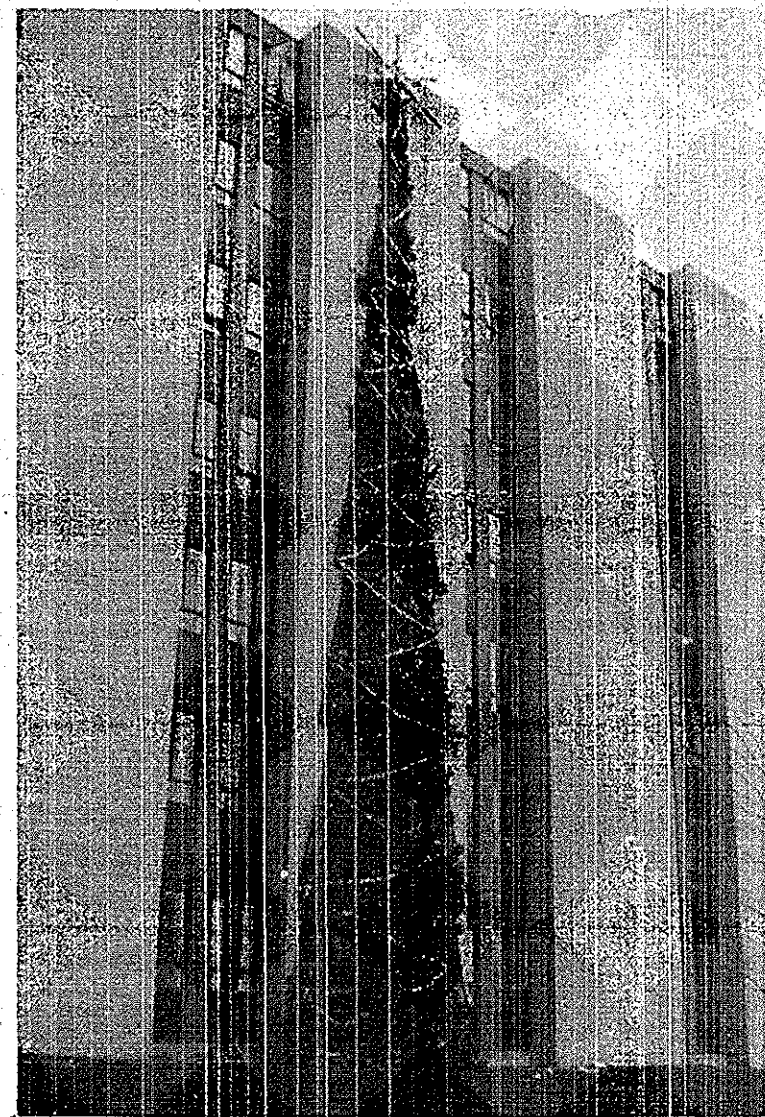

Isgro stated that it would be unnecessary to make the student appointments now since there are only a few days left in the current quarter and finals are approaching.

He also stated that the additional break between now and next quarter would give interested and informed students the opportunity to make application to him. Isgro urged all interested students to make application.

Questioned for his evaluation of the Senate's decision to permit student members, Isgro stated that he was overjoyed at the Senate action.

"We finally have our foot in the door after a year of work," Isgro stated, "this is the first step to better student representation."

Circle K's 80' man-made Christmas tree on Kilcawley's south side dominates campus holiday decor.

"Connection in our time" will be the theme today when Nat Hentoff speaks at 2 p.m. in Strouss Auditorium. Hentoff, a social critic and novelist, is the third speaker in the University Artist Lecture Series.

Hentoff's remarks deal with his personal experiences with noted people and forces of contemporary society. A controversial social analyst, Hentoff was praised by Newsweek Magazine as a "prolific and skillful writer." Known too, as an activist and music critic, Hentoff's articles appear frequently in such publications as

Nat Hentoff
Playboy, The New Yorker, and The New York Times.
Hentoff's latest non-fiction work to be published was A Political Life: The Education of John V. Lindsay. He spent nine years in research of the book.

Isgro Proposes Increase In Special Concert Price

A ticket price increase from $1.00 to $2.50 for a major events special concert was recommended by the Student Government yesterday and the University Budget Committee is expected to review the proposal shortly.

Cabinet Meets On Policy

The proposal results from a Cabinet meeting called yesterday by Student Government President Pete Isgro which was attended by Miss Penny Laasko, student government vice-president; Miss Grace Listorti, major events secretary; Mike Foley, grievance secretary; Mike D'Onofrio, finance secretary; Mr. Tom Kuchinka, University budget officer; and Mrs. Christine Dykema, Council

Present University policy allows a $1.00 charge for special concerts and a $2.50 charge for a social weekend.

Isgro said that the $1.00 price is insufficient for a single concert if large amounts of Council money are not to be used. He said if Council has to allocate the majority of funds required for the concert, inadequate funds for Spring Weekend will result.

Concert Date Late February

Ray Yozwiak, major events talent coordinator, said last week he is investigating talent for the special concert now scheduled for late February.

On Civil Disorder—

Violence Commission Splits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national violence commission, unanimous until now, broke apart Monday over the use of massive civil disobedience to overturn laws the violators consider unjust.

The split centered on the kinds of disobedience—sit-ins and violation of southern segregation laws—that led to passage of the landmark civil rights legislation of the 1960's.

A bare seven-man majority held that individual test cases are sufficient to challenge the constitutionality of a law—that other dissenters should obey the law until the courts have ruled.

The six dissenters, including the panel's two Negro members, voiced varied arguments. But most echoed the assertion of U.S. District Judge A. Leon Higginbotham Jr. that if the majority's rule had been followed by black Americans in 1960's, "probably not one present major civil rights statute would have been enacted."

In eight previous reports since its inception in the summer of 1968, the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence had, under Chairman Milton S. Eisenhower, produced findings bearing the unanimous stamp of its 13 members.

The commission goes out of business this week and will issue its final, comprehensive report Saturday.

Ron Daniels To Speak At Gates

The Gates of Eden Coffee House will host a speech by Mr. Ron Daniels as part of the Gate's Wednesday evening program.

Daniels, a former faculty member at YSU, is currently active in the Black community. He will speak on "White Radicalism and Human Liberation."

The program starts at 9 p.m. A discussion period will follow. Admission is free and open to the public. All donations are welcome.

—Nixon Press Conference Bulletin—

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon declared last night that if the trends of 1969 continue, "the Vietnam War will come to a conclusion," even if the peace talks prove fruitless.

But the president also said there has been no significant change in the outlook since his Nov. 3 policy report to the nation.

At a nationally broadcast and televised White House news conference, Nixon also denounced the alleged U.S. massacre of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai, but said administration investigations to date indicate it was an isolated incident.

My Lai Case Prejudiced Calley Defense Claims

FT. BENNING, (AP) — Defense attorneys filed a motion Monday seeking dismissal of all charges against Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr., charged with the deaths of 109 Vietnamese civilians, on grounds that he could not get a fair trial on the My Lai mass murder charges because of prejudicial publicity.

In the motion presented to Lt. Col. Reid W. Kennedy, the military judge in the case, the defense also charged that Calley's rights and privileges have been impaired by the "overwhelming, uncontrolled and widespread articles, accounts, and pictures carried by the whole world press, television and radio."

The court did not rule on the defense motion. Additionally the Army has completed legal preliminaries and is expected to announce by midweek a decision on whether to court-martial a second soldier in the alleged My Lai massacre.

Pentagon officials, reporting this Monday, said any trial of Sgt. David Mitchell would probably be separate from the scheduled court-martial of Calley.

Mitchell, leader of a squad which operated under Calley when Americans raided the South Vietnamese village in March 1968, has been charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

Official sources say thirty deaths are involved in the accusation against Mitchell, 29, of St. Francisville, La.

Mitchell is now stationed at Ft. Hood, Tex., where the commanding general is about to receive recommendations arising from what the Army refers to as an Article 32 investigation, a sort of military grand jury proceeding to evaluate charges against a man.

On the basis of the investigation by Ft. Hood officers, the command will decide whether to proceed with a court-martial on the basis of the original charges, order a trial based on revised charges, or drop the case altogether.

Acquittal Rejected—

Riot Trial Continues

By F. Richard Ciccone
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A motion for acquittal in the trial of seven men charged with conspiring to incite rioting during the 1968 Democratic Convention was rejected Monday.

"The court, at this time, must consider more favorably the evidence presented by the government," said U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman. The entire morning session was spent arguing the defense motion.

William M. Kunstler, a defense lawyer, said the only point the government proved was that "the United States is out to destroy the First Amendment. In that, they have succeeded."

In rebuttal, Richard G. Schultz, an assistant U.S. district attorney, said: "We have proved statements by the defendants like 'Get him...Kill him,' were made in the middle of riots. These are not protected by the First Amendment."

Kunstler said the government failed to prove that the defendants conspired to come from other states to Chicago, that any defendant traveled to Chicago or that any defendant had criminal intent prior to coming to Chicago.

The defendants are David T. Dellinger, 54; Jerry C. Rubin, 31; Rennard C. "Rennie" Davis, 29; Abbot "Abbie" Hoffman, 31; Thomas C. Hayden, 30; John R. Froines, 31, and Lee Wiener, 31. If convicted, each could receive a maximum sentence of 10 years. The motion for acquittal came after the close of the prosecution's case which lasted 10 weeks.

They are charged under the federal anti-riot provisions of the 1968 Civil Rights Act with conspiring to cross state lines with the intent to incite rioting.

"Spirit Contest"

All organizations interested in participating in the "Spirit Contest" at the basketball game during Winter Weekend should leave their name in the Major Events box in the Student Council Office.

Revolution Is Illusion

Dean Painter in an address on "Sex Morality on Campuses" to the American Association of University Women Saturday afternoon said although it appears there is a great sexual revolution on American campuses it is only an illusion. Citing numerous studies on the subject she said over the past 60 years the change has been relatively small.

Freedom and economic independence, she stated and also anxiety, lack of knowledge in the area, wide-spread uncertainty, and the sexual bombardment in music, art, literature, etc. have led to a somewhat different attitude towards sex by students.

"Students," she continued, "in many respects are more conservative than the older generation." "And the liberty that they desire in these matters is not the liberty of the action but only the freedom to choose, the right to deviate if they should so desire."

By far she said, the major moral problem of students is not sex but "cheating." And "students as a whole contain an amazing amount of toleration, and consider sex as a serious matter of fact." "The campus is considered a prime area" she stated, because, "it is here that the parents send their children to learn to solve their problems for the last of education they received in the high school or home."

The studies used as supporting material by Dr. Painter indicate that students consider promiscuity in pertaining to the sexual act only and not to include lighter forms of sexual communication such as petting, kissing, etc. The studies also indicated that over 50% of college men have had up to 10 or 15 sexual experiences before

Say Library Privileges Abused

To the editor of the Jambar:

We, as employees of the YSU Library, feel that the students should be made aware that their library privileges are being abused. Students are allowed to borrow books for two weeks. They may then be renewed for an additional two weeks. After that, a fine of $.05 per day per book is charged. Books borrowed by faculty members are not due until the end of the quarter in which they were drawn. Many of them are then renewed for an additional quarter. And renewed again, and again, and again.

According to an article in the Jambar ("Quarter Rule Stands," Feb. 18, 1969; p. 2) Dr. George Jones, head librarian, stated: "... in the future they (faculty members) will be required to turn in all books at the end of the quarter. Failure to comply will result in suspension of library privileges."

This statement was made more than nine months ago. Three quarters have ended since then. To our knowledge, this policy was enforced only once: a professor had borrowed forty-five books, some of them in 1961 (eight years ago)!

We are now trying to have this policy enforced for all faculty members at the end of each quarter. You can help us by signing the petitions now being circulated. Also, when you cannot find the book you need on the shelves, ask for it at the loan desk. Chances are that a faculty member has it. If so, place a request card on it so that you may be notified IF it is returned.

Cites Judgment As "Absurd"

To the editor of the Jambar:

I would like to protest the childish and absurd methods of ruling the dorm. The floors are "Supposedly" supervised by 2 undergraduate students. Their title is Resident Assistant. It is their responsibility to maintain "Law and Order" on their respective floors. The problem seems to be that too much power lies in the hands of those who don't know how to use it! The punishment for failure to abide by the rules is a Campus. You are required to stay in your room from 7:30 p.m. to 7:30 a.m. You are only allowed to leave to go to class. A letter is sent to your parents telling them you were a "Bad Boy." I have just finished a three day stretch in Kilcawley Prison for not making my bed!!! I have various outside interests which call me from my room early in the morning; I stop to pick up my books and eat my meals but other than that I don't return till late in the evening. I suppose I could make my bed but I believe it is a matter of principle!

I would like to state that my room does not look like Youngstown City Dump but I do not feel that it is imperative that I should be forced to make my bed every day. (NOTE: the bed making rule is set by the dorm, but RA's use their own judgement in enforcing the rule.)

This is not important to all the students at YSU but it is to the guys in the dorm. The rules and especially the people who enforce them should be investigated. Kilcawley is quickly becoming an "Infantile Institution run by R.A.'s who are EGOMANIACS!!!!"

IMPROVEMENT

Student representation in determining University policy was greatly improved by the Senate's decision to seat six students as Senate members. Though the six will not vote now, it is important to note that a second resolution, calling for an examination of Senate structure, makes voting membership a possibility.

We hope that this examination takes a close look at student participation on student-faculty committees, the only area at present where student interact with faculty and administrators. As evidenced by their committee meeting attendance, often better than faculty, and by their level of participation, as reported in committee minutes, students have shown their desire and ability to work with faculty and administrators in the development of University policy.

In an October 21 editorial, we said if students are to join the Senate they should share equal voting status with faculty and administrators. We continue to support this viewpoint.

"Congradulations," Dr. Smith

To the editor of the Jambar:

Concerning your issue of November 21,

In all sincerity, dear sir,
 Its thanks that I relate.
 Previous, it seemed such a blur,
 Ah, now you've set me straight!

Congradulations, Dr. Smith,
 Most scholarly done, damn well!
 At last exposed, that foolish myth,
 I alone, could never tell.

So, Grades our scholars spoke about,
 That I knew, but what reason?
 Once I thought it was to cipher out
 Instructors ripe in season.

Congradulations, Dr. Smith
 Till Friday I was dreaming.

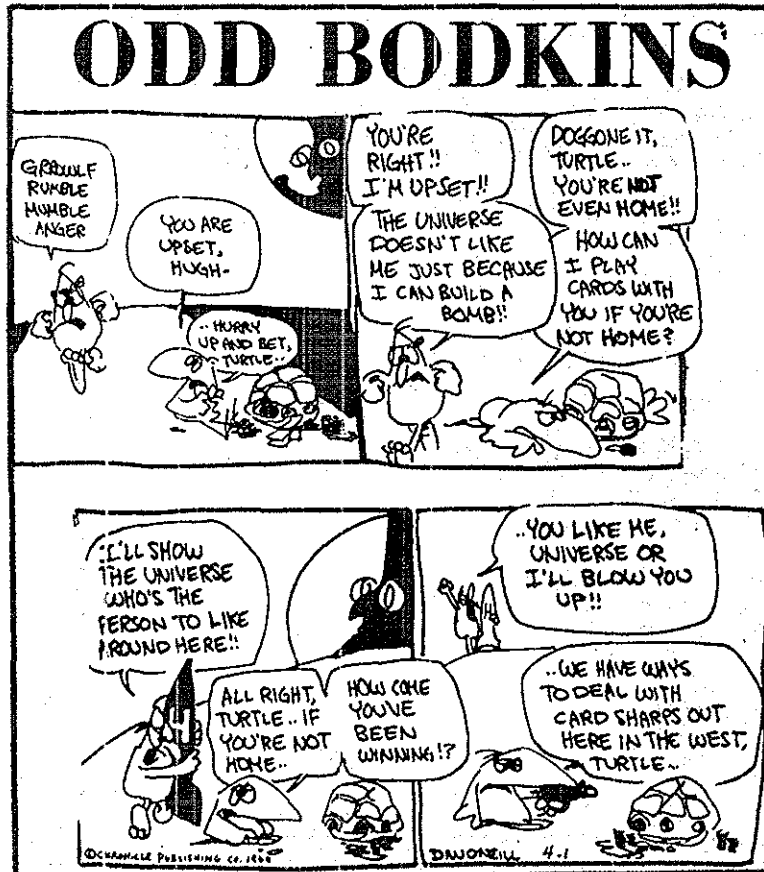

At last, revealed, 'tis not a myth?
 Its for Personal Growth they're screaming!

How they've prayed they were on that road,
 Aboard for True Life, Growth of Self.
 At least, no more need They be Told,
 Several will remember December twelfth!

The Significance of the Valuable Tool,
 Shall not be underrated!
 I personally, will fly to Farthingsfool
 To get mine copper plated.

The myth exposed, the dragon slain,
 What is our situation?
 They're here for Nothing - save GROWTH to gain
 In elementary education!

Contrasts With City—

Campus Crimes Minor

In the midst of a crime wave that has plagued the city of Youngstown, University security officials report negligible incidents on the University's six-block campus. Paul Cress, chief of security here made it clear that Youngstown's current crime wave apparently has not infiltrated the campus. Cress stated that crimes are rare and usually minor. Chief Cress attributed the low campus crime level to the small size of the physical campus. The security force is responsible for the protection of only the University's building and parking facilities.

On-campus crimes are primarily thefts. Cress stated that students at this time are subject to book and purse thefts and are undergoing a "strange experience" in this respect.

Burglaries are the second most common campus crime, Cress reported. A low number of illegal entries have been recorded and several more vulnerable buildings are under special protection. Losses have been minor in all instances.

Car thefts are the most predominant crime in the immediate off-campus area. Cress stated that cars in city-owned property directly adjacent to the university's campus on Elm and Spring Streets are most susceptible to car-stereo thefts. An estimated 50 to 100 stereo thefts are reported on surrounding off-campus lands each year compared to approximately 6 stereo thefts per year in University parking lots.

Questioned about the sale of narcotics on campus, Cress stated that there was no evidence of sale. He stated that there was no place on campus where pushers could peddle drugs without becoming obvious, and said most users obtained drugs from off-campus sources.

Own Music Out In Kilcawley

No music will be permitted in the Kilcawley Student Lounge as a result of action taken by the Student-Faculty Center Committee, Don Leone, Council representative announced yesterday at the Student Council meeting.

Leone, a member of Student Center Committee as well, made the announcement after the committee had voted 6-1 to forbid the playing of music in the lounge.

Controversy over the music broke out two weeks ago when interested students, including Council RAL Larry Simco, discovered that no formal rule applied forbidding the music as such even though a lounge rule preventing the music was enforced. Simko attempted to play a tape recorder when he was made aware of the lack of formal rules, and was quickly reprimanded. A meeting with the Dean of Student Affairs, Dr. Darrel Rishel, followed and it was determined that music would be allowed until the committee took an official position on the matter.

Council representative Leone then submitted to the Student Center Committee a petition with 200 signatures that supported lounge music. Only three student members of the student-faculty committee attended the meeting and a motion forbidding the playing of music was passed.

Penn-Ohio NECA— Start Scholarship

A new scholarship has been established at YSU by the Penn-Ohio Chapter of the National Electrical Contractors Association for the University's new two year electrical engineering technology program in the Technical and Community College.

The scholarship, which covers all tuition and fees and is valued at up to $1,650, will be awarded to a deserving high school graduate, or to a student already enrolled at the University, who is qualified and desires to enter into the program.

OCF To Meet

The Orthodox Christian Fellowship will hold a formal meeting at 3 p.m. Friday, December 12, at the Holy Trinity Romanian Orthodox Church.

To be eligible, students who apply for the scholarship must reside in Mahoning, Trumbull or Columbiana counties in Ohio, or Lawrence or Mercer counties in Pennsylvania. Following the processing of applications, the scholarship winner will be selected and can begin his studies with the winter quarter of 1970. William H. Axelson, president of the Penn-Ohio Chapter, noted that the student may have the opportunity for part time employment in the office of an electrical contractor of the chapter in order for the student to put his studies to practical use.

Applications may be obtained at the offices of the Penn-Ohio Chapter, Room 235, Ohio Edison Building, 25 E. Boardman St., Youngstown, and will be accepted until Monday, December 15.

The visitors consisted of high school seniors, college students from other schools, parents, and faculty. There were fewer high school students than expected since SAT tests were given to many of the area schools that day.

Faculty demonstrated the use of equipment that the department has acquired.

YAF To Join National Anti-Moratorium Move

Young Americans for Freedom on this campus will join in a nationwide YAF "counter-offensive to continued Vietnam Moratoriums" December 12 and 13.

Tom Anderson, local YAF president, said his organization will distribute "Tell It To Hanoi" leaflets and solicit signatures for a petition outlining what "President Nixon has done to end the war and the negative attitude of Hanoi in working out a peaceful settlement of the conflict."

The twelve member organization, Anderson said, expects to obtain a thousand signatures and national YAF officials predict over one million leaflets will be distributed during the two day period.

Anderson said the weekend should "promote an understanding of the realities of the conflict in Vietnam and demonstrate that the majority of American students do not favor U.S. defeat."

YAF officials say chapters at 600 schools will participate.

marriage while only 25% of the women enter marriage with sexual experience. These studies are averaged from national figures and when broken down show great cultural and regional variations with the East having a higher rate. "Anxiety and realistic fears, a knowledge of sex that is not optimistic, and a bad education in the home is another leading factor in sexual promiscuity," she stated. "And birth control has influenced its effect also." The consequences of such actions are many and varied, a major problem that the Dr. viewed is that of the changing role of women. "It is well known that the man may live on a double standard, but that the women cannot." What the man wants as a husband is different than what he wants as a bachelor, and the woman cannot always satisfy both, she cannot be an experienced virgin and a one man nymphomaniac at the same time.

She stated that she "challenges students to a more mature attitude of sex of its joys and its burdens. The 'right' does not come from a statistical form. Sex before marriage is not like test driving an automobile, this is mainly a physical and a poor test for a mature decision.

Penguins Outclaw Bearcats

Youngstown State University, led by the fine outside shooting of sophomore guard Bill Johnson and the outstanding performances from the reserves, handed St. Vincent a 91-63 setback last Saturday at Austintown Fitch High Field House.

The victory marked the second straight in as many outings for the Penguins and YSU will attempt to run their streak to three wins when they travel to Berea, Ohio to take on the Baldwin-Wallace Yellowjackets this Thursday night.

Both YSU and St. Vincent were slow to start as fouls plagued both teams early in the first period. The Penguins led momentarily in the opening minutes of the ball game but Jim DiMuzio, a junior guard from St. Vee, pulled his club even 12-12 with 12:09 left in the first half. Then Johnson hammered the hoops with a pair of field goals and two free throws to put Youngstown in the lead permanently. Johnson scorched the nets with seven baskets and two charity throws for 16 points in the first two quarters while senior center Wayne Davis, filling in quite well for foul-stricken Will Teague, tossed in four fielders for eight markers.

The Penguins were led on the boards by sophomore Chris Ellis who pulled in nine misguided shots and added 11 points and Teague who hauled down eight rebounds and contributed 10 tallies.

In the second half YSU completely dominated the action and with 3:09 remaining in the game, Coach Dom Rosselli sent a complete new team into the contest. This team, composed of Chuck Montgomery, Ron Smith, Tom Cope, Rick Steffen, and Lindsay Randall, did an outstanding job and upped the Penguins' score by 14 points in the closing seconds of the game.

Johnson took game laurels with 28 markers on 13 field goals and a pair of foul shots. Ellis drilled in four baskets and three free throws for 11 tallies in support. Gregg Merrill and Teague added 10 markers apiece.

DiMuzio scored 14 points for the Bearcats who are still in search of their initial victory.

The Youngstown State JV's were also victorious for the second time, pinning a 100-79 verdict on the Bearcats' Junior Varsity. Tom Cope tallied 24 points for the winners while Lindsay Randall netted 18 tallies. Rick Steffen and Lynn Elkins each added eight fielders for 16 markers.

Computer Within 5

The TL "computer", that came within three points of last week's Cleveland State opener, safely predicted another victory for the Penguins and came within five points of the correct score. The fictional computer predicted in Friday's Jambor a 23-point win for YSU and a projected score of 92-69.

Needless to say, the Penguins swept to their second straight with a 28-point margin and 91-63 final score.

Behind John Rinka's 41-point effort, the Kenyon Lords punished Baldwin-Wallace 95-80 last Saturday. The TL computer foresees the Penguins in their roughest match of the season on the foreign court in Berea. The Yellow Jackets managed to squeeze a 74-68 triumph over the invading Penguins last year. Providing Teague rebounds and pours in over 25 markers, the Penguins should reverse the squeeze on the BW hardwood and come home an eight-point winner, 77-69.

YSU Opens Water Season Tomorrow

Coach Ralph Johnson will guide his Penguin swimmers into the YMCA waters tomorrow afternoon against the University of Kentucky for their 1969-70 season opener. The invading Kentucky tankers finished second in the Southeastern Conference last year behind a powerful Tennessee water squad.

Opening his sixth campaign, which makes him the youngest YSU mentor, by far, Coach Johnson believes his winning season skin is in serious jeopardy as Kent State, West Virginia, and Grove City follow the Kentucky splash.

With only seven experienced lettermen returning to the YSU waters, the "upset" season will depend largely on the performances of the seven recruited freshmen; Chuck

Nienhuis, Larry Nelson, Fred Klein, Tim Lafferty, Jeff Strata, Mark Thompson, Jim Zuppas. Nienhuis, a native of Holland, Mich., has already, in pre-season workouts, established a YMCA mark in the 400-yard freestyle, while Nelson has cracked the YSU 100-yard breaststroke record.

All-Americans Dale Weik and Nick Gavolas will undoubtedly supply the Penguins with undefeated power on the board, while veterans, Al Schmidt, Jeff Hundt, George Kavish, Tom Parker, and Ben VanCure will greatly aid YSU toward their sixth straight winning campaign.

The TL computer predicts for tomorrow a narrow defeat at the hands of powerful Kentucky, a water powerhouse. The large mix of experience and inexperience will prove fatal to the Penguins in their season debut. Score: 63-42.
