Council votes down $1,000 Kent allocation

Student Council voted down a motion to allocate $1000 from Student Council's Unallocated Fund to the Kent State Legal Defense Fund by a margin of two to one. In a roll-call vote of 14 to 7 with no abstentions, Council members defeated the motion which had been endorsed by Student Government President Dan Crishon and Vice-president Larry Simko.

A constitutional amendment which proposed the deletion of a Constitutional clause which prohibited Greek affiliated students from holding the three representative at large positions was also defeated.

Prior to the allocation vote, a letter from University President Albert L. Pugsley was read in which Dr. Pugsley outlined the purposes of the Unallocated Fund, stating that "the General Fee from which funds are allocated to Student Council is specific in authorization of the purposes for which it may be spent. The General Fee is collected to support student activities...such as the student paper, the yearbook, the athletic program, the student activities center, the recreation and lecture programs, and the costs of construction of non-instructional facilities. The General Fee may not be regarded as a fund for the benefit of individuals or programs not a part of the University."

Following the letter, American Civil Liberties Union lawyer Michael Harshman spoke in favor of the allocation by outlining his view of the Kent indictments as a "political trial against a segment of society least able to defend themselves — in this case students."

Before opening the floor to discussion, Council also heard Bruce Steikler, chairman of the Kent Legal Defense Fund. Steikler presented arguments favoring the motion, stating that the matter involved was a question of civil liberties. He explained that the money, if received, would be used to defray costs incurred as a result of the defense actions, such as air fares, bail and bonds, and secretarial salaries.

At the conclusion of Steikler's presentation, the floor opened for questioning and discussion. Both Council members and students in attendance voiced their opinions in debate which lasted an hour and a half. A motion proposed by Chuck Hettler to place the allotment motion on a referendum for next week's Council elections was dismissed. At one point, John Ostrowski, a freshman political

Director tells how to avoid draft-meeting set for tomorrow at two

Colonel William Clair, State Selective Service Director, suggested that students with a 1970 draft lottery number of 196 or greater for go their 2-S deferments for the remainder of the year. At a State meeting of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers Clair talked about the new national draft policy which holds that exposure to the draft for any part of a year counts for the entire year.

Dean of Admissions, Dr. James A. Scriven, has scheduled a meeting for students who have questions about this possibility of ducking the draft tomorrow in room 103 of the Lincoln Project at 2 o'clock.

A possible way to duck the draft was offered to holders of 1970 draft lottery numbers of 196 or greater by Curtis Tarr, national draft Director last week.

Tarr said students currently classified 2-S may request their local draft boards to re-classify them 1-A. If their lottery number is 196 or greater there is little or no chance that their number will be called this year. As of December 31, 1970 their numbers will become part of a second priority list. If they retain their 2-S deferments they will revert to the first priority list when that deferment expires.

A local draft board representative has informed the Jambar that boards will do everything in their power to follow requests, but in order to insure reclassifications students should make their requests in writing as soon as possible.

Phi Delt's fate remains unknown

The fate of a local fraternity will be made clear later this week when written confirmation of their status is made known.

Phi Delta Theta Fraternity, formerly Sigma Beta Phi local fraternity, is awaiting formal confirmation of their colonization, according to Don Weaver, fraternity president. Last week it was learned that the group was misrepresenting itself since it was not a chartered affiliate of Phi Delta Theta national.

Colonization for the local fraternity was to have been decided upon last weekend at a meeting of the General Council of Phi Delta Theta national, according to Mr. Robert Miller, executive secretary to the fraternity. Mr. Miller was not available for comment on the Council's decision of last weekend.

The local group was expected to issue a statement concerning their status yesterday, but will await confirmation from the national organization before a statement is issued.

Ex-Linebacker Reveals NFL Drug Dealings

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Meggyesy, former linebacker for the St. Louis Cardinals who quit pro football because he claims it is "dehumanizing," charged in Look magazine Monday that "a lot of NFL trainers do more dealing in drugs than the average junkie."

In a scathing denunciation of the sport as "our version of bread and circuses," Meggyesy also reveals the under-the-table payoffs and abuse of injured players he said he saw first hand as a collegian at Syracuse University.

Meggyesy says in the Look article, excerpted from his forthcoming book "Out of Their League," that "the violent and brutal player that television viewers marvel over on Saturdays and Sundays is often a synthetic product.

"When I got to the National Football League, I saw players fed, at an astonishing rate, not only steroids, but also amphetamines and barbituates.

"...Steroids are now thought to cause atrophied testes, blunting of sex drives and damage to the liver. There is even talk among some physicians that they are a casual agent for cancer of the prostate. But they are widely used."

Asked to comment on that phase of Meggyesy's article, Dan Weiss, public relations director for the National Football League, said: "we have no interest whatsoever in promoting the sale of Meggyesy's book."

Meggyesy writes that his dis-sillusionment with college football came early in his career at Syracuse when "one of the big shocks of my freshman year was finding out that a lot of the guys were getting paid under the table."

Meggyesy claims it was "common knowledge that most of the guys who played regularly were getting anywhere from $25 to $50 after each game" and said arrangements were made for him to pick up $30 a week in a brown manila envelope.

"When a player is injured," Meggyesy charged, "he is sent to the team physician, who is usually more concerned with getting the athlete back into action than anything else. This reversal of priorities leads to unbelievable abuses."

New Associate Professor

Dr. A. Ranger Curran, former instructor in management in the College of Business Administration at the University of Georgia, has been named associate professor of business organization at Youngstown State University, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Albert L. Pugsley, University president. The appointment is effective with the fall quarter.

Cardinal Cushing Dies Of Cancer At 75

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing, the earthy, blunt, craggy-jawed Archbishop of Boston for a quarter century, died yesterday at the age of 75.

Archbishop Humberte S. Medeiros, Cushing's successor, was at the cardinal's bedside when he died. Also at the bedside yesterday were the cardinal's sisters, Mrs. Anna Francis and Mrs. Mary Pierce, and his brother John.

Cardinal Cushing had been in failing health for some time. The cause of the death was not immediately disclosed. He died at about 1:30 p.m., approximately one hour after a bulletin was issued saying he was in critical condition "and failing rapidly."

The announcement said the retired spiritual leader of 1.8 million Roman Catholics was "suffering from the complication of the long-standing malignancy with which he had been afflicted for years."

The funeral will be Saturday at 11 a.m. at Holy Cross Cathedral.

Burial will be in a crypt in the Pertinacula Chapel on the grounds of St. Coletta's School for Retarded Children in Hanover.

The cardinal had retired or last month from the post which he had come into international prominence in the era of the late Pope John XIII and the late President John F. Kennedy.

He was a devoted friend of both, and their open, innovative styles had brought the cardinal's own expansive, man-of-action ways into wider fields of influence.

The white-haired, gravel-voiced prelate died at his Commonwealth Avenue residence, the home of Boston's archbishops.

A pace-setting ecumenist, Cardinal Cushing had helped spearhead the drive at the Second Vatican Council for its declarations upholding religious liberty and in repudiating decadal claims against Jews.

He also had focused attention on social-religious problems in South America, organizing a missionary society that recruited American priests to serve in impoverished regions of that continent.

America Votes Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — America votes today after a caustic midterm campaign climaxed by a Monday night television exchange between the men who may face each other in the presidential race of 1972.

President Nixon spoke for Republicans on election eve through a filmed reprise of a speech he made Saturday in Phoenix decrying violent dissent.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine represented the Democrats after they scraped together enough money yesterday to buy half the time the Republicans had originally purchased. Muskie replied to what he called "Republican tactics of fear and division."

The offices at stake are 35 Senate seats, 435 in the House of Representatives, 35 governorships and hundreds of state and local jobs.

The rewards include control of a Senate that repeatedly has frustrated Nixon, big-stage power bases for 1972 presidential politics and state legislature strength which will be a key to control of the reapportioned U.S. house in 1972.

Republicans outspent the debt-ridden Democrats this campaign and those finances were central in developments that led to last night's matching 15-minute telecasts.

The Republican National Committee first purchased 30 minutes of time on each of the three major television networks. Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien challenged the GOP and asked the networks to split the time in half for each party and make it available free. He pleaded party poverty. Muskie also asked for free time.

The networks turned down the request for free time, but agreed, with Republican concurrence, to sell Democrats half the time originally booked by the GOP. Republicans began the campaign hoping to win control of the Senate, now split 57-43 for the Democrats. The consensus now is that the GOP will pick up one to three seats.

The Democrats' present 243-187 edge in the House, where there are five vacancies, is expected to be little changed-going against the historical record which shows the party in White House power losing an average of 37 House seats in mid-term elections.

Principal Democratic gains are expected in the State Houses. Republicans now held 32 of 50 governorships and nine of ten in the most populous states.

Losing

The student body lost a lot at yesterday's Student Council meeting. It lost much more than any legislation Student Council could pass or vote down. This student body lost respect.

There was much more at stake at the Council meeting yesterday than a proposal to aid the Kent Legal Defense Fund. There was an issue of moral obligation, of mutual moral aid and support.

Students, as well as Council, failed to see this issue. Instead, yesterday's Council meeting turned into a debate between liberal and conservative, where winning support was far more important than the issue at hand.

Why is it that relevant issues must be shrouded by politics and images here? When will students here begin to understand that applicable solutions are needed, not politics?

Express Yourself

There is one day in the year when people can't tell you what to do, or how to do it. It is a day when University administrators and students, elected officials and their constituents, employers and their employees, have equal power. When that curtain automatically closes behind you in the voting booth, your choice is your own.

At this University, we are directly affected by our state governor and state representatives. The governor has the power to appoint and recall members of the board of trustees. Our state legislature has the power to pass legislation that affects our campus. We have the power to elect both.

We're fed up with "meaningful" dialogue, demonstrations and causes. We're interested in action. We have the power to stimulate such action.

The choice is yours. Express yourself. VOTE.

Letters to the Editor

Endorses YSU's Kent Allocation

To the editor of the Jambar:

In reply to Mr. MacGregor's letter and Mr. Offutt's Forum: Both writers opposed allocation of Student Council funds to the Defense Fund of the Kent State 25 largely on the grounds that the money could be better used to alleviate problems on the YSU campus, and that such allocation of funds would be "hindering the due course of law on another campus, with a problem that has not involved us..." Due process of law has come to mean, in this country, the murder of our brothers and sisters, and a whitewash grand jury to obscure the real causes of the deaths: governmental repression of dissent and police and guard murder of students. This is the kind of due process that students across the country are beginning to recognize as a tool of repression and struggle against. This is the kind of due process that murdered Fred Hampton, jailed Bobby Seale, and exiled Eldridge Cleaver. This is the kind of due process that must be recognized as a sham and attacked by students of all political persuasions on campuses across the country.

But Messrs. Offutt and MacGregor would have us believe that what happened at Kent is a problem entirely theirs and carrying no implications for the rest of us. Wrong. What happened at Kent is but the largest and most blatant example of the murder and injustice going on all across the country. The murders at Kent, at Jackson State, the wholesale slaughter of Black Panthers in our cities, form a pattern that cannot be ignored, nor written off as separate, isolated incidents. The trials of the Chicago 8, the imprisonment of the New York 21, and the indictment of the Kent State 25, too, cannot be viewed as isolated aberrations from the just American system. This pattern of increasing governmental repression of political dissidents must be recognized, and must be struggled against. YSU is not an institution removed from the struggle taking place on other campuses, and an allocation to the Kent Defense fund is one small way of recognizing the role all students at all institutions play in the struggle for the right to dissent, without police, without the guard, and without bullets.

Amazed At Student Stupidity

To the editor of the Jambar:

It is a constant source of amazement to me, that people who go to college for three or four years can be so stupid. In not supporting the Kent uprising, they are indeed entitled to their opinion. In not agreeing with violence, they are entitled to applause. But, in not supporting the victims of injustice, they are entitled to swastikas.

Perhaps they haven't heard, but two Federal commissions also investigated the Kent State incidents. One placed the blame on both students and soldiers and one said that six guardsmen could be indicted on criminal charges. Needless to say, the jurors of Portage County couldn't see past their own bigotry and indicted 25 students and professors. Reason that if you will, use logic on that if you can.

If you believe in justice, your way is clear, if you don't, you don't belong in America. Activism would be too much to ask of the apathetic bastards of YSU.

All that is being asked is $1,000 or about six cents a students. I accuse the majority of YSU students of being serious about one thing, and that is their epicurian philosophy. I refuse to be a good little Nazi, and I plead with you to support the K.S.U. students. For those of you who already support the cause of justice "carry on."

Catch—YSU

by Skip Miller and Carl Basic

In a continuing effort to keep our readers up to date on current affairs, we set out to interview YSU's new Dean of Transportation, the Doctor of the parking lots, Dean Dean.

We arrived at Kilcawley just in time to observe Student Council as they again tried to obtain a quorum. (They were about as successful as Custer's last stand.) Quickly side-stepping the event, and entering the Dean's office, we decided to use reverse psychology on the Dean's secretary. This is how it happened:

"Hello, we don't want to see the Dean."

"Good, he doesn't want to see anyone today."

"Why not?"

"Because he's not here."

"That's too bad. We were going to treat the Dean to a bottle of wine while we discussed campus affairs." Just then, in a flash of blazing light, the Dean's door flew open.

"Did you fellows mention an interview?"

"Yes, we would like to ask you a few questions on how you feel about the current campus situation."

"Wine, huh? Let's go."

Well, the Dean is quite a person. After three bottles of Ripple and a half-gallon of Boon Farm Apple Wine, we finally got to talking about YSU.

"Tell us, Dean. How do you feel about having beer in the cafeteria?"

"I think it's a great idea. While they're at it, they should serve food there too."

"Do you believe in booze at functions off campus?"

"Yes, I believe in booze everywhere. This is why I made the phone call to Idora Park regarding the serving of beer at the Greek week party."

"Is that why they didn't serve beer at that event?"

"All I know is that I told the man to be sure to have extra sauce in case the faculty drifted in to join the merriment."

"Speaking of faculty, didn't they blackball you from attending their meetings?"

"Yes, they did. But I got back at them."

"How?"

"I tape-recorded all their lectures and made them sit and listen to them in their entirety."

"Well, what happened?"

"They slept for three weeks."

"How do you feel about your promotion to Dean of Parking?"

"That's a promotion?"

"What do you plan to do to ease the situation?"

"I have the perfect solution. We have everyone park at the road-side rest on Interstate 80...have them board helicopters...which in turn shuttle them to the top of the new Lincoln Business Building."

"Sounds great!"

"Not really. There is no way of getting off the roof of that building. But we could issue everyone parachutes."

"Tell us, how do you feel about Greeks on campus?"

"I like the idea of having exchange students on campus."

"How do you feel about the increased crime on campus?"

"If that bookstore doesn't lower its prices..."

"That's not what we're referring to. We mean the robberies in the parking lots."

"Yes, I believe that $15 for a parking sticker is out of hand."

"Forget it. What do you think about racial violence?"

"She's a fine girl. Went to school with her mother, you know."

"Do you have any final thing to say?"

"Yes, I would like to commend those fine gentlemen who robbed John Moritz in the parking lot last week."

"Why?"

"Well, after they relieved him of his money, they were courteous enough to give him back his wallet. This shows you the fine spirit and sense of fair play we have here in the area."

"Thank you, Dean. Be sure to join us next week as we investigate the strange mountains of earth that have risen in the famed 'mud lot.'"

17 To Compete For Fellowship

Youngstown State University faculty members have nominated 17 outstanding students to compete in the 25th annual fellowship competition of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Clyde T. Hankey, professor of English and Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Campus Representative.

Nominees are men and women of exceptional promise who have demonstrated a clear interest in college teaching.

YSU seniors and recent graduates who have been nominated are: Ann Margaret Adams, sociology; Dana M. Dews, mathematics; James M. Diffley, economics; Roger W. Durbin, English; Kathleen Ann Fallat, English; Barbara Ann Fine, English; Daniel J. Fiorino, American politics; Frances Anne Gazdik, history; Judith Ann Gromada, English; George A. Hanuschak, mathematics; Kathleen A. Hughes, comparative government; Jerome A. Margala, English; Douglas C. Shank, geology; Melanie H. Simchick, English; Mrs. Linda A. Somo, English; Ann Stash, English and psychology; Sr. Joan Tirak, musicology.

Deadline Set For Elections

The deadline for filing for candidacy in the Student Council and Senior Elections is today at 2 p.m. Petitions with 25 signatures or more must be submitted to the Student Council office in Kilcawley Hall by that time. Thirteen Council members and four Senior Class officers will be elected.

YSU Students Attend Columbus Peace Rally

Approximately 45 YSU students attended an anti-war rally in Columbus last Saturday, held across the nation.

A crowd estimated about 3500 gathered on the statehouse lawns where they heard a series of six speakers whose topics ranged from condemnations of Kent indictments to peace speeches.

A delegation of the Hardhats of America was present, speaking with demonstrators and handing out literature.

One arrest was reported when a young woman was charged

Jukebox Considered Overwhelming Success

The experimental juke box in Kilcawley snack bar has been an overwhelming success, as indicated by an informal Jambar survey last week.

The poll revealed that 95% of the 30 students questioned liked the juke box and hoped it would remain.

The juke box was installed on a trial basis at the beginning of the fall quarter with the revenue going towards the new parking decks and the Kilcawley Center additions.

Darrell F. Rishel, Dean for Students Affairs, said yesterday that a vote would be taken "withing a few weeks" to determine if the juke box would become permanent. Dean Rishel suggested that due to the student response and use, "the juke box will probably be approved."

Typical of this response was Karren Key, a freshman majoring in Nursing, who claimed the "juke box helps to relax." Another frequent comment was that of Ronald Stockslayer, a freshman Police Science major, who said that it "helps break up the dull days of long breaks between classes."

Veterans Get Increased Benefits

Veterans at Youngstown State University will receive increased benefits in several new areas as a result of the Veteran's Education and Training Amendments Act of 1970 recently signed into law by President Richard M. Nixon, it was announced yesterday John E. Wales, III, director of financial aids at YSU.

Of immediate benefit to YSU students who are veterans is the fact that the VA now accepts 11 or more credit hours as a full-time academic undergraduate load as opposed to the 14 hours formerly required. The increase in allowances for veterans with no dependents who are full-time students amounts to $45.00 per month, or a total of $175.00 per month now against the former $130. There is also a substantial increase for the veteran with dependents.

Course loads approved by the VA are now 11 quarter hours and up—full load; 9-10 quarter hours—3/4 load; 6-8 quarter hours—1/2 load; 4-5 quarter hours—less than 1/2 load; and 1-3 quarter hours—1/4 load.

In addition to the increases in allowances, the new law provides several new programs of interest to colleges and veterans who wish to attend college. These are provisions whereby a veteran can enroll for non-credit deficiency courses or preparatory refresher courses if such enrollment is deemed necessary to the pursuit of the course of study he has chosen, and a special supplemental tutorial allowance.

The tutorial allowance may be paid to a veteran who is pursuing a post-secondary educational program for which he will be reimbursed for tutorial assistance to a maximum of $50.00 per month for a total of nine months. To meet this requirement the student must be attending half-time or more; must prove that he is failing or in danger of failing the subject in which tutoring is given; must first try the University's free tutorial service for a reasonable period of time; must have all professional tutoring paid for by himself while his case is being reviewed by the Regional Veterans Administration Office; and must have selected qualified tutors whose charges cannot exceed customary charges for similar assistance.

YSU currently has some 1,500 veterans registered and qualified for VA assistance under the "G.I. Bill" this quarter. This represents an increase of 12.5% over last year at the same time and ranks YSU third in the State behind Ohio State and Ohio Universities in the number of veterans attending college.

Pick The Winner

Ed Burns, a sophomore majoring in general business, is the first winner in the Jambar's "Pick the Winner" contest. Burns picked eight of nine teams that went on to win games in this weekend's schedule. Three other contestants also picked eight winners, but Burns came closest with his prediction of the point spread of the YSU-S. E. Louisiana game. All three of the finalists predicted that Cleveland would defeat San Diego. A total of 59 entries were received.

This week's choices include some of the most interesting games in the country. Once again arm-chair experts will have a shot at predicting the outcome of several college and pro games.

The rules are simple. Each contestant must submit only one entry. He must designate the winner of the specified game in the box provided. He must pick the point spread of the game designated at the bottom of the form in the order to break ties. All entries must be accompanied by name, telephone number and major for students, or position of faculty and administration. Entries are limited to faculty, administration and student body of Youngstown State University. All entries will be checked. Entry deadline is noon on Friday of that week.

Winners will receive the 1971 Playboy desk calendar.

Getting Punched In The Dark- Coach Beede Defends Team

Coach Dwight "Dike" Beede yesterday cited "poor public relations" as the main reason for the tarnished image of the YSU grid team.

According to Coach Beede, one of these destructive press releases was a Jambar editorial on October 16 entitled "Opion-Time for a Change." Here, both Beede and the team were charged with consistent losing. The editorial stated that the "YSU football team has gone drastically downhill."

Yesterday, Coach Beede offered his comments on the charges. He agreed that it is human nature to downgrade a team when they do not win. However, he also stated that the area residents were not acquainted with the team's goal-to make YSU a respected football power in the future.

Coach Beede continued that "it would be easy for the team to go undefeated if we scheduled teams that have no business beating us." However, it is our desire to improve YSU's football stature. This can only be done by playing tough teams now. The coach noted that even though the team had not won any games to date, they had never "been put out of a game." When asked about the charge that recruitment was hurt by a losing team, Beede countered that "the boys relish a challenge. In fact, some are drawn here because we play these tough teams."

Another argument of the Jambar article was that "losing does not sell tickets." Coach Beede's rebuttal was that "a football organization should not be manipulated to win." The coach felt that the team's morale (which he says is very high on the present squad) is more important.

Coach Beede denied that his coaching is "dated." He noted that most of the so-called "old-fashioned" plays have been gaining good yardage. However, he stated that when the fans see an unconventional setup, they immediately label it "dated."

Finally, when asked to comment about the Jambar editorial as a whole, Beede replied, "I didn't like it because it was anonymous. It's like getting punched in the dark."

YSU Suffers 6th Straight Loss

Youngstown State University suffered its sixth straight setback of the season as Southeastern Louisiana University outscored the Penguins 50-27. The contest took place at Strawberry Stadium, Hammond, Louisiana Saturday night before 5,000 fans.

The Lions tamed the Penguins in the first half by 29-7, and gained their second win in seven games. The win revenged the 20-7 loss last year.

Youngstown had 22 first downs, compared to the Lions' 20, and 378 yards in the air as Klembara and Jaworski converted on 18 of 50 passes. The Penguins had 104 yards rushing. The Lions had 352 yards on the ground and 114 in the air, but only hit 10 of 21 in the passing department.

Denny Klembara, the starting quarterback for the luck-less Birds, suffered a nose injury in the first half and Ron Jaworski took over in the final two frames. The sophomore from Lackawanna, N.Y., fired for three touchdowns in the fourth quarter, to Mike Pacak on a 58-yard bomb, Bob Ferranti for a toss of 23 yards, and to Bundy Miller with a 30-yard screen.

The Penguins will host the Akron Zips this Saturday and Gustavus Adolphus on November 14. YSU will then go back on the road for its final contest of the year with Chattanooga on November 21.

A Clearing In The Woods

Arthur Laurents "A Clearing in the Woods" opens tonight at 8 p.m. in Strouss Auditorium. It is the first major production this year of the YSU 1970-1 Theater Series.

Directed by Dr. Gill Hulsopple, the production will be performed in the round in the newly constructed "Spotlight Theater" in Strouss Auditorium. The arrangement was conceived for a more realistic effect for the viewing audience.

"A Clearing in the Woods," first presented on Broadway, prompted the playwright to reflect that he "was happier writing it than anything else he had attempted." The play centers around a young lady, Virginia, who is searching for her own personal identity—and ultimately her own acceptance of herself as an individual. The search brings her in contact with herself in other stages of development as well as in contact with various men who have played influencing roles in her past.

George, played by Eric Sellers, is a symbol of nonsense who believes in nothing and says further that since nothing is everything, he cannot be hurt.
