'In Step' Students Complete Year of Study at University

Engineers to Return to India To Work in New Steel Industry

One year ago fifteen young Indian engineering students arrived in Youngstown for a year of study and observation of the steel making industry. This week these young men completed their tenure of stay and will embark on the long journey back to India. Upon hearing of their departure, there were some pertinent questions to which we all wanted to hear the answers. What impressions do they carry back with them of America and our way of life?

Mr. J. Bhanumurthy, the spokesman for the In Step trainees, answered willingly all of the queries which were directed at him. His eyes studied my face sharply and he was eager to answer. One must keep in mind that Mr. Bhanumurthy has traveled extensively and that he has studied in Germany and England. This was not his first experience at studying abroad and observing a way of life strange to him.

Q. Mr. Bhanumurthy, what was your first impression of the United States?

A. Taking the United States in comparison with the other countries which I have been in, my first impression was that everything was abundant; all the wealth and raw materials are used in a proper way and to the best advantage.

Q. How did you find the American people?

A. All the American families were anxious to know about us, our country and our customs. In the plant everyone was curious and wanted to help us. The Americans are a generous people. (Continued on Page 4)

Set Time Limit For Examinations

A nation-wide, written civil service examination will be given in February to seek out college seniors and recent graduates for Federal scientific research positions. The time required in the examination room for the written test and for completing the background information questionnaire will be approximately 4 hours.

In addition to curiosity, the persons sought must have imagination, resourcefulness, and a high potential for research work in engineering or the physical sciences.

They must be a citizen of, or owe permanent allegiance to the United States, and be physically able to perform the duties of the position to which they are appointed. A bachelor's degree with major study in an appropriate field of engineering, physical science, or mathematics is required.

Qualified applicants may file for the examination from Dec. 1 through March 3.

The Laboratories are offering career research positions in the fields of engineering, chemistry, electronics, mathematics, metallurgy, and physics. They are engaged in a variety of research programs ranging from the attainment of ever-increasing supersonic speeds to the use of nuclear power. The laboratories are all modern with some of them possessing the best research instrumentation in the world.

Complete information and application forms are available in the office of the college placement officer.

'Jambar' Staff Hosts High School Journalists

Members of the Tri-County Journalism Assoc. visited one of the area's fastest growing centers of higher learning, Youngstown University. Through the efforts of Michael Kaiser, editor of the college's newspaper the "Jambar", members travelled to the university for the year's second meeting on Tues., Dec. 2.

The meeting was held on campus at the newly constructed library in the audio-visual room. It included a talk on journalism by the editor of the Catholic Exponent, Mr. Otto Bordenkircher and a journalism movie.

Following a short business meeting, refreshments were served.

Music Sorority Honors Provincial President

Alpha Nu Chapter and Warren Alumnae of Sigma Alpha Iota Professional music fraternity for women of the Dana School of Music held their annual "prelude tea" Monday evening at the home of President and Mrs. Howard Jones. The musicale and reception was in honor of Mrs. Cameron of Pittsford, New York, president of Eta Province of which the local group is a member. Mrs. Cameron arrived Monday for her annual visit to the chapter.

The musicale was presented by the girls of Alpha Nu Chapter, followed by observance of Incorporation Day.

Mrs. Cameron interviewed members of the active and alumnae chapters and their officers, President Howard W. Jones; Mrs. Olive McCarty, Dean of Women; Prof. Kenneth Kitchen, Dean of the music school; and Mrs. Jean Meranto, faculty advisor of the group.

Report Forms Not Submitted; Organizations Made Inactive

"Organizations failing to submit an Annual Report Form on or before the said deadline will be considered inactive for the remainder of the semester."

"The word INACTIVE shall be defined as: No affiliation with the Youngstown University, the use of the name, The Youngstown University, or any derivatives thereof, nor the use of the University Calendar, or any facilities of the Youngstown University."

It should be noted that council had postponed this deadline for two weeks before taking action against these organizations which failed to comply with the regulations.

In compliance with the above stated by-laws, Council approved a motion to consider the following organizations inactive for the remainder of this semester. This motion became effective Nov. 21, 1958.

1. Kappa Delta Pi
  2. Student Forum
  3. Omega Psi Phi
  4. Transfer Student Quorum
  5. Chess Club
  6. Gessner Law Club
  7. Social Science Club
- Fraternity Hazing

All forms of hazing are prohibited by the following statute of the Ohio state law. Section 6819-1 reads:

"Whoever being a student or being a person in attendance at any public, private, parochial, or military school, college or other educational institution, conspires to or does engage in the practice of hazing or committing any act that injures, frightens, degrades, or tends to injure, frighten, degrade or disgrace any fellow student or person attending such institution shall be held guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not more than $200 or imprisoned in the county jail not more than six months or both, and in case of fine the sentence shall be that the defendant or defendants shall be incarcerated until said fine shall be paid."

'You Are There,' Visit Rome Via the Z.B.C. Network

By Angie Crishione

This is Mike Krophone your ZBC reporter in New York. It is 100 D.C. and we are now in Rome, the cultural center of the world. I am here to explode the ancient myth of "Greek Queens," whom many people claim actually did more for chariot racing than any other Roman figures. You are There!

All is quiet as the great Julius Caesar prepares to attend this meeting of the Queens. The energetic one with coal black hair seems to be the leader. "Excuse us please, but what is your name and would you mind telling the folks out there a little about yourself and the rest of the royal nymphs."

"Well, my name is Judi Appleman. I'm from Youngstown and a 1955 graduate of South High School. I am 21 and a senior, majoring in Elementary Education. I belong to many organizations including, Alpha Omicron Phi Sorority, Panhellenic Council, Student Council, Junior Women Advisor, Student Education Association, and the Y. U. S. A.

Where Is Our Individualism

Social and economic pressures of today are pushing the individual to think in terms of the group. The "I", the "me", the "ego" are being subordinated under the name of conformity. Tomorrow, it will be social adjustment and in thirty years - total adjustment.

But why in the stimulating atmosphere of the University must this conformity remain. Is it because the student will not assert his individual self. It would seem that the student expects the school to do it for him, instead of depending upon himself.

The University is not an assembly line. It is not concerned with the making of machine parts. It is the birth place of the individual, but the responsibility rests upon the individual to say, "This is what I believe," then to follow the dictates of his conscience.

Open House Successful

Youngstown University's golden anniversary open house was carried out with precision and efficiency due to the excellent supervision of members of the open house committee and chairman, Professor Frank D'Isa. Recognition must also be given to the large number of students who devoted their time and effort to serve as hosts, hostesses, and guides. Thanks to all who made this event a successful one.

Easy Recipe

You think you're not lucky? You think you haven't got the world on a string? You think school's tough and you wonder why you bother?

Take a look at these facts and figures and then you'll know why you bother and must keep on bothering.

A recent survey by a popular magazine in Yugoslavia disclosed some problems faced by the people in that Communist dominated country.

The magazine cautioned against reading too much into the results because they were able to canvass only their own readers, but their results are still interesting and enlightening.

All but 11 per cent of those interviewed had received more than an elementary education, yet 73 per cent have monthly incomes of less than 20,000 dinars. This is about $66 at the official rate of exchange.

Think of your own families and the way you live and consider these facts

Thirty-seven per cent of those interviewed owned a radio, but only eight per cent have electric stoves, wood or coal units.

A vacuum cleaner was owned by only eight per cent and refrigerators and record players by only three per cent. Hardly anyone owned an automobile. Forty per cent listed no possessions at all.

Of course, you can say, "So what?" This is hardly surprising. Everyone, you say, knows that Communist dominated countries are lucky to be able to express an opinion, let alone have any physical possessions.

Perhaps you're right. These figures would certainly indicate it.

However, the most touching and illuminating thing that the survey revealed was that when asked to give their recipe for happiness, the majority asked for some place to live, someone to love and a little time to enjoy life.

And we think we haven't got it made.

Independent Criticizes Antipathy of 'Greeks'

Dear Editor:

I, as an independent, do not agree with what Frank C. Polite had to say about the "Greeks."

It is natural the "Greeks" would hold all the important jobs on campus, because by joining a "Greek" organization, people learn of one's ability to lead a group.

The independent is not shoved, pushed, or swayed by the "Greeks." We are treated very well by the "Greeks." As far as I know, I have never been snubbed by a "Greek" but I have been snubbed by many independents.

I am one of the impressed inde-

The Campus Voice

By Vilma Terle

Hello again readers. From now on we will be with you every week. (If we can make the deadline). This issue, we would like to introduce Alpha Phi Epsilon Service Sorority to all our newcomers on campus and tell some things about it that maybe the "oldsters" don't know either. Well, we'll let you meet some of the members and have them tell you about it themselves.

Betsy O'Neill - Is in Elementary Education and joined Alpha Phi Epsilon because of the girls in it and because she feels it gives a girl an opportunity to do things that other organizations don't offer. "It is a different type and has a different purpose from the social sororities." Betsy is very familiar with the Greek world as she is President of Phi Mu social Sorority. "Some things it serves are for various faculty functions, teas etc., Bare Brunch, Freshman Day, information booth, fixing of Easter baskets for blind children, and clothing of poor children."

Agnes Biscan - Is a senior majoring in English and is active on the Neon and Horizon Staffs and on the 50th Golden Anniversary Committee and was President of APEE last year. "It appealed to me because it has a definite purpose and makes one feel as if he were actually doing something. It was founded on campus in 1950 by both Greeks and Independents. Thus, it involves many people from different backgrounds and can be used as a working nucleus to get more student participation in service projects."

Dixie Carlisle - A Junior majoring in Home Economics is Vice-President of APEE. This is her second year as a member. "One reason I joined was because of the friendliness of the girls in it and the fact that it offers the chance to meet Greeks and Independents. It makes you feel that you are doing something worthwhile. We meet twice a month. Our faculty sponsors are Mrs. Shale, Mrs. Dobrish and Mrs. Brown. We provide, for example, the thread, needles and sewing equipment found at the reference desk in the library. The purpose of Alpha Phi Epsilon is to spread helpfulness and help represent Y.U.'s thoughtfulness and courtesy to people outside of the University also. Our motto is "Others before ourselves."

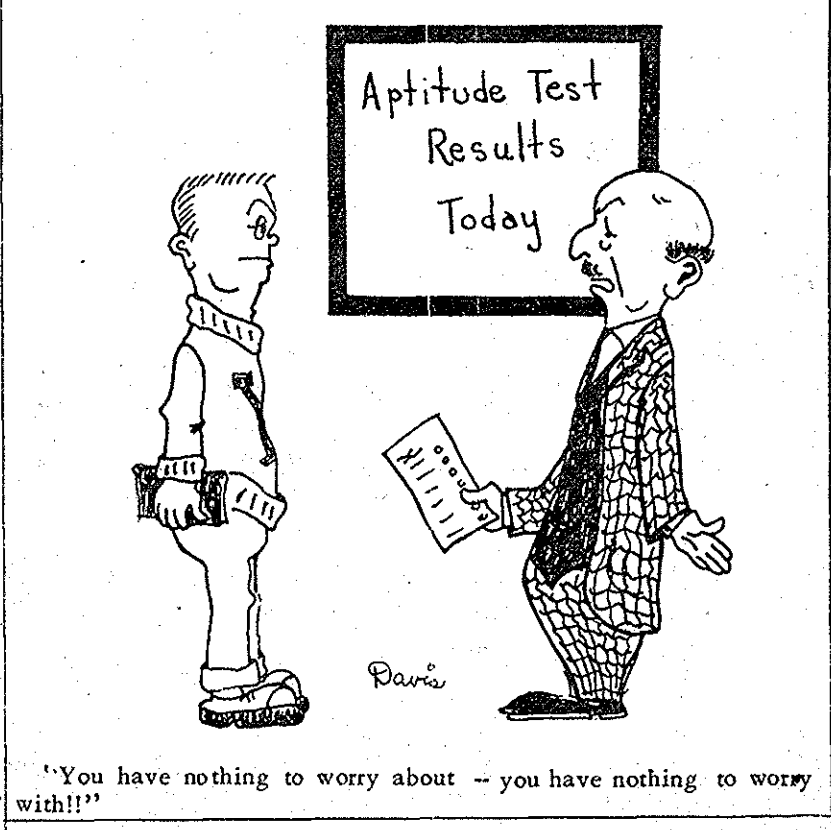

Judie Powell - A Sophomore Art Education major is at present a PLEDGE of APEE. Pledging? "It is interesting." (a cautious statement and very pedantic). Judie tells us "We pledge between 3 to 6 weeks and there are 22 girls pledging with me right now. The requirements are that a girl have 12 semester hours and a 1 point accumulative average. You have the opportunity to get to know many people and help in activities around school. For instance our pledge projects have been dressing dolls to give to underprivileged children for Christmas. Our bake sale is one of our means to make money for the organization. We are also making favors which the Red Cross will distribute in the local hospitals."

pendents who are interested in Football and Basketball games, Queens, and "Gold Badges of Social Courage."

As far as I am concerned, a pin is not a badge of courage. It is a sign to everyone on campus what "Greek" organization you belong to and the fact that you are proud to belong to this organization.

Fraternities and sororities are as much a part of college life as learning, and this campus would be in sad shape without them.

What Is An Accredited College?

By Dr. William K. Selden

"AN accredited college" is a phrase frequently seen and often heard. The term is widely printed in college catalogs and repeated to prospective students by university representatives. However, despite its common use, it is not generally understood, even by high-school teachers and advisers.

When Nancy Smith, who lives in a small town in Ohio, found no teacher able to answer her questions, she wrote to the National Commission on Accrediting: "What are the advantages of attending an accredited college rather than a non-accredited one? How does a college become accredited, and if it is so advantageous, why aren't all colleges accredited?"

High school teachers and senior advisers are expected to answer different questions about many colleges and universities. In the past, accrediting has been one of these questions, but seldom an important one.

But conditions now are changing. Vigorous competition for admission to the "best" colleges and universities has given increased importance to the question of accrediting. During this period of intensified competition, more and more high school students and their parents are turning to teachers for advice and information. Consequently, as accrediting gains in importance, teachers must have some knowledge of its meaning and implications for their students.

Basically, accrediting is the process whereby an organization or agency recognizes a college or university or a program of study as having met certain minimum qualifications or standards. There are two main types of accrediting organizations: regional associations and professional agencies.

Criteria for Accrediting

In the evaluation of a college or university for accreditation, various criteria are employed, depending upon the type of agency. The regional associations usually consider the following factors in evaluating an institution: aims and programs, administration, curriculum, faculty, finances, instruction, library, physical plant, students' extracurricular activities, and personnel services, as well as experimentation and self study.

An evaluation of an institution is made by a visiting team of educators, selected from faculties and administrations of other colleges and universities. Written reports, interviews, and observations are employed.

From these sources of information, the visiting team prepares a summary of conclusions for the benefit of both the accrediting agency or association and the institution itself. This summary helps the former decide which institutions will be accredited and helps the institution itself to take its own steps for self-improvement.

In many ways, the accrediting procedures of professional agencies are similar to those of the regional associations.

Implications for the Student

What does accreditation mean for the individual student like Nancy Smith who inquired about the meaning of an accredited college?

Here are some things about accreditation that college bound students should know.

Of the approximately 1,100 bachelor's degrees granting institutions listed by the U. S. Office of Education, over 85 per cent are accredited by the six regional associations. Those refused accreditation are judged to be presently deficient in one or more features usually considered necessary qualities for a stable and substantial educational institution.

Some colleges that do not have regional accreditation nevertheless offer academic opportunities well suited to individual students. And institutions not yet accredited are continually improving themselves. Within a recent four-year period, an average of seven four-year colleges were newly accredited each year.

In order to obtain a license to practice a profession in most states, the candidate must be a graduate of an accredited institution. Similarly, under United States Civil Service regulations, the status of a federal employee is influenced by whether his is a graduate of an accredited or non-accredited institution.

Muskingum to Face Penguins In First Home Net Contest

Cagers Boast Experience As Last Year's Starters Return

The 1958-59 version of the Youngstown University Penguins will be seen at home for the first time at South High Field House Wed. Dec. 10, at 8 p.m. The opposition will be Muskingum College, who just a year ago, upended the Penguins. Coach Dom Rosselli has been working for weeks on a high scoring offense and a tight defense. He seems to have come up with a good one, even though losing a top man of last year in Bob Atterholt.

The starting five consists of Mickey Yugovich and Jim Cramer at forwards, Herb Lake at center, and Roy Taylor and Jim "Beanie" Gordon at the guard position. The team on offense will feature a double pivot with Lake and Cramer which leaves Yugovich, Taylor, and Gordon bringing the ball down to set up the plays. The two guards, Gordon and Taylor, are especially fast dribblers, so one can expect to see lots of fast breaks.

Herb Lake, a three year letterman, is the only senior on the starting five. He was the leading scorer of the team for the past two seasons by notching 549 points in the 56-57 season and 402 points last year. Herb, 6 feet 6 inches tall, can climb when it comes to rebounds. He had the best team record last year in pulling down 448 for a little over sixteen a game.

Native of Pennsylvania
Lake hails from Midland, Pennsylvania. He was honored last year in the Kansas City tournament by being picked on the first ten all tournament squad. Also among his laurels is a second team little all-American award last year.

Mickey Yugovich, 6 ft. 5 in. Junior, is right behind Lake in the scoring and rebound department. Mickey has 896 points over two seasons with 503 coming in a record breaking freshman year. He pulled down 348 rebounds last year. Mickey's favorite shot is a one hand jump. While he likes to drive for the basket for an easy two points. Mickey hails from Willson High where he was an all-city performer.

The other forward spot is held by Jim Cramer who had the best field goal percentage last year by hitting on 118 out of 260 for a .454 average. The total points scored were 314. His specialty is a one handed jump shot. He hails from Churchill, Ohio where he was one of the highest point makers in Trumbull County.

Gordon Returns

"Beanie" Gordon will hold down one guard position. Jim has the speed and slight of hand to be a crowd pleaser. In just a half season last year, he scored 243 points and possessed the best foul percentage with 783. Many types of shots are taken by this speedster, most of them one handers. Jim is from Washington.

25 Cage Teams Enroll in League

Approximately 25 teams signed up for intramural basketball this year. There will be four leagues of six teams each with Dom Rosselli and John Georges acting as chairmen. Play begins on Dec. 8 at Christ Mission gym with games at 3:15, 4:15, and 5:15. There will be games Monday through Friday.

Every team needs four men to start a game and $5 is the forfeit fee. A team is allowed two forfeits before it is out of the league. Rosters should be final, but each team is allowed to pick new men when the second semester starts.

Kent Defeats YU 53-51 in Overtime

The opener of the basketball season at Kent State last Monday proved to be a thriller for the teams involved. Youngstown lost to the Staters, 53-51 in overtime. Herb Lake tied the game with a basket with one second to go in regulation play at 47-47. Four points enabled Kent to win the game in the overtime period.

The Penguins hit on twenty-five field goals and just one foul while the Golden Flashes hit on twenty-one field goals and thirteen fouls. Mickey Yugovich was high for Youngstown with seventeen and Herb Lake and Roy Taylor had ten points. In their opening game, the Penguins looked sharp in their passing and dribbling and hit on many field goals from long range.

The first home game is Wed., Dec. 10, at South Side Field House. The opponent is Muskingum College, who last year upended the Penguins, 77-73. Game time is 8 p.m. with the freshmen playing at 6:15.

Doctor: To settle your stomach, drink a cup of hot water every morning.

Engineer: I have been doing that for years, Doc. My wife calls it coffee.

The Penguins have a tough 25 game schedule ahead, but should prove capable of the task. Last years record showed 23 wins and seven losses. In the games won there was a runner-up position in the NAIA Christmas tourney, and Ohio NAIA championship, a quarter-finalist position in Kansas City, and a victory over a big time school, Niagara. It was on these wins that Dell Magazine picked Youngstown University as one of the top 175 teams in the country this year.

Zeta Phi Defeats Kappa Sigs In IFC Football Finale

Zeta Phi defeated Kappa Sigma Kappa, 13-12, in four overtime periods Sunday at Borts Field, as the IFC football season ended. The crowd, estimated at 200 people, was treated to thrilling football on the sunny afternoon.

The last fifteen minute extra period seemed to be the most exciting part of the game. The Kappa Sigs jumped out in front, 12-6, when Bob Cain threw a 35 yard pass to Jim Brahney, who ran the remaining distance into the end zone for a 45 yard scoring play. Cain was stopped on a line plunge for the extra point.

With five minutes remaining, Zeta Phi started throwing long passes. Corky Farm connected to his end, Magni, on a 50 yard pass play down to the Kappa Sig one. An offside penalty brought the ball back to the six. On third down, Farm spotted his center, Vaclav, open and passed for the touchdown. The ball was tipped in the air and the center made a diving catch to tie the game at 12-12 with just one and a half minutes remaining in the game. The all important extra point was added when Farm passed to Magni just over the goal line.

Scoring Threats Broken
In the first half, both teams drove into each others territory, but could not score. The Kappa Sigs drove to the touchdown. The ball was tipped in the first overtime, they drove to the nine yard line but Zeta Phi's Shook intercepted. The Zeta Phi's got to the Kappa Sig 3 yard line in the first half but Merlich broke the thrust.

The blocking was good throughout the game and the pass defenders played well. First downs were even.

Score on 30 Yard Pass Play

The first score of the game came in the second half when Zeta Phi drove 75 yards for the touchdown by using a formation similar to the short-punt. A screen pass from Farm to Alegretto started the drive. Next a hand-off into the line from Clinger to Alegretto was good for 15 yards. Farm then found his favorite receiver, Magni, and fired a 30 yard pass for the touchdown.

QUE'S QUIPS

By Jim Quilty

By now the Youngstown University basketball team has inaugurated the 1958-59 season against a quintet whose sights are set on big time competition, the Kent State Golden Flashes.

The Penguins have lost less than a dozen games in the past 57 games spanning two cage seasons. During this time they have notched two N.A.I.A. championship playoff berths bowing out late in the running.

From these two well coordinated outfits only a pair of men have been lost. Playmaker Bob Atterholt and Charley Moore have played their last games of College basketball.

Veterans Return
But more important is the list of veterans returning for yet another campaign. Men like Herb Lake, Mickey Yugovich, and Roy Taylor are set for regular duty again while Jim (Beanie) Gordon and Jim Cramer have moved up to the first five.

Reserve strength is supplied by Steve Hawthorn, Charley Bushman along with upcoming sophomores Jerry Fitzpatrick and Howey McElroy.

Coach Dom Rosselli's squads generally average two or three inches over the six foot mark, not at all big as college basketball teams go.

But what has set Youngstown above and beyond other teams, their size and even bigger has been a combination of teamwork and hustle.

Lake Commences Fourth Season as Regular
For Herb Lake, this is season number four as a regular. Having passed the 1000 point mark by over 200 markers. Herb is shooting for the magic 2000 circle. He has also pulled in an average 15 rebounds or more during his career.

Mickey Yugovich cracked Lake's freshman scoring record two years ago, then settled down to master defense as a sophomore last season. The result was a more well rounded player with greater team ability.

Roy Taylor moved into the No. 1 guard slot midway through the 56-57 season and has been playing regularly since. He's a steady player using the jump and drive-in as his scoring weapons.

Gorden to Replace Atterholt
Beanie Gordon, after sitting out the second half of last year because of scholastic difficulties, is the "Fancy Day" of the outfit and will fill in for Atterholt at the playmaker position. His best scoring weapon is a long one hand jump.

The best shot, percentage wise on the team, is the number five man, Jim Cramer. A standout during his high school days when he averaged over 30 points per game, Jim began to hit his stride after Herb Lake was injured last year. Around the boards, he shows his best form.

Engineers Return to India

Ford Foundation and the American government are eager to help our country. I strongly feel that the American people want friendship and want to understand other foreign peoples. They always try to help people who are in need of help.

Q. Did you have many interesting experiences when you visited in homes?

A. Yes, many. In some homes we actually cooked the meals to show how we cook in India.

Q. Do you feel that the training program was what you needed?

A. Yes, it was very efficient. It was well planned and organized. It was by far the best training program which I have taken part in.

Q. Will India continue to be neutral?

A. Yes, our geographic location demands it. India will never become a Communist nation. Now we have democratic socialism. We believe in democracy and we also feel that the government should have control of the heavy industries. India is a backward country and we had to take steps to develop rapidly and the government could better do this in India.

Q. What will be your itinerary on your trip home?

A. We go by train to Montreal; then from Montreal to London by boat and from London home by plane. We must be in India by the 29th of December.

We certainly wish you Godspeed and the best of fortunes as you return to your native land.

These fifteen young men will return to India to work in the "new" steel industry. They will be leaders in their country - a land of opportunity that needs developed.
