Election is closest in SG history; Glaros beats Bacon by fifteen votes

In one of the closest elections in student government history, student council member George Glaros defeated Keith Bacon, senior, T&CC for the SG presidency by 15 votes in last week's elections. Glaros' running mate Toni DiSalvo defeated Sheri Moore for the vice-presidency 556-427. Glaros and DiSalvo will succeed incumbent president Bill Brown.

Glaros, who will be the first Independent SG president this decade, and one of only a few in YSU history, accepted saying, "It isn't fair for one person to have all the joy that I feel...I couldn't have won without the help of people too numerous to mention." He thanked running mate DiSalvo who "stayed by my side and helped me over choppy waters when things were rough." He added, "We have a lot of work to do and a lot of plans and programs to get underway. It's going to be a busy year. I only hope that I can live up to everyone's expectations."

DiSalvo thanked her supporters for "believing in me," and added "I'll do my utmost not to let any of you down; if you

O'Neill, Sterenberg to compete for 76-77 YSU-OEA presidency

Dr. Dan O'Neill, Speech and Dramatics and Dr. Elizabeth Sterenberg, Political Science will face each other in a run-off election for the office of President of the YSU-OEA for the 76-77 year.

A run-off will also be held for the office of first vice-president. In an unusual occurrence, Dr. Edgar Cobett, Secondary Education and Dr. Joseph May, History will compete in a run-off—the winner to oppose Dr. James Dale, Social Science in another run-off for the second spot.

Declared winners in the balloting were: Second Vice-President, Dr. A. Ranger Curran, Management; Secretary, Dr. Charles Singler, Geology; Treasurer, Dr. James Morrison, Psychology. O'Neill and Sterenberg were the top two vote-getters among a field of five that included: Dr. Paul Dalbec, Physics and Astronomy; Joseph Koss, Economics and Dr. David Robinson, Speech and Dramatics.

Sterenberg, present for the final tallying, said she was surprised and pleased at the confidence shown her by fellow workers. "May the best person win," she said.

When reached by The Jambar for comment, O'Neill was delighted at the support he received. He stated, "I'm happy to see so many people participating in the election." About 80 percent of the OEA members cast their ballots.

Trustees up operating budget; undergrad enrollment rose 23.8%

YSU's Board of Trustees approved a tentative $29,349,168 operating budget for the fiscal year 1976-77, an increase of $3,356,614, up 11 percent from last year.

Of the total, $25,906,757 is for the Instructional and General Budget, which represents a 12.7 percent increase over this year's figure of $22,993,256. The budget was discussed during the Board's regular meeting April 24.

YSU President John J. Coffelt explained that approximately 60 percent of the income for the Instructional and General Budget is from state appropriation, tentatively set at $15,453,140. Anticipated student fee income is $9,256,667. The final budget will be presented at the board's next meeting, June 26.

Also during the meeting, spring quarter enrollment of 14,264 was announced by Dr. Karl E. Krill, vice president for administrative affairs. This is an 11 percent increase over last spring's enrollment figure of 12,804. Undergraduate enrollment is now 12,548, including 4,722 freshmen, and 7,826 upperclassmen (sophomores, juniors and seniors). The Graduate School has 1,716 students enrolled, an increase of 23.8 percent over last spring.

Enrollment by the schools and colleges of the University shows T&CC leading again with 4,100, and A&S second with 3,009. The School of Business Administration has 2,463; the School of Education, 1,432; The William Rayen School of Engineering, 841; and the College of Fine and Performing Arts, 703. There are 8,653 students attending on a full time basis and 5,611 part-time.

Krill reported that the full-time equivalent figure of 10,603 is down slightly more than normal, reflecting a modest continuing trend toward part-time study. He said the different schools and colleges of the University increased over spring quarter 1975 by amounts ranging from 5 to 24 percent except for the School of Education which had a 4 percent loss.

Krill also discussed new capital improvements work on campus. He said the Youngstown firm of McLean, McGraw and Keller has been recommended to the state architect for work on Ward Beecher Science Hall, Dana Recital Hall and Rayen Hall to correct safety deficiencies and remove barriers to the physically

T&CC name change ok'd by Board of Trustees

The Technical and Community College will be known as the College of Applied Science and Technology effective July 1.

T&CC was established at YSU in 1968. Dr. Earl E. Edgar, vice president for academic affairs, explained that then its mission was to offer two-year associate degree programs, and this will continue to be one of its most important missions. Since its establishment it has utilized existing courses offered by the College of Arts and Sciences to provide required general studies work and science courses basic to the technical programs of the College. The College has also developed baccalaureate programs to provide upward educational mobility and to prepare individuals in applied spheres of learning dealing with human health.

Trustees also approved a Declaration of Intention between YSU and the non-profit organization "The Committee for YSU's Sports Complex." The declaration clarifies the relationship of both parties in this joint venture. Edward J. DeBartolo Jr. was named liaison member between the board and the committee. The incorporation of the Committee to assist YSU in soliciting funds for its multi-purpose complex was announced recently by YSU President John J. Coffelt and civic leader William G. Lyden Jr. The development of an all-sports complex and the proposed

Voting measures solved possible election problems

Numerous precautionary measures were taken in this year's Student Government elections to ensure that no problems occurred because of the use of paper ballots at the polls. Elections Committee Chairperson Liz Strouss stated that voting went smoothly and there was no evidence of ballots being tampered with or of any "dirty politics" in the election.

The last election in which paper ballots were used was three years ago and according to Assistant Dean of Student Affairs Dave Bertelsen while there was no

Brown proposes funds cut for Amer. Guild of Organists

"You will, in effect, wipe out every musical organization on campus," an impassioned spokesperson for the American Guild of Organists told Student Council at their meeting Monday in response to Student Government President Bill Brown.

Brown said, in justification of the proposed cut of the groups total $600, proposed allocation that other music oriented groups were also being cut and that they were all being referred to the Dana Concert Series for possible funding. The Guild spokesperson said the money from the series wasn't available to them.

In other action, results of last week's Council elections were announced (see story on page 1), Council began discussion of the proposed budget for next year, two Council members were each allocated $100 for their work on special projects, and Bill Brown reported on the status of Pollock House. Recently, a group of students has been formed to block demolition of the historical structure.

Brown said he had talked to YSU President Dr. John Coffelt about Pollock House and that Coffelt assured him that there has been no decision made yet on the fate of the building. Brown said Coffelt had completely rejected a plan to tear down the structure to build a parking lot.

Faculty advisor Dr. David Bertelsen agreed with Brown that there was no emergency but pointed out that he had heard that before in regard to the Elm Street School Gymnasium which was subsequently torn down.

Brown, in regard to the complete cut of the American Guild of Organists from Student Government's proposed budget, said he felt the organization should seek funds from the Dana Concert Series' $10,200 general fee allocation. "We had to cut $10,000 from our budget," said Brown. "To me, the funding of a guest organist lecturer and recital is exactly what the Dana Concert Series does and I think they should be approached for the money."

The Guild spokesperson said that as far as he knew, all the Dana Concert Series money was already spoken for. The student president of the Guild said the group deserved to have their own funds and they had just as many rights as other student organizations.

Council member Linda Hayes said Council should see if the group will be able to get any funds from the Series before they cut their funds. A committee was formed to find out what the Dana Concert Series funds, and how the money is allocated.

Liz Strouss was allocated $100 for her work as elections committee chairperson during the recent Council election, and former Council member John Denney was allocated $100 for his part in beginning the student escort service.

Walkathon Sign-Up

Sign up for the March of Dimes Walkathon sponsored by YSU's Circle K organization, will take place between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. and from 5 to 8 p.m. Thursday, May 6 in Kilcawley Center Arcade.

The Walkathon will take place May 16, with registration being held from 9 to 11:30 a.m. in Idora Park Ballroom. The Walkathon will cover 20 miles in its entire course.

For further information contact the Circle K Office, Room 273, in the Student Organizations Office area, Kilcawley Center second floor, or call the Walkathon Office at 759-2411.

Germans in America

"Germans in America" will be the topic of Dr. Alan Viehmeyer, foreign languages, at the History Club's weekly Luncheon-Discussion at noon, Wednesday, May 5 in Kilcawley room 238. Faculty and students are invited.

Elections

(Cont. from page 1) have a problem or just want to talk, my office hours will be posted."

Winners of Academic Senate Seats include: A&S, Michele Murphy; School of Business, Cynthia Jukich; Education, Lisa Cohn; Engineering, Raymond Ervin; Fine Arts, Leslie Horvath; T&CC Bill Brown; and the three representatives at large were Robert Gwin, Gail Brooks, and Thomas Bedrick.

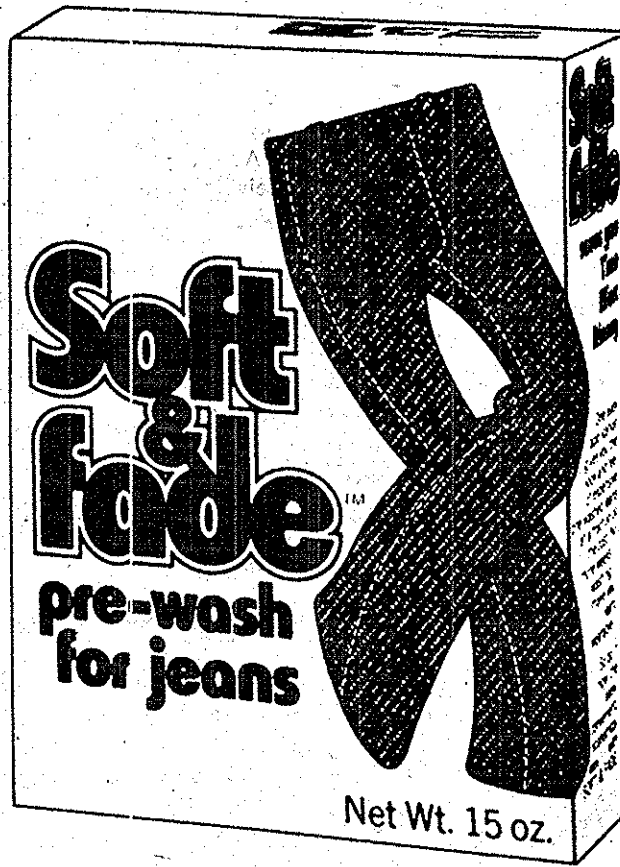

All of the proposed Student Government Constitution Amendments passed with the exception of the fourth.

The voting turnout last week was about 990, making it a lighter election than in 1974 and 1975 which were approximately 1900 and 1400 respectively. Incumbent Brown attributed the light voting to apathy and dissatisfaction with the candidates.

Child labor

The History Club will feature The Cry of the Children, a movie about child labor, at 2 and 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 5 in Kilcawley room 240. The film is free and open to the public.

Renovation?

The past few weeks have brought to attention the plight of several University landmarks (most notably Pollock House) that face destruction. It is interesting to note that the discussion of the destruction of these buildings is taking place just a few short weeks before the University's "Bicentennial Festival" when some of the University's departments will be giving us a view of the past of YSU in relation to the present. What better way to give a glimpse of yesteryear than with the renovation of the area landmarks on our campus?

Vice President Krill may well have been overstating the costs when he wrote (April 27 Jambar) about Pollock House. Krill stated that it would take 5000 pledges of $25 per year for the next six years to renovate Pollock House, which adds up to over $600,000. To counter this "valid engineering estimate" a prominent local architect (William Damon) has estimated a far lower renovation bill according to the Students for the Preservation of Pollock House.

With the evident interest of the students on campus and the mail the Jambar has been receiving lately on the subject of the destruction of the landmarks, I would say that the issue warrants a thorough if not extensive study into the feasibility of renovation and not just a facetious response from a YSU administrator.

Feedback

Congratulates Jazz Ensemble

To the editor of The Jambar:

After reading the front page article on the Jazz Ensemble I could not help but sit and wonder how many people truly realize the accomplishment of the Jazz Ensemble and Tony Leonardi. Youngstown may have many good things to offer to a newcomer (and I do stress the "may") but it undoubtedly has some of the best Jazz musicians to be found in America, and strangely enough, most of them are to be found in the Dana School of Music.

Now I find this strange simply because usually Schools of Music are so conservative that they do not allow the creative spirit, to be found in the Jazz Ensemble, to grow and flourish. I would like to thank the students of the Jazz Ensemble, David Lalama, Don Ambrose, Bob DiPiero, Tom Delahunty, Jim Weidman, James Masters, Jim Grinta, and anyone else who I may have forgotten, for the musical experience you've shared here with us in Kilcawley Center. But more than this, I would like to congratulate the Jazz Ensemble and Octet on the honors they so rightly deserved to receive in Wichita. Thank you Tony Leonardi for your perseverance, dedication, and spirit of the creative arts; without your direction and energy, the Jazz Ensemble would be in great need. And to you, Dana School of Music, I hold a high esteem for giving room to grow to the Jazz Ensemble and Octet. It seems that this department has been blessed with making a home for the creative spirit of Jazz.

Questions 'Free Time' priorities

To the editor of The Jambar:

Having finished plowing through another of Dan Rudolph's dissertations on rock and roll, more commonly known as "Steel City Connection," I feel the necessity to raise a question concerning the column and the "Free Time" section as a whole. Was this article worth giving 40 inches of copy space to?

I fail to see of what relevance Mr. Rudolph's hike to Cleveland was to YSU and/or the Youngstown community. This raises two important issues concerning Mr. Rudolph's column and the entertainment section as a whole: 1) why are the priorities of the "Free Time" section so one-sided? 2) why is so much copy space devoted to areas outside of Youngstown, in this case Cleveland?

The student population at YSU is composed of students of all ages and interests. This being true, I cannot understand why the "Free Time" section devotes a column entirely to rock and roll leaving other areas of musical interest untouched. It is no more than fair to give 'equal time' to all areas. However, week after week YSU students are force-fed rock and roll with no considerable mention of any other music. I realize that a newspaper cannot meet the needs of every one of its readers, but, on the other hand, more than one area of interest should be able to be handled. There are students who have an interest in classical music, easy listening music, popular vocalists, etc., however their needs are being ignored.

The second issue is of equal importance. Mr. Rudolph went all the way to Cleveland to talk to someone 'physically' unknown to most if not all YSU students. I realize that Youngstown is not one of the culture centers of the world, however, Youngstown does attempt to fill the cultural needs of its population at least in part, and amazingly enough it even has radio and television stations. Now Mr. Rudolph travelled to Cleveland and reported such valid information as John Gorman's 'bedtime thoughts' concerning WMMS. In case Mr. Rudolph doesn't know, YSU has a radio station, and I'm sure that the University's Director of Broadcasting devotes just as much, if not much more, of his time thinking of ways to further the artistic accomplishments of WYSU. However, no one travels over to ask him about his thoughts (apparently the trip is too long and the information is too irrelevant to the community.)

Just where do the priorities of The Jambar especially the "Free Time" section, lie? In serving one group of people and ignoring the others? And what is more relevant to the community? Things that exist and happen here or in Cleveland and other such places?

Decides against donating building

To the editor of The Jambar:

It was a dark and stormy night and we were all sitting around the Pollock House when the news spread that the house would soon disappear. Alas what could we all do? We could not believe it. We were all in a state of shock.

Tear down the Pollock House! I can't believe it. The Pollock House. Its unreal. I was assuming that after I graduated I would become a multi-millionaire (from all the vast and varied skills I had learned at YSU) and donate a beautiful building to the University. After all its the proper thing to do isn't it? I mean don't we all want to leave some mark upon the earth as proof of our existence?

Well anyway, as I said, I would like to donate a building but right now I cannot see the feasibility of such an endeavor. Obviously this kind of gift is not shown much respect by the University. After all when it becomes obsolete (nothing is forever) it will only be destroyed. Therefore the University will have to do without my future gift.

Warns that SBI limits civil rights

To the editor of The Jambar:

Last year The Jambar printed an article, and perhaps an editorial, warning of the dangers of SBI. No, not a new flu virus, but a piece of proposed legislation from the U.S. Senate. Well, the danger still exists and SBI will soon come to a vote. If you don't mind an attempt to limit and reduce some of your basic civil rights don't do anything. If you care, at all, find out more about the bill, then drop your legislators a line and let them know how you feel.

Sending overdue book notices is big drain on Maag budget

"Since the new library first opened, one of the main problems has been overdue books," said Carol Wall, assistant librarian at the Maag Library. "When a book isn't returned by the due date, we send out three overdue notices in periods of one per week. Then we send a letter warning the student that the library will be billing him for books and that if the bill is not taken care of, grades, transcripts, and library privileges will be withheld. The student is then billed and a notice sent to the treasurer's office."

"But the problem is," Wall added, "that sending out these notices takes up too much of our time and money. We don't have as much staff as we used to and these people whom we have to pay to collect the fines could be doing other more important work here. If we could spend less time typing reminders and notices for overdue books, we could spend more time helping students. The person who is using the library correctly is being penalized."

Under the new system, the library would send the borrower of the overdue book one notice, and then send a bill one month later. The fines, which are a nickel a day for each overdue book do not exceed a maximum of five dollars excluding the cost of the book if it is lost or damaged. The majority of the fine money then goes into the general fund. With the new system, correspondence costs would be cut down, and thousands of dollars would be saved annually.

"Other problems result from students returning books to the shelves instead of the main desk. Often these books are mistaken for lost and a great deal of time must be spent "floor searching" for them. We want to keep the shelves in better order so people can find the books they are looking for, without having any trouble," said Wall. "We don't want to send notices out for misplaced books that are returned on time."

Wall estimates that the value of the average book in the library ranges from $12 to $14 with some individual books being worth hundreds of dollars. During the months of February, March, and April, a total of sixteen books were lost or damaged with a total value of $110. "But this problem isn't too out of hand," stated Wall. "The vast majority of students return their books on time."

New York trip

A Memorial Day weekend in New York for Friday, May 28 through Monday, May 31, is being organized by Dr. Thomas Copeland, English.

The excursion to be made by bus, will leave YSU at midnight on Thursday, May 27, and arrive in New York Friday morning. New York's departure time will be 1 p.m. Monday, arriving in Youngstown about 10:30 p.m.

The bus fare for the trip is $23, and three nights at the Vanderbilt YMCA (optional to the students) will cost $17.

Reservations can be made with Copeland, on a cash-and-carry only basis, at room 309, A&S Office Building, between 8-9 a.m. and 2-3 p.m. on M, W, Th, and F.

Seats are limited and Copeland urges those interested to act fast.

Spotlight finale

Arthur Miller's drama A

View From the Bridge will be presented May 3 by Spotlight Theatre as its final production of the season. Portraying Eddie is Eugene Moretti and Denise Tkach is cast as his niece, Catherine. The plot is complicated when she falls in love with a young Italian who has entered the United States illegally.

Performances will be held at 8:30 p.m. in Strouss Auditorium, Jones Hall. Tickets, available at the box office in Jones Hall, are $1.25 for students and $1.75, non-students.

Seminar

Dr. John P. Bederka Jr., Pharmacology, Occupational and Environmental Medicine and Bioengineering, University of Illinois, will present a seminar entitled Drug Modulation of Intrauterine Growth and Differentiation in Mice and Humans 10 a.m., May 7 in Ward Beecher room 418.

Bederka's visit to YSU is sponsored by the Sigma Xi Club.

Suicide and crisis is topic at social workers seminar

The Student Social Workers Organization and the Sociology department will hold a seminar/workshop on "Suicide and Crisis Intervention," Friday and Saturday, May 7 and 8.

Dr. Carolyn Toepfer will speak on Friday, from 3 to 4 p.m., in Schwab Auditorium on this topic, concentrating on intervention, postvention (dealing with the families of suicide victims), and the psychological dynamics behind suicide.

Toepfer, who has her own private practice in Youngstown counseling suicide candidates and their families, will also hold a question and answer session following her presentation.

The seminar will resume on Saturday, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in Room BO-85, T&CC, with Toepfer, who will speak on modes of intervention.

Also speaking will be Dr. John White, anthropology, who will speak on Suicide in the Northern American Indian Culture.

There will be two more speakers for the seminar, as yet unnamed, discussing a philosophical look at suicide (should man be permitted to take his own life?) and about death certificates and how people may bring about their own death through natural, accidental and homicidal causes, as well as by suicide, without the death certificates noting this, except in suicide cases.

The seminar, free and open to the public, and students and faculty, is being co-sponsored by Student Government.

Laments Coffelt's lack of concern

To the editor of The Jambar:

It is appalling, to say the least, to find out that the President of this University and his administration is utterly unaware and negligent of the responsibility the University owes to the community.

The very idea of destroying houses that have officially been declared part of an "historical district" and have been appointed by Congress to the Federal Register indicates a complete lack of concern on the part of President Coffelt for an important aspect of the University campus. Furthermore, for a University official (with the President's sanction, I presume) to purposely attempt to keep these buildings off the Register is not only shameful, but irresponsible. The University should be proud to have these buildings on campus in the first place; they represent a heritage which is rapidly being lost. This is obviously unimportant to our President, who instead of making every attempt to have these buildings preserved, throws up his hands in easy defeat and proclaims that nothing can be done. He can, on the other hand, proudly commit two million dollars of University funds for a football stadium, for which four million additional dollars will come from the community. Obviously the President feels that raising this four million dollars will in no way be impossible, as he is leading the drive himself.

Dr. Coffelt, what are the priorities of this University going to be under your leadership? You proclaim to the community that you are interested in the student body and what is best for the campus, but you will tear down buildings so many people want saved, they are on the Federal Register. Are all those people wrong and you right? Which segment of the student body and community are you interested in?

Certainly not that segment that has any sense of history and aesthetic beauty. Certainly not that segment that wishes to see this University retain some shred of character and heritage. Dr. Coffelt, perhaps you haven't noticed it, but the students of this University are so starved for tradition and heritage that they are grabbing at a painted rock as a symbol of something permanent, something they can hold on to. If you can find four million dollars to build a stadium, then you can find whatever amount of money is needed to save these buildings, all of them.

If these buildings fall, Dr. Coffelt, it will not be a symbol of your foresight of the future, only a sad and shameful tribute to your irresponsible lack of appreciation of the past.

Students for the Preservation of Pollock House

Wants past saved for the future

To the editor of The Jambar:

Any student that drives a car to school every day does not need to be told that there is a parking problem. We would all like to see this situation remedied, but at what price? If the only solution to the parking problem lies in the destruction of the older buildings on campus, then let's re-evaluate our situation. I suppose we could always destroy the Maag Library, but that does seem to be an awful waste of money. If campus planning means the destruction of the exquisite structures, such as the Pollock House, then what do future YSU students have to look forward to? I imagine we could turn the campus into one huge parking lot and have the classes held in our cars. That might even make YSU a very famous University. In California they have drive-in church services, why not let Ohio be the first state to have drive-in Universities?

The renovation of campus should be for its improvement, not its downfall. The destruction of Pollock House, in my opinion, would not be an improvement, but rather a disgrace. The beauty of the past can and should be the beauty of the future. I would not be proud to say that I attended the Asphalt Kingdom University. Let's all join in to help save Pollock House and help preserve a little of the past for the future.

Urges fight for Pollock

To the editor of The Jambar:

Students interested in saving a house may appear to be, on the surface, a minor occurrence. It is, however, a much more complex situation. The Students for the Preservation of the Pollock Estate are trying to save this house and make it an important part of this University. All of the students, faculty, and administrators of the University should take a careful and close look at what is really going on here. At a time when this campus is noted for its apathy, a handful of students have united to try and change the course of that apathy. These students have refused to just sit back and allow the University to do what it pleases. These students have stood up to the administration and said, "NO".

I urge you not to let this fight for the Pollock Estate go unnoticed. I hope all the members of this University, regardless of their position, will stand up and fight with these students. We should all ask ourselves if we value parking space more than we value our past. The usefulness of Pollock House has been previously stated, and should be considered. I ask each and every one of you reading this letter to join in the fight by pledging their support to the Students for the Preservation of Pollock Estate.

Women's softball wins tournament against other Ohio universities

The YSU women's slow pitch softball team captured the Western Reserve Athletic Conference (WRAC) Invitational Tournament this past weekend at Rocky Ridge. The following teams were involved in this tournament: University of Akron, Baldwin-Wallace, Cleveland State University, Kent State University, Mt. Union College, and Youngstown.

The first day YSU defeated Akron 18-2 with Mary Argiro clouting two home runs, a double and a single. Cindy Burazer, Joann Caputo and Linda "Pinky" Marker each picked up three hits. After defeating Akron, Youngstown played a hard-hitting Kent State team and lost 8-4. The YSU women only collected four hits. As a result of the first day of play, Cleveland State won Division A, YSU won Division B with Mt. Union the runner-up in Division A and Kent State runner-up in Division B.

The second day of tournament action, YSU was pitted against Mt. Union and easily defeated them 18-4, placing YSU in the finals. Mary Jo Herdman had a good day, hitting a home run and a pair of singles. Cris Coiner chipped in with a home run. In the championship game YSU matched forces against Cleveland State who upset Kent State 5-3 in the semi-finals. The YSU women easily defeated Cleveland State 13-1 to become tournament champs. The Youngstown team received 12 hits with Linda Marker getting three and Mary Jo Herdman two.

In the two-day tournament YSU scored an impressive 52 runs and had 56 hits. The women's team is playing Hiram today at 4:30 p.m. and then travels to Kent State Thursday for a game at 5:30 p.m. on the University School fields.

Velikovsky's views to be topic in fall history course

Who exactly was the Queen of Sheba? Were the Hittites really a civilization?

These and other questions will be discussed in Problems in European History, the Study of Immanuel Velikovsky next fall quarter, listed as History 851, meeting from 1-3 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays. The course will be taught by Dr. Joseph May and Dr. Saul Friedman.

"Everybody asks me 'Who is Immanuel Velikovsky,'" said May, and added that the author of Worlds in Collision is misunderstood and therefore disregarded.

Velikovsky, who spoke at YSU in 1973, is a scholar of ancient history and a notorious revolutionary thinker on theories of chronology and cosmology according to May. The course will deal mostly with Velikovsky's views on chronology.

May, who has written a paper titled Immanuel Velikovsky and the Value of Heresy says that basically, Velikovsky claims that our chronology of ancient history is out of synchronization by as much as 600 years with the actual events of history. The modern accepted history is based upon Egyptian records, but Velikovsky claims the Israeli chronology is truer to reality.

For instance, Velikovsky believes that the Queen of Sheba was actually a queen by the name of Hotshepsut who, according to the records, visited the Kingdom of Punt often. What was the Kingdom of Punt? May said scholars are still trying to figure that out.

The Exodus of the Jews, according to Velikovsky, took place in 1500 B.C., 600 years before the reign of Rameses II.

Another of Velikovsky's theories is that the Hittites were not a separate civilization but, rather, Hittite was the second written language of the Cauldeons of the same time. All these topics will be discussed by both May and Friedman. May claims that he is skeptical of the conventional history and Friedman is skeptical of Velikovsky's history, so the course should be fairly well-balanced and give both sides of the argument.

May pointed out that it is entirely possible to be dead wrong about certain major points in any field and if Velikovsky's radical revelations were to be taken seriously by a majority of scholars, ancient history would have to be revised. Present history scholars depend largely on Manetho's King's List, said May, and Velikovsky believes that this King's List was developed to show a greater and older civilization than Egypt really had. May also admitted it takes overwhelming evidence to prove something to someone who doesn't want to believe it. Although this issue has been raging for 26 years there are still many who do not accept Velikovsky's theories, and he is still trying to gain converts.

Not only does Velikovsky deal with chronology but he approaches cosmology with an attitude that challenges Newton and calls Newton's teaching dogma. This kind of doctrine makes people wary of Velikovsky, to say the least, said May, and is an example of why he has so much difficulty gaining followers. "When you have a person with a new idea, how do you get people to listen to him with open minds and not reject his ideas?" asked May. However, May claims the Velikovsky controversy has been alive for 26 years and won't die, so someone must be listening.

For interested students there is a folder on closed reserve on Immanuel Velikovsky in the library under May's name.

Penguin sports off to good start; baseball team compiles 9-5 record

YSU's spring sports teams of baseball, golf, and tennis and women's softball are off to successful starts this season.

The Penguin baseball team, under veteran coach Dom Rosselli, have compiled a 9-5 record thus far this spring. Third baseman Mike Hostal is enjoying a fine season at the plate. Hostal is swinging at a .395 clip, has crossed the plate 11 times, drove home ten teammates and has stolen three bases. Centerfielder Dave Choppa is hitting .310 with seven runs batted in.

Pitching ace Dave Dravecky owns a 2-1 record including a no-hit gem versus Theil. Dravecky's lone loss was an 11-inning defeat at the hands of Ashland College. The Penguin fireballer has a sparkling 0.75 earned run average and has 38 strikeouts. Freshman Bill Sattler has won two of three decisions and has a 1.63 e.r.a. in addition to 30 whiffs.

Penguin golfers, under the tutelage of head mentor Bill Carson, have yet to lose this season in five outings. Leading the squad with an 77.7 stroke average per eighteen holes is George Belkito. Floyd Switzer has an even 78. average, closely followed by Rick Banish, Al Tribby, and Jerry Welce, each with a 78.3 average. Individual low rounds of 74 have been fired by Banish and Steve Crisan.

The tennis team sports a 3-2 mark thus far this season. Netters Butch Thomas, Brain Junter and Bob Adsit each have 4-1 records for coach Dan O'Neill's Penguins.

YSU figures to be the pre-tournament favorite for this weekend's Western Reserve Athletic Conference (WRAC) Softball Tournament at Rocky Ridge in Mill Creek Park.

Coach Helen Mines' Penguins were runnersup to Ashland last year. In their lone start this spring, the Penguins routed Ashland, 11-4.

The six-team field also includes Akron, Baldwin-Wallace, Cleveland State, Kent State and Mount Union. Friday's action begins at 1 p.m., with Saturday's slate of the games to begin at 10 a.m. Sunday will be used as a rain date.

Among the batting stars of this year's sophomore-studded YSU team are "bufffielder" Cindy Burazer, first baseman Merry Jo Hardman, shortstop Linda "Pinky" Marker, and outfielder Cheryl Kozak.

Tournament director is Dr. Joan Phillip, director of women's physical education at YSU.

Baseball team wins against Hiram College

Backed by the six-hit pitching of Rick Muntean, and a powerful 15-hit attack, the Penguin baseball team rolled to an impressive 10-5 victory over Hiram College last Thursday.

The batting star for the Penguins was Fred Dellarco as he went three for five, collecting two circuit clouts and four runs batted in. Home runs were also made by Dave Dravecky and Mike Hostal. Hostal has now hit safely in 14 of the Penguins first 15 games. Two other players, Ed Kohl and Mike Zaluski chipped in with three hits to the Penguin attack. The win boosted the Penguins record to 10-5 on the season, and lifted Muntean's mark to 2-1. The baseball team travels today to Clarion State for an afternoon doubleheader, then will travel to Cleveland tomorrow to take on Case Western Reserve in another twin fray.

13-15,000 seat stadium was announced at the Trustees' February meeting.

Edgar also reported that the special studies department is being dropped, and the business technology department and the department of business education and secretarial studies will be combined to become the department of business education and technology.

The board also passed a resolution commending William J. Brown for his service to the board and the University. His nine-year term expired April 30. Brown was one of the original nine members appointed to the YSU board when it became a state university in 1967 and he served for several years before that as a trustee of YSU.

Coffelt reported that YSU has entered into a five-year contract with Butler Institute of American Art regarding Butler's property which extends toward the University's old library. Butler has agreed to give University access to the property and the University has landscaped the area in accordance with the master landscaping plan.

Voting

evidence of ballots being tampered with in that election, there were a number of rumors of ballot stuffing that had to be reckoned with. Strouss system of checks and balances for the balloting ensured that this problem could not reoccur.

Besides the usual election checks, such as marking the validation sticker of student's ID's, asking them to sign a ledger book and checking the student directory for a student's correct school, Strouss's system included having each ballot pre-stamped with A&S Dean Robert Smith's signature stamp, and after a student had voted, restamped with a different color signature stamp of either Student Affairs Deans Charles McBriarty, Bertelsen or Pat Bleidt.

Strouss explained that color stamps could not be duplicated on a copying machine and stated that if a ballot was found to be improperly stamped it would have been thrown away. This did not occur however.

The three color stamps were alternated at the various polling areas on the second day of elections.

Also, the number of ballots issued for each school was recounted after the election with the number of students voting in each school being subtracted from the total number of ballots issued for that college. Strouss's stated that each count was double checked by different students who were counting the ballots.

Bertelsen stated that no one was informed of the system of checks on the balloting prior to the election.

Women voters

The League of Women voters is conducting their yearly voter registration drive. People may register at any of the libraries, high schools, or at the board of elections until May 10.

The League is also conducting a voter information hot-line. This will operate on the Sunday and Monday before the election. The hours will be 1-5 p.m. Sunday, and 1-7 p.m. Monday. The voter will be able to phone 744-5155 and have statements made by the candidates for any office read to them.
