

LOMBARD RETALIATES

Four Points Outlined By Council

LaLama Presides At 1st Meeting Of Semester

By A. Robert Steiskal
(jambor student council reporter)

Sam LaLama, newly elected president of student council, presided over his first meeting of the new semester, last Fri. in the conference room of the library. This was also the first meeting for seven new council representatives, elected in a general election in Jan.

In his opening address LaLama outlined four new points to be given consideration by council members.

The first point mentioned by LaLama was the correct usage of the library. LaLama stressed the fact that those students that violate the rules of the library should be brought before the discipline committee for punishment. He further stated that the most common violation was excessive loud talking in the various rooms of the library, and that most of the boisterous talk was caused by a few habitual offenders, rather than the majority of the student body. Just what type of punishment these offenders will be subjected to is not being revealed at this time, apparently because council wants a little more time to review the facts before making a decision.

Drinking Causing Problem

What constitutes one of the most unhealthy problems at Youngstown University is also being reviewed by council. That is the problem of excessive drinking of alcoholic beverages at student council functions.

At the moment, council is trying to figure out some type of solution to this matter. So far nothing has been accomplished in the solving of the drinking problem but LaLama hopes to come up with an answer in the near future. Just what council has in

McMullen Challenges Y. U. Referendum Petitions

Claims Many Signatures Are Invalid; City Clerk Waiting For Ruling

By Richard J. Crosbie
(jambor staff writer)

Lombard Corp. has answered Youngstown University's referendum petition -- to place the matter of the Wick Ave. zone change on the Nov. ballot -- by the use of withdrawal petitions.

Tri Sigs To Hold 'Topsy Turvy' Dance

Tri Sigma Sorority will hold its annual "Topsy Turvy" dance at the Eagles Ballroom, Fri., Feb. 19, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Proceeds for the dance will go to the Robbie Page Memorial Fund, a fund set up for research and rehabilitation of Polio stricken children.

During the past two years $28,000 has been donated to this memorial fund from various contributions and sorority projects. The annual "Topsy Turvy" dance sponsored by the Tri Sigma is their way of raising funds for this memorial.

The numerous fraternities on campus will select a candidate for "Topsy Turvy King". In order to vote for their candidates frat members must contribute a penny to any one of the various jars placed in the halls of Y.U.

Bill Holt, last years king will coronate this years king during ceremonies during intermission of the affair.

Youngstown Receives Money From AEC For Lab Equipment

Youngstown University has been granted the sum of $7,876 by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission for the purchase of laboratory equipment to be used in the nuclear education program at the university. Dr. Howard W. Jones, president of the university, has announced today.

In order to qualify for the grant it was necessary for the university to furnish AEC with a detailed course outline as well as the specific experimentation that was proposed for courses in nuclear physics and nuclear engineering. Courses were set up by M.J. Charignon, dean of William Rayen School of Engineering, and Dr. Hugh A. Shaddock of the chemical engineering faculty, and have been taught by them for the past three years without the benefit of laboratory experiments.

The university has tentatively placed an order for a reactor which will be installed in the reactor section of the new million-dollar science building.

Those students that bought tickets for a "benefit stag" which was supposed to be held on Jan. 28, but was cancelled, should see Al Strickland from 10-11 a.m. in the cafeteria. Return of the tickets will entitle such students to their money back.

Lombard's "petition pushers" have been calling at the homes of signers of the Youngstown University petition in an attempt to influence the various individuals into signing petitions withdrawing their names from the referendum petition.

Lombard's representatives are allegedly telling these signers that they might as well withdraw their names because the Lombard Corp. is "so big that it can't be beat".

The big question today is: Why is the Lombard Corp. fighting so hard to keep the zone change off the Nov. ballot? Could it be that they are fearful of the voter's decision? Who else besides the voting public would have a better right to make the final decision in this matter?

Had Photos Taken

James McMullen, vice pres. of the Lombard Corp. has even went so far as to have photographs taken of the referendum petitions and claims that for various reasons more than 2,000 of the signatures appearing on the petitions are invalid. The reasons given for their invalidity range from omission of ward and precinct numbers to more serious violations such as signatures of non-registered voters.

Lombard Corp. also claims the petitions are lacking enough signatures to place the dispute on the ballot. They say that state law requires 10 percent of the people who voted in the last gubernatorial election. This would place the total signature requirement at 6,200. A city charter passed in 1923, however, calls for only a six percent accumulation of names.

Lemon Has Petition

The petition is now in the hands of Youngstown City Clerk, John H. Lemon, who is required to hold the petition for at least 10 days and action must be taken on the matter 90 days before the general election in Nov.

At the moment Lemon is awaiting the advice of City Law Director, S.S. Fekett before taking any action on the matter.

Straw Ballot Stench

The Student Council reorganization meeting which was held on Jan. 15 left much to be desired -- in that a most obvious omission from SC's constitution was encountered and the manner in which it was remedied was poor.

On the first and second ballots cast for the office of presidency, tie votes occurred.

The by-laws of student council contained no provision as to what course of action would be followed in case of a tie vote. Thus, the advisors used the "straw vote" method and the election was settled. The advisors only acted after asking council if the "straw vote" method was okay. Not one comment was raised by any member of council.

Robert's Rules of Order, the parliamentary procedure governing student council, states that when tie votes occur in the election of officers a five minute recess should be held after each tie vote and ballot until the tie is broken. This course of action should have been taken as opposed to that of drawing "names out of a hat".

We suggest that student council and its constitution committee do something to remedy this omission from the by-laws.

However, this is not the most serious result of the occurrence. The fact that not one member of council raised any objection to this procedure is the most glaring error. Council was approached as to their feelings and opinions on the subject by the advisors and not one of them raised any objection to this method.

Mrs. Joseph E. Smith, head of YU's Records Office is shown here boarding an airliner on the first leg of her European trip. Mrs. Smith was surprised at Youngstown's Municipal Airport when a portion of YU's faculty including President and Mrs. Jones came to see her off.

Col. Boyer of the Marine Corps has been stationed with NATO in Paris. Mrs. Boyer and Mrs. Smith will accompany Col. Boyer on a tour of the various countries in Europe with the final stop Naples, where he has been assigned to duty. They will tour England, Ireland, Norway, Sweden, Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Italy.

Mrs. Smith will return to Youngstown about April 1.

Y. U. Named NEWLAND As Testing Center

Dean Smith To Head Test Program

Youngstown University has been designated as a testing center for students planning to enter any college, or university requiring the American College Test. The program at Youngstown University will be under the direction of Dr. J.E. Smith, dean of the university and chairman of the university scholarship committee.

Students planning to enter other universities which require this test for entrance or guidance should take it on Feb. 27 or April 23. The test, which requires three hours, will be given in the university library and may be taken at 9 a.m. or 2 p.m.

Those students applying for Youngstown University scholarships must take the test on Feb. 27.

The American College Test will be required of all freshmen who enter Youngstown University, except those who have taken the College Entrance Board Test and will replace all former tests which have been required of entering freshmen in the past. The test will be used for guidance in recommending schedules and loads for students. These students may take the test on Feb. 27, April 23, or on dates to be announced later.

Dr. Smith has announced that high school students in the upper half of their class who are applying for scholarships at Youngstown University for the fall term, will compete for 60 scholarships made available through the university general scholarship fund. Scholarship winners will be selected on the following basis: the results of the test taken Feb. 27, the student's scholastic record in high school, the recommendation of his principal and his financial need.

Kieffer Elected Pres. Of Sigma Tau

Dykemas Thank Blood Donors

To the faculty and students of Youngstown University:

Mr. Dykema and I can only hope that through a letter to the Jambar we can reach the many people who so generously responded to word of our need and offered blood. It takes many people willing to give, to get the required number of accepted donors, and many of you gave your time even though you were not allowed to give blood. Though Mr. Dykema was then too weak to be concerned, I was from the first spared any worry about obtaining blood by being informed that university people were clamoring to help. Our medical expenses are $400 lighter through your generosity and you replaced the ninety-five per cent of his blood which Mr. Dykema lost. We are deeply grateful.

Sincerely yours,
Christine Dykema

ON CASTRO

Stampone in The American Weekend
"I'll come—but not as a tourist."

In the closing months of 1958 Fidel Castro overthrew the dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista in the name of freedom and virtue. Now, one year later, the much feted liberator has turned the island into a land of chaos.

When Castro rode into Havana, six million Cubans cheered his victory over graft and terror. He was a national hero, the man of the hour. But, within a few months the giant image of Castro shrank to normal size and people began to realize that he too is guilty of romantic, shortsighted and sloppy administration.

Yankee-go-home

The most significant event of Castro's regime, to date, has been his drive to sever friendly relations between the United States and Cuba. He has achieved the lone successful Yankee-go-home effort in the unusual political history of the hemisphere. This movement is just what the Kremlin bosses ordered.

For more than a century the United States has sent money, men, ideas and confidence in the future of Latin America. Cuba, being 90 miles away was deeply involved in this policy.

Chaos Inevitable

A certain degree of chaos is to be expected after the fall of a dictatorship, but it had been expected by this time to see evidence of stability. Signs of stability are nowhere in sight. On the contrary, signs of violent opposition are more frequent, with mass arrests taking place at all times. The military tribunals have put more than 500 persons before the firing squads.

Communism

The most disheartening fact about Castro's regime is its vulnerability to Communism. Fidel's younger brother, Raul, Minister of the Armed Forces, holds Communist sympathies. In an interview with Chinese newsmen he extolled admiration for Mao Tse Tung and added that the Chinese and Cubans have a common enemy -- "capitalist imperialists."

The most openly pro-Communist in Castro's regime is 31-year-old Ernesto Guevara who is in charge of Cuba's entire industrial program.

Not Communist Government

It would be erroneous to say that the Castro government is a Communist government. But, it can be said that his government is wide open to infiltration.

It is obvious Castro would never accept Communism himself, his ego would not permit it. Also, he is too nationalistic to subordinate Cuba's interests to Moscow's. But the danger of Communism taking hold is still present, especially in the light of the current economic situation in Cuba. Castro himself has said, "Communism travels on empty bellies."

Americans Leave Cuba

Groups of American tourists, investors, importers and exporters are leaving Cuba by the hundreds. This fact is hurting the Cuban economy. The gambling casinos are now empty and the grand hotel's employees outnumber the guests. Castro did not expect this to happen.

Land-Reform Law

The land-reform law has been Castro's most publicized economic move to date. Its purpose is to redistribute the land of Cuba to every Cuban farmer so that he may have his own land. This is a long term project however and will not be completed until 1965. This land-reform law does not permit foreign investment in the land. Again, U.S. capital is being taken from the Cuban economy.

Castro's ultimate aim is to develop a self-sufficient economy in terms of consumer goods. The United States is to play the role of a major sugar buyer in this new economy.

If Castro is to settle Cuba's problems he will have to take swift measures to halt the country's declining economy; but even this would only be a small step in the drive to solve Cuba's ills.

Record Number Attend United Nations Tour

By Carolee Novicky
(Jambar religion editor)

Forty-six students and instructors participated in this year's New York-United Nations Tour, the fifth of the annual trips sponsored by the chaplains of YU.

Chaperoned by Reverend Albert C. Linder and Father Paul Petric, the group departed Sun. evening, Jan. 24, on the three day excursion.

The Piccadilly Hotel was the base of operations during their stay.

The tour of the United Nations and lower Manhattan started the activities on Monday morning as the group rode the ferry across the Hudson River to the waiting sight-seeing bus. After an extensive ride which included Chinatown and the Bowery, the aggregation was taken on a guided tour of the United Nations Building.

Another feature of the trip was the visit to the Radio City Music Hall which was showing "Never So Few", starring Gina Lollobrigida and Frank Sinatra. Following the film were an organ recital and symphony prelude which preceded the Rockettes in "Holiday Cruise", a succession of acts with travel as the theme. The acts were performed against backgrounds of tropical and Latin American scenes.

This year's group was the first to ice skate at the world-famous rink at Rockefeller Center.

Among the various Broadway shows attended were those which rank as present hits: "Sound of Music", "My Fair Lady", "Music Man", "Flower Drum Song", "Destry Rides Again" and "The Fighting Cock".

Many persons went to one or more of the T.V. shows. Some of those seen were "Jack Parr Show", "Beat the Clock" and "The Price is Right".

Members of the tour were given tickets to the Observation Room of the Empire State Building so that they might go there at their convenience.

The Guggenheim Art Museum, designed by the late Frank Lloyd Wright, contemporary American architect, was visited by many, not only to see the art displays but also to view the unusual architecture of the structure itself.

Famous people met on the tour included the Governor of the Philippines, in a gift shop, Errol Garner, in Birdland, and the Statue of Liberty, in New York Harbor.

Not forgetting food, the group dined at various restaurants which featured French, Italian, German, and Chinese dishes. Members of the trip dined at the Latin Quarter, the Neptune Club, and the famous Automat.

Reverend Linder, who has accompanied all five of the tours, remarked that "It was one big college family of this trip. Furthermore", he stated, "More persons got the experience and knowledge that comes on the U.N. tour because of the Monday morning schedule."

Let's Talk About Clothes

By Pat McCarren

Never before has there been so much excitement, interest or controversy concerning the American male's wardrobe as there is today. The 1960 fashions in Strouss' Young Men's Department have the spirit of change, of travel and of adventure. They are a combination of the best of all the cuts, the fabrics, the colors, the comfort, finished in a smart style known as the Continental.

The Continental sport coats are tailored in such a way as to slightly broaden the shoulders and narrow the waistline. The front of the coat is cut away and the overall length of the coat is shorter to increase the appearance of height of the wearer.

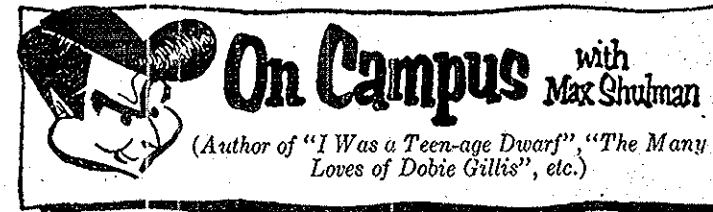

Now in Strouss' Young Men's Department we have the new Continental sport coats for Spring and Summer. The big colors for this year are the burnished tones, in copper, brass, brown and olive. These shades come in solids, checks and plaids, including the popular Glenplaid. One example is a coat predominantly grey and charcoal black with a trace of olive in a Glenplaid pattern.

Another coat is in a check pattern with burnished tones of amber, brown and olive. These are only two of the many sharp Continental sport coats in the Savile Row line at Strouss'.

We also have Continental slacks by Meyer to complement these fine coats and make you one of the best-dressed men in town. So come into Strouss' Young Men's Department soon and see now the clothes for this coming Spring and Summer.

THREE WHO PASSED IN THE NIGHT

Last year, as everyone knows, 1,210,614 undergraduates dropped out of college. 256,080 flunked; 309,656 got married; 375,621 ran out of money; and 309,254 found jobs. As you have, of course, observed, this accounts for only 1,210,611 out of 1,210,614. What happened to the other three?

Well sir, to find the answer, I recently completed a tour of American campuses where I interviewed 40 million students and sold several subscriptions to The Open Road for Boys, and it pleases me to report that I can now account for those three elusive undergraduates.

The first was an LSU junior named Fred Gaugin. He was extremely popular, always ready with a smile, fond of folk dancing and pralines, and last semester his Chi Psi brothers unanimously elected him treasurer of the fraternity. This proved an error. Gaugin, alas, promptly absconded with the money and went to Tahiti to paint. The fraternity is bending every effort to extradite Gaugin, but Tahiti, alas, is currently observing the feast of Diphthong, the Sun-God, a five-year ceremony during which all the islanders wear masks, so nobody, alas, can say for certain which one is Gaugin.

Nobody can say for certain which one is Gaugin!

The second missing undergraduate is William Cullen Sigafoos, Oregon State freshman, who went one day last fall to a disreputable vendor named A. M. Sashweight to buy a pack of Marlboros. Mr. Sashweight did not have any Marlboros because Marlboros are only sold by reputable vendors. However, he told Sigafoos that he had another brand which was just as good, and Sigafoos, being but an innocent freshman, believed him.

Well sir, you and I know there is no other brand as good as Marlboros. That fine filter, that flavorful flavor, that pleasure, that joy, that fulfillment—are Marlboro's and Marlboro's alone. All of this was quickly apparent to young Sigafoos and he flew into a terrible rage. "As good as Marlboros indeed!" he shrieked, kicking his roommate furiously. "I am going right back to that mendacious Mr. Sashweight and give him a thrashing he won't soon forget!" With that he seized his lacrosse bat and rushed out.

Mr. Sashweight heard him coming and started running. Now Mr. Sashweight, before he became a disreputable vendor, had taken numerous prizes as a cross-country runner, and he thought he would soon outdistance young Sigafoos. But he reckoned without Sigafoos's stick-to-itiveness. At last report the two of them had passed Cleveland. When they reach the Atlantic Seaboard, bad Mr. Sashweight will get his lumps from Sigafoos, you may be sure, and I, for one, am glad.

The third missing undergraduate, also named Sigafoos, is a Bennington sophomore named Celeste Sigafoos and, ironically, she never intended to leave college at all. She was merely going home for Christmas on the Natchez, Mobile, and Boise Railroad, and during the night, alas, her upper berth slammed shut on her. Being a Bennington girl, she naturally did not wish to make an unseemly outcry, so she just kept silent. The next morning, alas, the railroad went bankrupt, and Miss Sigafoos today is lying forgotten on a siding near Valparaiso, Indiana. Fortunately she has plenty of Marlboros with her.

© 1960 Max Shulman

And how about the rest of you? Do you have plenty of Marlboros? Or if you like mildness but you don't like filters, plenty of Philip Morris? Hmm? Do you?

Looking Y Around...

by Blase DeLeo & Pat McCarren

Chalk one up for our side .... the power of the press has once again been proven. The school finally came through with a "Slow Pedestrians Walking" sign on the driveway near the Library.

The ROTCmen have expressed a sincere wish to all their friends? of the back-slapping variety. It seems that this is the season for getting shots for summer camp and their arms are sore enough without those punches and slaps on the arm.

We note that the Science Building has received some new equipment. The YU chapter of Sidewalk Superintendents directed the unloading ceremonies from the steps of the Library. Whatever the monster was (we still don't know) it is hoped that the Science Building crew has a cop strong enough to keep it in check.

FENDER BENDERS

Latest news from the Fender-Bender Dept. Someone moving a car out of the parking lot next to the Library couldn't find the brake pedal and stopped it against two other cars. The damage wasn't too bad until three zealous students started jumping on the cars to separate them. Anyone know a good junk yard?

Have you seen the bulletin board outside the Bookstore? One notice states; "For sale-Chemistry book-absolutely new - never used." You say you flagged the course Bunky?

There must have been a run on the stores for hair coloring preparations between semesters. There are not 100 new females on campus boys, only the hair colors are new.

Registration this semester seemed to go fairly well, except at the end of the line. You had to wait to pay your money. It's bad enough to have to pay, but it's easier to part with it quickly rather than wait.

Our thanks to Bob Renner for the little bit of art work heading this column.

Looking for some type of snap course? Just check the classes that the Greeks are all fighting to get into. It seems to follow right through that they can spot one a mile away.

OPENED THE WINDOW AND IN-FLU-ENZA

Has anyone else comedown with a case of Spring Fever yet? With a few days with the temperature about 40 degrees, everyone is running around in light coats and putting down their convertible tops. See you at the drug store for flu medicine.

The Bookstore is selling notebooks imprinted with the symbol of Collingwood High School. Yea Cleveland!! How did that happen? Did someone in the Bookstore inherit these books?

A final word to Margie Beherens - let's try to stay awake in History class, HUH?

Phi Sig's Elect Moonlight Girl

Miss Elizabeth Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Ford, 329 Prescott St., Hubbard, has been named the 1960 Moonlight Girl of Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity of Youngstown University. The announcement was made at the fraternity's dinner dance held Saturday, Feb. 6, at the Pick-Ohio Hotel.

Miss Ford, a freshman at Youngstown University majoring in elementary education, received a gift from the fraternity and was presented a sister pin by William Horne, Chapter President. Gifts were presented to her attendants, Miss Helene Blasko, and Miss Patty Manilla, who are also freshmen majoring in education.

The brothers of Phi Sigma Kappa selected Miss Ford and her two attendants from a group of fifteen possible freshmen candidates, and have entered her in the competition for National Moonlight Girl.

Miss Ford, a graduate of Ursuline High School in 1959, is a member of Newman Club of Youngstown University and plays both the piano and organ.

She chooses cooking, sewing, swimming and skating as her favorite hobbies. She plans to teach in the elementary schools.

Blase DeLeo and Bill Horne served as chairmen for the dinner dance, and John Klepic and Paul Spangler headed the Moonlight Girl selection.

Which One Will Go to College?

They're bright kids. Many of them are qualified for a college education. Unfortunately some of them may be turned away.

Why? Many of our colleges are overcrowded today. By 1967, when these youngsters are ready to enter, applications are expected to double. On top of that, low salaries are forcing too many gifted teachers to leave the campus for greener pastures.

It's not a very bright picture. Something must be done to change it before it's too late. Help the college of your choice today. The rewards will be greater than you think.

Baker Lists Determination As Focal Point In Majors

By Rich Passan
(Jambar sports editor)

As new sports editor of the JAMBAR, I am going to offer you, the reader, comprehensive and up-to-date information and newsworthy items every week.

The accent will be on Youngstown University sports but the national will be dealt with both editorially and in features.

One week ago Wednesday I attended a showing of a film of the 1959 World Series at the Jewish Community Center.

Some 150 people heard Floyd Baker, former major League infielder, speak. Baker pointed out that determination and the will to win is essential for a young boy who has ambitions for big league baseball.

Baker, who played for the now defunct St. Louis Browns, Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox, was in the majors for 11 years.

NAMES SPORTS THRILLS

Among his sport thrills are the two home runs he hit and his appearance in the 1944 World Series with the St. Louis Browns.

At the present time Baker is employed by the Washington Senators of the American League as a local scout. He was responsible for signing former Boardman baseball ace, Lamar Jacobs to a $30,000 bonus contract.

A question and answer period followed with the light falling on the 1960 American League Pennant race.

According to Baker, it will be a fight between New York, Chicago and Cleveland. He stated that Cleveland's acquisition of Johnny Temple and Chicago's pick-up of Gene Freese strengthened both teams and might decide the ultimate winner. He also said that the Yankees bear watching. It's very rare that they have two bad seasons in a row.

BASKETBALL

Turning to basketball, the Y.U. five has seen limited action the past few weeks due to finals. Five games were played with the Penguins winning two while dropping three.

After two straight upset victories over Steubenville and Kent State, the locals traveled to Berea, Ohio to battle the Baldwin Wallace Yellowjackets on Sat. Jan. 16. The Penguins came out on top by a score of 67-60.

With captain Mickey Yugovich, drilling 28 points through the hoop, Youngstown quickly broke out in front and virtually led all the way. Howie McElroy chipped in with 14 points. It marked the seventh straight victory for the Penguins over the 'Jackets.

The friendly confines of South Field House was the site for the battle between the Penguin five and the Wildcats of Kentucky Wesleyan.

The Penguins were riding high on a five game winning streak and an eight game home skein entering the game. The Wesleyan attack featured All-American Kelly Coleman and a devastating fast break. Coleman lived up to advanced notices by pumping in 31 points, mostly on one hand jump shots.

Wesleyan opened up an early 7-0 lead and led throughout the contest. The Penguins never did overcome this seven point bulge. The final score was 81-72 with Mickey Yugovich pacing the losers with 28 points. Howie McElroy contributed 16 markers, 14 of them in the final 10 minutes. 2700 fans, the largest crowd of the year, looked on as the Penguins went down to defeat.

MET TENNESSEE A & I TIGERS

With their record standing at 9-6, the basketeers flew down to Nashville, Tenn. to take on the reigning National N.A.I.A. champs, the Tennessee State A & I Tigers.

Utilizing a fast break with plenty of height, Coach Howard Hunter's crew led by Ben Warley, Porter Meriweather and Eugene Werts, overwhelmed the Penguins 104-76. With this game, soph. Jerry Fitzpatrick, from New Castle Pa., became eligible.

On Feb. 1, Alliance College of Cambridge Springs, Pa. supplied the opposition at the Field House. They turned out to be more formidable than expected. The final outcome showed Alliance a narrow 60-58 victor. It marked the first time in five years that the Cambridge Springs cagers had been able to defeat Y.U. Little Ray Malejko took individual scoring honors, registering 20 points for the winners. Big Charley Day led the Penguins in scoring with 12 markers followed by Mickey Yugovich with 11 and Jerry Fitzpatrick who had 10.

After three straight setbacks, the Penguins journeyed down to Marietta to tangle with the Marietta Pioneers.

Led by Howie McElroy, former South High star who scored 20 points, the "Big Red" jumped out to an early lead and held on to a scant lead, widened the gap and won 61-50, snapping their losing streak.

Freshman John Mihalenko, former Campbell Memorial athlete, starting his first game for the Penguins, was assigned the difficult task of guarding Carl Wolfe, the Ohio Conference's leading scorer with a 29 point average. Big John checked Wolfe with 12 tallies while bagging the same number for himself.

Frosh Cage Squad Shows Much Promise; Predict Big Things for Yearlings

By Pete Arlow
(Jambar sports writer)

This year's cage team has a real good crop of freshman ball players dribbling around.

Coach Frank Guarnatis' yearling team has a fine record of 10 wins and 3 losses. The team has good height and all the starters can score in the double digits when turned loose.

Jack Tupper at 6-5 is very potent under the boards and does a good job of rebounding. Bill Wolf 6-2 former Liberty High ace is a fine outside shot, especially with a deadly one hander. Campbell's John Mihalenko is a defensive standout and possesses a fine jump shot. Tony Pero of Meadville at 6-2 is a clever ball handler and a steady performer on the floor. Bob Dougherty of Goshen Union fame uses his 6-4 frame to good advantage in pulling them off the boards and also chips in with points when called upon.

The squad also has 6-4 Rich Nagy of Brookfield, 6 foot Marty Pesut of Youngstown, Chaney and 6-3 Tom Getch of Austintown Pitch. All can be depended upon in a clutch situation. With this healthy crop of frosh floating around, Youngstown should have a top notch varsity next year.

From Here and There

It's really disheartening to sit at Y.U. cage contests and listen to the isolated cheers of a few students. The school spirit at Youngstown is definitely lackluster and is not a good reflection on the school or its student body.

Attempts at organizing the student body have proved futile -- mainly because of the absence of student cooperation. Almost every college seems to display school spirit -- especially toward athletics but at Youngstown the lack of it is the exception rather than the rule.

At the recent Coaches' Convention in New York City, Coach "Dike" Beede failed to add any new games for upcoming 1960 campaign. As of now there are eight teams who remain from the '59 schedule except for Ohio University and Tennessee A&I who have been dropped. Coach Beede hopes to possibly get another game or two before the start of the campaign.

The Intramural Basketball League is in full swing with a 32 team field comprising four different leagues. This is Commissioner Georges and his capable crew of assistants. This is Georges' second straight year as director of the intramurals. All games are played at Covington school and there is always plenty of action.

NOSMO KING

Campus Philosopher

by Frank Court

Let us begin the second semester by resolving to study harder and forget old grievances. As college students, we are fortunate because each semester gives us the opportunity to cast aside the previous semesters' failures and differences and start anew to fight and flunk all over again.

But what of the people who don't forget old grievances? What of the people who don't begin each semester anew? Are we to stand by and watch them destroy themselves and possibly their school? This depressing situation must be averted but what is the solution?

Herming's Predicament

Nosmo King recalls a sad plight that took place in the bleak, fungus covered walls of old Nuttsta U., Nosmo's Alma Mater. It concerned a confused student, named Herming Ernesthog, who never learned to begin anew. His was a bewildering predicament common to many students in many universities.

Outwardly, he gave the deceiving appearance of a quiet, soft spoken, mild mannered character but when his temper unleashed he became an angry, accusing, irrational nut who lost all faculties of reason and hating everyone would retreat to his room where for days he would remain alone growing mushrooms in the bath tub.

For some reason, Herming thought himself better than the other students at Nuttsta U. It was true that his parents were fixed very well financially. It was also true that Herming was known to be quite a master at the art of self defense. Herming Ernesthog had muscles of rock and steel with brains to match. He possessed all the attributes of a potential social climber, except for one short-coming -- Herming couldn't get along with people and hadn't learned to start each semester anew.

Bury the Students

As the semesters passed, Herming, instead of forgiving small differences, became more hateful toward students and organizations on campus. When asked to change his outlook on life and to make an effort to live like other students as a real honest-to-goodness, ice cream licking, spit ball shooting, poker playing, class cutting, down to earth college man, Herming would reply with an insidious cackle, "that if the rest of the student body was so down to EARTH then someone should BURY them."

Herming didn't change. As the years passed he grew worse. The final tragedy of his life as a student at Nuttsta U. occurred when he returned to school to begin the second semester of his junior year. As usual, he brought his grievances with him and when his old enemies approached with thoughts of reconciliation, he spurned and ignored them.

Anger Breeds Trouble

Herming was in need of a room to rent. He had been thrown out of his last place of residence after the holiday season for hanging his stocking on the television set. The landlady didn't mind the hole in the T.V. set but when she found out that the stocking Herming hung was a salami casing she became disturbed and had him evicted.

For days he hunted a room to live in. Finally, he rented one in a boarding house that advertised a desk and complete volume of encyclopedias in every room. It was true. The only catch was that he had to go out and buy a bed. Insane with anger, he returned and pushed the landlady down the steps.

If only he had learned to begin each semester anew, Herming might have been able to control his anger. Who knows, he might even have been a professional college boy. The demand is growing.

mind for a solution is not known, but stricter supervision by students, faculty and possibly the local Gendarmes is alleged.

LaLama's third point was concerned with the establishment of an honor system at Y.U. This matter has been raked over the coals for quite a while without any suitable solution being found. This semester, however, may find an answer to the honor problem. It appears that the biggest question to be answered is whether or not the students will follow the honor system if it is introduced at Youngstown.

Anyway, the task of checking into the matter of the honor system was dropped into the laps of Carole Albright and Frank Court, representatives of the National Student Assn.

The fact that it's almost impossible to contact anyone on campus in case of an emergency (or other circumstances for that matter) led Bob Steiskal, Jambar student council reporter, will travel to Notre Dame University at South Bend, Ind. to cover the convention of National Student Association. The convention will be held Fri. and Sat., Feb. 12 and 13. International Student Relations will be the main topic discussed.

LaLama to inject the matter of inter-campus communication into his four points. Council is now searching for a solution to this problem, along with the others.

Queens Here to Stay

Well, it looks like the "queens" are here to stay. Official results of the balloting for or against the various queens on campus resulted in an overwhelming victory for the queens.

Only 19 students voted in favor of abolishing the Homecoming Queen. Although the ballots cast for the extermination of the May Day and Junior Prom queens was heavier, 575 students voted to retain all three of the monarchs. Actually the whole question of abolishing one of these three queens was silly. Why wipe out what tradition Y.U. has?

Although student council has the final decision in the problem of the queens, it is doubtful that they will

Lt. Ruth Raines To Speak Feb. 16

Lt. Ruth Raines of the Woman's Army Corps Cleveland barracks, will speak in the Audio Visual Room of the library, on Feb. 16 at 1:30 p.m. to the co-eds of Youngstown University.

Lt. Raines will speak on the topic: "Women's careers in the service". Her talk will be followed by a 20 minute movie entitled "Executive Wanted".

A graduate of Drake University, Lt. Raines has served in the WACS four years where she is a teacher.

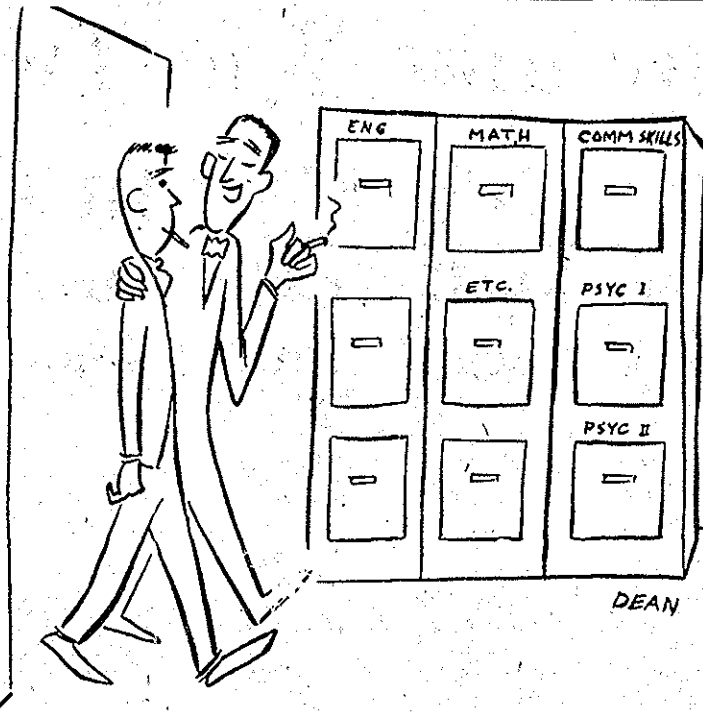

rule against the wishes of the student body.

An interesting experiment will be conducted this week. A member of student council will be on duty in Dean McCarty's office from 12 to 2 p.m. on Mon., Wed. and Fri. and from 1 to 2 p.m. on Tues. and Thurs. to answer any questions that the student body might have concerning council or its objectives.

When asked about the condition of student council this semester LaLama replied, "we are very strong in all committees and the council is filled with aggressive and experienced people".

Council has procured the Idora Park Ballroom for next year's Homecoming dance and Snowflake Frolic. The dates of these events will be announced at a future date.

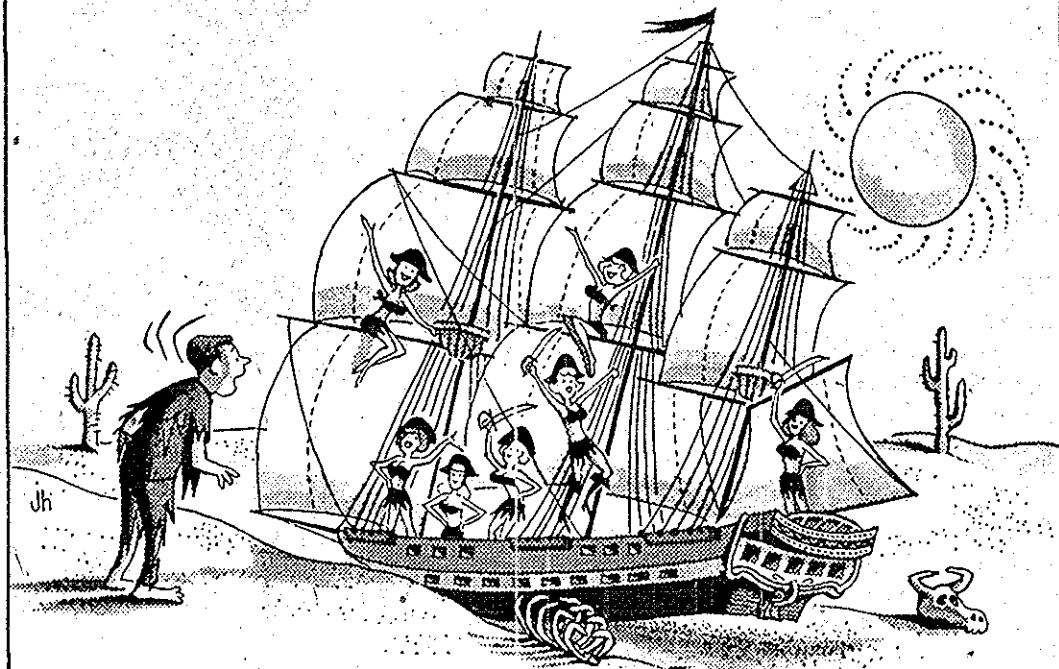

Student Council appointed Frank Court to travel to South Bend, Ind. to represent Y.U. at the National Student Assn. regional convention. Dave Clark, former student council member at Youngstown is the Director of International Affairs for the N.S.A.
