

THANKSGIVING DANCE WED. NIGHT IN COLLEGE AUDITORIUM

Freshmen to Hold 1st Dance of Season On Friday the 13th

Combination Cabaret and Dancing Party

On Friday the 13th the freshman class will hold their first dance of the season in the school auditorium. This will be a combination cabaret and dancing party.

There will be cards and ping pong for those who do not dance and a popular local orchestra will furnish the music for the dance lovers.

This is the first attempt of the freshman class to hold any type of an entertainment without the support of some larger body.

The committees have begun work on the plans already and this promises to be one of the nicest affairs ever put on by a freshman class.

The auditorium will be decorated and arranged in the same manner as a large nite club. There will be tables encircling the floor to give that setting. There will be ample room for dancing in this arrangement and this will keep all the patrons in one group.

This dance is open to all students, both business and liberal arts, and their friends.

Committees for this dance include: Ticket committee: Chairman, Ed. Harris; Betty Frederick, Colletta Hussey, Peg McAllister, Louise Perkins, Kathryn Jones, Vivian Over, Francina Moore, Roseanne Walsh, Marion Collins, Agnes Keane.

Decoration Committee: Geo. Gangwere, Chairman; Mike Grooves, Tom Meehan, Charles King, Willis Brooks, Jack Greenberg, Steve Nagy, Eugene Gonsi, Bob Cavanaugh.

Orchestra Committee: Chairman, Bill Thomas; Bob Clair, Woodrow Van Court, Joe Hannah, Harry Pugh, Stanley Jones.

Advertisement Committee: Chairman, Dave Mackil; Dick Thomas, Martha J. Kitchen, Steve Chuey, Olive Snyder.

Reception Committee: Chairman, Eleanor Nagel; Bobbie Shirock, Bud Powell, Bob Sargent, George Amrein.

Program Committee: Chairman, Carl Raupple; Dave Prescott, Frank Smith, Mary Cline.

Youngstown College Annual Staff For 1936 Chosen

NEW POLICY

The Annual Staff wishes at this time to announce its policy to the student body. The Staff is working hard to make the Yearbook for 1936 a real success. It is endeavoring to publish a book that will be a true representation of Youngstown College—a book that will be accepted and appreciated by every college student, a book worthy of the support of the institution which it represents.

Literary work will find an important place in the proposed Annual. The English Department of the College is collaborating with the Literary Editor for the purpose of selecting prize bits of literature—short stories, poetry, etc. Thus the students of all classes will find ample opportunity for submitting their own contributions.

The Staff strongly urges that all students, whether actually taking work in the English Department or not, submit their bits of writing for use in the Annual.

Nor will the artistic phase of the book be neglected. The Art Editor and assistants are working hard in this field. And they urge that all students co-operate by submitting clever snapshots for use.

The type of pictures to be used will be slightly different than those of previous years. Students of both Senior and Junior classes will have individual pictures. The so-called "3/4 cut" will be used for Seniors. The "head and shoulder cut" will be used for Juniors. Group pictures will be used for Sophomore and Freshman classes.

Instead of individual pictures being used for College organizations, a new picture scheme has been adopted. Each organization on the campus will submit for use that type of picture which it believes to best portray the organization.

The Staff will discourage group pictures for organizations and will encourage organizations to submit really clever pictures. As an example: A fraternity or sorority could submit a picture taken at one of their social or business functions. A nature club could submit a picture typical of the organization's work in the woods and fields.

Ray Sweeney New Coach In McPhee's Place

Looks Forward to Good Season

Ray Sweeney, Westminster College graduate has been appointed coach at the college to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Jack McPhee, who left for Ellwood City to become director of the Shelby Club of the National Tube Co. The appointment was made by President H. W. Jones.

Coach Sweeney has had a spectacular record in athletics throughout his high school and college days. He was on the football, basketball, and track teams at South High, where he was graduated in 1931. During his four years at Westminster he was on football, basketball, baseball, and track teams and took an active part in all intramural sports. He was named on the district of Western Pennsylvania basketball team while at Westminster College.

He is a member of the Theta Epsilon Omega fraternity of which he was president during his last year in college. Sweeney has been assisting in the coaching at South High and was employed at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.

Dr. Castle W. Foard, head of the physics and mathematics departments, who has been faculty manager for the last few years has been appointed Athletic Director and will be in charge of all athletics, including intramurals, at the college.

Sweeney will have a tough assignment on his hands in trying to round out a winning combination before the first game which will be played December 12 with Mount Union at Alliance.

The first home game will be played Dec. 21 at McDonald with Oberlin College.

Committee Books Bill Campbell's Orchestra

On November 27, the school will have its annual Thanksgiving Dance at the school auditorium. Balloons and colored streamers will add gaiety to the party; the affair will be sponsored by student council, and there will be no admission charges made. The committee urges that every night school student and every day school student come. Ernest Swartswelder and Phyllis Moench will be co-chairman for the affair; they will be assisted by the following committees:

Orchestra Committee, Bob Taylor and Mike Jaffee, co-chairmen, assisted by Ted Moore, and Marjorie Wighton.

Publicity Committee, Bill Best, chairman, with Jimmie Patrick, Rose Walsh and Gertrude Kraemer on the committee.

Refreshment Committee, Jeanette Powers, chairman, and the aid of Alyce Abrams, Don McCullough and Ted Holtz.

Decoration Committee, Bill Lackey, chairman, assisted by Bill Gubbins, Gene Cherelli, and Mayme Tuccarione.

SIGMA DELTA BETA

The Sigma Delta Beta Fraternity held a stag party at the National Phi Sigma Phi Fraternity house on Nov. 8th. The inactive members of the fraternity were welcomed at the party. After a variety of entertainment, a "help yourself" luncheon was a complete success.

GAMMA SIGMA SORORITY

Installation of Gamma Sigma pledges took place November third at the home of Elinor Rodgers, pledge mistress. Those who were officially installed as pledges were Eleanor Nagel, Peggy McAllister, Mary Margaret Cline, Francina Moore, Jeanette Powers, Martha Jane Kitchen, and Irma Shirock. After the installation tea was served, with Phyllis Moench, president of the sorority, pouring. Autumn tones predominated in the decorations.

Miss Phyllis Moench entertained members of the sorority and pledges at a kid party at her home Monday, November eighteenth. Games were enjoyed with prizes going to Marge Krichbaum, Marge Wighton, Fay Treffert, Peggy McAllister, and Betty Kile.

SCHOOL SPIRIT

We often hear the well-known phrase that we get out of a thing only what we put into it. This is true in college more than in any other field of endeavor. If we come to school, merely to attend a few classes scattered through the day, we have gained little from our college life. After all, book knowledge is only a tiny part of the purpose of a real education. If we admit, it gives us an incite into the affairs of man, but if we are not interested in man, what have we gained from these bare facts and principles? The answer is, nothing. So it is that a true interest in man begins with the actual association with man. This association begins in college. Our college is small, and it thus becomes necessary that all participate in every activity the college undertakes.

If every one in the school were to get behind every activity of the college, our college would soon be "on the map". We want to be proud that we were graduated from a good school; we should like to flaunt our activities in the face of older institutions who have made progress very slowly in the relative time they have had to develop plans and traditions. It is possible that we could make our school the pride of Youngstown. We really do make our aims high, but unless they are high, our efforts have been in vain.

We have an excellent faculty; our student body is the best as far as intelligence goes. So now we appeal to the student body to cooperate with the faculty in every respect, so that we may have a true school spirit. We can do this by backing college dances, basketball games, and the school newspaper.

If you can't pull the rest of the school with you, get behind and push, and push hard and long. When the school has become better established, you will be proud that you were one of those who helped to push the school spirit.

The first opportunity you will have to show your colors will be the Thanksgiving Dance on November 27.

INDOOR INTRAMURALS BEGIN IN DECEMBER

The Men's Indoor Intramurals will get underway the first week in December, with Jimmy Cannell in charge of the program, according to announcements by Doctor Foard. A varied and continuous bill of fare is promised for the entire season. The initial sport will be a volleyball tournament, the participating teams to be one from each of the gym classes. These teams will be picked by preliminary elimination tournaments to be held in each gym class. The Junior and Senior teams are to be organized under the direction of Bill Lackey and Stu Wagner, respectively. According to the present plans the finals of this volleyball tournament will be held as a preliminary to one of our intercollegiate basketball games. It is desirable and necessary, that if our intramurals are to be a success, all students possible shall participate in them. You, as students, are urged for your own benefit, to not merely be spectators, but to get in the game and enjoy the fun.

PENGUIN PRACTICE

We hear that our esteemed manager, Danny Opritza doesn't paint the boys' feet any more. What's the matter Danny, can't you take it?

"Red" Pugh has had several attacks of appendicitis lately. We hope for the best Red.

"Pop" Schultz says that he can't get up a good sweat in practice. We don't believe "Pop" could stand a tough work-out.

The boys all gave Jack a farewell party and did Schultz and some of the boys give Jack a swell send-off? Jack should have pin money for a long time.

Nate Williams is the new Junior manager. Congratulations, Nate.

Were Tony Vivo and "Pop" Schultz brave boys the night they took "Red" Pugh home? Ask them to tell you the whole story.

We just heard that Waynesburg has cancelled two games this year. At present we do not know if another opponent will be substituted. If no substitution is made the opening home game will be set back several weeks.

Student Council Column

What happens to our activity fee? How is it spent? Are we getting a square deal? The preceding questions never fail to pop up in the minds of the incoming students and so in order that we may start out on the right track, the following data may be of considerable help.

Twenty-four percent or $2.40 of the activity fee is turned over to the Athletic Fund. In return there are eight home games which you can attend free of charge.

Twenty percent or $2.00 goes into the Council Social fund. The Student Council holds at least eight social functions during the school year. Freshmen Reception, Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Mid Year Frosh Reception, Pre-Lenten, Easter, and May Day Dances. You are entitled to attend and to bring the better half whether she is from school or not.

Fifteen percent or $1.50 is allotted for the publication of the Jambar. You receive a copy free of charge.

Fourteen and a half percent or $1.45 is the up-keep of Wick Hall as a place for student recreation. Wick Hall is open every day from twelve to four-thirty. Any group may have the house as a place to meet in the evenings. Arrangements have to be made with Mr. Sutton.

Twelve percent or $1.20 is allotted for the Senior annual. This is a part payment for the annual.

Eight percent or $0.80 is put in the Intramural Fund for both the men and women.

One percent or $0.10 is given to the following groups: Men's Glee Club, Women's Glee Club, and the Orchestra.

Three percent or $0.30 is allotted to the dramatic group.

A half percent or $0.05 goes in the key fund. This is only a part payment. The Council members also have to pay a certain amount.

RAY CODREA,

Beta Lambda Nu

Formed By
Biology Majors

In answer to a longfelt need for an honorary Biological Fraternity, Beta Lambda Nu has been organized by a group of Biology majors who are working under the direction of Drs. Waldron and Seamans, the Department of Biology Heads. Election to membership is based upon scholarship and ability, and it is hoped that the fraternity will be able to serve its purpose to the advantage of all.

The purpose shall be to stimulate sound scholarship and students of biological sciences, to promote the dissemination of scientific truth, and to further biological investigation.

COLLEGE STAFF CHOSEN

Pictures of this type would be enlarged and artistically made a part of the Annual.

The Staff is at present deciding the financial plans for the Year-book. These arrangements will be made known to the student body as soon as they are completed. At present, arrangements are nearly definite for the taking of pictures, and the Staff hopes within the next week to commence this work.

Students are asked to watch the bulletin board for further announcements.

Your co-operation is needed and appreciated.

THE LITERARY CLUB

The Literary Club was organized November 8 with Prof. Bunn, who is faculty adviser for the club, presiding. Stella Cassano was elected president and Frances Falchetsky, secretary. At a short business meeting the following Friday, the president appointed the following committees: Program, Elbert Baker, chairman, Ann Malmer, N. M. Brentin, Mayme Tucciarone; Constitutional, Marion Collins, Frank Jazko; and Membership, Mike Jaffee, Louis Davidson, and Francis Falchetsky.

The Club plans to have a regular meeting some evening during the first week of December when a program with Christmas as its keynote will be presented.

Glass Works and KDKA Are Hosts To Phi Epsilon at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Science Fraternity Has Fine Outing

Science Frat Takes Trip
Phi Epsilon, our outstanding science fraternity, made a tour to points of scientific interest in Pittsburgh and vicinity, Wednesday, Nov. 20.

The fraternity members and pledges left the school at 7:00 A. M. and motored to Ford City, Pa., where they were the guests of officials of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. Careful note was taken of the various steps in the manufacture of glass. Several new and interesting steps and methods have been lately employed which facilitate the process. The group then completed another lap in their journey by arriving at Pittsburgh and visiting the world's first commercial broadcasting station, KDKA. The officials, who had often extended courtesies to the Scientists, outdid themselves in making the tour a pleasant, interesting and instructive one. (Note: If anyone heard a voice from the airwaves that day saying, "Hi-ya ma, Hi-ya pa, how'm I doing?" it needn't remain a mystery.)

It is expected that the frat will be taking similar trips in the near future.

OPEN HOUSE DRAWS NEAR

Have you seen any science students en la neblina (in the fog) lately? If so, here's the reason. . . The date of the annual Science Open House is not too far in the offing to think about. Already work has begun on projects to be exhibited by an individual or a group. The projects are to be made and set up entirely by students. Chemistry, Physics, Biology, Geology, all will be represented in this conglomerate accumulation of scientific experiments and data. Your correspondent advises you to attend the exhibition. It will be well worth your while.

ON AN AQUARIUM By Louis Davidson

Verdant and glassy
Its sides rise sheerly.
Light frothy bubbles
Float to its surface,
And deep within it
Transparent fishes,
Tiny coiled sea-horses
Swim to and fro.

Steadily swimming,
Warily rising,
Diving and dipping,
Snapping at stray flies
And flecks of sunlight,
Ever in motion,—
Prey of a vortex!

Their eyes cryptic,
Stealthy, translucent,
Stare into star-space
Visioning nothing.
A swordfish grinning
Pursues his neighbour,
While on a green rock
A wee mockturtle
Heavily weeps!

OPEN ROAD CLUB

The Open Road Club had a good turn-out on Sunday, Nov. 3. We drove to Pymatung Dam, wandered around a little (Jim got a good picture of Ches McCracken changing his shoes) and then drove on to the Mercer Bog. There we found Eleanor Roberts, Vic and Ralph Norling waiting for us. Vic found a large pitcher plant for the Biology lab. We ate apples all afternoon, but all felt the need for something more substantial, so to New Castle and a spaghetti supper. The next meeting of the club was held in the Zoology lab., Friday, Nov. 15. Mike Malmer was told to outline a series of talks to be given by the members of the club. A committee was appointed to plan for four overnight hikes during this school year. Later a group drove out to Lois Shaw's new home in Canfield. That was good cider, Lois!

Sunday, Nov. 17, the members began their hike at the Mill Creek Golf Course and we walked up the west side of the creek to the Boardman-Canfield Road. The guest hiker was little Wally Malmer. Upon arriving at the cars, it was found that a key to one of them was missing. The men played football while Mr. Krichbaum was furnishing a new key. Fred Bird, Ralph Norling and John Fell were victorious over Mike Malmer, John Berg and Howard Hutzen—Score 9-4. Hamburgers were served later at Mike's new home. The next official hike will be Sunday, Dec. 1.

BRIGHT SAYINGS OF OUR PROFESSORS

Prof. Bare says that his students must be using disappearing ink from the number of blank sheets with which he finds the themes padded.

"Ho-hum," remarked Prof. Doll in the laboratory as another frosh went through the roof, "what goes up must come down."

This one was overheard in one of Prof. Bowden's classes:

1st Frat. Brother: "You never stick up for me."
2nd Frat. Brother: "Oh, yeah! why just the other day a fellow said you weren't fit to sleep with the pigs, and I stuck up for you—I said you were."

WATERFALL By Louis Davidson

Out of the hill's age
Mute and passionless
Rushes unchastened
A celestial thing—
Conceived in anger—
Swift as a flood of tears!

DAWN By Louis Davidson

Spring dawn over the city streets
Flowing slowly like molten gold
Beating light on its surface
Washed clean of soil:
Gold in a stream, rolled
Glory of color in the sky.
Forward glance into Eternity's mirror,
You are lifted wings in the clamour,—
The one joy that shall never die!

The Greeks Have a Word For It

So do the Phi Lam's Pledges. It's a Matinee Bridge at the College Auditorium Dec. 14. All friends are invited from 2:30 to 5:00 o'clock, 25c per person.

The committee in charge is: Jane King, Chairman; Ticket committee, Gertrude Kramer; Chairman, Roseann Walsh, Coletta Hussey and Miriam Jones; Candies, Ruth Gill; chairman, Jane Rukenbrod and Helen Gifford; Tallies, Betty Frederick, chairman, Madeline Agnone and Louise Perkins; Prizes, Sally Allen and Billie Sue Conway. Sunday, November 24 a regular meeting will be held at the home of Zylpha Davis, 22 Maplewood Dr. Norma Hedrick is co-hostess. Plans will be made for the annual Christmas Formal to be held Dec. 26.

PHI SIGMA EPSILON

Stonleigh Tearoom, Wick Ave. was the scene of the Phi Sigma Epsilon formal initiation last Saturday night. Twenty-one actives welcomed ten pledges into the brotherhood. The ceremonies were followed by the fraternity's peace offering, a banquet. When all were filled, if that be possible a few short speeches were given by Faculty Advisor, Karl Benkner and President Hal Kennedy.

The new members are: Robert Dunn, John Fell, James Griffith, Joe Fisher, Peter De Leo, Harry Pugh, Donald Swaney, Edward Sonntag, William Scheetz, George McCracken.

PHI GAMMA PLEDGES 14

The Phi Gamma Fraternity has just completed a series of rush parties, held at the Clarinell Tea Room, at which fourteen new members were pledged. It is noteworthy that the pledges include Tee Ross and Bobby Shirock. Each of these young men conducts his own locally popular dance orchestra. Plans are well under way for a Phi Gamma Christmas Party.

EVENING STUDENT COUNCIL

The council was honored last Thursday by Miss North's invitation to tea. Nothing new or unusual has presented itself, but we do wish to thank the Day Council for the way in which they cooperated in removing all unsightly notices from the bulletin board.

ALPHA PI SIGMA

Alpha Pi Sigma held their Fall dance at Southern Hills Country Club last Saturday night, with Michael Ficocelli's orchestra playing. A fair sized crowd was on hand.

PHYSICAL CHEMISTRY NOW OFFERED UNDER PROFESSOR DOLL

Under the instruction of Mr. Doll, a laboratory course in Physical Chemistry is being offered Senior students for the first time, this year. The course is primarily to develop laboratory technique. The work consists of the individual actually making his own equipment for use in various experiments. In working with glassware, of necessity a delicate and tedious task, the stu's have met with many difficulties, yet there has been no casualties, except, Mr. Doll remarks, the too frequent pulling of hair. So, if you see any bald-headed seniors, you know the cause.

W. A. A.

Anna Monahan

Girls! Girls! Where are all of our would-be athletes? Surely there are more women in Youngstown College who are interested in sports than the very few who try for W. A. A. membership.

Two years ago a few girls of YoCo wished to participate in more sports than were provided for in the weekly gym period; therefore they set forth to obtain their goal of organizing an athletic club for women. With the cooperation of the Y. W. C. A. authorities such a club was formed and has grown considerably in the last two years, but the present members would like to enlarge it and make it one of the most flourishing associations on the campus.

This year the W. A. A. has a sponsor of its own. Miss Bollard, recently appointed to the Y. W. C. A. staff, holds this office and is quite willing to help the girls in all their undertakings. She insists, however, that unless more girls take part in the sports now scheduled, it may become possible for the college girls to forfeit their time to other classes. Come on, girls! Let's get behind the W. A. A. and prevent any such action. The club aims to please all the girls. Name your favorite sport, and, if at all possible, it will be on the Women's Athletic Association program in the near future.

P. S. Girls, remember that gym work, swimming, and exercise help us keep our youthful figures.

A Word of Thankfulness

A few months ago a "shining hour" was mine when I heard the opera "Parsifal" at the Wagner Festival in Bayreuth, Germany. Never shall I forget that noble moment when the voices of eleven hundred young boy sopranos—fresh young voices as yet unchanged—of angelic sweetness rose like fragrant incense under the great dome. There was no organ accompaniment—only the golden harmony, joyous and splendid. "Laud Deo! Laud Deo!" "Praise God! To God the Praise."

So today at the glad season of Thanksgiving, our hearts echo the same strain. For the knowing mind, the loving heart, the sympathetic soul we bring our thanks. Read again the words on the old Oxford Varsity shield in the college library, "Dominus, illuminatio mea"—"Lord, enlighten Thou me." A motto that has lightened the way of Oxford men a-down the long, long years from 1213 to the present day. Truly we bring our thanks that it is our privilege to be shepherds of the spirit as well as masters of the mind.

Aye, praise God in grateful thanksgiving for gracious harvests, spiritual, mental, material, remembering the words of gentle Robert Louis Stevenson:

"If I have moved among my race
And shown no shining morning
face,
Books and my food and summer
rain,
Knocked on my sullen heart in vain,

Lord, Thy most pointed pleasure take
And stab my spirit broad awake."
To you my college "Family" each and every one, a happy and blessed season of Thanksgiving.

Eleanor B. North,
Dean of Women.

Thanksgiving Eve

It was the night before Thanksgiving and . . .
 Harry lay wrapt in slumber profound.
 A voice called him and he awoke,
 but no one was near.
 There was the presence of coldness.
 That was what aroused him.
 He noticed the gaping window which should . . .
 have been closed.
 He leaped to the floor.
 The window he slammed—he didn't for outside he beheld a man roving about.
 Forgot was the cold while the man
 he observed.
 His father it was he could swear,
 But what was he doing out there?
 With a brush and some buckets of paint?
 Harry moved to investigate.
 He sprang from the sill and approached the painter.
 Not his father at all but—a stranger he saw. What did he here? Harry looked on.
 The man neared a pumpkin, (Harry drew near) dipped his brush in a can and made the pumpkin a richer hue.
 Careless strokes he employed but what magic he sowed.
 A silvery white veil spread o'er the ground
 As he moved, with patterns of beauty in truth.
 Harry pondered the identity of
 This wondrous man who painted so
 Artfully, not pausing a second.
 Harry looked about. He was alone.
 Where was the artist man?
 The work was done, the man was gone,
 And Harry was cold.
 Back he returned and vaulted the sill;
 He pulled down the window and
 Was checked by the scene.
 The artist had come! On the window
 He'd sketched nature in white.
 Each tree was perfect, the foliage exquisite. The artist had come, unseen,
 Left this and departed.

Of a sudden he shivered and crept
 Gratefully in bed.
 How thankful he was to be Harry,
 And not that artist.

Psychology Department Active in Outside Work

Professor Bare, head of the Psychology Dept., has an extensive list of the latest books on reserve in the school library, among which is found works by James, Cannon, Dashiell, Koffka, and many others of equal importance.

The Dept. was fortunate in securing a talk by Dr. Alfred Adler of Vienna, the noted European psychologist, who addressed the students early in October on ways of creating mental health. Social interest, he claimed, prevented the growth of maladjustment problems, or of warped personalities. Wholesome, positive, socialized personality development he believed to be the important goal of education, and the mark of true education.

In November the department of Psychology received the courtesy of being invited to hear Professor Keeler, of the Department of Psychology of Northwestern University, speak on the results of an examination of a prisoner as to the extent of his alleged complicity in a crime, by means of physiological and psychological reactions to a psychograph machine, popularly known as a "lie detector". An unforeseen difficulty prevented the class demonstration but the findings were later made available to the classes in Psychology.

—Jessie George

Professor Karl H. Benkner has just returned from an extended motor trip through the East. Both he and Mrs. Benkner seem to have fared well on their vacation for they are both looking well, and the professor celebrated his return with a mid-semester exam for all of his classes.

Professor Bare just before the Psychology exam, "Is it too hot in here?"

Karl Sherfel, "Not yet."

I wonder what Dr. Reid meant when he said that one can keep a horse more cheaply at home than in a stable?

Dr. Burt, "I shall not be here Friday, but keep on studying as usual."

Dr. Burt (a minute later) "I take that back—just keep studying."

Alyce Abrams has finally found out what is wrong with her studying. She just learned that one is supposed to study for an hour and then relax for a few minutes. She's been doing it backwards.

It is encouraging to find out that the coffee in the cafeteria is getting better . . .

The bulletin board surely looks a whole lot better. Let's try to keep it that way . . .

Don't forget only six months until the Junior Prom . . .

Jimmie Turner and Ruth Wright seem to be enjoying themselves these days . . . Oh well . . .

Additional W. A. A. News

Every now and then, something happens around school that arouses a little interest as well as a little laugh. Some of these might be cited, for example:

One of the girls in the Freshman class told of her days in high school. It seems as though Math was her hardest subject, and she was almost on the verge of flunking the course. Her friend, who was very good in Math, decided that she would be willing to do the girl's Math, if the girl would pay her. Now the young lady's father owned a candy store; so she paid a peanut cluster for a single problem—two peanut clusters for an extra hard problem. As I heard this, I wondered just how much deficit my father's business would show if I were to try the same thing in Dopey Doll's Math Class?

While I was out of town for the week-end recently, I visited a very small town nearby. I overheard in the post office the following remarks:

"Good morning, Mr. Smith, do I have any mail today?"

"What is your name?" replied the man.

"Don't be foolish," came the hasty reply, "my name is on the envelope."

One of the Freshman boys told of his experience in the show. He didn't like the show, so he pasted his eyes shut with gum, so he wouldn't be able to see. It might be a good example for some of us to try putting gum on our ears when we are bored in Chapel.

Then there was the boy who played football on the vacant lot on the corner. He made a touchdown, and when he heard all the people shouting and screaming, he became very proud of his attempt. But when he got to his feet, he noticed that the crowd was cheering, not because he had made a touchdown, but because he had lost his pants in the struggle.

It seems to me that it was Bill Gubbins who went bathless for three days at the World's Fair. Bill had reserved a room with bath at the hotel, but on entering the room, he found no bath. So he went without; but when he was going to leave the hotel, he removed the sign "Please do not disturb", and here it had been hung over the knob on the bathroom door, and Bill, firmly believing in signs, had not dared to venture into the next room which happened to be the bath room.

At the most recent meeting of the Women's Athletic Association, it was decided that the eight new members would receive the W. A. A. emblem. The emblem will be the same as those given to the chartered members. When the older members have obtained a total of forty points above the sixteen required for membership, they will be given a large Y.

At the next meeting the girls will plan for a Christmas party to be given in honor of the former members who are now attending other schools. The present associates will be in charge.

Madam X

Well Kate; how are you? Haven't seen you for the last couple of weeks. Where have you been?

Where have I been? Why I got tired of watching these student around here. They're afraid to do anything. You know Madame X, think you are in a way a reformer. The students won't do anything wrong for fear you'll print it.

Say, you've been going to too many movies. If you think that the students have reformed, listen to this.

Wick Hall is a place for recreation. Let's make it that. There is always a place for everything. Margo, Faras, Miller, and a few others, let's observe.

A bouquet of flowers to our ping pong girls, Judy Herr and Betty Kile. Many a man has gone down in defeat.

Dave Mackill should at least have some respect for a fraternity brother. Don't you all think so, you Sig Deltas?

Haven't seen Jaffee and Wighton lately. Have they drifted apart?

What certain girl has gone to the same movie twice. It must be great to be popular, and then accommodating. We also know of a certain young man that has seen a movie three times just to please a certain party or certain parties.

Elinor Nagel and young man from the business school are getting to be very chummy. We wondered what happened to George Hammar but we heard that he and Ruth Gill are back together again.

Can't you find a young man to hang on to P. E. G. or do you believe that variety is the spice of life?

Eud Powell, our library assistant and Joe Hanna, his side kick are creating quite an interest in Ping Pong, or may be they are the objects of affection. JH and BK can tell us.

Well that isn't very much, is it Kate, but remember you haven't done your part. You say you know something. Well come on tell.

Trouble is brewing in the Button-Rosapepe camp. It seems that a young man from Churchill is doing quite a bit of entertaining when Button is away.

Yes I noticed that Kate but I think that Button and Rosepepe have an understanding and you and I should give them some peace.

Madame X and Key Hole Katy bid our little scandal lovers all good-bye until the next time.

ON SEEING THE MOON
 By Lois Davidson
 Tender, exotic,
 Clothed in celestial fire,
 Intense with rhythm,
 Pivoting still yet higher
 Into star-lit space.
 Throbbing with beauty—
 Strange wan face on an onyx sky—
 Serene and lovely
 The full moon goes sweeping by!
