BS in Applied Science--

Board approves science degree

The YSU board of trustees, at their regular meeting Saturday, approved the establishment of a BS in Applied Science degree, passed a resolution establishing a fee for diagnostic services provided in the elementary education reading specialist program, and approved a resolution on the governing of Kilcawley Center.

T & CC

The new degree has been established to provide students enrolled in the engineering technology department of the Technical and Community College with the opportunity to secure a four year degree in the fields of civil, electrical and mechanical engineering technology. Plans for this new degree will be sent to the Ohio Board of Regents for final approval.

Quarterly fee

The Board also voted to charge each elementary school student participating in the recently instituted reading center, a quarterly fee of $50 ($10 for elementary pupils whose parents or guardians are receiving welfare assistance).

Individualized instruction

Under the Reading Center program, elementary students enrolled will receive individualized instruction from graduate students in the university's education department. The center has maximum capacity of 12 elementary students per quarter and the fee charged will be used to purchase the special diagnostic and remediation materials necessary for the program.

15-member board

The constitution governing the administration of the Kilcawley Center provides for a 15-member board comprised of eight undergraduates one graduate student, three faculty members, two administrative members and an alumnus.

Campus-centered

Presented by Mrs. Ann Isroff, chairman of the ad hoc Kilcawley Center committee, the constitution provides for a campus-centered life through comprehensive social, cultural and recreational programs for the YSU community and recommends the appointment of a Center Director.

While the administrative employees of YSU have voted to remain without an exclusive bargaining agent, the YSU custodial workers have gained recognition

State budget attacked by student government

A letter calling Ohio Governor John Gilligan's proposed education budget "a crisis and a turning point for students in higher education" was officially endorsed yesterday afternoon by Student Government.

This announcement came from Student Government President Tom Montgomery at yesterday afternoon's Student Council meeting.

The action was taken last Friday evening in an emergency meeting of Montgomery and Jack Stets, executive director of the Education Confederation.

Student Government, along with nearly all state universities in Ohio, issued complaints that the state's institutions of higher education have been receiving a low level of state tax revenue assistance.

The draft of the letter contains charges that "Ohio fails to provide adequate public educational opportunity for students beyond the secondary level." Another basis for argument, according to the prepared letter, is the contention that "high tuition and fees are resulting in discrimination against the poor."

Montgomery noted, that according to the outline of the Governor's budget, there could be a 3% hike in the instructional fee for institutions of higher learning. The budget also stipulates that there will be no capital improvements for universities, only a continuation of those projects presently under construction.

"Ohio is putting its own young people at a disadvantage," the letter charged. It termed state revenue as the only viable alternative to tuition and fee increases.

The letter resolves that any increases in instructional or general fees in state-assisted institutions...

Inauguration day protest calls for 'an end to the war'

President Nixon's second inauguration Saturday was met in Youngstown with a protest march by more than one hundred concerned students, faculty and citizens, who protested the president's continued involvement in the Vietnam war.

The local march was modeled after and occurred simultaneously with the mass protest in Washington, D. C., which attracted more than 100,000 dissenters. It's planning an extension was the result of the combined forces of the YSU Student Council, Community of Concern, and Mahoning Valley Peace Coalition.

The local protesters gathered at the Kilcawley amphitheatre, where they accepted a police escort, and proceeded by way of Bryson St. to Lincoln Ave., then down Wick Ave. to Central Square for the main rally.

The march was highlighted by signs, singing, and chants. The placards, varied in content, ranged from anti-Nixon to anti-war to vestiges of the not yet forgotten McGovern sentiments. The dissenters vocalizations alternated between "Give Peace a Chance" and "Stop the war."

Upon reaching Central Square, the protesters were met by a number of reporters and photographers along with a contingent of local police, both uniformed and plainclothed.

The rally was highlighted by five speakers. The first of these

Artist-Lecture

Dr. Sidney Hook, professor of philosophy and formerly head of the All-University Department at New York University will be at YSU as part of the Artist-Lecture Series Thursday and Friday. A discussion hour and press conference will be held at 10 a.m., Thursday in Pollock House. This meeting is open to faculty, staff and students. At 12 noon Thursday, Dr. Hook will meet with classes and talk to students. On Friday, Dr. Hook will be interviewed by WYSU-FM, dine with President Pugsley and lecture at St. John's Church at 8 p.m.

Lyndon Johnson is dead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. AP - Lyndon Baines Johnson, the ebullient Texan who as 36th president of the United States led the nation at the height of the turbulent 1960's died yesterday.

The 64-year-old former president, who had a long history of heart trouble, was stricken at his ranch in Johnson City and was dead on arrival at Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio, his press aide said.

The St. newell, Tex., native who combined a folksy manner with a will of iron that he used in the Congress and in the White House to bend legislators his way, presided over the buildup of the Vietnam war.

And it was the war that many said led to his announcement in March of 1968 that he would not run for another full term. At the same time, Johnson announced a halt in the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam above the 19th Parallel and set in motion the machinery that led to the Paris peace talks.

Campus Shorts

Dana Concert

The YSU Dana Concert Series will present Alpha Nu Chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, international professional music fraternity for women, in a Concert of American Music tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Dana Recital Hall.

The program features selections by Strauss, Schubert, Handel, Puccini, Dunhill and Beethoven, plus several others, and will be performed both vocally and instrumentally.

ACT Exam

YSU's Counseling and Testing Center will administer an American College Test (ACT) examination Saturday, February 24, with the registration deadline for the test Monday, January 29.

The test fees are $6.00 for national and $7.00 for residual with registration forms available at the University Counseling and Testing Center at 615 Bryson Street.

Radio Club

The next meeting of the YSU Amateur Radio Club will be held tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. on the first floor of Pollock House. All members of the club are asked to attend for important club matters will be discussed. Those who cannot attend are asked to call 746-9341 (ask for John). All members of the university community are also invited.

SNEA Meeting

There will be a Student National Education meeting from 7-9 p.m., Thursday, January 25 in Pollock House. Ed Ford will speak on "Reality Therapy." All education majors are welcome to attend.

Scuba Club Meeting

There will be a Scuba Club Meeting at 1 p.m., Friday January 26 at the Beeghly pool. Bring your diving gear.

Membership in Phi Kappa Phi

Membership in Phi Kappa Phi can be extended during the first year of the chapter's existence to all faculty members whose undergraduate or graduate records satisfy the requirements.

Membership provisions include the requirement that the candidate be a student of good character, with a minimum cumulative point average of 3.5 for undergraduate degree or 3.7 for the graduate degree. The deadline for application is February 2, 1973.

YSU OEA Party

The first social affair of the YSU-OEA's 1972-73 season will be a cocktail party from 3-5 p.m. Wednesday, February 14 at the Butler Museum of American Art.

YSU-OEA is currently negotiating a master contract for the faculty for 1973-75.

"Cosmos and Chronos"

There will be a meeting of the newly formed "Cosmos and Chronos" group at 4 p.m. tomorrow in the Buckeye Room of Kilcawley. Dr. Joseph May, assistant professor of history, will discuss the views of the controversial scientist, Immanuel Velikovsky.

'Scratching the surface'...

McLean tells his story

By Norm Bush
Managing Editor

When dealing with an artist, it can be very easy to mistake abundant self-confidence for arrogance. Don McLean, who says he has "just scratched the surface with my first three albums," and that "the best is yet to come," displayed great amount of both during a pre-concert interview in Beeghly Center Sunday night.

McLean's honesty, however, more than compensates for his lack of humility. "Everyone writes bad or mediocre songs," he said, and refused to discount the possibility of himself doing mediocre songs.

Following the success of "American Pie" last year, McLean toured constantly for eight months. He finally decided to slow down, and after taking a vacation for several months during which time he recorded the new album, he is back on the road again. For his present tour, McLean has cut his number of concert appearances down to two a week.

McLean is no longer interested in making a lot of money because he is already very wealthy. "The royalties from "American Pie" made a fortune for me. I've made enough money that I no longer have to be constantly touring," he said.

Concerning his choice of the Persuasions as an opening act, McLean said, "I'm basically a purist in my approach to the stage, and so are The Persuasions. Also I want to promote black music, since the music of blacks has been plundered and left in the trash. The Persuasions are a good act and they need work, and I'm able to give it to them. An since we happen to be good friends, and that makes it even nicer."

No interview with Don McLean would be complete without the omnipresent question concerning the meaning of "American Pie." McLean explained that it is basically about "the 60's, the golden age of liberalism of which we may never see the likes of again."

McLean has refrained from being political in his music because he believes that "if you're going to be political, you'd better do it full-time, like Jane Fonda."

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right — 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" — no starvation — because the diet is designed that way! It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is, honestly, a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $2.00 ($2.25 for Rush Service) — cash is O.K. — to Information Sources Co., P.O. Box 982, Dept. ST, Carpinteria, Calif. 93013. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do! This diet has been highly recommended by Sports Illustrated magazine (Jan. 4, 1971).

Two career libraries established ; information available to students

Two Career Libraries organized by Dr. George L. Letchworth, Director of the Counseling Center and Dr. Karl E. Krill, Dean of the Graduate School, have been organized and are now in operation for the benefit of students.

The Career Library housed on the second floor of the Testing and Counseling Office on Bryson Street contains files on undergraduate majors and brochures on companies which are interested in these undergraduate majors. This Career Library also contains a collection of handbooks and guides which include occupational handbooks, admission requirements for dental and medical schools, and lists of junior colleges, universities, and a few graduate study programs. The Career Library also contains the Science Research Association's College Occupational Exploration Kit which lists numerous occupations and some of the professional requirements necessary.

The Graduate School Reference Library is located in Dean Krill's office, Lincoln Room 409. These files are listed alphabetically as to states and are then cross-filed alphabetically into colleges and universities. One of the most important books at the graduate school reference library is the Graduate Programs and Admissions Manual. This manual lists many of the masters' programs offered throughout the country and their admission requirements.

Presently there are approximately 1700 graduate schools in the country and Dr. Krill sees slightly more leniency continuing in graduate school requirements.

Toll free lines opened to state departments

John Marsh recently had his hol black-top driveway resurfaced with a new, miracle plastic hard-topping that would withstand wind, rain, freezing and other acts of God—at least that's what the company salesman told him.

But after the first hard rain, instead of a driveway, John Marsh now had a river flowing through his property. The company that did the work claims that the guarantee does not cover this incident while Marsh thinks it does. What can John Marsh do?

Normally, he would have to contact a lawyer for some rather expensive legal advice or try and find his city's consumer protection agency, if one exists. No longer.

In the fictitious case above, John Marsh could have telephoned, toll free, a state Consumer Protection line in Columbus for free advice about how to deal with the fraudulent company. This information line is one of a series of toll free and toll lines that Ohio citizens can use to obtain information about various problems. The program was initiated last week by Governor John J. Gilligan to help establish direct contact with the citizens of Ohio. The toll free lines and description include:

Ohio Edison Co. engineer to speak on environment

James H. Carson, general production environmental and performance engineer for the Ohio Edison Company, will be the main speaker at Sigma Xi Chapter meeting at 4 p.m., Friday, in Schwebel Auditorium of the Engineering Science building.

Working out of the utility's headquarters in Akron, Carson is responsible for air and water environmental activities at the company's seven electric and three steam heat plants.

Carson will speak on "Electricity and Our Environment" at the meeting, which according to Dr. J. Douglas Faires, treasurer of Sigma Xi and assistant professor of mathematics at YSU, will be open to the public.

A native of Martins Ferry, Carson is a mechanical engineering graduate of Ohio State University, earning a Juris Doctor degree from the University of Akron.

He joined Ohio Edison in 1960 as a junior engineer at the Lake Erie Division, serving the Lorain-Elyria area, moving to the R.E. Burger power plant at Shadyside on the Ohio River in 1961, and to the production department at Akron in 1964. He was promoted to his present position, a newly-created post, in January of 1970.

A registered professional engineer, Carson is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Ohio and Akron Bar Associations.

China culture course set, enrollment open

There are still a few openings in the course "An Introduction to Chinese Culture," offered by YSU's Department of Continuing Education.

The class, which begins today will meet for eight consecutive Tuesdays from 7:40-9:40 p.m. in Room 112 of Ward Beecher Science Hall.

The course is a survey of the culture of the world's oldest and most populous nation as it emerged from decades of isolation. It is a unique course offering for world travelers, history buffs, or anyone who seeks to be better informed.

Highlights of the course will be Chinese geography; Social History; Modern China (1912-1972) Science and Technology, Language, Art, Music, Medicine, and China in the Modern World. An added feature will be a brief lecture on the principles of Chinese cuisine, preceding an authentic banquet specially catered for course participants.

The course will be taught by Dr. Henry Sheng, a native of China, who recently returned from a six-week tour of the People's Republic.

An associate professor of chemical engineering at YSU Dr. Sheng lived in China until 1946. A member of the YSU faculty since 1966, he has in recent years devoted part of his time to the study of social, scientific, and technological developments in his homeland. His visit to mainland China this past summer took him to Canton and Peking, as well as his native Shanghai.

Registration may be completed through the department of continuing education, and for further information regarding the course contact the department, telephone 747-1492, Ext. 481.

Butler Art shows ceramics; faculty and students entered

Two YSU faculty members and two students have art pieces now on display at the 25th Annual Ohio Ceramic and Sculpture Show at the Butler Institute of American Art.

University exhibitors include Elaine Juhasz and Robert Burke, YSU faculty members and students John Hink, senior A&S, and Mary Mayer, junior, Education.

The exhibit displays works in ceramic and enamel, jewelry, and sculpture in various, medium. Each class is well represented as the show offers a wide array of techniques, medium and effects.

The show is free and open to the public and will continue through Feb. 25. Hours are: Sun. 1-5 p.m. and daily 10-4:30 p.m. except Mon.

was Msgr. P. Breen Malone, pastor of St. Patrick Church. He was followed in turn by Ron Dugan, a recently returned veteran of the Vietnam war; John Barbero of the United Steel Workers of America; an unidentified YSU student representing the A students; and finally, Roberto Gonzalez, a representative of the local black community.

The protests themselves were virtually unattended by any spectators. The only reactions emitted from the public were by passing motorists, and the content of these varied greatly.

Picketing at strategic locations, which has originally been part of the plan was abandoned because of cold weather.

The cold weather was also held responsible for the rather small turnout. Many of the protesters, however, felt that there were many more reasons. Said one dissenter, "I know almost fifty students who went to the protest in Washington, D.C."

Others felt that many concerned people have been greatly discouraged by the seeming futility of the protest marches, and just don't bother anymore.

During the next few days, former President Lyndon Baines Johnson will be cuddled, canonized, and lauded in various ways by the media for his so-called accomplishments. We will not totally condemn in advance the verbiage of our peers, for almost everyone has done some meritorious deeds in his or her lifetime. However, we feel that the death of Lyndon Johnson should be put in a more honest perspective.

Regardless of his motives, Lyndon Johnson is most memorable for the phenomenal escalation of the conflict in Vietnam and the resultant deaths, injuries, and alienation accruing because of this decision. When eulogizing LBJ, we must remember the Vietnam debacle as the major flaw in a flawed President's lifetime.

We must note that to his credit, Johnson endeavored, with his "Great Society," to develop equitable domestic policies. Although these policies met with rather limited failure, Johnson, unlike his successor, may at least be applauded for his attempts.

Let us hope that future presidents will learn from the mistakes made by the late Mr. Johnson, and understand that secrecy and deception are not the hallmarks of American democracy.

Urges Hanni for City Council

To the editor of the Jambar:

There is a well-known saying by Mark Twain, "Everyone talks about the weather, but no one does anything about it." This accurately describes the apathetic attitude of fellow YSU students concerning local politics.

The general consensus of students is that a young adult to enter Youngstown politics is advantageous as going to Lowellville for spring break to enjoy wine, women, and song—a big fat zero.

However, the first ward councilman is Jerome McNally, a progressive young man and fellow YSU student, who successfully defeated a person who was a pillar in this city's politics. How? By sheer initiative and with the help of young adults like yourself.

Now there is another YSU student planning to enter the campaign ring for 2nd ward councilman. His name is Don Hanni, a YSU student majoring in law enforcement and employed in the university's security department.

Probably many of you are thinking "so what?" - I don't even live in the 2nd ward or even in Youngstown. But there may be a time when you will need help concerning a problem. So you go down to City Hall and some politician, rolling a fat stogie in his mouth and says to you "so what?" and pats you on the head.

In actuality Don will not only represent the 2nd ward but also YSU.

Now is the time to get involved instead of being a Monday quarter-back. Please support Don Hanni. He needs your help in which he will help you and Youngstown become a more progressive community.

did, indeed). Not only did he get his gun, but he also got his arms, legs and face bloy'n off in the bargain. Quite frankly, it was not his day.

The idea of making second and third run movies available for the purposes of entertaining the student body is a quite good one. The practice should have been instituted long ago. For one thing, it keeps the students off the streets. Maybe this is justification enough for the continuation of the screening sessions. However, whoever conceived the idea as carried out the past two weeks as the cafeteria, unfortunately must have suffered a mental lapse. Kill-cawley cafeteria is just that—a cafeteria. It is not a theater. The seats are uncomfortable and the sound does not carry well. Furthermore, the strategic placement of the pillars renders a significant portion of the building unsuitable. Other than that, the place is alright.

Last Friday, the students were treated to Dalton Trumbo's Johnny Got His Gun (which is what he

Not having been supplied with very many details concerning our hero's life and times preceding that fateful day in the trenches, the audience is made privy to such information through a series of flashbacks interspersed with the "action" as it takes place in the hospital. The whole effect of the operation, as handled by Trumbo, is to create this huge pool of empathy, residing in (and perhaps floating above) the audience. The empathy was so thick in the cafeteria that night you could have cut it with a knife. In fact, they were still sweeping some of the remains off the floor at 3:00 Monday afternoon.

All of this is well and good. The audience, having witnessed poor Joey's (Johnny's) plight, becomes outraged and indignant and leaves the cafeteria more firmly opposed to the war than ever. Right? Wrong. Unfortunately, the vital connection between the results of war and war itself is never firmly established.

That societies too easily march off to war against one another is not stressed. As a result, what has the potential to be a profound anti-war statement is never couched in societal terms, and fails to rise above the personal level. In Johnny Got His Gun, too much is left unsaid.

Above all, it must be remembered that the case described in the movie is merely a microcosmic analysis of what happens to entire societies that go to war. The movie, far from emphasizing this relationship, actually detracts attention from it by engaging in excessive emotionalism directed toward the unfortunate individual involved. Our hearts go out to Johnny, but we are never made to realize fully the implications of his personal tragedy.

To sum up, we wanted systems analysis, and we got Plabum.

The Board of Trustees authorized the university's administration to enter into negotiations with the custodial employees' union, thereby enabling Local 627 of the Service Employees International Union to reach written agreement.

In other action, the Board tabled a resolution to approve an updated constitution for the faculty until recent negotiations between YSU and the Ohio Education Association are completed.

Input Harassment

For the last two months a campaign to harass and interrogate Arab students and members of the Arab community has been under way, led by the federal government through the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). The nature of such harassment is a racial one, aimed at the destruction of the civil right of Palestinian Arabs to support the national cause of their people.

In a front-page article entitled "Arabs Taste U.S. Terror" (November 18, 1972), the National Observer noted, "The investigation of Azzih is one of thousands the FBI has conducted during the past month as part of a vast federal effort to forestall Arab terrorism in the U.S." The article continues: "...the federal crackdown went beyond interrogation and surveillance; one Palestinian student was arrested, jailed for six days, and then ordered to leave the country within thirty days. A Palestinian immigrant was detained for two days, then taken before an Immigration and Naturalization Service hearing examiner. He was released without even being told the charges, if any, against him. Another student was denied a visa extension because he held a part-time job for three weeks, a minor infraction, usually forgiven by immigration officials."

It is evident that a unique form of racial oppression has been designed solely to harass the Arab minority in this country. We, the undersigned groups and organizations, strongly protest this type of harassment of Palestinian Arabs. We DEMAND that such actions cease immediately and that all agencies of the federal government be instructed to terminate those "programs" already underway. Down with racial oppression of the Arab minority!!!

Student Volunteer Bureau needs workers for all phases of program

Faculty and underclass students are urgently needed as volunteers for project and organization coordinators, said Diana Campana, co-ordinator of the Student Volunteer Bureau last Friday.

This need is so great because most volunteers now serving will graduate soon, and younger volunteers can train immediately to take charge.

Organized in March of 1972, the bureau began its recruitment in the Fall of 1972. Since then, the bureau has placed some thirty volunteers in agencies and has an organization corps of ten. The YSU Student Volunteer Bureau has joined with the volunteer bureaus of Kent State, Akron University, Cleveland State, and Toledo University to form a five university conference. This is the first time such a conference has been formed and has proved successful in the sharing of ideas and plans.

Among its other services, the bureau serves as a clearing house for some thirty community agencies. Some of the volunteers have been sent to Woodside Receiving Hospital, Bethesda House, Neighborhood Houses and the Mahoning County Board of Mental Retardation. Within these agencies there is an acute need for volunteers to help with speech problems, drug counseling, senior citizens, and good grooming habits.

This quarter, the volunteer bureau is trying to coordinate its efforts with the Mahoning County Courts in order to send in volunteers to act as court watchers, parole and probation aides, and as juvenile aides. As a court watcher, the volunteer will sit in on trials and keep a close watch on the proceedings, making sure no injustices have occurred. The parole and probation aides will work closely with the parole and probation officers, doing most of their paper work and occasionally working directly with the parolee or person on probation. The juvenile aides will act as a friend and counselor to the problem child, helping him with school work and any other problem that may arise.

Anyone interested in doing volunteer work, either in the field or as a project coordinator, can contact the Student Volunteer Bureau at 629 Bryson Street above the Jambar offices.

Debators reach stalemate; fail to qualify for finals

YSU debators broke even in six rounds of varsity debate at the Wooster Invitational Debate Tournament last weekend at Wooster College.

Jack Fynes and Joan Ostrowski, Junior political science majors, compiled a 3-3 record. Mike Boyle, senior English, and Chuck Wigley, Sophomore math attained an identical mark.

The debators failed to reach the elimination rounds. The requisite for these rounds was a 5-1 record, a mark which few in the 44 team field (from 32 schools) achieved.

"This tournament was just about as tough as you can get," remarked Dr. Daniel O'Neill yesterday sighting many strong debate schools which met with the same fate as YSU. Some of these, including the University of Michigan, Wooster College, and Kent State, were upended by Penguin verbiage.

"We have a chance to go to the National Debate Tournament if we continue to improve," speculated O'Neill.

The talkers will next match words with opponents at the Marietta College Tournament. YSU will send participants in varsity and junior varsity debate as well as in individual events.

Lettuce Boycott

At 8 p.m. tomorrow in St. Columba's School 225 Elm Street, there will be a meeting to plan strategy for the Youngstown area lettuce boycott, said Fr. Bill Smaltz, YSU's Newman chaplain.

The organizers from Newman and the Social Concern Action Group are planning the boycott in conjunction with the National Strategy Group (headed by Caesar Chavez) with the area A&P's listed as the first target.

UP AND OVER -- YSU's Phil Gaston prepares to shoot over a Westminster defender in the Penguin's 66-58 victory over the Titans Saturday night at Beeghly Center. Gaston scored 20 points to lead all scorers.

Penguins shatter swim records, score comeback victory at Akron

Coach Bob Leahy's Youngstown State swimming team lost a double dual meet to West Liberty State, 71-42, and Wayne State, 66-47, Friday at the Beeghly Pool, but then bounced back to defeat Akron, 72-41, Saturday in the Zips' home water.

Three YSU records were broken and two others tied in the Penguins' double loss. Freshman Ed Wade captured the 1,000-yard freestyle mark with a time of 10:59.0 and set the 500-yard freestyle and record in 5:11.95. YSU's 200-yard breaststroke mark was erased by sophomore Rami Yehudai, who was clocked at 2:19.4. Junior Tom McGee and Freshman Randy Heckert tied the 200-yard freestyle and 200-yard butterfly records with times of 1:55.2 and 2:13.5 respectively.

Wade also starred in Saturday's meet finishing first in both the 1,000 and 500-yard freestyle races. Freshman Keith Landsness was victorious in the 200-yard individual medley and 200-yard backstroke competition.

The Penguin swimmers, now three and two, will be at Clarion

State this Saturday and return home Feb. 3 to host Allegheny.

History club to present free pioneer horror movie

The YSU History Club will present free showings of the film "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari" at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. tomorrow in the Audio-Visual Room of the Library.

"Caligari" is more than a pioneer horror movie. Hens Janowitz and Carl Mayer conceived their monster-story as an attack on the authority that they held responsible for the absurdity of the World War. In the execution of the film, however, ambiguities crept in--the bizarre Expressionist painted sets (film as "drawings brought to life") can mean that the whole story is a madman's dream, or that the world itself is genuinely insane.

On its release in 1920, "Caligari" was hailed as the screen's first real work of art. The French term "Caligarisme" was coined to apply the film's compelling surreal, dreamlike picture of the world to the chaotic postwar scene. Without the aid of sound, "Caligari's" stark black-and-white images raise issues and create a mood strikingly relevant to any period of strain and confusion, so that the film continues to exist as a universal experience, in addition to documenting important moments in social history and in the history of film.

Don McLean...

AMERICAN PIE — McLean performed the tune which first brought him fame. His hour-long show also included "Vincent," "Dreidel" and about a dozen others. The confidence and poise that McLean exhibited to Jambar interviewers (see story, page 2) was obvious throughout the show.

Jaworski waits for NFL draft; eyed by nation's top pro scouts

by Jim Marzano
Jambar Sports Writer

"I'd be crazy if I said no," replied a cheerful Ron Jaworski when asked if his ambition was to play pro football.

Jaworski, Youngstown State's sensational quarterback, is expected to be one of more than 400 college seniors selected by the 26 professional teams in the National Football League draft next Tuesday in New York.

The 6-2, 190-pound signal caller from Lackawanna, N.Y. has attracted almost every pro scout with his masterful performances at YSU and at the recent Senior Bowl game.

Here's what some of the pro scouts are saying about "Rifle Ron":

Falcons
Bill Jobko (ATLANTA FALCONS) - "He's a fine prospect, a good athlete and has a fine arm. He certainly should be able to handle a pro offense."

Jets
Mike Holovak (NEW YORK JETS) - "Almost everyone is interested in him. He's real fine quarterback, throws the ball well and runs the ball club very well."

Cowboys
Charley Mackey (DALLAS COWBOYS) - "It will be very interesting to watch him in the pros. He looks impressive, has good size, a good arm, moves well and is intelligent. He has lots of potential. We don't care if an athlete is from a big school or a small one, we grade the individual".

Rams
Bill Phillips (LOS ANGELES RAMS) - "I think he has a lot of talent. He's been hampered because of the type of offense he played in college, but from watching him in the Senior Bowl I think he'll be able to make the needed adjustments to play pro ball. He will have an excellent chance to make it if he is given time."

BLESTO VIII, NFL
Alex Bell (BLESTO VIII, NFL scouting organization) - "I think he's a doggone good quarterback. He'll make a 40 man squad and play too. He's got a strong arm and throws to the sideline as well as anyone. He has lots of ability. He sets up well, has speed, is tough and takes over. I have written him up to make it."

Although the NFL clubs keep their drafting plans confidential, informed sources expect Jaworski to be selected before the end of the third round. It's believed that some rate him higher than Sonny Sixkiller (Washington), Joe Ferguson (Arkansas) and John Jufnagel (Penn State).

If he had a preference on which team to be selected by, Jaworski commented, "the New York Jets or a warm climate team." Why the Jets? "They have a good team and a good organization," said Ron.

McLean

During the course of the interview, it was mentioned that some cadets had become quite upset with some political material McLean had done at a West Point concert last year. McLean's reply was, "Well, that's too bad."

Following the interview, McLean, along with guitar and banjo, proceeded to impress the audience artistically as he had just done. The small group of interviewers personally.

His performance can best be described as professional. His work in concert flows smoothly and quietly along. No one from the audience shouted "boogie" all evening. From all standpoints, the concert was a success.

Penguins down Westminster

YSU's basketball Penguins kept their mastery over the Westminster Titans intact Saturday, as

Phi Delt's capture eleventh straight in IFC basketball

Phi Delta Theta continued their winning streak in the I.F.C. basketball league by downing the Phi Sigma Kappa, 74-41, for their eleventh straight win. Ernie DePasquale led the high flying Phi Delt's with 27 points.

Other action found Sigma Alpha Epsilon measuring the Sig Taus, 68-45, the Delta Sigs over the Sig Pis, 39-28, the Theta Xis taking a squeaker from the Delta Chis, 39-38, the Sammies over the TKEs, 32-31, the Kappa Sigs downing the ZBT, 50 to 47, and the Alpha Phis winning from the Phi Taus.

In the battle for "Bryson Street," Dave Rickerts' 20 points paced the Theta Chis to a 54-29 trouncing of the Sigma Phis.

Correction

Last Friday the Jambar incorrectly reported that Dr. Marvin W. Crisp was chairman of the elementary education department, and in charge of the "Watson Project." Dr. Margaret Braden is now chairman of the elementary education department and the "Watson Project" is under her direction. The Jambar regrets the error.

they downed the Pennsylvanians, 66-58, for their tenth straight win in the series. Westminster still holds a commanding lead in the overall series however, 27-13. The Birds jumped out to a 14-4 lead in the first period and led 20-12 with five minutes left in the half, only to let the Titans surge to a 27-24 halftime lead.

Pens attack
But the Penguins were not to be denied. They put together one of their strongest attacks of the year in the final period, and behind the 14 point effort of Phil Gaston, outscored the Titans 42-31.

Gaston's best
Gaston had his best night of the year, totaling 20 points and seven rebounds to lead the Birds' scoring. Billy McMeans, Billy Wells and Jeff Puffer followed with ten points each. McMeans pulled down 11 rebounds and Wells 13.

The Westminster JVs measured the Baby Birds 71-57 in the preliminary. Mark Wilson led the Titan JVs with 15 points and former Boardman star Bob Hendrickson garnered 11.

Allen paces Jayvees
Terry Allen, with 16, and Bob Gill, with 9, led the junior Penguins. Denver Belknap pulled down a game-high 13 rebounds.

The Penguins will be at Steubenville Wednesday night and then will host Akron in the Beeghy Center Saturday. The Steubenville game was originally scheduled for Thursday but has been changed to the Wednesday date.
