VOLUME 48 — No. 6

Voting Continues In Queen Election

Voting by students for the 1970 Homecoming Queen ends tonight at 8 p.m. at all of four polling booths. One of six coed nominees will be crowned Homecoming Queen at half-time of Saturday's YSU-Northern Michigan football game.

The candidates, representing six social sororities on campus, will be present at a table today in the Engineering Science Lobby from 10 a.m. to noon, 1 to 2 p.m., and 6 to 8 p.m.

Under new rules this year, campaigning by the respective sororities has been abolished. No violations to this rule have been reported in the light vote turnout yesterday.

The contestants are: Emily Mittacos, representing Delta Zeta Sorority. Emily is a senior majoring in business education. Suellen Stiffler, representing Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority, who is a junior English major; Anna Marie Schiavone, a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority who is majoring in sociology; Peggy Riley, affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority who is a senior pursuing a nursing degree; JoAnn Suhar, representing Phi Mu Sorority, who is a senior majoring in education; and Rosemary Putarek who is representing Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority.

Sponsored by Major Events Committee, Homecoming will feature the theme "Greek Odyssey," October 16, 17, and 18, according to committee chairman, Michael Duquin.

The weekend begins with the sounds of "The Omegas" Friday from 8 p.m. till midnight at Kilcawley Hall. The Homecoming finalist will be announced at that time.

Saturday the Homecoming football game between Northern Michigan and Youngstown will be highlighted at halftime when the queen is crowned.

Sunday at 6, and again at 9:30 p.m., the 5th Dimension will perform at the Struthers Fieldhouse. Each concert will last for two hours.

The ticket price will include the dance on Friday as well as the concert on Sunday. Tickets will be on sale to students with ID's at the Bursar's Office beginning today, and ending at noon Saturday, October 17 for the price of $2.50 per ticket, two tickets per ID.

Case To Be Reheard-

Leheny's Appeal Granted

Dennis Leheny's appeal of his summer expulsion from the University has been granted by the Appeal's Board. On October 12 the Board ruled unanimously to remand the case to the Discipline Committee for rehearing.

The Appeals Board based their decision on the following irregularities in the original case:

(1) One professor bringing charges against the accused was not on campus during the summer and not available to appear at the original hearing to answer questions directed through the chairman by the accused or by the committee members.

(2) One witness whose testimony may have been relevant to the decision was away from the Youngstown area at the time of the hearing and unable to appear.

Other alleged irregularities in procedure were rejected by the Board of Appeals. According to Leheny these include refusal to permit Leheny to bring a court stenographer to the hearing, that he was denied permission to allow his attorney to cross-examine any witness against him, that the committee refused to grant him a continuance of the hearing until after

Marlene Sanders Starts Series

Marlene Sanders, the American Broadcasting Company's only woman news correspondent, will be the first guest speaker in the 1970-71 Artist Lecture Series at 2 p.m. Wednesday, October 14, in Strouss Auditorium.

Has Evening News Cast
Miss Sanders, who had her own daily five-minute network TV evening newscast, now is a general assignment correspondent frequently seen on the ABC evening news and heard over the four ABC Radio networks.

During the 1964 presidential campaign, Miss Sanders traveled with Mrs. Lyndon Johnson on her campaign trips and co-anchored ABC's coverage of the inauguration with Peter Jennings. More recently, Miss Sanders traveled with Senator Eugene McCarthy during his campaign and covered the assassination of Senator Robert Kennedy.

Award Winner

In 1964 Miss Sanders won McCall's Golden Mike Award for "skillfully interpreting New York's many problems." During the same year she also won the Writers Guild of America Radio Award for a two-part series called "The Battle of the Warsaw Ghetto."

Her lecture will be free and open to the public.

In Chronological Order-Cities Bombed Since August

Since a bomb exploded Aug. 24 at a University of Wisconsin Army research building killing one person, there have been major bombings in seven other American cities.

In chronological order, major bombings have occurred in:

MADISON, Wis. — Aug. 24. An Army research building at the University of Wisconsin blew up, killing one or more persons and causing more than $1 million damage. A group calling itself the "New Year's Gang" took credit for the explosion.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Sept. 6. James Lawson, 19, was blown to pieces after explosives police said he was carrying went off as he walked along city street. The explosion also severely damaged two houses. Police said Lawson had lived in a Black Panther house in Des Moines, Iowa, from February to July.

CHICAGO — Oct. 5. An explosion blew up a police statue in Chicago's Haymarket Square. The next day, a tape recording reportedly made by Bernardine Dohrn, a fugitive leader of the Weatherman, claimed responsibility for that blast and said the Weatherman and the radical underground would launch a "full offensive" against "the enemy."

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — Oct. 8. A bomb damaged a military armory. The "Perfect Park Home Grown Garden Society," a radical group, claimed responsibility.

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. — Oct. 8. A county courthouse was the target of a bomb which severely damaged a courtroom and a rest room. A group calling itself the "Weatherman Underground" took credit.

SEATTLE, Wash. — Oct. 8. A bomb damaged heavily an ROTC building on the University of Washington campus. An underground group known as the "Quarter Moon Tribe" said it had planted the bomb.

NEW YORK — Oct. 10. A bomb went off in a Queens courthouse 10 minutes after a caller saying "This is Weatherman" phoned a warning.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. — Oct. 12. A federal office building, a county office building, two churches and a private home were hit by bombs within a 25-minute period.

Graduate Assistantships

Dr. Frank A. D'Isa, acting dean of the Graduate School at Youngstown State University, has announced the appointment of four additional graduate assistantships effective with the fall quarter, 1970. The appointments round out the assistantships for the quarter.

Appointed in English is Miss Marilyn J. Thompson; in history is John J. Moritz; in electrical engineering is Cleothus Duncan, Jr.; and in mechanical engineering is Robert R. Ramhoff. The duties of the graduate assistants include instruction, research and other academic services as determined by the department to which they are assigned.

Engineering Appointments

Dr. Harry B. Skinner of Cleveland and Dr. Dennis F. Torok, Jr., of Bethlehem, Pa., have been appointed assistant professor of metallurgy and assistant professor of mechanical engineering, respectively, at Youngstown State University, it was announced by Dr. Albert L. Pugsley, University president. Both appointments are effective with the fall quarter.

Professor To Be Consulted

Dr. Ruth B. Clayton, associate professor of special education and chairman of the department at Youngstown State University, will serve as a consultant at a meeting of school psychologists from Mahoning, Trumbull and Columbiana county schools this Tuesday, October 13.

Dr. Feldmiller Attends Conference

Dr. Ilajean Feldmiller, assistant professor of home economics and chairman of the department at Youngstown State University, will attend the National Metric Study Conference to be held October 12-13 at Gaithersburg, Md.

Sobota Presents Paper

Dr. Anthony E. Sobota, associate professor of biology at Youngstown State University, recently presented a paper entitled "RNA Metabolism Associated with Cell Elongation" at the 21st annual meeting of the American Institute of Biological Sciences at Indiana University.

Constitutional Rights Redefined In Elimination Of Racial Schools

The government argued yesterday in the Supreme Court that the Constitution does not require the elimination of racially identifiable public schools.

What is required, Solicitor Gen. Erwin N. Griswold said, is that school boards "achieve a truly unitary system."

"This is not a retreat," the silver-haired former Harvard law school dean told the nine justices. "There must not be a retreat in this area where so much has been done to redeem the promise of America." Before the court are three key test cases from the South that may lead to a fresh definition of the constitutional rights of black children and the obligations of school boards.

A black civil rights lawyer, Julius Le Vonne Chambers of Charlotte, N.C., pleaded with the court to rule out racially identifiable schools in areas where segregation had been enforced by law.

The NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund lawyer defined such schools as those in which the concentration of blacks is disproportionate to the black percentage in the district over-all.

Chambers said he is not arguing for "radical balance"—that every school in a district have the same black-white ratio.

Explaining, Chambers said he would consider it illegal to have more than 50 per cent of an individual school in Charlotte black while the black percentage of the entire Charlotte-Mecklenburg county school population is 29 per cent black. By the same token, he said, a white population of more than 90 per cent in any school would be illegal.

Leheny Appeal

State charges were adjudicated, and that the Discipline Committee did not contain a quorum.

Leheny said that the University is pursuing the incident far too strenuously and is doing so since he was a member of the Criminal Justice Department and an officer in the Criminal Justice Fraternity.

A new hearing will be scheduled before the University Discipline Committee as soon as possible, probably within the next three weeks, according to the Dean of Student Affairs, Darrell F. Rishel.

Coming Back Home

It would be refreshing to know that everyone could really get excited about Homecoming again. Remember those festive events of years gone by when a student's biggest worry was finding a date for the big weekend? Or when contentment was cheering for the home team and voting for a Homecoming Queen?

A weekend date, a winning team, and a pretty queen hardly seem important any more. Not when cities are being bombed, campuses are rioting, our earth is deteriorating, and young men are at war.

Here at YSU, where we don't try to even question the world's problems, but just ask for a decent place to park, we are squandering close to $30,000 for Homecoming. Think of how $30,000 could help our own comparatively simple problem.

We are not opposed to the concept of Homecoming. We are opposed to what our "home" is coming to.

Perhaps one year we could put Homecoming off and direct our energies and our money toward a more relevant purpose. We can not think of a better homecoming than to bring a soldier home, or make our present home bearable for our descendants.

Sure, Homecoming can be fun. But let us solve at least some of our problems first. Then we can have a party worth celebrating.

Letters To The Editor Writes Poetry On Greek Week

To the editor of the Jambor:

I wrote these thoughts down while sitting in the grass at Kilcawley Center observing the beginning of Greek Week:

Gathered together in glittering flocks
All turned out to identify their squawks

Some were there just to spy
Heads filled with promising lies.

Some wore high boots
Laced with elaborate loops

Moderates stood many up in front
Change sat restless in the back
Those from the Cults
Saw many, many faults.

I stopped and laughed
Thinking of the past
Girls with long straight hair
Said they really cared.

Who was that man
Who showed no hand
Sitting alone, without no home
Looking at others, searching

inside
Often looking for a place to hide.

Why can it be that God can't see
What has happened to you and me
I read of brotherhood in this land
Take one look see what sand
See what's left in his hand
My God, forgive this promised land.

Gary Abdoe

FACES AND THOUGHTS

The Jambor posed the question, "Do you believe that the new YSU social regulations are satisfactory?" Of the thirteen students interviewed nine replied no and four replied yes. Below are six of their responses.

Colleen Wren
Freshman
Elementary Education

"You should be able to have any alcoholic beverages, and there should be no fraternity or sorority regulations."

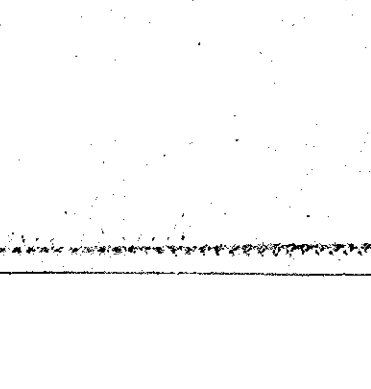

Jim Miller
Freshman
Biology

"No, I think we should be able to do anything we want. It isn't anyone's business what I do."

Marcie Huna
Freshman
Biology

"Yes, students have plenty of opportunity for entertainment and friendship without the crutch of hard liquors."

Joan Peters
Freshman
French and German

"No, because students should be given the opportunity to meet other students without having such restricting rules."

Kathy Miketa
Freshman
Elementary Education

"I think they are all right as long as students don't go overboard. It should be a happy medium."

Andy Bottiglieri
Freshman
Education

"No, because there ain't enough parties. Also no hard liquors are allowed on campus."

35 Delta Zetas Installed In Recognition Rites

Thirty-five women were installed as the Kappa Chi chapter of Delta Zeta National Sorority this past weekend. Officers from Baldwin Wallace College and Delta Zeta National Council initiated the girls Saturday, October 10. The chapter was honored at an Installation Banquet Saturday evening at the Fonderlac Country Club, Poland, Ohio. After Dean Painter, associate dean of Student Affairs, formally recognized the sorority on the campus of YSU, the official charter and silver tea set service was presented to the chapter by Mrs. Betty Agler, past National President of Delta Zeta. Honored guests included: Pres. and Mrs. Albert Pugsley, Dean and Mrs. Darrell Rishel, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Painter, Reverend-Raymond DiBlasio, and local alumnae.

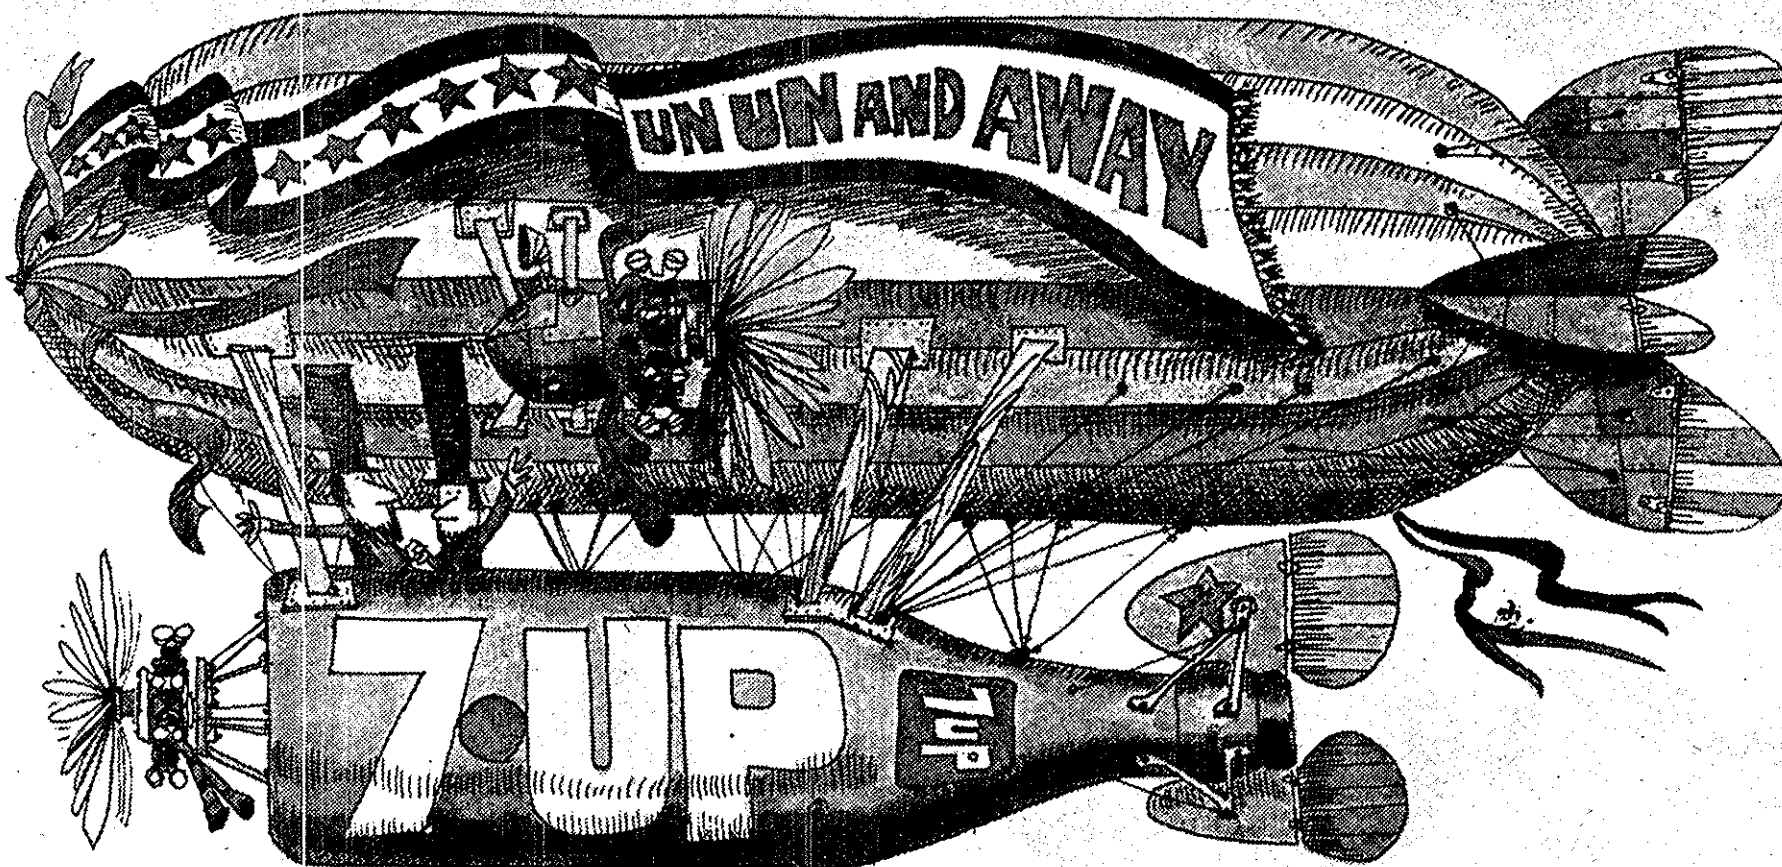

attended the Tea, including faculty members and friends of the women. Visiting chapters included, Ohio State University, Slippery Rock College, Kent State University, Cleveland State University, Fresno State College, California, and Missouri Western College, Missouri. Gifts and greetings from friends and various chapters of Delta Zeta were on display at the tea.

Kappa Chi became the 178th chapter of Delta Zeta in the United States.

Officers of the chapter are: Pres., Kathleen Ford; Vice-Presidents, Shirley Conway and Janice Baehler; Secretaries, Barb Daras and Elaine Orenic; Treasurer, Sally Barilaire.

A Presentation Tea was held Sunday, Oct. 11, at the Pollock House by the Youngstown Delta Zeta alumnae. Nearly 300 guests

The annual affair is for international participants from AID's technical assistance program who are professional people living in cities throughout the United States seeking to acquire the knowledge and skills necessary to help carry out their countries' programs for economic and social development.

This is the fourth year that YSU will host the seminar, which is designed to expose the participants to a different American environment other than the one in which they are currently living.

There are 40 international participants this year, the majority of whom are from underdeveloped countries.

YSU Folds In 3rd Quarter

YSU's winless Penguins played well for three quarters last Saturday night, but a third-period collapse gave Murray State a 42-32 victory.

Youngstown State rallied for two touchdowns in the second quarter to take a brief 20-14 lead. The Racers struck back with 10 seconds left in the half to go ahead 21-20 and set the stage for things to come in the following period.

The Penguins took the kick to open the second half and drove to the Murray State 12. There Fred Bruderly tried a 29-yard field goal that was wide. The Racers, with sophomore quarterback Garnett Scott at the controls, engineered an 80-yard drive in 8 plays to go up 28-20. Scott burned the YSU defense twice with screen passes to full-back Rick Fisher, the first good for 27 yards and the second for 36 yards and touchdown.

Youngstown fumbled the ensuing kickoff and Murray scored on the first play, Scott hitting halfback Jimmy Brown with an 11-yard toss. The Penguin offense never got untracked in the quarter, turning over the ball three more times on two interceptions and a fumble.

Bob Ferranti, sophomore split end from Boardman, tied the YSU one-game reception record for the second time this year with seven catches for 127 yards and one TD. The mark is shared by Ferranti, Rosie Blackwell and Dave DelSignore.

Reservations Available For 3 Family Plays

Reservations are still available for the three plays comprising the 14th Family Play Season presented by Youngstown State University's department of speech and drama and designed to examine some common problems in human relations.

The Family Plays, which are sponsored by the Ohio Division of Mental Hygiene and Correction through its grants of funds to colleges and universities throughout the state, are presented only off-campus for interested groups in Mahoning, Trumbull and Columbiana counties and are not meant for either diversion or entertainment.

The three plays selected are: "You Never Told Me," a sensitive treatment of the social and sexual relationships of teenagers brought to a crisis involving two parents and a young "steady" couple; "Help Wanted," in which the prospect of vocational "emancipation" for a woman whose family is nearly grown comes into sharp conflict with traditional concepts of the married woman's responsibilities; and "Boys at Large," a play showing some of the causes of juvenile delinquency and why every "bad" boy should be treated as an individual if he is to be guided to a new and useful life.

Assistant director for the 1970-71 program is YSU senior speech and drama major, Suzanne Petrella, 3945 Edenrock Avenue, Canfield.

Averaging approximately half an hour in length, the Family Plays are designed to be followed by a discussion period which is an essential part of the program. The play itself presents food for thought and the period of oral communication following each performance allows the audience to evaluate and enlarge upon the ideas presented in the play.

Any group interested in a Family Play presentation should write or call the department of speech and drama.

Catch-YSU
by Skip Miller

As the first rays of the morning sun broke the still night air, a mute hum of engines could be heard. The hum soon grew into a quiet rumble which in turn transformed into a deafening roar. Great emotion arose on Elm Street as Caesarian taxied his '59 VW into an empty space. "Hey! You can't park there," cried a construction worker. "Why not?" Caesarian replied.

"Because of the Catch."
"What Catch?"
"Catch YSU!"
"What's that?"
"It's like this. If you want to you can't. But if you don't want to, then you can."

"Let me see if I've got this straight. I can park here if I don't want to, but if I want to then I can't."

"Your perception is stupendous," retorted the sleepy-eyed, union card carrying, hard-hatted ditch digger.

Stumbling down Elm Street, Caesarian mumbled to himself, "Catch YSU? This parking situation is driving me crazy."

Yeah, I know.
Who said that?
I did.
Who are you?
Caesarian.
I'm Caesarian!

Meanwhile, Dean Dean was leaving specific orders with his secretary, "do you have that? I'll go over it one more time; anyone can see me when I'm not here, but when I'm here tell them I'm not here."

Moments later as Dean Dean walked out the back door, Caesarian walked in still mumbling to himself about the parking situation.

"I wanna see Dean Dean."
"Go in and see him," the Secretary replied.

After a quick glance around the Dean's office, he cried out in an anguished voice, "but he's not here!"

"Of course. If he were here then you couldn't see him."
"But you can see him now because he's not here."

"Let me see if I've got this straight. I can see the Dean because he's not here, but when he's here, he's not here."

"Your grammatical comprehension is beyond reproach," the Secretary replied with a smile.

"I am going crazy," Caesarian commented.
I know.
"Who knows?"
Caesarian.
"I'm Caesarian."
I know.
AAUGGHHH.

... Caesarian walked into the snack bar and nervously dropped a dime into the coffee machine only to see the coffee stream down the drain, "no cup!"

"That's right," claimed another bewildered student, "check the coin return and you'll find one share in Salvation."

"What good are they?"
"I don't know, but it sure beats hell out of drinking the coffee."

"I've had it," Caesarian replied as he left the snack bar. As he started for his car, he was stopped by two Greeks, "Caesarian, we want you to park in our Fraternity parking lot," they said.

"But why are you doing this for me?" Caesarian asked.

"Why? Because we want you to like us."

... Who's that?
Where?
Over there on the rock.
That's Caesarian.

He doesn't have any clothes on! What's he have in his hand?
A bird.

What's he doing with it?
He's giving it to YSU.
