Cable severed; blackout results

Classes at YSU were cancelled yesterday as a result of a power failure due to a break in a high voltage cable feeding over half the campus.

The break occurred as a construction worker was clearing dirt from the cable conduit with a backhoe. The cable was located behind the existing Kilcawley center and in the location of the addition. The construction worker employed by the Charles Shutrump Co. was not injured since a ground wire carried most of the released current. The Shutrump Company, is primary contractor for the new Kilcawley extension.

The break occurred at 2:04 p.m. and President Pugsley formally called off classes at 4 p.m. Buildings affected by the break were the Kilcawley Dorm and Cafeteria, the Ward Beecher Science Complex, the Engineering Building, the Library, Tod Hall, Jones Hall, East Hall, Central Hall, West Hall, and the Executive Office building.

The Jambar building was not affected by the loss of power and was able to publish today's issue with no difficulty. Other campus buildings not affected were the Arts and Sciences Office Building, (Cont. on page 2)

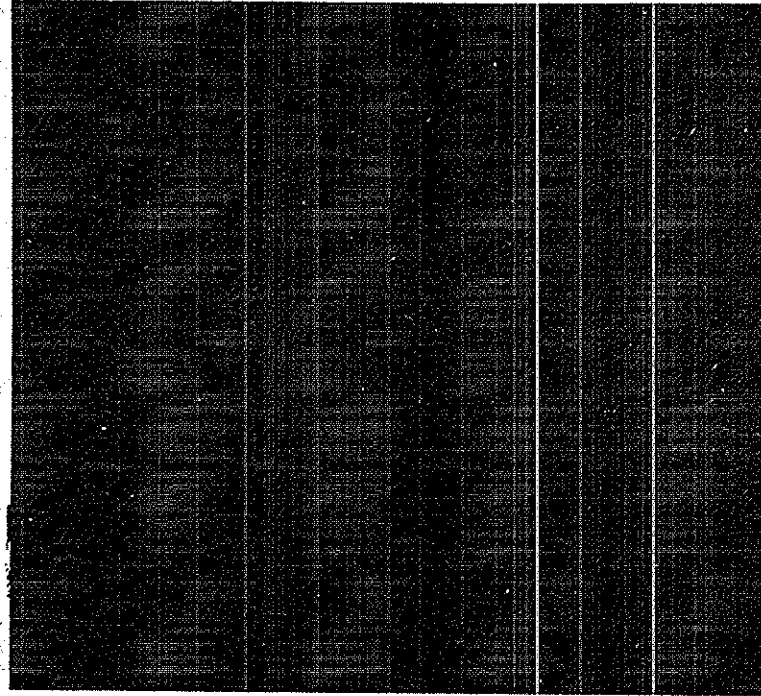

OEA letter sent to Prexy; budget specifics requested

The YSU chapter of the OEA sent a letter, yesterday, to President Albert L. Pugsley and several other university officials requesting to see specific financial records of the university, including faculty salaries. The Jambar was presented a copy of the letter by Stephen Henzely, assistant professor of physics and astronomy and chairman of the Financial Affairs Committee of the OEA. Professor Henzely was also one of the signers of the letter.

The letter maintains that according to a ruling of the Common Pleas Court of Mahoning County on January 10, 1972, the YSU-OEA is entitled to examine the financial records of the university.

Accordingly, the letter also asks that the OEA be allowed to see the following university finan- (Cont. on page 6)

SC in busy session hears OEA, AAUP positions

Student Council yesterday voted to send a letter lending support to the goals of the Ohio Education Association and the American Association of University Professors after representatives presented positions of both organizations regarding the representation of faculty members.

Dr. Thomas A. Shipka, assistant professor of philosophy and first vice president of the YSU OEA and Dr. Esther P. Niemi, associate professor of economics and chapter president of the the YSU AAUP were allowed five minutes each to present their organization's platform.

Dr. Shipka, in explaining that the YSU Chapter of the OEA was formed because of past treatment of certain faculty members, claims that the AAUP cannot be an effective bargaining agent because it is dominated by faculty chairmen who are influenced by the administration.

"Some 150 full time faculty members, 40% of the YSU faculty, have signed authorizations for the OEA to represent them," he said. "The OEA is working towards a community for equals working together for self-determination" instead of a "tyranny or a group of individuals who only set up window dressing" which passes for self-determination on the part of the faculty.

"AAUP does not favor immediate salary raises which the students would end up partly paying for," Dr. Niemi remarked. "We prefer a long range plan for improvements which will maintain a responsible practice and a professional attitude and approach."

"The AAUP is the only organization of higher education for all faculty members including limited service faculty, department heads, graduates and teacher assistants," Dr. Niemi added. "It is noteworthy for what it has done for higher education," she said. Dr. Shipka explained that he OEA is seeking support from the students because self-determination of the faculty and the students go together. "The OEA has opposed President Pugsley on the proposed cut back on Upper Division courses and full-time faculty," he said.

Dr. Niemi told Council that the AAUP, with 140 active members, favors growth of resources for monies while negotiating. In the past, it has accomplished the lightening of teachers' loads, she said.

At the conclusion of the presentations a letter was read by Council Publicity Chairman Chuck Hettler commending and giving full support to both organizations in their attempt to better their lot for themselves and their families. It also congratulated both groups in their effort not only on behalf of the faculty but in regard to the entire YSU community. The letter finally stated (Cont. on page 7)

Pete Is Dead

PETE IN HAPPIER DAYS - In this 1970 photograph Pete the Penguin and his keeper, Henry Dalverny entertain some young children at a basketball game.

Pete the Penguin, the official YSU mascot, is dead at the age of eight.

According to a post mortem released from Dr. James H. Swart, a veterinarian of the Department of Parks in Pittsburgh, Pete died of visceral gout with secondary kidney damage. Visceral gout is a symptom of old age in penguins.

Pete, who was born and raised in the Pittsburgh Zoo, came to YSU in 1967. He traveled with both the basketball and football teams to all their scheduled sporting events.

Pete was buried in a vault in the backyard of his keeper, Henry Dalverny, a junior art major, in Bulger, Pa.

Campus Shorts

History Flick

The History Club will present the film, "The Seven Samurai" at 3 and 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Engineering and Science Auditorium.

The film takes place in 16th century Japan where a beleaguered Japanese village hires seven Samurai to fight a band of pillaging bandits.

Koknat Published

Dr. Friedrich W. Koknat, assistant professor of chemistry has had his article "High-Temperature Conproportionation of Niobium Pentahalide and Niobium Metal; a Convenient Route to Hydrated Cluster Halides $Nb_6Cl_{14} \cdot 8H_2O$ and $Nb_6Br_{14} \cdot 8H_2O$ " accepted for publication by the journal Inorganic and Nuclear Chemistry Letters.

Professor Rubin to Speak Today

Alan Rubin, professor of law at the Cleveland State University law school, will speak at 4 p.m. in the faculty cafeteria in Kilcawley Hall on "What Collective Bargaining Can and Can't Do For You."

Professor Rubin, an expert on faculty collective bargaining, is active in the American Association of University Professors. His address at YSU, which is sponsored by the local chapter of the AAUP, is open to all interested parties.

Skiers Meet

The Penguin Ski Club will meet tomorrow at 7:30 in Ward Beecher Room 103. The meeting will include discussion of future club events.

Budget Meeting

The Student Council Budget Committee is preparing its budget for the 1972-73 fiscal year. All student organizations who wish to be funded for the coming year pick up application forms in Room 108, Kilcawley Student Council office.

Tutor Needed

A tutor is needed to tutor elementary and advanced accounting courses. To qualify, a student has to be in good standing with the university, to have a C or better in the subject that is needed and to hold no other job with the university. The rate is $2.00 per hour. All interested students should apply at Room 12, Ford Hall.

Rangers Meeting

The ROTC Rangers will hold a meeting at 4 p.m. Friday in the library of the Pollock House.

Undetermined Majors

All undetermined majors in the School of Arts and Sciences see Miss Geneva Mann or Jack Frankenburg, counselors, in the Arts and Sciences Office Building, Room 217 for spring quarter advisement beginning January 31.

ADS Rush

Alpha Delta Sigma, the national professional advertising fraternity, will hold a rush party 9 p.m. Wed. at the American Legion Hall on Spring Street, located between Wick and Bryson, across the street from the old Jambor building.

All advertising majors, minors, and marketing majors are invited to attend. Refreshments and entertainment will be provided for your benefit and pleasure.

OEA Meeting

The YSU OEA will meet tomorrow at 4 p.m. in Ward Beecher G1.

Group receives written statement on welfare rules

In response to requests from students for information on welfare guidelines, Dr. C. David Bertelsen, assistant dean of student Affairs, the Rev. Raymond A. DiBlasio, associate Newman chaplain, and the Rev. Richard D. Speicher, YSU Protestant chaplain, met with Ezell Armour, director of Mahoning County Welfare yesterday to clarify requirements for students seeking welfare.

The group received a written statement on the requirements for general relief, which falls under state and county regulations, and for foodstamps, which are regulated by the Federal government.

Interested students may inquire at the Student Affairs office or the Student Council office, both located in Kilcawley Hall, to obtain information on these programs.

Electricians from the Lake Erie Electric Company said it would take until about 2 a.m. to restore power to the university.

The loss of electric power presented few problems to the university community. A butane heater was installed in the Green House, and emergency generators were placed around the campus where power was absolutely necessary.

The basketball team had their usual pre-game steak dinner at the Hasti House rather than the Kilcawley cafeteria.

No More Birds

With the death of Pete the Penguin the Jambar would like to call upon the humanist (penguinist) qualities in all members of the YSU community to consider seriously the implications of keeping a penguin caged on our campus.

What right have we to insist that the bird, common to Antarctica, be subjected to the climate and atmosphere of Youngstown, Ohio, let alone YSU? What right have we to say that our school spirit is so inspired by the presence of a penguin to demand that one be brought to our campus?

Henry Dalverny, the penguin's keeper, insists that his visits to local schools with "his bird" so inspired them and filled them with good feelings towards YSU that it warrants the purchase of another bird. We say let them go to a zoo to see penguins if they want to see them so badly.

Perhaps rather than caging an animal we could dress a student as a penguin in the future.

The Jambar would even go so far at this point in time to ask the university to reconsider the penguin as the school's mascot. We have been known as the fighting penguins far too long.

Beer on Campus

The question of selling and purchasing beer on YSU's campus which surfaces annually was once again raised at yesterday's Student Council meeting.

The crux of the matter is not that beer is considered an absolute necessity; rather it is a question of being discriminated against because one is a YSU student.

Anyone of legal age can purchase and consume beer at the various establishments surrounding the YSU campus yet on the campus itself the paternalism of the administration seeks to supercede the laws of the state. Why do the powers that be consider themselves to be more judicious than the laws of the state?

Letters to the Editor

Says conservative student atypical

To the editor of the Jambar:

This letter is written in response to Mr. Alterio, Schultz, and Thorsby's letter denouncing Mr. Weaver's statements of two weeks past.

The gist of their letter was to express their disgust with Mr. Weaver's conservative views—a disgust I equally share. They say that he is "shallow" because he opts for the easy way out by allowing lethal weapons in the hands of National Guard troops on campus. Agreed. That he is insensitive to the parents' grief of those four murdered KSU students. Agreed. That he is ignorant in placing property rights over human life. Agreed. Irresponsible in not recognizing the great social problems besetting our country that finds its manifestations in student unrest. Agreed. And because of these aforementioned qualities, a typical student. NO WAY.

Don't be so fallacious as to assume that this man's personal philosophy is indicative of the "typical" student. Where did you get the idea that the "establishment" ever "appreciated" the typical college student. It has not been the various veterans organizations that have constituted the basis from membership in the various movements; such as an end to the Indo-China war, Civil Rights, Ecology, as well as the other broad social issues of the day. By and far, these movements have found their single largest constituency and strength in the university; though various veterans groups have added validity and force to these movements. The Kent and Jackson State tragedies, the Washington peace marches, the busted heads in Chicago, the disalienation and disillusionment of the young—this is what typifies the college student. Not Mr. Weaver.

No, don't give him to us, he'll find a very cool reception. Give him instead to the Alsops, the Buckleys, the Mitchells, and the Y.A.F. And as for them erecting an "ivory tower" for him to hang his "do not disturb" sign on, they needn't go to such an elaborate expense. Rent him a room at the Pollock house.

Blames students for parking woes

To the editor of the Jambar:

Many problems are created with the expansion of an inner-city University. One of these problems which is of major concern here at YSU is the parking situation. The University has recognized this problem and have taken various constructive measures to try to minimize the parking dilemma.

1. The compiling of as much information on parking as possible so that a realistic approach can be taken towards the parking problem.
2. The investment of thousands of dollars in parking consultants studies.
3. The hiring of a competent parking director in the person of Mr. Don Schwartzmiller, who came here from the Traffic Department at Kent State University.

4. The planning of a six multiple parking deck structure and five surface lots creating approximately 7,000 parking spaces.

Looking at the other side of the picture, what have the students at YSU done to help minimize the parking problem:

1. They have purchased YSU parking stickers which supply part of the financial resources for parking facilities.
2. They have highly criticized the University's position on parking and this criticism can be questioned in terms of its validity.

The recent surveys on parking have shown that the riders-to-car ratio is approximately 1:1. If students are concerned about the parking problem, it seems to me that this rider-to-car ratio can be brought up to at least two riders per car thus lowering the amount of vehicles on campus.

The University does not necessarily have to provide parking facilities for students. Providing parking facilities is a fringe benefit offered to the students. I feel that the students should realize this fact the next time they criticize the University's policy on parking.

If there are any people who wish to help to work on minimizing the parking situation at YSU, contact Dan DeSalvo, Urban Studies Department, 6th floor Lincoln Bldg., ext. 498.

Teaching courses will require student form

All currently enrolled students who anticipate registering for any student teaching course during any quarter of the next academic year (1972-73) must submit to the student teaching office an application for enrollment by Wednesday, March 1, 1972, announced Dr. W. M. Hammack, director of student teaching.

These application forms can be obtained in the student teaching office, room 215 Elm St. School on Monday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 7:30 p.m.

The application gives the student teaching office the authority to arrange with a school system a location the applicant may be assigned as a student teacher.

The applicant must also register for education courses 841, 842, 843, and 860 which are required for the anticipated certificate. Registration and fee payment is the same procedure for student teaching as for other university courses. Student teaching is a 15 quarter hour credit course and requires the same fees as any usual 15 hour course load at YSU. During advisement and open registration period each quarter advisors will have a list of student teaching applicants approved for registration or who may register on evidence that deficiencies of prerequisites are cleared.

Ike, Tina Turner to headline next major events show

The Major Events Committee of Student Government is sponsoring a winter concert at 8 p.m. Sunday, February 13, at Struthers Fieldhouse, featuring the Ike and Tina Turner Revue and an unannounced local group.

Ike and Tina, a blues/soul duo who have performed various engagements, from the small town and nightclub circuit to a tour with the Rolling Stones, have come into prominence especially in the past few years. Their hit songs include "Proud Mary," "Fool in Love," and "Ain't No Mountain."

Instead of having a Winter Weekend, as in previous years, Student Government will sponsor the Ike and Tina Turner concert in February and another concert in April.

Tickets for the Ike and Tina Turner concert are $2.50 apiece with student ID and are on sale now at the Athletic Ticket Office in Kilcawley room 104. Tickets will also be on sale at the door.

Tankers splashed by Wayne State win skein halted

After three straight triumphs, the YSU swimming team suffered their first defeat of the season Saturday, falling victim to veteran Wayne State 80-32 in Detroit.

"We were beat by yards," commented coach Bob Leahy, referring to the 0,000 yards Wayne State swimmers log daily. The figure is almost double that of the Penguin tankers who are hampered by lack of their own facilities.

The veteran Tartars maintained their perfect record (4-0) with other wins coming at the expense of Waterloo, Buffalo and Kalamazoo.

There were bright spots in defeat, however, with several stand-out performances. Leahy was again pleased with the 400-yd. medley relay team (Rami Yehudai, Chuck Cook, Dick Tatsch and Tom McGee) who lowered their previous best clocking by seven seconds with a 3:58.4 time. Outstanding individual performances were also turned in by several tankers.

Dick Tatsch won the 100-yd. freestyle with a 52.7 clocking. Freshman sensation Rami Yehudai tied his own record in the 200-yd. breaststroke (2:24) on route to a second place finish. Tom McGee finished a close second in the Individual Medley with a personal best time of 2:15.

Livosky elected Board of Ed. Pres. in Campbell

William Livosky, YSU director of admissions, has been elected president of the Campbell Board of Education. Prior to assuming this new position, Mr. Livosky's served as vice-president of the board.

Mr. Livosky's duties as president will be to preside as chairman at all meetings, sign all contracts and head all operations of the schools and the regulations of funds.

Mr. Livosky says he has gained recognition as being an outspoken and arrogant member of the board. He states, however, that it is his right to speak his mind. He also feels his popularity is due to his not being afraid to criticize and step on a few toes and says he is running the Board of Education for the benefit of the students of Campbell.

Mr. Livosky has held the position as director of admissions at YSU for six years. He feels his new position as president of the Board of Education will not affect his work at YSU for any reason.

Mr. Livosky is a graduate of YSU and holds a degree in business. He is presently doing graduate work in accounting.

that Student Council agrees that "Dr. Albert L. Pugsley and the Board of Trustees of YSU should comply with state" and reveal the university budget for this and the preceding year. The motion on the sending of the letter passed by a 14-2-1 vote.

In further action, Larry Simko, Student Government President suggested that beer be sold on campus. He noted that Student Affairs Department will allow the sale of beer at the new Student Center when it is completed in two years. Simko had purchased a liquor license and had hoped to sell 3.2 beer at the movie night being held Friday. This move touched off debate as to the question of responsibility for beer sales as it relates to university policy forbidding the sale of alcoholic beverages. After lengthy discussion the subject was dropped with no motion being made concerning it.

Henry Dalverny, junior art major, proposed that a new penguin be purchased with funds from the operating budget for the YSU mascot. Council delayed action until the cost of another penguin is determined. Dalverny has invited an official of the Cleveland Zoo to speak before Council next week to explain all the particulars.

In final action two KSU students, Gary Javore and Jim Corcoran, addressed Council to explain the objectives of the Ohio Student Lobby. They are seeking participation in this group to expand and clarify how students can make their political power felt. Council has been advised by the KSU delegation that further material of the matter will be forwarded within the week.

Catch - YSU Power Play

by Carl Basic

Yesterday, one of modern society's most horrendous disasters struck YSU—a power failure. I decided to find out what the ramifications of the event were for the university community and what had actually caused the power failure.

One of the things the power failure caused was a torchlight rehearsal of the drama department's production of The Madwomen of Chailot. The show must go on, you know.

The director of YSU's visual aids department had a cardiac arrest when 48 film projectors, slide projectors, and tape recorders stopped simultaneously, thereby causing a premature end to films and/or recordings of: Renaissance Art in Southern Iceland, "The Mating Ritual of the Three-toed Sloth" and the 1936 Olympic Games.

Despite the power failure, Student Council met as scheduled. The lack of light did not affect Council since they're always in the dark anyway.

Miracle of miracles, the power failure even caused the closing of the university, something which even the heaviest snowfalls have failed to do. According to one administrator this just proves, once again, man's superiority to and domination of nature.

The closing of the university was an act of desperation and was resorted to only after President Pugsley's ultimatum "Let there be light" failed to elicit response from the recalcitrant light fixtures throughout the university.

Dean Dean reportedly did not want to close the university because he had just gotten a good deal on 5,000 used miner's helmets, complete with lamps, from someone known to this reporter only as Big John. The Dean said that the helmets would not be wasted because beginning next quarter he plans to sell the helmets to students, along with a whole quarter's supply of batteries, for $15. Battery replacements will cost $15 per quarter. The Dean feels this will be a great boon to the university since it will free the university of the responsibility of providing light in the student parking areas.

Rumors aplenty circulated on campus concerning the cause of the power failure.

Some said that the failure was caused by a group of romantic coeds who wanted to enjoy a candlelight dinner in the cafeteria.

The administration suspected that the OEA was responsible for the failure.

The OEA suspected that the administration was responsible for the failure.

The AAUP suspected both of them.

Mr. Sarasota of the YSU maintenance department believed that the Ecology Club was responsible. A belief he based on the fact that last week a representative of the club came to his office complaining about light pollution.

Although all of the aforementioned factors could have caused the failure, this reporter has it from a reliable source that the power failure was actually caused by a group of SDS Weathermen who wanted to give "all power to the People."

MR. DELTA—Darryl Barhan Tukufu was crowned Mr. Delta '72 at the second annual Mr. Delta Ball, sponsored by Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, held on January 15, 1972.

The Penguins cagers chomped the Defiance Yellow Jackets, 76-63, last night in the Struthers Field House. The Pens have won 14 games losing only to Saturday's foe, the Akron Zips. Thursday evening the Birds play Steubenville on their home court.

Students to voice grievances on welfare policy

Interested students will gather at 1:30 p.m. today in the County Commissioner's office, 1st floor of the Mahoning County Jail Building, 21 W. Boardman St., to voice grievances on alleged discrimination against students in welfare policy.

Bill Jones, Student Council chairman, urges students and faculty to attend.
