Five students hurt in ESB explosions

by George Denney

Five YSU students were injured yesterday in two separate explosions in the Engineering & Science Building basement. YSU security and safety forces are currently investigating the causes of the incidents which occurred within hours of each other.

All five of the students have been released from the hospital. YSU Security Director Phil Hirsch said, "The students are doing well. We do not believe there is any indication of a crime."

The first explosion occurred at 10:40 a.m. in Room 23. The cause of the explosion was due to a malfunction of the heat exchanger. The explosion damaged the ceiling and created a fire.

The second explosion occurred at 2:30 p.m. in Room 24. The cause of the explosion was due to a malfunction of the heat exchanger. The explosion damaged the ceiling and created a fire.

The YSU Police Department and the Youngstown Fire Department are currently investigating the incidents to determine the cause.

Chairman of the Interfraternity Council John Turkiewicz said that "YSU security and safety forces are currently investigating the causes of the incidents which occurred within hours of each other."

According to Donald Minnis, the University cannot force anyone to comply with a request to use the street level exit. He said that because of this design, the University was bound to entice "diehards" that would cross Wick Avenue.

The University can do nothing about the problem though. According to Donald Minnis, the University cannot force anyone to comply with a request to use the street level exit.

The street level exit is located on the second floor of the Engineering & Science Building. It is designed to direct people to use the street level exit.

The University has established a committee to investigate the problem. The committee will meet with the University to discuss the problem.

Continuing dilemma

Once again, YSU is faced with a difficult problem. Not so long ago the problem was parking, or to be more precise, the lack of parking facilities. But then the University built the Wick parking deck and that solved the problem.

Also, the University noticed that too many people were cutting across Wick Avenue and not using the crosswalks. (Or perhaps they even anticipated the problem.) So the University built a pedestrian bridge.

But now the University has realized that some people do not wish to use the pedestrian bridge. It is far too inconvenient for them. The University is faced with a dilemma. It cannot force anyone to use the pedestrian bridge. It cannot turn to the police department for help. YPU has a "hick of manpower." (No doubt that traffic officers are far too busy ticketing parked cars which, by the way, are far more likely to jump out in the street and cause an accident.)

But the University is very clever. It is going to utilize "an attractive landscaping barrier," which translated means that it is going to line the University side of Wick Avenue with shrubs and the like in the hope that people will not jump over them. Very clever indeed.

As a matter of fact, the "landscaping barrier" idea is probably going to be far more effective than any, petitioning the city for a traffic light to be placed at the entrance to the dock or even a pedestrian crosswalk.

Lauds Koury's inflation battle

To the Editor of the Jambar

Our country must not lose economic liberties. If we have remained under our country this will wake everyone in other countries to realize that.

We must remain on our own ship and not as a satisfied people. There are tough times which we have not seen the worst of. The YSU student body, facility and surrounding community must realize that the cost of living, especially over the past few years, has skyrocketed, with unemployment and inflation has increased. In the past year alone inflation has been more than 12 percent. The result of high inflation has caused rising prices, insecurity of the dollar, irregular bank rates and increased dúvida de leis de big business involving is high unemployment.

It is important that Student Government shows leadership and justification of its spendings by maintaining the best atmosphere for the YSU community.

President of Student Government Tony Koury has shown this leadership.

Koury stated that if he was reduced in presence of Student Government he would turn down proposed 80 percent increase for his position. He is presently receiving a 1/2 scholarship of $2,200 for fall, spring and summer quarter $70.80. In addition he receives a 2 scholarship of $441 in summer.

As Representative at Large on Student Council I have watched Koury's hard work and dedication for the student. Through the summer and regular school year he could be found in his office doing paper work, selling with

Dismayed by previous inaccuracies

To the Editor of the Jambar

The letter to the Jambar dated Feb. 26, from Thomas E. Ferguson, auditor of the state of Ohio, which letter was published in the Jambar Feb. 29, seems to be worthy of my attention.

I am dismayed at the inaccuracies involved in the letter to the Editor by Judge Charles B. Ferguson. It cannot force anyone to use the pedestrian bridge for those people. The University is faced with a dilemma. It cannot force anyone to use the pedestrian bridge. It cannot turn to the police department for help. YPU has a "hick of manpower." presenting an obstruction to the flow of Wick Avenue traffic. According to Sergeant Duvall, it is "a lack of manpower" which stops the department from enforcing the ad but currentjaywalking laws.

Because of the "lack of manpower," Duvall further explained, "It would take a tragedy or a near tragedy to focus any attention on this problem."

According to Minnis, though, the University may have a plan to put at least a partial end to this problem. He said the University is planning to use "an attractive landscaping barrier" to discourage people from crossing Wick Avenue.

Minnis said that one time the University considered installing a fence to run along the University side of Wick Avenue to either crosswalk. He said that this plan was abandoned in favor of planting the most attractive shrubs along the sidewalk.

Minnis added, however, that this will not stop all people from crossing the street and then walking along the sidewalk, but said it may have some effect. In the meantime, nothing can or will be done to prevent those who utilize the Wick parking deck from crossing Wick Avenue wherever they please.

specifically prohibiting the expenditures complained of by the state auditor. The expenditures, however, were made without discretion by the Board of Trustees. I understand that since the rendition of Bannon's decision authorizing the expenditures complained of by the state auditor, the state legislature has enacted legislation prohibiting some of the expenditures complained of.

It is interesting to note that the expenditures complained of have been made continuously since the University became a state institution. The previous state auditor approved these expenditures in his previous reports.

I personally feel that had Ferguson taken the time to become fully acquainted with what transpired in Bannon's court room he would not have written the letter and that he owes the Board of Trustees and the president an apology.

"I began taking ROTC courses two years ago because they sounded challenging and I like a challenge. The captivating and worthwhile classes were really a lot of fun. I also made a lot of new friends in the ROTC program.

I decided to stay with the ROTC program because I really want to be an officer. The Army offers so many options. There are so many things that you can do as an Army officer; not like most of the jobs available to women."

Penguins take two from Geneva then get bombed by Cleveland St.

by Ron Anderson

The YSU baseball team notched its fourth and fifth wins of the season in a Saturday doubleheader with Geneva College, before dropping its second game of the season yesterday to Cleveland State.

In Saturday's twinbill against Geneva, good pitching and timely hitting keyed a pair of Penguin victories.

In the first game, freshman pitcher George Vuckovich went the distance for YSU, allowing just two runs on three hits and eight walks while striking out nine Geneva batters.

Dave Zeigler put on a hitting show with his 3-for-4 performance, including a home run, a double, two runs scored, and three runs batted in.

Bob Gardner and Bill Hardy both went 2-for-3 with Gardner driving in one run and Hardy scoring once.

The Penguins piled up the runs early by scoring twice in the first with Mike Nittoli and Gardner driving in the runs, and tallied three more in the second. Scott Ross, Dave Ziegler and Zeigler drove home the runs.

Yesterday's game with Cleveland State was tough to swallow with the YSU pitching corps absorbing a 19-4 loss.

Over the last two innings, Schlarb allowed one hit and one run while pitching a pair of innings.

The hitting attack for the Penguins was sparse as they managed only eight hits off of the two pitchers who worked for Cleveland State. Bill Hardy was 2-for-4 with a double and a run scored along with an RBI. Jim Pallanty had a 2-for-4 day including a double and a run scored. Mike Nittoli homered to lead the Penguins in runs with two.
