Law School Profs In OSBA Debate

Raymond Falls, dean of the Youngstown College School of Law, and Kenneth Clark, member of the law faculty, debated before the judicial section of the Ohio State Bar Association at Akron last week on the subject: "An Order granting a new trial and setting aside a verdict should be reviewable by the courts of appeals." Falls spoke on the affirmative side of the question and Clark on the negative.

The purpose of the discussion was to determine whether the law should be changed by constitutional amendment or otherwise, since at the present time such an order is not reviewable, Dean Falls said.

Final Play Tryouts Tomorrow Afternoon

Final tryouts will be held for the new play "Twentieth Century Lullaby" tomorrow at one o'clock. Twentieth Century Lullaby shows the contrast between the rosy future that a modern mother predicts for her baby son, and the more terrible realistic things that the future really holds.

The play offers several good opportunities for character acting.

E. T. P. C. Sells War Stamps

Ethel Bingham and Sarah Longe put the pressure on Bette Nelson and Betty Houser in an attempt to sell them War Stamps.

Irony

The E. T. P. C. has a very attractive little black box like a miniature safe to hold its war stamps and money. On the front in bold print are the words, "Made in Japan."

Faculty Wives Sponsor Tea

The wives of the faculty give a tea for Mothers of Freshmen on October 30 in the Youngstown College Auditorium. Decorations were patriotic with a red, white and blue color scheme being used. The wives of the Deans poured: Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Wilcox, Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Allison, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Deesz, and Mrs. Falls. A number of the college girls assisted, among whom were: Brigitta Holztrager, Jennie Nestasi, Margaret Schuller, and Rita Vaschak. Dr. Wilcox, Dr. Smith, Mr. Hoffman, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Somans gave short talks to the Freshmen and their Mothers.

Reserves To Enlist November 18

On November 18, at 10:30 A. M. the Joint-Army-Navy-Marine Corps Coast Guard Recruiting Party will begin enlistments for all reserves at Youngstown College.

Mental examination, as well as actual execution of the oath will take place here. However, preliminaries must be taken care of prior to the arrival of this Board; that is, physical examinations and completion of preliminary applications.

If you are interested in becoming a reservist, it is imperative that you begin immediately.

Buchanan Appointed To Executive Committee

Registrar Phillip P. Buchanan attended the annual meeting of the Ohio College Registrars Association in Columbus last Thursday and Friday.

Buchanan has been appointed to the executive committee of the Ohio College Field Representatives Association to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of George Strail, of Western Reserve University, and Tony Mills, of Case School of Applied Science.

Gifts totaling nearly $100,000 were received by the board of regents of the University of Minnesota at a recent meeting.

Belleff, Former YoCo Student Hero in Burma Evacuation

Sam Belleff, former student of Youngstown College, took part in one of the most spectacular achievements of the Pacific War, the aerial evacuation of Burma.

Flying as first officer in a twinmotored transport plane, one of the type used by United Air Lines and Pennsylvania Central Airlines to serve Youngstown Airport, Belleff and his flying mates rescued many refugees, just before the Japs swept it. The local man's part in it has just been made known.

Flying hour after hour and after days with little rest and constantly under very dangerous conditions, the flyers shuttle back and forth between Burma and India, taking in loads of medicines and supplies and carrying refugees. Operating from airports on which these ships would not be permitted to land were they in the United States, and constantly carried overloads which would have driven air carrier inspectors here insane.

Although about 25,000 pounds is the maximum gross weight of such planes operating off the big Youngstown airport, the flyers

College Will Aid In War Effort

Students at Youngstown College have at long last started doing their part in the all-out war effort. Last week members of the ETPC set up a defense stamp booth in the first floor hall and Student Council is taking steps to establish Thursday noon dancing in an attempt to raise money for War Bonds.

The noon dancing will start some time in the near future. No definite admission will be charged; students are asked to contribute a small sum of money upon entering the auditorium.

Dancing will be held every Thursday and will last for one hour. Boxes for the contribution will be placed at the entrance of the auditorium. Council has placed this project in the hands of Judy Magela and her committee.

Students who have ideas as to a means by which the students of Youngstown College can aid the war effort are urged to bring their ideas to Student Council meetings.

Kappa Sig Dance Dog Patch Style

YoCo-eds were thanking their lucky stars for the day Al Capp created Sadie Hawkins, thereby giving them a golden opportunity to drag the man of their choice to the dance last Saturday night. Sadie Hawkins alias Mary Good had a grand time showing off her dream man at the cost of only one buck per.

The dance was sponsored by Kappa Sigma Kappa Fraternity, with Jo Markell as general chairman. Held at Nu-Elms, Mickey Ross's orchestra played. Fred Gartner and Gordon Hopes walked off with the prize as the best dressed Dog Patchers of the evening.

College Yearbook Needs Staff

Edith McCormick, editor of the Neon, college yearbook, announced that applications are being accepted for positions on the neon staff. All students wishing to apply for a position write to the editor.

Miss McCormick announces that due to war conditions the Neon will be smaller than it has been in past years. She hopes to have all senior pictures taken by the end of this semester so the book will be ready for distribution in April.

Stearns and Garth Lead R. I. L. Club Round Table

The Religion in Life club held successive Sunday meetings on November 1 and 8, in the Manchester room of the Y. M. C. A. Dr. Stearns and Dr. Garth conducted round table discussions at the first meeting, while Vernon Hamilton sang a solo. Prof. Barre spoke to the club at the second meeting on the psychology of religious experience. The club is planning a Thanksgiving affair at a cabin in Mill Creek.

Increase War Aid Needed

What has been done on the part of YoCo students to aid the war effort? We must face the guilty truth, very little. Let us enumerate: business college students have been saving scrap paper for defense; members of the E. T. P. C. are selling bonds and stamps in the main hall; contributions for the war effort will be accepted at Thursday noon dancing sessions. True, these facts show that some small effort is being made, but fellow students, do you honestly think the evidence is worthy of the students of a college of this size and rating?

Compare our efforts with the efforts of any other college of our standing and we must bow our heads in shame. Student Council, as a representative of the student body, has been shirking its duty. We cannot blame it solely on Council; however, it is difficult to organize successfully a plan of any sort unless the student body is backing them whole heartedly, so, individually and collectively, let's all pitch in and do our share; our help, no matter how small, may do a lot toward winning a speedy victory.

To Would Be Columnists

The Jambar is, once more, in dire need of a columnist. Hiram Walker, Campus Commentator has been inducted into the United States armed forces, and his term as a Jambar Columnist expires with this issue. Anyone wishing to try out for this column, please submit all copy to the editor. Your copy will be fairly judged upon quality and style. Those interested in trying out please have your copy in before Friday, November 20.

Campus Comments - -

By HIRAM WALKER
SWAN SONG

In the last issue I promised to bring to light my intimate or hushed up details of the class elections. Since that time I have gotten a long and anxiously awaited "green light" from Uncle Sam and I expect to be in the service within a month. Therefore I shall put behind me all thoughts of fraternal cliques and politics at YoCo and speculate a little on the idea of entering the army.

I certainly don't want to become a philosopher after floating around all these years on a cloud. The security that a wonderful democracy gave me, also gave me an opportunity to become a little lacadaisical. Therefore I feel that I have "missed the boat" on a lot of educational opportunities. I also feel that I am in a position to give a little advice to the freshmen. By this time it should be clear to them that a chance to go to college and take a course of their own choosing is indeed a privilege, that fact should be stamped more firmly in their minds each time they see a buddy march off to join the ranks. The responsibility of leadership in the reconstruction period following the Ultimate Victory is the sacred trust of those who have been fortunate enough to get college education. This idea should spur you on in your studies. It's easier to study four or five hours a day than it is to march thirty miles or peel a mountain of spuds. They're giving their all for you—so fellows be Americano.

I can't resist writing a line concerning the squabble that has been aroused over the Jambar. The pressure that "also ran" organizations put on Student Council is very obvious. Because of my status, I have dropped out of school and am giving up this column. Any student has a chance to write this column by merely submitting a sample copy of his work to the editor and have her judge his work along with that of other aspirants. The person writing the column she thinks is the closest to certain standards will be awarded the position, whether he be Greek or non-Greek, Sig Delr or Kappa Sig. The editor is certainly interested in getting the best possible material regardless of the affiliations of her staff members. Those who knocked the editor for being biased in the choosing of her staff are certainly putting the blame on the wrong person. If they could have overlooked their political ties and volunteered to write material for a person of another outfit, they wouldn't be coming up with their sad apple "beef" now. It reminds me of voters that are too lazy to go cast their ballots and then always condemn the results of the elections.

Apologies are certainly in order for the editor has certainly given unsparingly of her time and talents to the seemingly thankless task of maintaining the high standards of the Jambar and giving YoCo a good name throughout the state. A school paper is a very good medium for judging a school. It contains the views of the student body and gives a picture of the average student. The Jambar does just this. The only people that don't approve of it are the "agitators" that believe their political mud-slinging is more beneficial to the welfare of the Jambar than pitching in and giving a little support.

Pardon the personal views, kids and look for my column after "General Doug" and the rest of the boys have cleaned out the "malignant blood-suckers" that are preying on the bodies of innocent but very, very strongly resistant nations.

Looking Around

With Norma Malin

To all outward appearances Joe College is still the same happy, carefree, often obnoxious individual that he always was. But sit down and listen to him talk and you will find that the war has had a tremendous effect upon him. Joe is now a serious minded young man with both his gum soles planted on the terra firma. Gone are the days when he went to school to have fun and spend his old man's excess dough. This year he is living on borrowed time and is cramming as much knowledge as possible. In other years it was the vogue to get by with as light a schedule as the dean would permit. Now he is trying to finish in the shortest possible time. What with employers beating their brains out looking for workers it would be utterly foolish to come to college solely to play.

The co-eds, too, have grown up, the sweet young things have settled down to the task of exercising their brains instead of the old S. A. A gal's innate sense of fair play keeps her away from the big night life. She is trying by hard work to make up a little for the hardships her loved ones are going through in the armed forces.

Good comes from even the greatest evil. Students are counting their blessings oftener, are more grateful for all the little things. Nobody in his right mind is going to fritter away an opportunity for an education these days.

ANNOUNCING the engagement of Miss Constance Taylor and Mr. Anthony Raggazine. The young couple are students at Youngstown College. No date has been set.

Just as all the Greeks and would-be Greeks heave a sigh of relief and prepare to relax after the strenuous weeks of rushing, what happens? Pledge initiation! The mad rush for your charms is over. Fresh, now you pay the penalty. It's all in fun, though, so be a good sport and remember, the spirit in which you take it means a lot in showing just what kind of a fellow you are.

With these parting pearls, I leave you, my swine—I mean friends, see that you take them to heart.

Write to the Boys!

Battle of Arms and Legs

North Carolina's Challenge . . . .

Students Collect 88 Tons of Scrap

Sentiment was shelved when 300 students of North Carolina State College got behind the newspaper scrap drive and rounded up 175,000 pounds of metal in less than three hours. Sponsored by The Technician in cooperation with the student council the drive kept eight trucks busy and netted three carloads of scrap.

Many relics dear to campus tradition were thrown into the heap, and the shout "get in the scrap" became the school cheer. At the end of the day the scrap pile included such items as a World War I German howitzer, a football goal post and hundreds of other items from boilers to bed springs.

And with the campaign ended North Carolina has issued a challenge to other schools of the nation to outdo it in collecting scrap. The student body of 2,400 is ready to take on all-comers on a per capita basis. They have an average of 72 pounds per student.

Wofford—Acme

The favorite meeting spot of North Carolina students is now part of the scrap drive, and the parting word will be, "meet me where the cannon used to be." The college is an ROTC school and contributed many old field pieces to the scrap drive.

Here was the toughest job of the drive. Twenty students were required to move a carload of tile to get at an old German howitzer deep under the stadium. There was still a lot to be done when this picture was taken.

After the tile was moved this was the reward. Note the happy faces as the huge gun is rolled out to see service once again . . . this time for the other side. The German gun weighed almost two tons and required the efforts of 40 huskies to move it to the heap.

Not only the campus but also surrounding areas were covered in the endless search for scrap. Here the boys, including three ROTC cadets who might someday use this scrap at the battlefield, uncover a heavy piece in a gully alongside the railroad tracks.

After 2 hours and 45 minutes of work by 300 students, this scrap pile took shape on the North Carolina campus. An inter-campus rivalry was started to see which section of the student body could collect the most scrap metal. Now a challenge has been issued to other schools.

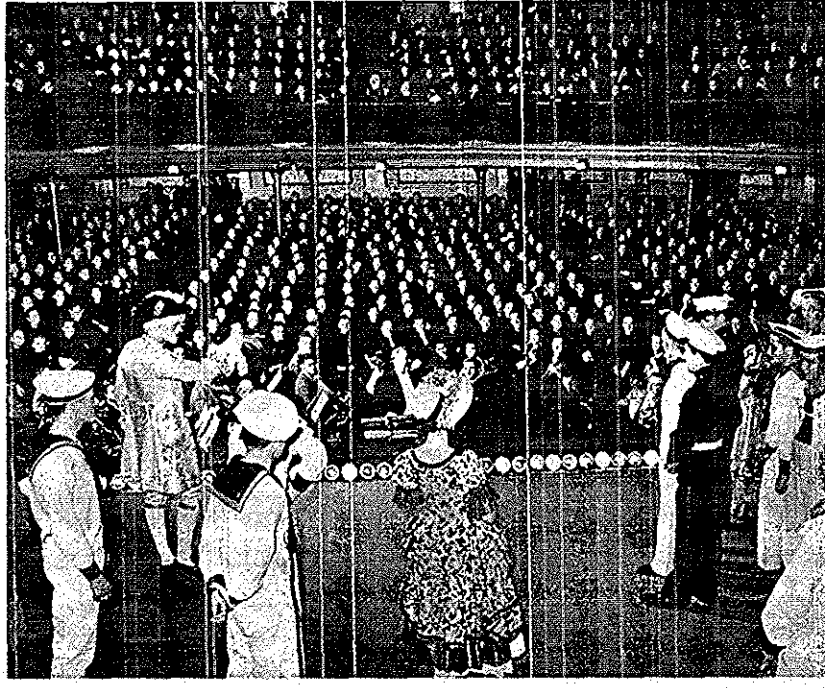

Scrap collecting was facilitated by the use of "walkie-talkie" radio sets used regularly to instruct ROTC students in the Signal Corps unit. These radios went with the trucks and kept a constant communication with the base at the scrap pile. Assignments for the trucks were made on the run.

Touchdown!

Encore
 The Notre Dame Savoyards, campus dramatic organization, presented Gilbert and Sullivan's "H.M.S. Pinafore" so well before the school's naval trainees that they have been called back for an encore. This month they are planning to produce the G-S masterpiece "Patience", for the group and public too.

How an Aviation Cadet Spends His Day

Every American youth wants to help his country in its defense of its principles, and there's something about the Air Force that makes him want to do his part in that branch of the service—which is O. K. with Uncle Sam who needs pilots, navigators, bombardiers and gunners for his ever increasing fleet of war planes.

Flocking to this arm of the service are thousands of collegians. Typical of them is Cadet John L. Harris, Jr., formerly of Georgia Southwestern College, who exemplifies the high intelligence and physical qualities of the men of the United States Air Forces. Let's follow him in a typical day at Napier Field, the army's advanced flying school at Dothan, Alabama.

Southeastern Army Air Force Photos

To get into the Army Air Force a cadet has to be in perfect physical condition. Poor teeth can cause a lot of trouble, so Harris makes a dash for his toothbrush and a brisk morning scrubbing session.

It's not yet light when Cadet Harris leaves the barracks, for he arises at 5:00 a. m., and the thought of breakfast is an incentive to getting out early.

Breakfast over, he takes his speedy plane out on the starting line and is ready to take off into the "wide blue yonder." Much of the morning will be spent in combat training.

Not only do planes have to be refueled, but pilots also demand a certain amount of fueling... and that steak keeps the old motor purring for Cadet Harris.

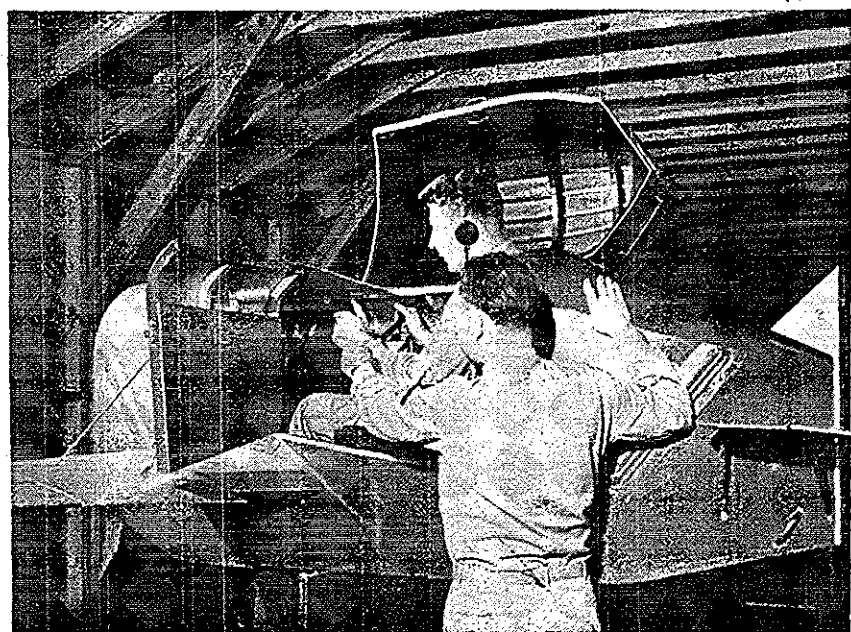

A sound background in the theory of modern warfare is as important as flying ability, and here Cadet Harris and his classmates attend a regular lecture session. Many hours are spent in the classroom and in outside book work.

Staying on the beam is important to a pilot; therefore, radio is given its share of man-hours. Here Cadet Harris is working out a practice message.

A universal custom when it gets to mid-afternoon, Cadet Harris imbibes in a little refreshment at the P. X. (Post Exchange to you who don't know army talk.)

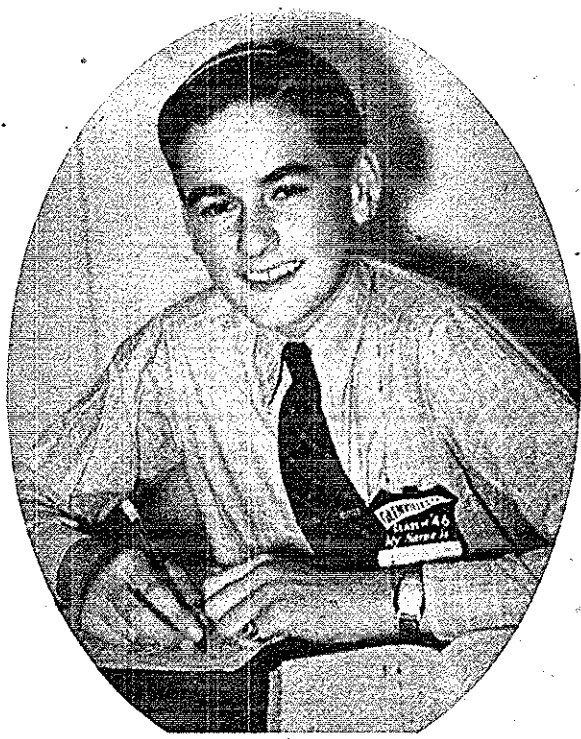

In the little plane that never leaves the ground, Cadet Harris receives training in blind flying. The Link Trainer is the bone of many cadet's existence, but not for Harris who can fly like a bat at night.

Cadet Harris wears a pair of wings but no pants as he dons a clean uniform and prepares for a journey to town. And Harris' blind dating is as good as his blind flying.

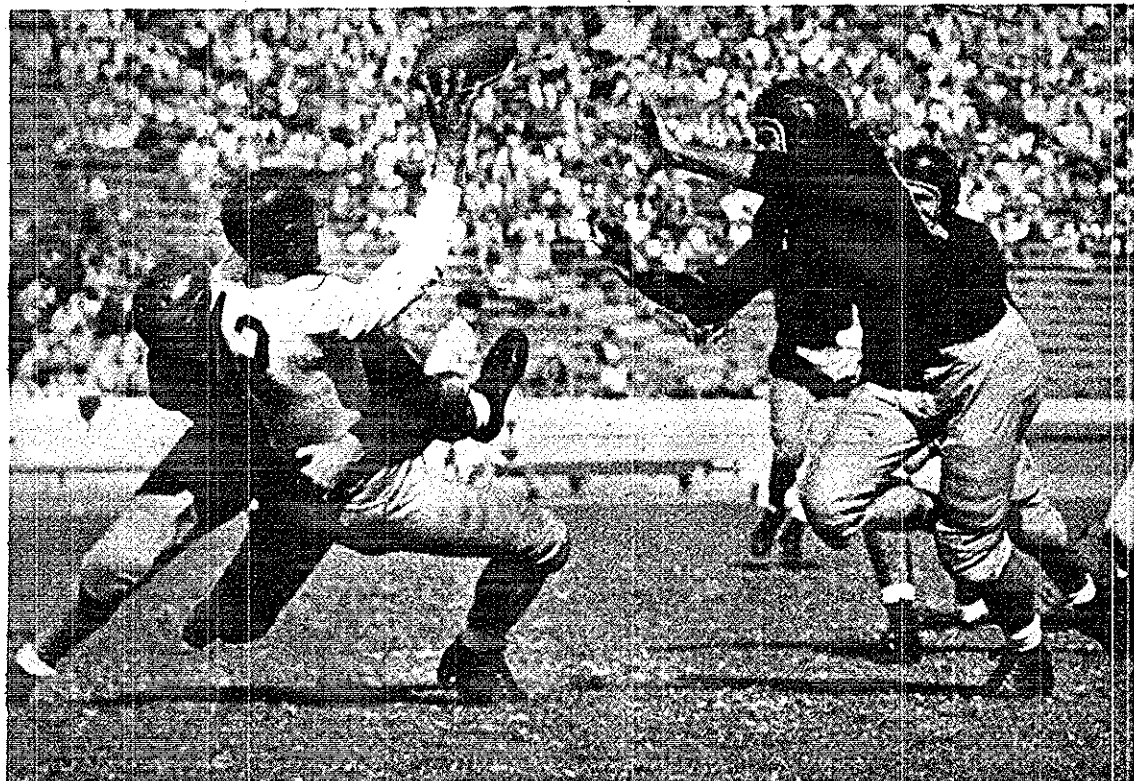

A last minute telephone call to town and Cadet Harris is set for a big time in Dothan. But like Cinderella he must be home in bed by midnight... because tomorrow morning it's breakfast at five!

E. T. P. C. Swing Into Action For National Education Week

There has been a great deal of scurrying around going on up in 401 recently. Then, too, there has been a noticeable increase in the number of summons flitting on the E. T. P. C. bulletin board—the type that say "Very important! Must be there!" One is apt to interrupt a discussion concerning a script that just isn't becoming a script or hear sounds emerging from 401 that make you positive at least one little German regiment has succeeded in landing.

About all that an intelligent person can gather is that November 13 falls in a week dedicated to education. So the E. T. P. C. is to take over the chapel program and show the progress in education and its place to day and tomorrow. We await a full explanation of the situation at 11:30 on November 13.

Navy Offers Opportunities For Students

The Navy is offering enlarged opportunities to college graduates not over 27 years old to become commissioned officers in a special year-end midshipman's class.

The special school, starting no later than January 1, will be divided between existing midshipmen training centers at Northwestern and Notre Dame universities, the New York Reserve Midshipman's school and the United States Naval Academy.

Men in the special class will enroll as apprentice seamen in V-7 for four months' training in the Navy's wartime midshipman schools. For the first month those accepted will be apprentice seamen in Navy indoctrination. For the next three they will be midshipmen.

Midshipmen completing the instruction successfully will be commissioned as ensigns in the United States Naval Reserve. Those who fail will be discharged to their former civilian status, if they choose, may remain in the Navy in an enlisted status of their choice and qualification.

Applicants must show a college degree and credit for a year of college mathematics. Men without that, however, may be accepted if they agree to complete such a course within 30 days after enlistment.

Current speed in the program requires enlistment within the next few weeks. As a part of V-7 this program is open to college undergraduates and college seniors receiving their degrees by January 1, 1943.

Married and single graduates are eligible. The latter, however, must agree not to marry during their training period. Physical requirements include a minimum of 5 feet 4 inches and weight in proportion to height with a minimum of 124 pounds.

Youngstown Penguins Win Fourth Straight Game, 31-19

Sport SLANTS

By Ben Williams

Leo Mogus has once again shown Geneva how useless he is. Leo scored 19 of Youngstown's 31 points against Geneva. Congratulations, Leo.

At their last meeting the Varsity Club elected officers for the year. The officers chosen are: Cyril James, President; Alex Wolanski, Vice President; John Padach, Secretary; and Leo Mogus, Treasurer. All of the officers are Seniors and great lads. Plans were made for a dinner at the closing of the present football season. Due to the fact that the Army has taken many of the gridders, the Varsity Club has accepted into membership those gridders who have already won their letters this season.

This week our hat is off to No. 24, lean, lanky Leo, Mogus. Leo got off to a bad start this season but when he hit his stride he played heads-up ball. Leo came from Scienceville High School where he was a star on the basketball and football team. For several years Leo has been up among the high point men in basketball and he handles a football with the same ease that he does a basketball. Mogus is a rather likeable chap and quite unassuming. He deserves a big hand from everyone.

Yours truly is turning detective in an effort to discover a person whose initials are J. H. The aforementioned J. H. was the writer of a letter in which he accused yours truly of being too loyal to be any good. In other words he questioned my loyalty to YoCo and as much as said that it was all faked. In reply I am writing the following short note and addressing it to J. H., whoever he is.

Dear J. H.: This is in reply to your sarcastic letter dated November 3rd in which you question the authenticity of my loyalty to Youngstown College and the Youngstown Penguins. I most emphatically deny all of the charges that you made in your letter. I might add that I do not think very much of a person who is afraid to sign his name to something that he writes. If you are in doubt, as your letter stated, as to the deepness of my loyalty, I refer you to the Penguins . . . ask some of them and they can tell you whether it is false or not. Just ask Wolanski or any of the boys who know me. I agree to meet you in person at any time and any place you might prefer if you are man enough to come out into the open. In closing I wish to state that it is people like you who undermine the morale of the country.

LOYALLY Yours,

Ben A. Williams

Yours truly is very sorry about this column is more or less of a personal nature, but I believe that the students should know everything that has any reflection or effect upon this paper, for it is your paper.

J. H. seems to think that the Jambar needs a new Sports Editor and so do I, if it would be of benefit to the paper and the school. I like my work and will fight to the last in order to protect my position.

Penguins Hand Geneva Second Set-Back

The Youngstown Penguins proved their superiority over the Geneva Golden Tornado last Saturday afternoon as they handed the Geneva team their second setback of the season by a score of 31-19.

Leo Mogus was the outstanding attraction of the afternoon, grabbing Tony Aiello's passes to score three Youngstown touchdowns. Soon after the opening kickoff Mogus grabbed a pass from Aiello to cross the goal line for the first YoCo score. Coughlin's kick was blocked leaving the score 6-0.

The Geneva line crashed through to toss Petrollini for a 14 yard loss to his own 19. Al Perl reversed his field, and behind perfect blocking raced 81 yards unmolested for a touchdown. Coughlin's kick was wide leaving the score 12-6.

90 Yard Touchdown

Bruno, Geneva halfback, took the Youngstown kickoff on his own 10 yard line and raced the remaining 90 yards to score Geneva's first marker. The Geneva placement was wide marking the score 12-6.

In the second quarter Petrollini tossed a long pass to Mogus on the Geneva 34. After losing seven yards on three plays, Aiello faded back and fired a long pass to Mogus behind the goal for the Penguins' third score. A pass from Aiello to Mogus was good for the extra point making the score 19-6.

Mogus Scores Again

Aiello brought the Geneva kick to his own 40 in the third frame. On the first down he heaved a pass to Mogus on the 28 and Mogus went over for his third score of the game. Coughlin's placement was blocked and the Penguins led by a score of 25-6.

Geneva picked up three consecutive first downs to take the ball to the Penguin 33. Birko crashed through to the eight on a reverse and Medrocostis crossed the line for Geneva's second score.

Aiello tossed a pass from his own 38 to Lanzi on the Geneva 40. Lanzi went over the goal line for Youngstown's last tally. The placement was blocked leaving the score 31-12.

Pete Kane crashed over for the last Geneva score. The placement was good making the final score 31-19.

Youngstown started the second quarter with an entirely new team. After an exchange of punts Mintz fumbled and Wesleyan recovered on the Youngstown 26.

Aiello intercepted a pass behind the goal line and the Penguins started another drive from the 20.

Perl slashed his way through tackle, eluding the enemy to step over the goal for YoCo's third marker. Coughlin again converted to make the score 21-0 at half time.

Thompson's third period touchdown was nullified because of an off-side penalty against Youngstown. With the ball on the eight, Aiello went through the line for Youngstown's fourth touchdown.

Wesleyan Tallies

Wilk recovered Cramb's fumble on the Penguin 37. A Wesleyan pass netted 16 yards and a first down on the 11th as the quarter ended. In three plays Wesleyan picked up four yards, then Wilk tossed to Siegent in the end zone for the lone Wesleyan tally.

Armentrout, Titan halfback muffed a Penguin punt on the 10 yard line and was caught behind his goal line for a Penguin safety. Later De Rose took off down the sidelines for another Youngstown score. The game ended shortly thereafter with Youngstown the victor 35-6.

The Penguins gained 262 yards, completed 1 pass in 4 attempts whereas Wesleyan completed 4 in 21 attempts.

YoCo Outclass Titans 35-6

On Saturday, October 30th, the Youngstown Penguins met Illinois Wesleyan in their fifth homecoming game and romped off with the victory to the score of 35-6.

Youngstown's first marker came early in the initial quarter. Youngstown drew a 15-yard penalty shortly after the opening kickoff, the Penguins got the ball on the 50 yard line, and started down the field. Lucci and Perl picked up a first down in three plays. Thompson and Perl took the ball to the 16 for another first down. Aiello netted three and Lucci six, then Perl went off tackle on a reverse for the first score. Coughlin's kick made the score 7-0.

Youngstown held the Titans after the kickoff and retrieved the ball on another poor punt. Spouse fell on the ball on the Wesleyan 36. Perl went around in a gain of 20 yards to place
