Youngstown Theatre Has New Screen Device

Reputed to be more startling than 3-D, Emergo, a completely new screen device can be seen in Youngstown at the Warner Theatre where "House On Haunted Hill" opened Wednesday, April 8.

Allied Artists, the film's distributor, is sending a special crew of Hollywood technicians to install the process at the Warner Theatre. William Castle of Allied Artists, supervised the building of this special device which is a patented product, synchronized with the film, which allows the screen action to leave the screen and float through the audience.

"House On Haunted Hill", starring Vincent Price, is described as a ghost-thriller in the tradition of such old-fashioned hits as "The Cat and the Canary" and "The Bat".

Faculty Member and Wife Have Fifth Novel Published

The husband and wife team of Grace and Harold Johnson have just had their fifth book published by the Bruce Publishing Company.

Mr. Johnson is a teacher in the Communications department of Youngstown University and also teaches at Rayen High School.

Mrs. Johnson is a former school teacher, having also worked as a reporter for the Youngstown Vindicator and the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Their latest book is called "Broken Rosary". It is a Who-did-it type mystery novel. The authors have combined elements of mystery and romance in their novel about violent deaths of prominent civic officials in a small Ohio town.

Rosary is Clue

Rained-out Car Washers

DEJECTED: A sad-looking group of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority pledges waited all day for the rains to cease last Friday so they could have a car wash. The rains came and the car wash has been re-scheduled for today at the College Sunoco station across from the Main Building. Marilyn Dillon and Marjorie Behrens are chairmen. The price is $1.25 for a regular wash and $1.50 with white walls. Drop in and cheer them up.

Student Council...

Identification System Cost Looms As Major Problem

In last week's Student Council article the pros and cons of the Honor System were discussed along with a few of the problems that must be overcome before such a system can be adopted. This week we have chosen as our subject the Identification System.

Let us first consider what the I.D. system should contain and then a few of the more fundamental problems that must be overcome before it can be initiated at this university.

The I.D. system could consist of a photograph card and a "Current Semester" card to completely identify a student. This seems fairly simple, but there are a few points that complicate it.

Consider first of all the high loss of students at this university, particularly the freshmen students. If I.D. pictures were taken, a good percentage of them would be used for only a short time if students dropped out of school. This would be a waste of money that could be compensated for only by a change in school admission policy or an increase in student fees, both of which seem unad-visible at the present time.

Another problem is the initial cost of starting the I.D. system and the problem of photographing 6,000 students.

We must then face the other problems such as who should receive a card? Will both full-time and part-time students receive one, or only full-time students? Also would the I.D. system solve the financial problem.

The I.D. system would benefit the school, but it is a question if it will ever become a reality or not.

International Students Elect New Officers; Will Meet Tonight

The International Students Organization recently elected new officers for the coming year. They are: President, Samir Abu Dayyeh, a senior in mechanical engineering from Jerusalem; Vice-President, Maria Dombrowsky, a junior in Education from Ukraine; Secretary, Mary Louise Creed, a junior in English from Youngstown; Treasurer, Rafic Hokayen, a sophomore in Secondary Education from Lebanon.

A meeting will be held tonight at 8:00 in the Pollock House. There will be a business meeting, followed by a short program sponsored by the different nationalities represented.

To be discussed and decided upon in coming meetings are the club banquet, a trip to Germantown, Ohio, several parties, advisers for the club, summer activities, and the calendar of events for next year.

Sig Ep "April Showers" Dance Set Tomorrow Night at Elms

The accent will be on rain tomorrow night, April 11, when the Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity presents its first annual "April Showers" dance.

Raindrops will begin to fall at 9 o'clock at the Elms ballroom, which will serve as a beautiful umbrella until 1 o'clock when festivities will cease.

Phi Gams Disclose Popularity Rules

Rules for the coming Mr. and Mrs. Popularity of Youngstown University contest were released this week by the Phi Gamma Fraternity which sponsors the annual event.

The rules are:

1. All full time male and female students are eligible provided they have a one point accumulative point average.

2. There will be no formal campaigning. One picture, size 20x18 inches, with only the candidate's name may be displayed in the Main Building.

3. Elections will be held Thursday, April 16 until 3:00 in the Main Building.

Co-chairmen Jim Douglas and Dick Vance announced that the dance will be held April 17, at Stambaugh Auditorium with Lenny Esposito playing.

Rain dance music will be sprinkled by the Ross Halamay orchestra, famous month-of-April dance aggregate.

Co-chairmen for this affair are "Butch" Johnston and Jim Hoban, who would be very pleased if all those wishing to go would see any Sig Ep, or buy at the door.

The charge of admission to the semi-formal dance is $2.25 per couple, $2.00 to Greeks.

Ohio Continues Downward Trend In Road Deaths

Ohio registered 203 traffic fatalities in January and February this year. This two-month figure is the lowest total since World War II, according to J. Grant Keys, director of the state department of highway safety.

February's 91 fatalities continued the dip shown in January. The figure parallels the low fatality records in the days of gas rationing. February deaths slashed 30 per cent from the February 1958 total of 130.

Mr. Keys stated, "Our statistician tells me that such a continued decrease begins to show a significant trend... not a chance happening, but toward a decided improvement over the recent years."

JAMBAR Deadline!

Organizations are reminded that the JAMBAR deadline is every Friday afternoon at 3:45, and that news releases must be in the JAMBAR office on the second floor of Pollock House by that time or risk not being published.

Also, it would be appreciated if news releases are typed and double spaced.

Form New Academic Program To Help Needy Students

A new Academic Program is being initiated at Youngstown University under the chairmanship of John Westbrook and in conjunction with the newly formed social and academic fraternity, Upsilon Upsilon.

The program is designed to aid students in the better understanding of many courses that are in the school curriculum.

The program will include supplementary classes to be held every two or three weeks in Comm. 105, General Biology, Vertebrate and Invertebrate Zoology, Economics, Psychology, and the required History courses.

In each of these classes the interested or "needy" student will find capable student conductors who are thoroughly familiar with subject being presented. Instruction will be aimed primarily at the basic difficulties encountered by students in these courses and the methods of achieving a more successful approach to the subject. Outlines and high points of each course will be presented as well as review sessions in preparation for midterm and final exams.

The academic program is receiving a good deal of support from the administration and various department heads.

Open Ticket Sale For Pittsburgh Show

Pittsburgh's spectacular historical drama "The Golden Crucible" will open in June with a cast of seventy-five actors, actresses, dancers, an original music score, a huge floating stage, and colorful costumes.

Press releases indicate this will be one of the most exciting dramatic events ever to hit the Pittsburgh district. Work is now proceeding on the Bicentennial Amphitheatre which will house "The Golden Crucible" this summer.

Public sale of tickets for the performances of "The Golden Crucible" will not begin until after May 1 but reservations for interested groups are now being accepted.

For complete information on group rates write in care of "The Golden Crucible", 514 Eureka Building, Forbes Avenue, Pittsburgh 13, Pa.

JAZZ My Beat

Lynn C. Newland

Several weeks ago I mentioned the various forms of jazz and the fact that they were all synonymous. Although they all denote the same type of music they do have certain characteristics which are peculiar to them.

Jazz Origins

It is not for me to attempt a history of jazz in a column such as this, but a few remarks concerning the origin of jazz will help to clarify the beginning of this music.

The most common misconception about jazz is that it was founded in New Orleans. This is not true. Jazz was prevalent throughout the Southern states during the 1880's and the only claim New Orleans may have is the fact that it was the most colorful city supporting jazz; such as, the now famous Storyville. The other erroneous idea involving jazz is the notion that its primitive origin was in Africa. If jazz is listened to closely it will sound obvious that it has more European influence than African.

Dixieland

The earliest jazz was called Dixieland or Ragtime. This music found a perfect environment for its development in the South.

Work songs of Negro field workers helped the growth of jazz as did their church hymns. These songs laid the foundations of our twentieth century jazz music. Their music developed the "blue notes" which are flatted 3 and 7 without shifting key. The musicians of this early period found the honky tonks of New Orleans and other Southern cities a good place to develop freedom in their music. But most important of all these musicians gave rise to improvisation, the element that makes jazz what it is today.

Jazz received a break in February of 1917 when the Original Dixieland Jass Band made a record for RCA Victor. Thus, jazz was finally coming out of the back alleys and out into the public eye.

The stories centered around the Dixieland Era are colorful and unbelievable. Most of them are probably true, but are now filled with more legend than truth.

C. of C. and Educators Differ on School Bill

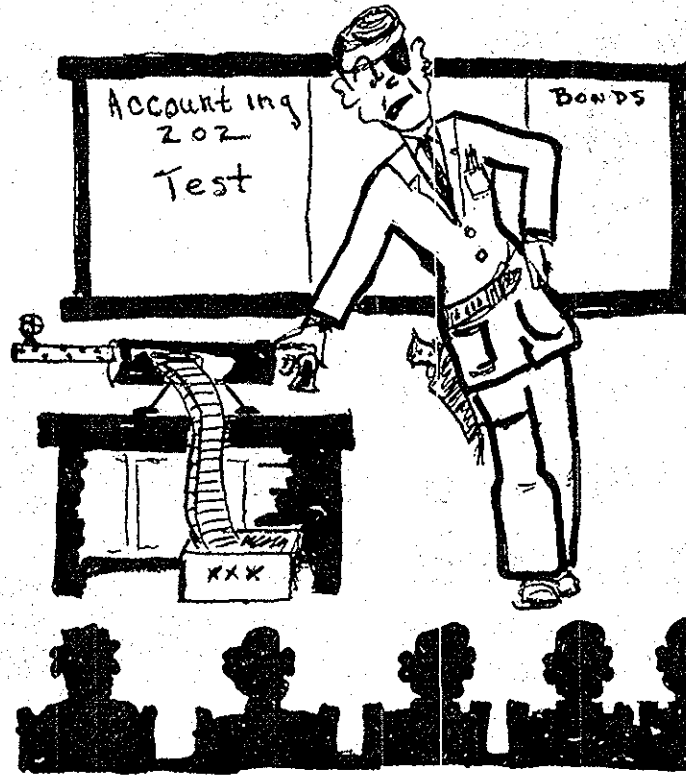

With education receiving so much attention in our country two legislators from the state of Montana have introduced identical bills in the new Congress to cope with this problem.

The legislators, Senator Murray and Rep. Metcalf propose a bill that would provide a permanent program of aid for teacher's salaries and school construction and involve total allotments of five billion a year after four years when the program is in full swing. These bills are strongly supported by leading labor and educator groups.

Briefly, this is how the program would work, 15 states and the District of Columbia each year would pay out a total of $722,000,000 more than they would receive. This money would go to the 34 other states as part of their allotment.

The formula that would be used for making the allocations is a "state school effort index" obtained by dividing the school revenue per public child by the per capita income per child of school age in relation to the comparable national figure.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States opposes these measures on the basis that federal aid inevitably leads to federal control and that education is a state and local responsibility.

Letters to the Editor...

Finds Students Here Low In Interest On Jazz Music

Dear Editor:

The fact that jazz has been expected on most campuses in the United States points out that the students of Youngstown University are behind times when it comes to music. I believe a more apt definition would be "Square".

When I see students going to class with their radios I feel that Rock and Roll has gone far enough.

If you were to ask someone what he thinks of George Shearing, he would reply, "I think he cuts hair divinely." Or how about Armstrong? His answer would be: "The best floor covering on the market." These are the frustrations of a jazz enthusiast.

I know that on our campus we have several gifted students, who play in the area, that would like to see jazz become a part of YU. Why not put on a poll to prove my statements and try to help those misguided students find themselves?

Been Worrying About 1960? Here's a Helpful Suggestion

By Frank Court

In the March 13th issue of the JAMBAR there appeared an article concerning the predictions of Nostradamus. The article stated, that Nostradamus predicted a war would take place in 1960. During this war, which would last only 11 days, America would be invaded, but in the end she would emerge the victor.

Many criticisms and comments, concerning the article, have been expressed by the students of Y.U. since the article first made its appearance. Some students believe the predictions of Nostradamus to be nothing more than far-fetched exaggerations. On the other hand, some shocked students are considering buying steamship tickets to Pogo Pogo Land or building bomb shelters in their back yards.

It is for the benefit of those students who are contemplating the building of a bomb shelter that the following article and suggestions have been written.

Here's How It's Done

First of all, in building a bomb shelter, you must decide what shape it will be. There are three choices for the shape. They are; round, square, and triangle. A round bomb shelter is ideal for people who like room. It is especially handy when it comes time to clean the corners. A square bomb shelter serves a thrifty purpose. It affords much space for things like; hanging calendars, stringing garlic, slot machines, bowling etc. A triangle shaped shelter is one that can be used, but it is not recommended except for people with pointy heads.

Once you have established what shape the shelter will be, the only remaining problem is to build it and stock it with goodies. You should include in the building an escape hatch and a handy guide to the city's sewer system. If you did not fireproof your shelter it is a good policy to have a box of marshmallows on hand to roast. This helps pass time while the fire is consuming you. If you do not like marshmallows then include in your supplies a dart game. Throwing darts is very relaxing and if you become bored you can always throw them at somebody else. (For married men we recommend mother-in-laws).

No bomb shelter is complete without some type of refreshment. A bottle of your favorite beverage would be ideal to pass the time with. For those who want to throw away their worries, let us recommend a bottle of Lysol. If you prefer mixed drinks then a goodly supply of Old Rotten-schnaps Hair Tonic would be perfect. If you fall into the ghoulish vampire category, then you don't want to be without that favorite of grave robbers everywhere... Type O. One thing to remember about Type O is to drink it fast before it clots.

No matter how you feel towards bomb shelters, the fact remains that they would be useful in time of an attack. If Nostradamus was alive today it is a certainty that he would have a bomb shelter in his back yard. So, if you are a follower of old Nostr then heed this advice and start digging.

Poor April Fool Joke

The fact that Youngstown University could prosper from having a Student Union building is quite evident.

A building such as this would help to draw the students of Youngstown University closer together and also provide rooms and facilities for the different campus organizations and for recreational purposes.

Recently, the Campus Voice asked several students just what they felt should comprise a Student Union. The replies were quite constructive and showed definite interest within the student body.

Interest was also shown last week by the placing of an outhouse in front of the Snack Bar bearing a sign that read; New Student Union, April Fool.

It must have taken time and energy to procure this building and place it on campus. Although it may have been an excellent April Fool's Day joke it indicated the immature thinking of some students and also their lack of consideration for the dreams for which other students are working.

Student Awareness

How aware are you about the world-wide events that are shaping the future of your life? Do you know how our country is faring in the diplomatic warfare sometimes called the "cold war"? Do you know what the evening paper is talking about in the headlines about Berlin, the United Nations, unrest in South America, internal conflict in Red China, or slipping United States prestige in the Far East?

Too often we as students are prone to draw ourselves into our own little shell of campus life. Our everyday movements become routine. We go to class, we study, we go to parties or dances every now and then, and that's it. Nothing really concrete is accomplished.

We had better take note occasionally of what the rest of the world is doing. The boys in Russia and China are not concerned with the "Ivy League"; they have one goal in mind, and that is to dump us off this high and mighty position we have fought so long to keep sacred and which now appears to be slipping.

It behooves us as students to read and read and read. We can never know enough about the world. News magazines and national newspapers are a fertile source of such information. Try to acquire a habit of reading one of these periodicals at least once a week.

And remember, the things we take for granted in this country were gained through education, work, self-sacrifice, sweat, and blood. We owe it to those gone before us to carry on their work.

Offer Cash for Contributions To Revived Literary Magazine

Persons with a flare for writing will be interested in the recent announcement that The Dial, one-time national showplace of literary works of now-famous persons, will resume publication in October.

The Dial features works of extraordinary literary significance written by both unknown and established writers, and especially those pieces which most magazines are unwilling to publish because of subject, style or length.

Offer Inducements

To encourage young writers to contribute, The Dial is offering rates of $100 to $1500 for works which it publishes. The editor will report on submissions within a month of their receipt. Also all works which are accepted will automatically be placed in competition for the $1000, Dial Award which will go to the fiction story judged best.

All works can be submitted to The Dial Press, 461 Fourth Avenue, New York 16, New York.

The new Dial will appear in October, January, April and July and will be available through bookstores at $1.50 a copy and by subscription at $5 a year.

Have Openings For Imaginative June Graduates

The American Greetings Corporation this week announced plans to enlarge its verse writing and humor writing staff by adding ten June college graduates to its editorial department.

People who are imaginative, can communicate effortlessly, and have a good sense of humor, possess the qualifications for these positions.

Graduates who believe they can originate ideas for "studio cards", the new off-beat brand of humor in greeting cards, will find a writing job at American Greetings stimulating and satisfying.

To arrange for a personal interview, write Mr. George Burditt, Editorial Director, American Greetings Corporation, 1300 West 78th Street, Cleveland 2, Ohio.

Graduate Sings At New York's Radio City Hall

Jerome Toti, a graduate of Youngstown University and a native of Youngstown, is currently singing on stage at New York's Radio City Music Hall.

Toti, a tenor, is a member of the Schola Cantorum, which is marking its 50th anniversary this year. The renowned singing group is making the first theatrical appearance in its history in the Music Hall's celebrated cathedral pageant, "Glory of Easter", singing the "Kamenoi Ostrow" by Rubinstein.

In the second part of the stage show, a new revue called "Spring Parade", the Schola Cantorum sings selections from its wide and varied repertory.

Offer Summer Work In Foreign Countries

If you are a college student who is thinking of working this summer you may be interested in working in a foreign country.

Last year, the first group of American students made their way across the Atlantic to take part in the actual life of the people of these countries.

This year the program has been expanded to include many more jobs. The American-European Student Foundation is sponsoring these jobs in Germany, Scandinavia, England, Austria, Switzerland, France, Italy, and Spain. Jobs are available in forestry, child care, farm work, hotel work, construction work, and other jobs requiring specialized training.

For further information on the placement services, and travel arrangements, write American-European Student Foundation, PO Box 34712, Vaduz, Liechtenstein, Switzerland.

What is an "Egghead"? One May be Next to You

By John Westbrook

Have you ever found yourself saying, "He's a real Egghead" or have you ever caught yourself whispering furtively to a friend, "There's an intellectual, he's always up in the clouds?" If you have, then you are a member of one of the biggest athletic clubs on earth, the Human Race.

From as far back as folks can remember there have been certain individuals, who have either been stracized, patronized, idolized, annonzed, romanticized, under-sized, oversized, or emulsified imply because they were considered o be intellectual, or more recently, 5ggheads.

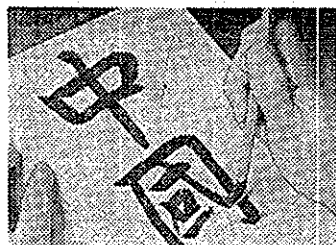

The rarely discussed and probably little known feature of this situation is that just about everyone of these talked-about people has said, more or less in the same way, the same thing about someone else.

Interlocking Pyramid

From the lowest social strata to the highest, there exists what can be termed an "interlocking pyramid" of thought concerning the subject of intellectuals. The ditchdigger who calls the foreman an intellectual may find that the foreman calls the general contractor an intellectual and that he, in turn, calls the owner of the property an intellectual, who thinks the architect is an intellectual.

Granted, this is somewhat of a hypothetical case, but the moral of the story is more or less true, "Everyone is an intellectual to someone else". Someone once said, "You can learn something from everybody regardless of who they may be." How true this is in life.

One syllable words are the hardest.

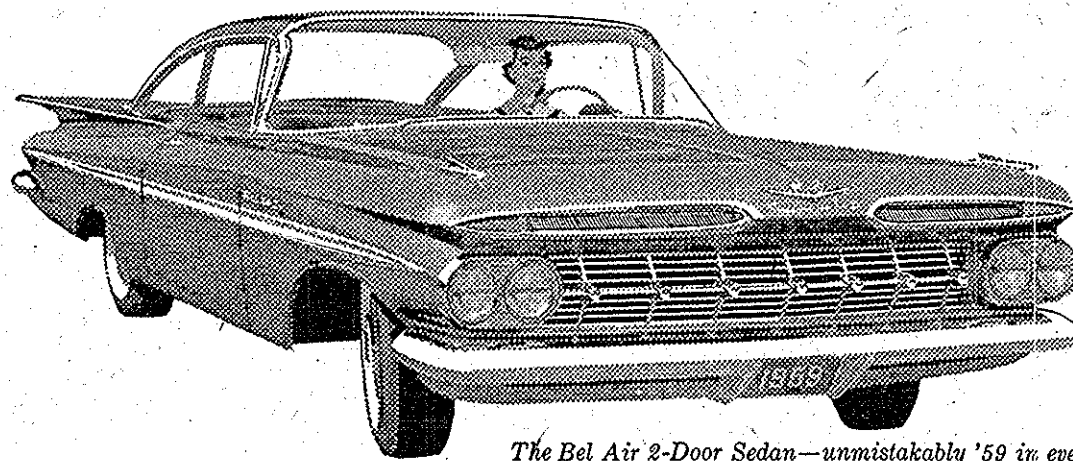

From Britannica Film "Children of China" English-speaking peoples usually think of Chinese as being the most difficult tongue. Yet, it is made up entirely of words of one syllable. Each sound though, may have ten or more different meanings.

New Knit Sportswear Aids The Active Male Hobbyist

One of a Series;

What's your favorite hobby? No, no -- we mean besides girls. A hobby may be loosely defined as something you do instead of things you should be doing, like term papers.

Sports top the list for most men. For older men it's fishing about three-to-one. College men prefer livelier sports like football, swimming, boating, bowling, and so forth.

Designers have discovered that an active hobby dictates the kind of clothes worn while participating in that hobby. Football is an outstanding example of this. But now even ordinary sports clothes -- jackets, knit shirts and sport shirts -- are designed with action in mind.

Shirt Tails

For those who have trouble with shirt tails waving in the breeze, there is a knit shirt with a back shirt tail, two inches longer. Now you can stretch all you like -- for a hole-in-one, a strike, or a perfect serve -- and your shirt stays put.

All sorts of fibers and fiber combinations are represented in knits this Spring. Of course, you know about the all-cotton, and the popular drip-dry Dacron and cotton. Now they've blended cotton and Nylon, for a shirt with extra elasticity ... Orlon and wool for extra absorption -- high-bulk Orlon for a real he-man look ... and Acrilan for solid comfort.

Try a new collar treatment, such as the shawl collar, button-downs, crew necks or boat necks. And do you have to stick to white? How about bright red, or gold, or blue and brown stripes?

How about Jackets

Also for active sportsmen are the windshield jackets. These feature a pleat at each side of the armhole in back, to give complete freedom of movement. Done in water-repellent fabrics, in a wide variety of plaids and solids, these are popular for outdoor sports such as boating and golf.

In addition to construction details, hobbies also influence the appearance of some garments. For example, try knit shirts with embroidered sports motifs on the pockets. Select your own favorite sport -- golf, fishing, tennis, bowling, yachting -- or whatever. If you can't make up your mind, pick one with a little decathlon on medallion. It's good looking, and doesn't commit you to anything.

If sticking to your books is your hobby, we're sorry. We can't help you there. Try an old bathrobe and some sneakers. But if you're out to have some fun, dress the part and get on with it.

Curbstone Coaches Pick Herb Lake Top Senior Star

Graduating cage star Herb Lake was honored recently by the Curbstone Coaches of Youngstown as they picked the giant center "Youngstown University's outstanding senior."

The Curbstone Coaches will pick the top senior athlete in basketball and football as an annual feature on their program.

Lake was cited for his stellar performances throughout the regular Penguin season, but gained special praise for his hard play during the Ohio NAIA tournament at South Field House and out at the nationals in Kansas City. He was named for the third straight year to the NAIA all-tourney team.

Dom Rosselli was called upon for a few comments at which time he said, "Everyone wonders why we don't play Pitt, Duquesne, LaSalle, Bowling Green, Xavier, Ohio U. and other schools. We tried numerous times, but they are afraid of getting beat by a smaller school, can't see how it can enhance their reputation. I think this squad is one of the best we've had and it surmounted many difficulties."

Here's Quick SELF - TESTER

Here's a quick self-tester to help you rate your "brand-image" score, as described in the accompanying article. Score 9 or better and you have nothing to worry about. An 8 indicates room for improvement. If you only hit 7, you may not have as many people rooting for you as you think. A score of 6 or less means there's work to be done.

1. Do you do something about getting ahead on your job?
2. Can you name at least two people who would go out of their way to help you?
3. Have you made a new friend within the last three months?
4. When you entertain, do several people invariably fail to show up?
5. Are you considered a good credit risk in your community?
6. Are you presently engaged in any civic activity?
7. Are you informed on current events?
8. Are you always on time for appointments, business meetings, dinner parties, etc.?
9. Are you free from annoying mannerisms like hair-twisting, scratching, yawning?
10. Can people confide in you?

Looking Around...

By Pat McCarren and Frank Guarnieri

Let us start off with congratulations to the lovely Junior Prom Queen, Sandy Bailey and her court.

The destructive nature that is found in all of us can be seen by the many students (especially civil engineers) cheering the workers tearing down the church on the corner of Wick and Wood. Many stood there by the hour watching the bricks fall and wiping dust out of their eyes. Don't ask us why, but it seems to give one a feeling of satisfaction to see the walls fall when hit by that big ball. But we cannot understand why some enterprising young organizer did not put up a grand stand and sell tickets.

Has anyone noticed the increased consumption of beverages other than coffee in the Snack Bar lately? That stuff couldn't possibly be any worse!

Some pranksters seem to be somewhat dissatisfied with the present condition of our campus. Let us cite three sterling examples.

First, on St. Patrick's Day some comments were seen painted on the side of the Annex concerning the destruction and removal of said structure. Let us remind you that the magnificent edifice in question is one of the few remaining structures showing that famous "Early World War II, U.S. Army Style No. 437-BX-682" type of architecture which is fast disappearing from the American scene. But, some people do not see the beauty in such buildings.

Second, it seems that someone feels that the construction of a Student Union would relieve some of the congestion in parts of the campus. This person's feelings were so strong that he donated a small structure (also rapidly disappearing from our back yards) and placed it in front of the Snack Bar on Wed. April 1 - it was hastily removed to a more remote location by The Maintenance Dept. in their red truck, equipped with gas masks, etc. Certainly there is no room for a Student Union in front of the Snack Bar, but we must admit that it was a step in the right direction.

Third, approximately twenty-four hours after the removal of the "Union" someone called the Youngstown Fire Dept. to report that the Main Building was burning. When the four trucks arrived, they found Main in its usual state of confusion, but no fire. The firemen were very much upset because they had used their auto-home shavers on the way to Main so they would look sharp in the pictures taken at the would-be fire by JAMBAR photographers. The culprit has not yet found out at this writing, but he (or she) probably had one of the following motives.

1. He (or she) THOUGHT Main was burning.
2. He (or she) WISHED Main was burning. (If this is the case, the person is probably enrolled in one of the many happy Communications sections.)
3. She (or he) PLANNED to set fire to Main, but the firemen arrived too soon. (Here again a Communications student is suspected.)
4. It could have been a late April Pools joke.
5. He (or she) like to see fire trucks, and didn't want to walk to the fire station.

Remember this, Little one: If you remain cool, calm and collected while everyone else around you is excited, running around and screaming, perhaps you do not grasp the seriousness of the situation.

A young girl going out on her first date, asked her mother for some advice.

"The best advice I can think of," replied her mother, "can be found on the top of a jar of salad dressing."

Thought for the day: Some people fall for everything, but do not stand up for anything.

Before we leave, especially for those who do not happen to have a jar of salad dressing on their person, the top reads, "Keep cool, but do not freeze!"

'TIS SPRING: These lovely co-eds took time out from their busy schedules to rest awhile and take in the sunshine which Spring ushered in last week. Convertible tops were down and students strolled lazily around campus, thankful for the break in weather.

Ex-Slave Makes Good -- Next on Valley Tales

Tales of the Mahoning and Shenango Valleys will present the story of Jimmy Armstrong on its next broadcast to be heard on Youngstown area radio stations the week of April 5.

The Mahoning-Shenango valley community has long been proud of the role it played in the extension of human freedom to all Americans. Out of this chapter, whose setting is Alliance, Ohio, we gain further insight into the principal of human freedom at work.

"The story of Jimmy Armstrong" shows how an ex-slave by the name of Jimmy Armstrong became a highly respected citizen of Alliance.

Check your local listings for broadcast time of the Tales of the Mahoning and Shenango Valleys sponsored by the Industrial Information Institute.

Braves Face Tough Battle in Senior Loop Pennant Race

by Rich Passan

This week the Senior Circuit is in the spotlight. The race this year promises to be a close one with Milwaukee again coming out on top. The teams are in forecasted order once again.

Milwaukee Braves
The National League champions have been crippled by the loss of their crack second-baseman, "Red" Schoendienst, who contracted tuberculosis right after the World Series. His probable replacement, Mel Roach, has a gimpy knee and won't be able to play as much as the Braves would want him to. Johnny O'Brien, recently acquired from the Philadelphia Phillies, and Felix Mantilla are prime candidates for Schoendienst's vacant slot.

The Braves are a potent team both offensively and defensively. The big bats of Hank Aaron, Eddie Mathews, Wes Covington, Joe Adcock, Del Crandall and Frank Torre should be enough to offset the loss of Schoendienst.

The pitching staff is headlined by the "ageless" Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette, Joey Jay, Carlton Willey, Bob Rush, and Juan Pizarro. Big Don McMahon and Bob Trowbridge are good relief pitchers when they are called upon to perform their specialty. A comeback year for Bob Buhl is expected.

Strength - Good hitting, excellent power, good pitching, and adequate fielding.
Weakness - Replacing Schoendienst

San Francisco Giants
Last year, the Giants, like Pittsburgh, were a surprising ball team. Their pitching started to fall apart in August which caused them to finish in third place.

This year they figure to be stronger with Orlando Cepeda, Willie Mays, Willie Kirkland, Jackie Brandt, Bob Schmidt, Danny O'Connell, and Hank Sauer, the Giants have a solid lineup which is loaded with power and plenty of team speed. The impressive performance of Andre Rogers at shortstop this spring seems to have solved a minor problem for the men from the West Coast.

The pitching staff has been bolstered with the acquisition of Jack Sanford and "Sad Sam" Jones. Johnny Antonelli, Mike McCormick, Stu Miller and Al Worthington round out the Giants front line. Relief pitching is lacking now that Marv Grissom has been traded.

Strength - Good hitting, excellent power, adequate fielding, and good pitching.
Weakness - Lack of good relief pitching.

Pittsburgh Pirates
The Bucs last year surprised everybody including yours truly. It seems as though Branch Rickey's "Youth Program" has finally grown up.

The Pirates are led by team captain Dick Groat, Bob Skinner, Bill Virdon, Dick Stuart, Roberto Clemente and Ted Kuszewski. The acquisition of Don Hoak and "Smoky" Burgess should more than offset the loss of Frank Thomas.

The pitching corps is headed by 22 game winner Bob Friend, Ronnie Kline, George Witt, Vernon Law, and the newly acquired Harvey Haddix. The relief pitching duo of Don Gross and Elroy Face are considered the best in the league.

Strength - Excellent power, good hitting, adequate defense, and good all-around pitching.

Weakness - The loss of Frank Thomas will be felt at third base but it won't make that much difference at the plate.

Cincinnati Reds
The Reds have gone back to their all power -- no pitching brand of baseball which proved very successful in 1956. Frank Robinson, Del Ennis, Frank Thomas, Jerry Lynch, Ed Bailey, Gus Bell, and Walt Dropo are all capable of hitting 20 or more home runs in a season.

In order to get power, the Reds had to sacrifice pitching. They still have Bob Purkey, Brooks Lawrence, Tom Aker, Don Newcombe, and Joe Nuxhall, who figure to be the starters with Hal Jeffcoat and Willard Schmidt taking care of the relief chores.

Strength - Awesome power, fair hitting, and good fielding sparked by the glove-work of Johnny Temple and Roy McMillan.
Weakness - Inadequate pitching, lack of team speed, and the big question at first base ... can Walt Dropo make up for the loss of George Crowe who was traded to St. Louis? The National League race, unlike that of the American League, figures to be close, with the afore mentioned teams battling it out for the top spot. Come September, the Braves are my choice for the National League representative in the World Series.

Bombers Nip Gridders For Intra-mural Crown

The Bombers ended the Gridders two year hold on the intramural basketball championship with a resounding 69-47 triumph last Thursday at the Gordon Street gym in Campbell.

No doubt about the outcome was left after the first half as the Bombers galloped to a 38-22 lead. Ronny White flipped 21 points for the winners followed by Billy Coleman's 17 tallies. The victory was their 13 of the campaign without defeat. The Alkies bowed to the Bombers in the semi-final by nine points while the Gridders nipped T.K.E. by two to reach the finals in their bracket.

THE CARE AND FEEDING OF ROOM-MATES

Room-mates are not only heaps of fun, but they are also very educational, for the proper study of mankind is man, and there is no better way to learn the dreams and drives of another man than to share a room with him.

This being the case, it is wise not to keep the same room-mate too long, because the more room-mates you have, the more you will know about the dreams and drives of your fellow man. So try to change room-mates as often as you can. A recent study made by Sigafos of Princeton shows that the best interval for changing room-mates is every four hours.

How do you choose a room-mate? Most counselors agree that the most important thing to look for in room-mates is that they be people of regular habits. This, I say, is arrant nonsense. What if one of their regular habits happens to be beating a Chinese gong from midnight to dawn? Or growing cultures in your tooth glass? Or reciting the Articles of War?

Regular habits, my foot! The most important quality in a room-mate is that he should be exactly your size. Otherwise you will have to have his clothes altered to fit you, which can be a considerable nuisance. In fact, it is sometimes flatly impossible. I recollect one time I roomed with a man named Osage Tremblatt who was just under seven feet tall and weighed nearly four hundred pounds. There wasn't a blessed thing I could use in his entire wardrobe—until one night when I was invited to a masquerade party. I cut one leg off a pair of Tremblatt's trousers, jumped into it, sewed up both ends, and went to the party as a bolster. I took second prize. First prize went to a girl named Antenna Radnitz who poured molasses over her head and went as a candied apple.

But I digress. Let us turn back to the qualities that make desirable room-mates. Not the least of these is the cigarettes they smoke. When we buy cigarettes, do we want them to be shoddy and nondescript? Certainly not! We want them to be distinguished, gently reared, zestful and zingy. And what cigarette is distinguished, gently reared, zestful and zingy? Why, Philip Morris, of course! Any further questions?

To go on. In selecting a room-mate, find someone who will wear well, whom you'd like to keep as a permanent friend. Many of history's great friendships first started in college. Are you aware, for example, of the remarkable fact that Johnson and Boswell were room-mates at Oxford in 1712? What makes this fact so remarkable is that in 1712 Johnson was only three years old and Boswell had not yet been born. But, of course, children matured earlier in those days. Take Mozart, who wrote his first symphony at four. Or Titian, who painted his first masterpiece at five. Or Hanso Felbgung, who was in many ways the most remarkable of all; he was appointed chief of the Copenhagen police department at the age of six!

It must be admitted, however, that he did badly. Criminals roamed the city, robbing and looting at will. They knew little Hanso would never pursue them—he was not allowed to cross the street.

QUE'S QUIPS

By Jim Quilty

"Of all the honors I have received, this is the greatest." This statement comes from a tall, friendly, talented student of the game of basketball who during four years at Youngstown University has made as many friends off the court as he has scored points on it, following his selection to the N.A.I.A. All-American team last week. The gentleman is Herb Lake.

Herb entered Youngstown in the fall of '55 following graduation from Midland High School in Pennsylvania. In his first year he gained a starting berth and has been a mainstay in the lineup since.

Tony Knott was the big scorer during Herb's freshman year but despite Knott's outstanding performance game after game, Herb managed to establish a freshman scoring record (broken by Mickey Yugovich the following season) and lead the team in rebounds. Lake shared the spotlight during his next two years with playmaker Bob Atterholt along with Yugovich and Beaney Gordon who came on the scene in 1957. The latter pair, Lake and Cramer combined this season to give the Penguins their third successive N.A.I.A. state title.

Herb rates the '57-'58 team as "the best balanced club I ever played on."

The best in the country have come up against Herb during his college career and some have gone away only second best for the evening. Bob Ellis, now with the pro Minneapolis Lakers, Jim Smith, Steubenville, Al Butler, Niagara, Dick Barnett, Tenn. A. & I. and first draft choice of the pro Syracuse Nats, Jim Spivey, Oklahoma A. & I., and the Akron Goodyear's Charlie Slack and Wally Wallowac all numbered among Herb's basketball opponents.

During three N.A.I.A. tourneys, including eight games, Big Herb dropped in an average 22.3 points per game and gained second team honors all three years.

"This year the team used a different style offense and more equal shooting all the way around. In past years there was more feeding under the hoop and more short shots", states Lake. "This gave everyone an equal opportunity to score."

Recently Herb participated in a benefit basketball contest for the disabled Maurice Stokes in Pittsburgh. Those under six foot nipped the "Giants" but Lake came through with a great performance netting 18 points as well as grabbing his share of the rebounds.

Herb can look back on a college basketball career that's summed up very ably in the Youngstown University record book: Top rebounder in school's history; number two scorer in school's history. Both total over the 1800 mark.

A possible career in the National Industrial Basketball League with Peoria looms in Herb's immediate future.

Maybe people will forget the records he set but they won't soon lose sight of his comedy antics on the floor and more than that his following of the sports code always being a good sport.

Miracle Suit Fabrics Give New Meaning to word "Cool"

It's getting to the point where the word "cool" has more different meanings than the Prof. has lectures. To the jazz man, it means a special kind of pleasing beat. The weatherman views it in still another light. But, the style experts give it a new dimension. It is the new lightweight mode of living.

True enough, there is no longer reason to sweat out the summers just because you are male. Science has finally taken pity on us and thanks to a whole new raft of fabrics and weaves, we can feel as cool and comfortable as the gals.

Here's how the "cool" look shapes up for spring. Ice blue is the big color. Graded shades of blue will dominate the scene in almost everything. It will also be used for ties and socks.

New Suit Fabrics

The textured look is news in suits; the raw silks and slubbed fabrics combine the elegance and casualness to conform to any occasion. And comfortable! Even though they are well tailored, they weigh practically nothing - a real blessing on a hot day. And although one look out the window may make one think that it will never get hot again, the Farmer's Almanac assures us it will. Hence, if you are picking out a new

How About Accessories?

There is increased interest in ties and handkerchiefs that are specially designed to complement your shirt. For example, a blue and white shirt with a horizontal stripe might take a solid blue tie in a textured weave. The handkerchief will repeat the theme set by the tie, in a border design. These handkerchiefs are planned to be folded square with a straight border showing about a half inch above the pocket.
