OEA furnished budget minus salary disclosures

The university has furnished the Ohio Education Association an "income and expenditure summary" and will furnish an "appropriations request" plus "budget estimates" as a result of a court hearing yesterday morning which lasted less than three minutes.

The information was furnished for the 1970-71 and 1971-72 academic years.

An OEA spokesman, Dr. Stephan Hanzely of the physics and astronomy department, said yesterday that there is "sufficient reason to believe that the OEA will be able to secure any budget information they may want at any time in the future." Atty. Eugene Green represented the OEA.

However, at an open meeting with Student Council yesterday afternoon, President Albert L. Pugsley said that there will be no disclosure of salaries and that the question of salary disclosure is a moot one.

President Pugsley in discussing the matter with the students and administrators present said that the term budget means many things to many people. He said that one budget is prepared for the Ohio Board of Regents and is an estimate of the number of enrollments both part time and full time as well as the estimated amount of revenue and the amount of appropriations requested from the state legislature.

A second budget comes about after the state appropriation is made. A third budget exists and this budget is the "internal operating plan" for the university and he added that this document is approved by the Board of Trustees and that there exists no state requirement making this document public.

University Council, Atty. John G. Ingram, said yesterday that a public record is defined as any record required to be kept by a governmental unit and that he knows of no state requirement that a record of these expenditures be kept.

The hearing was held before Common Pleas Judge Forrest J. Cavalier and was attended by students, faculty members and administrators. Joseph Rook vice-president for financial affairs, represented the university.

President Albert L. Pugsley, Dr. Earl E. Edgar, vice president for academic affairs, and Joseph S. Rook, vice president for financial affairs, fielded questions from a group of about 70 students who attended the student-administration conference sponsored by Student Council and held yesterday in the audiovisual room of the library.

Bill Jones, Student Council president acted as moderator and began the conference by asking the president about the services the university provides for the individual student. Pugsley said that presently many facilities are impossible because of a lack of space but said that the new Student Center will help alleviate that problem.

When asked how the president secures the necessary student opinion on controversial issues, Pugsley said that he reads the minutes of student council and other meetings. He said that he welcomes the opportunity to meet with the student body.

Mr. Rook was then asked if he knows if any FBI agents are on campus. He said he knew of none. President Pugsley did say, however, that he has had three or four calls from federal investigators who have asked for use of university facilities. Pugsley granted them the use of the facilities they asked for when legal.

The questioning then turned to the use of photographic surveillance on the YSU campus by the university security police during past demonstrations. The student wanted to know why the pictures were taken and where they have gone. The president said they were taken during a tense situation and were necessary for legal recourse.

Pugsley was asked about the Ohio Education Association and how he felt about the organization on the YSU campus. He said he believes the OEA represents some members of the faculty and said that in his opinion the OEA has done some things that "are less than professional."

In answer to one student's question on the changing of text books Pugsley said that too frequent changing of text books places an "unnecessary burden" on the student and added that he was totally on the student's side on that issue.

President Pugsley and Mr. Rook.

Supreme Court dismisses libel suit against YSU

The U.S. Supreme Court yesterday dismissed an appeal from the Ohio Supreme Court filed by Youngstown jeweler Charles Carolyn in connection with a libel suit filed against YSU and President Pugsley, according to the Associated Press.

The Court, with recently confirmed Justices Powell and Rehnquist on the bench, declined to examine the lower court's decision on the basis of a lack of a substantial federal question being involved.

The lower court had ruled that President Pugsley and the university were agents of the state of Ohio and thus immune from legal action.

The libel suit developed from a 1968 issue of the Jambar in

Patent Granted

Dr. Henry P. Sheng, associate professor of chemical engineering at YSU has been granted a patent for this "Method for the Continuous Doping of Semiconductor Materials."

This marks the fourth patent granted to Dr. Sheng and contains 13 claims.

YSU Senate 'vacations'—

Student voting issue delayed

The secret mail balloting to decide whether students will be allowed voting memberships on the University Senate has not taken place, it was revealed at Friday's Senate meeting.

It was voted at the December 3 Senate meeting to put the issue to a mail ballot of the entire Senate, but because of the holiday, explained Dr. David M. Behen, chairman of the Constitution and Bylaws Committee, the ballots were not mailed out. He mentioned that the Constitution makes no provisions as to when the voting must take place in such a case.

Under new business, Larry Simko, president of Student Government, requested that the Senate "charge the proper committee with an investigation into the ridiculous, continual, unnecessary, wasteful and possibly illegal change of textbooks for required courses."

Simko also presented a statement signed by himself, Bill Jones, chairman of Student Council, and Mike Duquin, Student Council representative-at-large, requesting the restudy and restructuring of student representation on Senate committees in hopes of a "more equitable distribution" of students.

As an example, Simko noted that there are eight student seats and 13 non-student seats on the Student Affairs Committee.

A special meeting will be held by the Senate Jan. 21 to vote upon the matter of notification by department chairmen of non-reappointment of faculty members. The motion states that full-service faculty with more than one academic year completed at YSU should receive written notification no later than Dec. 15 that their department chairman does not intend to recommend reappointment. Full-service faculty with less than one year academic year should receive notification by March 1, according to the proposal.

The special meeting was called so that President Pugsley would be present to discuss that matter and so that should the issue be passed, it could be brought before the Board of Trustees at their winter meeting.

The Senate also passed the report of the University Curriculum Committee which a

Students get care for kids

YSU students desiring care for their children while attending classes, may enroll their children at reduced rates at the Lutheran Services' Infant and Child Care Center, Student Government President Larry Simko said yesterday.

Nineteen students from child psychology, sociology and educational psychology classes at YSU who are volunteering their time each week to helping at the center, make it possible for the Lutheran Services to charge YSU students $1 for eight hours.

Some sociology students have the option of writing term pa-

Jewish Fellowship will have Israel film festival

The Jewish Fellowship of YSU announced their plans yesterday for an Israel Film Festival, January 24 and 25 at the Jewish Community Center on Gypsy Lane.

The festival is open to the public and tickets will be $1.00 per person. Each ticket will enable the person to attend both evenings of films.

On January 24 at 7:30 p.m. two films will be presented; the comedy, Every Bastard a King and at 9:15, The Boy Across the Street. The following evening at 8 p.m. the film, Siege, will be featured. Siege, like all the films, was produced in 1970 for the Cannes Film Festival. All films are dubbed in English.

Running concurrently with the film will be a series of informative short subjects concerning Israel's relations with other countries, cultural and medical achievements and immigration absorption. These films will be shown without charge from 1 to 5 p.m. on January 25 in the audio-visual room of the university library.

Tickets for the film festival are available from members of JSF and the Jewish Center or at the door.

pers or donating their time to aid the professional staff at the center.

The Rev. William Hartman, director of Lutheran Services, said the actual cost to the center is $10.62 per child for an eight hour period.

All members of the staff are certified nursery school attendants who work directly with the Youngstown Board of Education using modern approaches in pre-school training.

The center is open 24 hours a day, serving hot meals and snacks during the day. Accommodations for all age groups are available from infants up to fifth graders. The children are divided into groups by their physical and mental development. Study groups and tutoring programs are provided for school age children.

Currently there are 41 children attending plus 10 children of YSU students, Olin Knudson, assistant director said.

The ratio of children to instructors is 6-1.

Lutheran Services Infant and Child Care Center is located at 104 W. Evergreen Ave. For further information call Rev. Hartman or Olin Knudson at 788-2471.

Summer study tour offered

The YSU department of history has announced plans for a 39-day summer study program in Europe extending from July 6 through August 12.

The tour is offered as History 850, European Area Study, and carries with it nine hours of college credit.

Previous groups from the geography and history departments have enjoyed study tours of western and northern Europe, but this year's program offers a fascinating departure from the norm, beginning with six days in Rome and two in Florence, Italy.

This will be followed by a 14-day sea cruise of the Mediterranean on one of the 5000-ton sister ships of the Epirotiki fleet.

Stops include Corfu, the legendary final haven of Ulysses; three days in Athens; the Place of Knossos (Crete); Limassol and Famagusta (Cyprus); three days in Israel (Haifa, Tel Aviv and Jerusalem); the island for Rhodes; Dubrovnik (Yugoslavia); and Venice.

Afterwards, the group will spend three days in Einsiedeln, Switzerland, with a side trip to Lucerne; six days in Paris; and six days in London, with optional excursions to Shakespeare Country.

The tour costs will be $1,095 per person with all who are interested in making this tour urged to contact the history department at the earliest possible date.

Shooting spree causes four deaths

BATON ROUGE, La. AP — Two deputy sheriffs and two young black demonstrators were killed Monday in an exchange of shots in a predominantly black area, police said.

The gunfire began, police and other witnesses said, shortly after noon when young blacks blocked area streets with cars bearing out-of-state license tags and told residents: "We're here to give you your city back."

Mayor W.W. "Woody" Dumas said five police officers as well as Eddie Bauer, the city's chief of police, had been beaten badly when police attempted to move the car-barricades. Both deputies killed were white.

Dumas said, "The chief has been pretty badly whipped." He called the shootings "useless and senseless."

The mayor said the incident apparently stemmed from the arrest of two or three Black Muslims seized while soliciting funds last week without a license.

"They're talking about taking over our city," Dumas said. "We're clearing the deck and we're ready to take them on."

The last count from police on those injured totaled 20, including newsmen Bob Johnson and Maurice Cockerham, both of WBRZ-TV in Baton Rouge.

Reed Canada, a negro businessman, said he spotted Johnson in front of his store, "bleeding badly from the head and I saw him get hit with another bottle. He was hurt bad, real bad."

Dumas conferred with Gov. John McKeithen and Parish county officials and imposed a 5:30 p.m. citywide curfew. It was to last until 6 a.m. today.

Dumas said there was a meeting of blacks at the Temple Theater, site of the Monday confrontation, last Friday night where those who attended called for "a change in conditions, money, good homes and peace."

"They just shot five people," Dumas said. "They're really looking for peace."

The area where the shootout occurred is about two miles southeast of Louisiana's 34-story capitol building.

The governor called out state police and about 800 National Guardsmen. McKeithen said the Guard was ordered to assemble on a request by Dumas.

Henry Baptiste, a black cameraman for WBRZ-TV, said the first shots came from young blacks dressed in suits and bow ties. He said "five or six blacks" fired from between buildings and from alleyways with pistols and shotguns.

The blacks opened fire, Baptiste said, when police arrived to move the cars barricading the street Canada, who left his store as police pulled out of the area, told newsmen he didn't think the Baton Rouge black community was involved.

geology, international physical education and archeological techniques. This report now goes to the Trustees.

Also passed was the statement of Operational Policies for Media Center Services at YSU authored by Dr. Winston Eshleman, Media Center Director. The report details the services and policies of the media center including rentals, storage, circulation and budgeting.

Project nears completion

The YSU parking decks will be completed and ready for student use by the end of January or not more than two weeks thereafter according to Mr. Nick J. Leonelli, director of campus planning.

No definite opening date has been planned at this time, but students will be notified at least one week ahead of time, through student publications.

The decks, due to open sooner, were delayed mostly by inclement weather conditions.

Upon completion, the decks will offer parking facilities for 1,250 cars.

The opening of the Beeghly Physical Education Center, also held up due to weather conditions and delayed material deliveries is now slated to open on March 6, according to Leonelli.

The Campus Renewal Project involving the relocation of the old bookstore building will begin in March or April. According to plans, the old bookstore will be moved to the site of the old Jambar building as soon as the old facilities are demolished. The old bookstore building will then house the YSU band and print shop. The Jambar, currently located at 629 Bryson St., will be part of the facilities housed in the new addition for the Kilcawley Student Center. The addition will also house offices, meeting rooms, reading and music lounges. Construction on the new wing is slated to begin soon, with completion date set for fall of 1973, according to Leonelli.

Ed. Soc. seminar being offered first time; students deal with minority problems

Because faculty members in the School of Education felt there was a better way to teach an education course than just by lectures and reading textbooks, a new course in Educational Sociology will be offered for the first time during this quarter.

Entitled Educational Sociology seminar, the course will require each student to participate in an intensive field project designed to give him an understanding of minority groups in our population and their cultures. This field experience coupled with regular seminar sessions will be the basis for a written paper and will be under the Foundations of Education department.

The new course evolved through an experimental program which involved students in extensive off-campus work and was carried out through the cooperation of the Home School Visitors. It involved students in the "lighted schools" program, the Blue Triangle program, and in one-to-one tutoring situations.

The "lighted schools" and Blue Triangle programs are operated by the Youngstown Public Schools and the YWCA respectively, the benefit of inner-city pupils.

The purpose of all this was to put the University students into close touch with pupils from inner-city schools so that "culture shock" could be avoided or reduced for those who might eventually teach in such schools.

According to Dr. William O. Swan, associate professor of education and chairman of the Foundations of Education Department, it was felt that the particularly sensitive position of a teacher mandates that special care be taken to prepare him to interact with persons from all sectors of society and that the curriculum should reflect this mandate.

An important by-product of the seminar course is that University students will be involved with a number of educative, social-welfare, judicial and other community agencies.

Acting in the belief that the students should be exposed as much and as often as possible to authorities in minority cultures and problems, the course will also include a telelecture series.

The tentative list of 16 lecturers for the telelectures include James Farmer of Lincoln University, the founder of CORE and a consultant in Urban Education; Charles E. Silberman, associate editor of Fortune Magazine and the author of "Crisis in Black and White" and "Crisis in the Classroom;" Dr. James E. Cheek, president of Howard University; Dr. Kenneth Williams, president of Winston-Salem State University and a nationally-known expert of special education programs for young Blacks; and Nathan Hare, director of the Institute of the Black World, editor of the "Black Scholar" and a nationally-acknowledged scholar in Black Affairs and Education.

Some of the topics to be discussed will be problems of cultural pluralism, economics of subjugation, Black nationalism and the Black communication media, minority group life styles as viewed from the vantage point of social welfare agencies, and the minority group church; it's social foundation as an agent of social closure.

Dr. J. Leonard Azneer, associate professor of education and the faculty member instrumental in setting up this new curriculum, said that the evaluation of the seminar will be made by using both a subjective and objective approach.

The subjective approach will involve having the students evaluate the seminar's worth by using an instrument created for this purpose, insuring the anonymity of the respondents, while the objective approach will involve administering a standardized attitudinal pre-test at the outset and the conclusion of the seminar in an attempt to search out changes of attitudes and for understanding of minorities and their cultures.

Krishna group holds festival; spiritual awareness stressed

The International Society for Krishna Consciousness Inc. will sponsor a Transcendental Unity Festival at 2 p.m. next Tuesday in Pollock House.

Sri Govinda das Adhikary, president of the Cleveland Temple and his fellow disciples will be present to lead sessions of instruction. These sessions, dealing in transcendental philosophy, spiritual consciousness, group chanting, mantra meditation and vegetarian cookery will be held concurrently in different rooms of the Pollock House.

who was on campus yesterday preparing the way for next week's Unity Festival hopes explained that his objective is not to change anyone but "to have people inquire into the nature of their own existence."

Tryouts extended for upcoming play of drama dept.

Any student interested in following in the illustrious footsteps of such famous men as Richard Burton, George C. Scott or Tab Hunter might begin his career by trying out for the YSU Speech and Drama Department's second show of this school year, The Madwoman of Chaillot.

The tryouts, which began last night will be held again tonight and tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in Strouss Auditorium. The Wednesday night extension was added because publicity has been light. The play has speaking parts for seventeen men and eight women with numerous "walk-on" parts.

The Madwoman of Chaillot, which was written by Jean Giraudoux and adapted by Maurice Velency, is the story of a "madwoman" who represents good and who does her best to stop several greedy entrepreneurs in their plot to destroy Paris in order to get at the oil that has been discovered beneath the city.

For more information contact Dr. William Hulsopple at the Spotlight Theater Box-office in Strouss Auditorium or call the speech and drama department. The tryouts are open to all YSU students.

The spreading of Krishna Consciousness in the English language to the West was initiated by Abhay Charan De, an Indian philosopher who studied in Calcutta during the 20's. He was formally initiated in 1933 and, at the advanced age of 70 came to New York city in 1965.

His work began at Tompkins Square and in a short time spread to Greenwich Village. He acquired a large following and moved to San Francisco where his efforts became nationwide in scope.

The philosophy of this movement is non-sectarian and teaches that "our real self is beyond this temporary bodily designation." The impetus of Krishna Consciousness focuses beyond the physical and material and is concerned with the spiritual realm.

Birds bomb Buffalo, 90-61; play Gannon tomorrow

The Penguins clobbered Buffalo State, 90-61, Friday evening in the Struthers Fieldhouse before 2,670 fans giving the Birds eight wins against one defeat.

The Pens face powerful Gannon at 8 p.m. tomorrow night in the Struthers Fieldhouse.

The leading scorer in Friday's contest was Billy Johnson as he sank 12 of 25 field goals, was six of eight at the free throw line, and had ten assists for 30 points in the game. Willy Wells scored 18 points, Ron Smith totalled 12 points and Bill McMeans sank six field goals and one free shot, for 13 points. Greg Merrill, Jeff Skeeles, Chuck Montgomery and Rich Denamen scored six, five, four, and two points respectively.

The Penguins shot 40% from the field and 73.7% from the free throw line compared to BSU's 31% in making field goals and 34.5% from the free throw line.

YSU's rebounded 66 times to Buffalo's 32 as the Birds out-hustled the Niagara school in every department.

Swim team wins at Thiel, shows strength, promise

Apparently Bob Leahy didn't come to coach YSU's swimming team alone. It seems that he's brought along Lady Luck!

To start with, Leahy, former head man at Hamline (Minn.) University, entered the Dec. 10 Thiel meet a decided underdog since six Penguins were scholastically ineligible and a seventh was injured. Presto! YSU gave an excellent team effort and won, 63-41.

Next, five of the ineligible Penguins met all the requirements to enable them to swim this quarter. Back are Nick Gavolas, Don Miller, Jeff Suain, Rick TAtsch and Ben Weber. Gavolas is the senior All-American diver from New Kensington, Pa., and TAtsch is YSU's junior 200-yard individual medley record holder from Alliance.

In addition, Leahy has put two more swimmers on the roster, Chuck Cook and Rami Yehudai. Both freshmen, Cook is a butterfly and freestyle artist from Warren Western Reserve while Yehudai is an outstanding breaststroker from Haifa, Israel.

However, Leahy did lose three performers due to scholastic ineligibility—senior freestyler and backstroker Rob Johnson of Wheeling, W.Va., freshman freestyler and backstroker Paul Sloan of Boardman, and Jack Prest, junior breaststroker out of Cardinal Mooney.

Today the swimming Birds take on California State and Washington and Jefferson in a double dual meet at California, Pa. The Pens next match is Jan. 28 when they travel to Cleveland State to swim against the boys of that Lake Erie city. The next day the Penguins host the wetted Akron Zips with promises to be a splashing contest.

Leahy is looking for good performances again tomorrow from co-captains Tom McGee and Chuck Nienhuis and sophomore John Carroll. All were double winners against Thiel.

A sophomore from Warren Western Reserve, McGee took the 100-yard freestyle and 200-yard individual medley. He also swims some butterfly. Nienhuis, Holland, Mich., junior, won the 1,000-yard freestyle and 200-yard backstroke. Greensburg, Pennsylvania's Carroll captured the 200 and 500 yard freestyle events.

The Penguin roundballers smashed Walsh College 81-61 last night at Walsh. YSU's record now stands nine wins and one

Survey being taken to solve campus parking problem

In an innovative attempt to solve the parking and traffic problems here at YSU, a survey is now being taken among the commuting students who utilize the university parking lots, Don Schwartzmiller, YSU's director of parking said yesterday.

The questionnaire for the survey, which was officially distributed yesterday morning, are being handed out by the parking lot attendants and ask questions concerning the time the student arrives on campus, his time of departure, the route he takes to the university, and the number of persons riding in each vehicle.

According to Mr. Schwartzmiller, the answers to these questions will be computed and analyzed in order to see if the university can ease the traffic and parking problems by recommending the repair or improvement of streets used most frequently by YSU commuters or by recommending the establishment of new mass transit routes.

The questionnaire also provides a space for student comments.

When asked if he thought some of the comments would be "interesting," Schwartzmiller said that he was not sure but that one student's comment was an apology for driving to school alone. Schwartzmiller does not expect all of the commuters to be as compromising.

other individuals from the YSU campus and the city of Youngstown.

Mark T. Shutes, who was Jambal editor at the time, is now the sole defendant in the case, but it was unclear yesterday whether Carolyne intends to proceed with the case.

In appealing the decision that the university and President Pugsley could not be sued, Carolyne argued that his right to equal protection was being involved.
