Since arriving Wednesday, the 50 members of the association have attended a series of meetings, panel discussions and dinners, featuring Harold J. Bowers, assistant superintendent of public institution, State of Ohio, who addressed the opening business meeting Thursday.

A panel discussion Thursday afternoon covering selective admissions and salaries of registrars was presided over by Allen C. Ingraham of Ohio Wesleyan University.

Host P.P. Buchanan, Registrar of Youngstown University, and past president of the Registrars' association, will accompany the delegates on a tour of the new IBM building on Wick Avenue, where the largest IBM machine made is to be demonstrated.

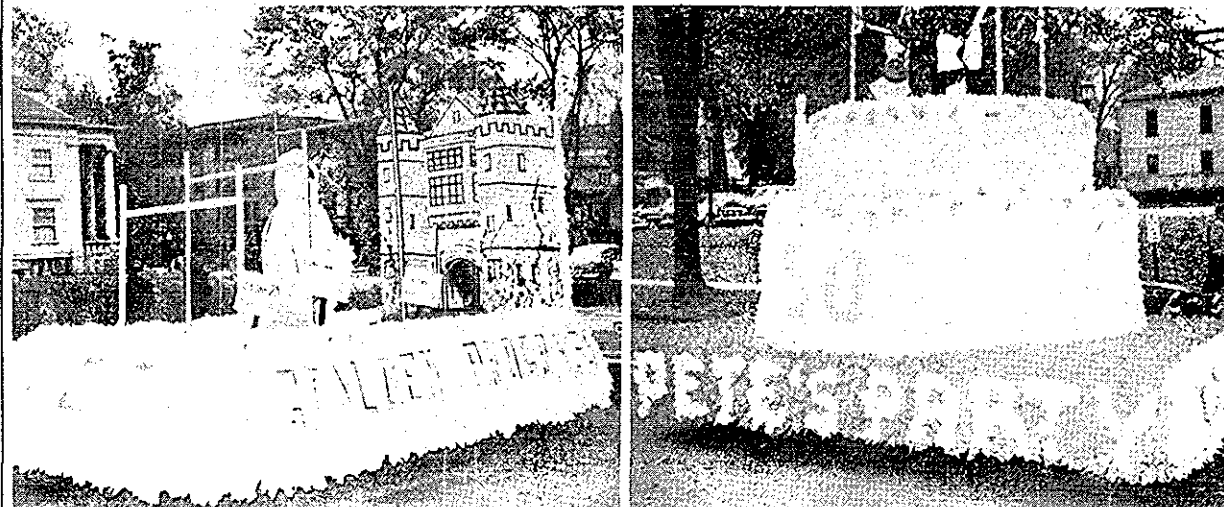

Final session will be a dinner at 7 p.m. tonight at the Mural Room.

Fire Department Called to Pollock

A short circuit in a light fixture brought a company of the Youngstown Fire Department to the Jambar office, Friday morning, Oct. 10.

Three staff members had been folding the Homecoming issue of the newspaper when a light bulb exploded, thus causing the short.

Kappa Sigma Kappa Wins Float Honors

Kappa Sigma Kappa, Alpha Omicron Pi, and Delta Chi Epsilon were first place winners in the homecoming float competition. "An Anniversary Gift," (top) the Kappa Sig entry, also won the best float in the parade award. "Goal'den Progress," (1), was AOPi's entry, while the Delta Chi's submitted "Pete's 50th Party."

Alpha Omicron Pi First in Sorority Competition

On Sat., Oct. 11, Bryson Street was a massive fairyland. At 10 a.m., all competing fraternities, sororities, and independent organizations lined the street with floats and applied the finishing touches before the contest at 11 a.m. This year's theme for the Homecoming floats was the Golden Anniversary of Youngstown University.

Judges were Mrs. Thomas Finnie, John Morgan and Al Zuboski. After a long wait in the chilling wind the judges announced that Kappa Sigma Kappa fraternity won two trophies, one for the best fraternity float and the other for the best float in the parade. For the sorority trophy Alpha Omicron Pi took the honors and among the independents Delta Chi Epsilon won.

The theme for Kappa Sigma Kappa's float was an Anniversary Gift. This float consisted of Pete Penguin pushing a gold football on a Western Kentucky football player. The float was tilted upward signifying the long struggle in Youngstown University's progress. At each end there was a goal post, one with a Y.M.C.A. banner, signifying 1908, and a large one representing the science building for 1958. The approximate number of napkins used to construct this float was 98,000.

A O Pi Wins

"Goal'den Progress" was the theme that enabled Alpha Omicron Pi to win. The float consisted of three goal posts of various sizes.

Pat Gargoline, 1958 Graduate, Enters Columbia University

Patrick James Gargoline, 1958 graduate of Youngstown University, has entered Columbia University to study Hispanic philology as a Woodrow Wilson Fellow.

Gargoline, a resident of Youngstown, Ohio, is one of the thousand and prospective college teachers in the United States and Canada who are entering graduate school this fall on Woodrow Wilson National Fellowships.

Recognizing the critical need for college teachers, the Ford Foundation recently gave the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Foundation $25,000,000 to aid outstanding first-year graduate students. Beginning next year each fellowship will carry a living allowance of $1,500 for single students, with increments for dependents, and will pay the full cost of tuition and fees. In order to be considered for a fellowship, a student must be nominated by a faculty member.

Versed in Languages

Gargoline is especially interested in encouraging students to study foreign languages and is himself well versed in Spanish, French, German, and Italian. He is also interested in American and English literature and has had some of his own work published in the University Literary Magazine.

Gargoline plans to work for a doctorate, and intends to teach at the college level upon completion of his graduate work.

Nominations for Woodrow Wilson Fellowships for next year must be made by faculty members by Oct. 31, 1958. Those interested in more information should see Professor Karl W. Dykema of the Language and Literature Department, or write directly to the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, Box 642, Princeton, New Jersey.

Students Hear Senator Bricker

Senator John W. Bricker, Senior Senator of Ohio, spoke to a group of students in the Audio-Visual room of the library. He was sponsored by the Young Republicans of Youngstown University.

He stressed that individual liberty is and has been a priceless heritage. He wants more people, therefore, to take an interest in government to find who is the right man for the job.

Annual Dinner Held by IFC

"Wisdom is maturing your philosophy of life," stated Dr. Walter E. Mayer as he addressed the I.F.C. at a recently held dinner. Dr. Mayer developed the general theme of "Fraternal Greatness" in his remarks.

Plans for the school year were discussed in the business session pertaining to Greek social functions. There were twenty-eight members present at the dinner.

I.F.C. meets every Tuesday and discusses the problems and social events of the fraternities on campus.

It was held on Oct. 6, at the VFW hall at Logan and Wick in commemoration of the 60th anniversary of the fraternity on its Founders Day. The purpose of the meeting was to give new students as well as the old students, who are not members, an idea of the purposes and what the fraternity can mean to them. This was presented by Mr. James Wisler, the chapter faculty advisor.

The chapter each year is required to perform two recitals. The first recital was held on Oct. 15 in Strouss Auditorium.

The officers of the fraternity are: Miller Hahn, president; John Petrak, vice president; Norman Cassidy, secretary; Francis St. Clair, treasurer; Victor Bell, alumni secretary; Ray Pack, historian; Robert Ward, warden; and Mr. James Wisler, the Faculty Advisor.

The Youngstown University chapter is known as the Delta Eta Chapter. Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity is a national, honorary and professional music fraternity.

Election of Council President

Little is known about the representative body which speaks for the students here at Y.U. Despite the genuine efforts of some able students who serve on our Student Council and the publication of the important events taking place in our governing body in the Jambar, Council remains in seclusion. This should not be. Many suggestions are worthy of thought as to how we can remedy the lack of interest in this important phase of our college life.

Certainly the Jambar can do more to stimulate interest in elections by publishing pictures of candidates and their qualifications and we will. The biggest move to improve the communication with Council would be the popular election of the Student Council President. At present he is elected by Council. This is not just!

If Student Council is to be the voice of the student body and is going to allocate our money then certainly we have the right to elect the President of Student Council. However, this statement must be qualified. The nominees in such a popular election should have previous Council experience.

Many may be surprised at the Jambar's stand on this issue but we intend and will pursue this suggestion until a result, either negative or positive is registered.

This is not an issue to be passed off lightly; it is essential if we are to have an effective student body and Student Council relationship.

Political Student Affiliates

On Nov. 4, the two major political parties will vie for control of the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives. On campus, both of these parties, Democrat and Republican, have student affiliates that serve to encourage the student body to participate actively in their various programs.

With the complexities of today's many political issues, and the involved machinations connected with them, a young voter or prospective voter is often bewildered. This may eventually lead to a defeatist attitude where the voter feels that his attempt to understand and control the politicians of his party is futile and therefore unnecessary.

Both the Young Democrats and the Young Republicans would welcome new memberships to strengthen their parties' cause in the coming Congressional elections. The whole essence of republican democracy is the broad participation of the electors in choosing their representatives.

The student body is strongly urged to participate in these organizations.

A Word of Thanks

A much deserved note of commendation should be given to Jim Douglass and Mike McCarthy for their fine work as co-chairmen of the Homecoming festivities. The job, a thankless one, was well done and will be remembered by all who attended this gala event as one of the best ever.

Youngstown Chief of Police, Mr. Paul Cress was the first person to offer a constructive and sympathetic answer to the question of parking. He will attempt to help the students to alleviate the problem.

Parking Solution Is Offered By Police Chief of Youngstown

By Bud Byers

This reporter and photographer Paul Jagnow made three interviews in the area concerning the parking problem at the University. The first interview was with Jim Krause, Foreman of the Butler Art Institute. When asked about towing cars away from the vicinity of Butler Art Institute, Mr. Krause said that he was in charge of having the cars towed away. He also commented that he gives each student parking there three warnings and then tows them away. He stated that he sympathized with the students on the parking situation. "Some students make it tough for other students," he said.

The second interview was with Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, of the First Christian Church. She said that students parking illegally in the church vicinity have constantly made trouble for personnel of the church. On one occasion a crippled woman had to walk completely around the church, in the rain to attend services. She does not sympathize with the University on the parking situation, and seems to think that all students are terrible.

Youngstown Chief of Police, Paul Cress, was the subject of the third interview. He was the first person to give suggestions and to be willing to help on the parking situation. He will be very glad to meet with the Student Council to try to improve parking on the streets surrounding the university. One suggestion of his was to have students move their cars one foot in either direction every three hours, therefore, reparking their cars and not being subject to violations. He also feels that city council will help in any way they can.

The subject of next week's interview will be William O'Neil, the Governor of Ohio.

Colleges Account for 50% of Student Loans

The College Life Insurance Company of America disclosed in a study made public today that one per cent of the nation's colleges and universities account for fifty per cent of all the loans made to students by institutions of higher education.

Harvard led in the amount loaned in the school year with $825,000. The largest number of loans, 3,621, was made by Michigan State. Highest average loan was $612 at M.I.T. The four year maximum loan varies from $200 at the University of Colorado to $3,300 at M.I.T.

Scholarships, however, remain the present chief source of funds for students and the figures suggest that they will remain so for a long

Desires Answer to Cheering Problem

By Marlene Mogish

Do you go to Youngstown University? Were you at the game last week? Did you cheer for the team and let them know you were there?

Enough questions, now for some answers. All of you attend Youngstown University, a large number of you were at the game, but so few, if any cheered. Why this lack of enthusiasm and interest? You might argue that nobody else cheers, why should I? You might say that if I did everyone would probably stare at me as if I were crazy. You might ask what good it would do.

Almost everyone of you would like to really let loose and cheer, but you're afraid. Everyone talks about the lack of cheering and school spirit and seems to know the answers. Yet nobody does a thing about it.

Are you happy just going to a game and sitting there quietly discussing what goes on at school, who you're dating, and other bits of gossip? You could really have some fun if you would enter into the spirit of things and show that you care.

If you do, our boys on the team will appreciate you, the cheerleaders will love you, and the other students around you who have been waiting for someone to start thing-rolling will thank you.

Do you have what it takes to dare to be different and do what's right? Then let's hear you yell at the next game.

time to come. At the University of Chicago, the number of scholarships awarded was equal to 45% of the undergraduate enrollment.

Part time employment is another major means of student assistance. Ohio State alone paid out more than $3,700,000 for all types of student services.

Penguins Defeat Hilltoppers In Homecoming Contest

By Paul Jagnow

In spite of harassing weather factors, the Youngstown University Penguins trampled out a 20-6 triumph over the Western Kentucky Hilltoppers last Saturday night to bring an eventful conclusion to Y.U.'s homecoming observance.

The Penguin gridgers proved their worth as they took full advantage of Kentucky's numerous errors and showed no quarter to their visitors from the south.

The home team made its first mark on the opposition when half-back, Paul Ceremuga, snagged a 35 yard pass from quarter-back, Harry Green to give the locals a six to nothing edge on the Kentuckians.

At the halfway mark of the third quarter, an intercepted Western pass proved to be the stepping stone to Youngstown's second tally.

Penguin freshman guard, Ralph Morelli, swiped an aerial from Kentucky quarterback, Ken Griffith and eluded Western's defense to the two yard line, where his advance was checked. Tom Richards, Y.U. fullback, then darted between the uprights for the score, giving the Penguins a comfortable 12 point lead.

White Intercepts Pass

Youngstown's final touchdown came in the fourth period when another pass attempted by the Hilltoppers was pilfered by Ron White, who had taken over the Penguin defensive halfback position.

A 15 yard penalty against the Kentuckians paved the way to the 25 yard marker. Quarterback, Frank Hanzes passed to Tom Richards on the eight yard line and Richards crashed through the Kentucky line and into the end zone for the six points.

Western Kentucky who had relied on aerial shots all night, finally connected in the waning seconds of play as Ken Griffiths whipped a pass to Doug Munford, who in turn smashed to the Youngstown nine yard stripe. Mel Vogel then plunged into the end zone with the pigskin. Excellent playing and co-operation on the part of all the team members sparked the Penguins to victory.

There will be no activity on the Penguin grid this week, the next contest being with Eastern Kentucky on Oct. 25.

Bowling handicaps are being established and results on games played thus far will be published as soon as they are received.

QUE'S QUIPS

By Jim Quilty

The sun rose bright and early last Saturday morning. Youngstown University's annual homecoming festivities, including the parade of gaily decorated floats, the coronation of the 1958 Homecoming Queen, and lastly the football game seemed encompassed by the most delightful fall weather.

But by midmorning Apollo's rays had been blotted out by dark storm clouds and the threat of rain throughout the rest of the day frightened many would be homecoming goers into remaining at home. Over 7,000 followers did make the football game. The parade went along without interruption, judging was performed, and no rains came.

But when the rain did fall, it fell and fell and fell. The inopportune time of its arrival was midway through the opening quarter of the Youngstown-Western Kentucky game. Not many of the 7,000 braved the downpour. The halftime ceremonies were canceled and moved to Idora Park. Despite the disheartening weather the Penguins grid machine flowed freely giving their best football demonstration of the year.

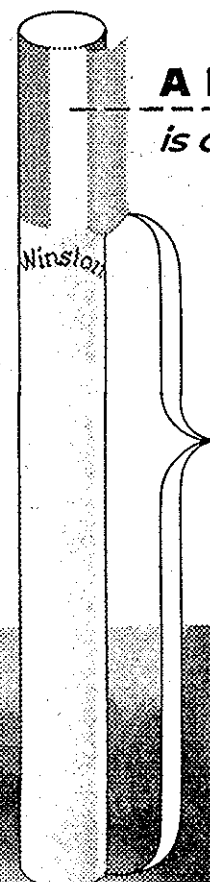

The players slipped on their afts now and then but Youngstown managed to hold their footing three times more than the Hilltoppers outscoring them three touchdowns to one for a 20-6 victory.

Hilltoppers Score

The Kentuckians lone touchdown came in the waning moments on the rain drenched gridiron. Most notable in the victory was the Youngstown vastly improved defensive unit. They allowed yardage in the middle 50 yards but inside the 25 at each end of the field the Hilltoppers may have just as well attempted to drive up an icy hill.

The stalwarts were tackles John Krafcik and John Armeni, guards Ralph Morelli and Ed Howley, center John Abdo and ends Mike Giambattista and Tom Smolanovich.

In homecoming games, the Penguins now stand at 17-2 since the inaugural in 1938.

University Had Live Penguins

Very few students are aware that Youngstown had several live mascots at one time. The first, Pete I, arrived on November 18, 1939 just in time for the Homecoming Game. The game was delayed for 10 minutes at one time by the appearance of the penguin.

He posed and cuddled up to Miss Margaret Ann Louell, the Homecoming Queen after nipping at her fingers. He then became nervous and ran under the bench when the team gathered together for their huddle.

Pete stayed at Crandall Park, ate 20 to 30 fish a day, was not housebroken, visited classrooms, and made love to a swan. He took a daily swim in the park until one day he became trapped under the ice and died.

Becomes Symbol
He became a symbol of the college, upheld to this day. He has been stuffed and is in president Jones' office.

Pete II arrived on November 5, 1941 in time for the homecoming game between Akron University and Youngstown. It, like Pete I, cost $150. Youngstown won the game 19-0.

Several days later, Pete II met Patricia, a female penguin, in the administrative offices of the Main Building. Pete chased her around the office, under desks, through passageways, and past peoples ankles. They ended up in a corner with Pete having his back scratched by Pat.

The second Pete later died of pneumonia and Pat was sent to the Cleveland Zoo where she died of TB.

Doctor: "Take the spoon out of the cup."

He: "No, but I have."
