Dear Professor Domonkos,

Further to my previous letter, I have now finalised my itinerary and the dates have somewhat changed. I now expect to be in Youngstown from February 27 until March 2 and the best date for a lecture at your esteemed University would be Thursday, February 28.

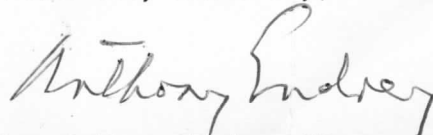

I sincerely hope that the suggested date is convenient for you and that it will be possible for me to give a talk at your University on that day.

I take this opportunity to seek your assistance in a different matter as well. The Hungarian Institute of Melbourne which is functioning under the auspices of the Hungarian Cultural Council of Australia (of which I am Chairman) and is an independent teaching and research organisation recognised by the Australian Government, is planning to publish a journal devoted to Hungarian studies and problems of the Carpathian Basin. The title of the journal will be The Carpathian and it will be published half-yearly at the beginning. It will be entirely in the English language as our objective is to reach academic circles in the English-speaking world.

We would be most grateful if you would honour us with a contribution for our first issue which we expect to bring out in about May next year. Your article, if you are willing to assist us in this way, could take up to 12-15 typewritten pages (double spacing) and it would be quite sufficient if you gave it to me when I am in Youngstown in February.

Hoping for your favourable reply regarding both matters and with best wishes for Christmas and the New Year, I remain

Yours very sincerely,

Dr. Anthony Endrey QC

Dear Professor Domonkos,

I wish to thank you most sincerely for your very kind letter of February 17, 1984 and sincerely apologize for the long delay in my reply.

In the interim period, I was endeavouring to organize a lecture tour in the U.S.A. and Canada during the northern fall but was unsuccessful because the time did not suit certain universities and some Hungarian communities.

I am now planning to undertake a lecture tour in February and March 1985 and should be grateful if you would indicate whether a date early in March would be convenient to you.

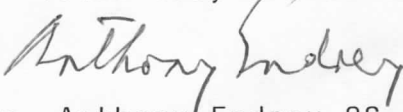

As previously mentioned, the title of my lecture is The Carpathian Basin: its history and future.

I sincerely hope that it will be possible for me to lecture at your University and that we will have the opportunity to meet in person.

Incidentally, I am also one of Professor Asztrik Gabriel's "breed": he was my form master at Gödöllő.

Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain

Yours very sincerely,

Dear Dr. Domonkos:

You are invited to attend an Awards Dinner for Faculty and Professional/Administrative staff on Friday, June 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Chestnut Room of Kilcawley Center. There will be a social hour at 6:30 p.m. in the Ohio Room.

As a faculty member who has completed twenty or more years of University service, we would like to have you attend the dinner as a guest of the University; we will have a presentation for you at the dinner in recognition of your service to the University.

If you will be able to attend this dinner, please complete the enclosed reservation form and return it to Thomas J. Kane, Director of Payroll and Fringe Benefits, by Friday, June 1.

Your spouse or guest is also invited. However, because the University is not permitted to pay the cost of dinners for non-staff members, the cost for your spouse or guest will be $10.

I hope to see you on June 8.

Regards,

Neil D. Humphrey

Dear Les,

Many thanks! I have a similar article in German that I'm in the middle of translating! It may be close to the same.

This is familiar with the New Hungarian Quarterly but hadn't seen it lately. Thanks so much! This will be very useful!!! I've heard about the new trio from Ligeti himself and from Swedish musicologist ove Nordvall. Thanks again!
All the best! — Robert Rollin

Kedves Professzor Ur!

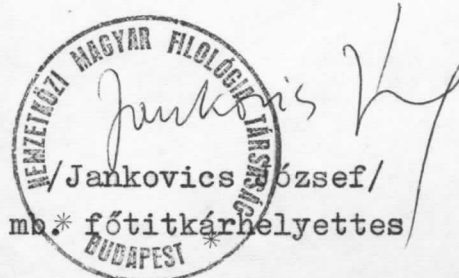

Klaniczay Tibortól örömmel értesültem arról, hogy amerikai látogatásom során esetleg Önöknél is tarthatnék előadást. Köszönöm a kitüntető alkalmat, s noha járatlan vagyok még az angol előadásokban, ezzel a címmel írtam meg előadásomat:

Az angol egyetemek hatása a XVII. századi magyar szellemi életre.

Természetesen, ez csak munkacím, még változtathatunk rajta.

Sajnos, még az utazásom minden részletével magam sem vagyok tisztában, így azt javaslom, hogy ha találkozzhatunk a Columbus-i - AHEA - konferencián, mely május 3. és 6. között lesz, ott a részleteket megtárgyalhatjuk. Jelzem: még elképzelhető, hogy én objektív okok miatt nem tudok jelen lenni.

Meghívásáért ezúttal is köszönetet mondok, s a viszontlátásig szívélyesen üdvözlöm

mb. * főtitkárhelyettes

Ps.: Amennyiben az előadásra sor kerülhet, annak közvetlenül a columbusi konferencia után kellene lennie.

Recalling your presentation here at Cleveland State last May, I thought that perhaps you might be interested in Dr. Szonyi's presentation here this May. If your colleagues in Modern Languages or the English Departments might also be interested, I would appreciate your passing along the word. When more specific times and dates have been set for his lectures in Cleveland, I'll see that information is sent to you.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The International Commission for the History of Universities will hold a meeting under the presidency of Astrik L. Gabriel at Stuttgart on August 27-28, 1985, during the Sixteenth International Congress of Historical Sciences. Thirty scholars from many nations will present papers in six sessions on the general theme, "Careers at Universities: Individual Cases and Collective Profiles." The North American participants and their topics are Professor Gabriel, "German Proctors, Receptors, and Reformators in the English-German Nation of the University of Paris, 1495-1525"; Leslie S. Domonkos of Youngstown State University, "Robert Hutchins of the University of Chicago in Pursuit of the Ideal University"; James S. Hockley of Canada, "Scholars and Schools: Censors in a Humanistic University"; and William Bruneau, also of Canada, "Philosophical Stones and Political Mortar: Louis Liard and the French University System, 1884-1917." Among the European participants may be noted Jan Roegiers of the Catholic University of Louvain, who will speak on "La position et le rôle des professeurs louvanistes au sein de l'Église et de l'État (1425-1797)." Resumés of the papers will be published. Copies of the complete program may be obtained from the headquarters of the International Commission, which are located at the University of Notre Dame, Post Office Box 578, Notre Dame, Indiana 46556; telephone: 219-239-5076.

Mellékelek még két tanulmányt: Somogyi Ferencét és Jerzy Kłoczowskiét. Az utóbbit végülis Paul Knoll fejezte be, miután Szendrey barátunk két évig hitegetett, hogy elintézi a fordítást.

Nagyon remélem, hogy szeptember elejére be tudod fejezni az anyagot, s azt követően összeülhetünk. Ugyanis ha az ősz első felében nem tudjuk leadni a kéziratot, akkor kimarad a Columbia University 1985-os katalógusából.

To all contributors of the
Louis the Great Memorial Volume

Dear ~~Colleague~~:

Kedves Leve!

The final editing process of the proposed memorial volume to honor King Louis the Great is now under way. The reasons for this unexpected delay were the following: 1. The difficulties we encountered in having some of the Slavic and Hungarian language studies translated in light of the fact that our budget did not have any funds for translations. 2. The refusal of some of our prospective contributors to submit their studies for the projected deadlines. I might add that we are still missing four of the listed studies, and unless we receive them by April of this year, we will be compelled to leave them out.

Please check the titles of your studies and your institutional affiliations, and if there are changes to be made, please inform me accordingly. I might add that, in accordance with American scholarly traditions, we do not list professional titles and offices next to an author's name. But we intend to include a few lines about each of the authors, editors and translators in the volume. Please send us a descriptive page or curriculum vitae about your background, education, degrees, professional affiliations (e.g. universities, research institutes, libraries, etc.), and list the most significant of your major publications.

I would also like to inform you that, in order to speed up the editing process, Professor Leslie S. Domonkos of Youngstown State University has joined the ranks of the editors of this volume.

Hoping for a quick response and for the receipt of the remaining studies, I am

Sincerely yours,

Dear Erika és László,

I don't know if you noticed yet, but Yours Truly is a featured cartoonist and Art Director of this magazine.

I've had a great time working on this premier issue of STING! and at this point we are mounting a nationwide subscription drive. I selected you as someone who might enjoy the kind of material we will include in STING and am hoping that you will respond with your subscription today.

We would also appreciate your comments. Don't worry about offending me - we've had enough arguments here over what's included, that, believe me, I've heard it all. We just want to know if you like the cartoons, articles, general layout and the concept of a magazine like STING.

We would also like to invite your contributions. If you or anyone you know is a writer of humorous articles or if you have run across something that you'd like to share, please submit it to us for possible publication.

Thanks for reading STING! We hope we've made you laugh!

Kedve Lacikám!

Tudom, hogy a Nagy Lajos-féle kötet tanulmányait már megkaptad, s feltehetően azóta már dologozol is rajtuk, miközben a saját tanulmányodat készíted.

Most csupán azt szeretném jelezni, hogy Somogyi Feri bátyánk is beszáll egy tanulmánnyal a Pécsi Egyetmmel kapcsolatban. Mint tudod ez neki az alma mater-e, s ezzel kapcsolatban már több tanulmányt írt. Eppen ezért jó lenne, ha elküldenéd neki az ezzel kapcsolatos tanulmányaid másolatát, hogy a jegyzetekbe azokat is mind bevegye. A Király-Festschrift már meg van neki, s így tehát az ott megjelent tanulmányod is. Azonban nem tudom, hogy a többit ismeri-e. Talán az is jó lenne, ha a jelen kötet részére készülő tanulmányod szövegét is elküldenéd neki.

Ugyancsak jelzem, hogy a k.b. két évvel ezelőtt meghirdetett Somogyi-Festschrift gondolatát felújítottuk, s majd ezzel kapcsolatban is kapsz egy körlevelet a közeljövőben.

Mi van Hunyadi kötetteddel. Remélem, hogy már nagyrészt túl vagy rajta, s hogy az is lassan kijöyőfélben van. Held Józsa említette, hogy most már ő is befejezte a Hunyadi Janos kéziratát, s most néz kiadó után.

Majd jelezd, hogy miként haladsz a tanulmányokkal. En pedig mindjárt küldöm hozzád az újabb tanulmányok másolatát, ha azok közül valamelyik befut időben. Meg hiányzik a Tieden kívül három, illetve most Somogyiéval együtt négy. De a határidőn túl most már nem varunk senkire.

Majd elfelejtettem, hogy Somogyi Feri bátyánk szintén elvállalta az 1351-es dekretum szövegének a lefordítását. En elküldtem neki mind a latin szöveget, mind pedig annak két magyar fordítását. Az angol fordításban feltehetően majd Lél fia is segít neki. Úgy gondolom, hogy jó lenne lehozni a kötetben mind az eredeti latint, mind pedig az angol fordítást.

Borítsappal ölellek

u.i. Mellékelem Knoll kolégánk hozzám írt levelének másolatát, mivel az Reád nézve igen kedvező kitétel tartalmaz. Majd elküldöm neki a Kloczowski-féle tanulmány fordítását átadásra. Sajnos eddig még mindig nem érkezett meg Szendrey Tamástól, aki Magyarországon gépeli.

u.i. Megjött Scamson tanulmánya. Azonnal küldöm.

A mellékelt leírásban szereplő Bölöni Farkas Sándor kiállítás ("display") októbertől kezdve kölcsönkérhető a kongresszusi könyvtártól. Természetesen nem az eredetileg kiállított tárgyakat (könyvek, cikkek, képek stb.), hanem azok másolatát küldenék el az ezt igénylő egyetemi könyvtáraknak. Augusztus 31-én láttam a kiállítást és rendkívül alkalmasnak tartom mind amerikai, mind magyar történelemmel és politikával (esetleg földrajzzal, vagy ethnográfiával) foglalkozó egyetemi kurzusok illusztrálására.

Bővebb felvilágosítást Bakó Elemér ad (Finno-Ugrian Specialist, European Division, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C. 20540).

MoneyMatters

September, 1984
Office Hours: Mon.-Fri. 10-4

While admitting that our style and content may not quite match that of the more famous financial gurus of the media (Sylvia Porter, Howard Ruff, etc.) we nevertheless feel confident that the financial services offered by the YSU-FCU are impressive and should be more widely advertised to our campus community. Thus, this reaches you as the first of a series of one page newsletters in which we intend to present detailed information about the Credit Union to our current members and, hopefully to attract the attention of potential members. Our objective is to emphasize the wide range of excellent financial services available, to invite your objective comparison of these services with those offered elsewhere and to keep you fully informed of the growth and financial condition of your Credit Union.

The YSU Federal Credit Union was established in November 1974 and, as it approaches its 1st decade anniversary, can proudly note a growth from a few tens of members to over 2,800 individuals and groups in total with the current membership at approximately 2000. Similarly, assets have grown from a miniscule beginning to the 1.75 million dollar mark of today. Membership is open to all YSU employees and students and members of their immediate families and to organizations which are affiliated in some way with YSU or are within the current YSU-FCU charter.

The financial services offered by the Credit Union include:

1. Savings accounts - currently paying 5½% dividends on the low monthly balance, compounded quarterly. Deposits are guaranteed up to $100,000 by an agency of the Federal Government.
2. Loans - current interest rates are 12% annually (1% of the unpaid balance per month) on new cars and 15% annually (1.25% of the unpaid balance per month) on other loans.
3. Convenience of payroll deduction for savings and loan payments.
4. Direct deposit of payroll checks.
5. Life Savings Insurance (up to $4,000) on share accounts and Loan Protection insurance (up to $10,000) on loans at no extra charge.
6. Share Draft Accounts, comparable to checking accounts offered by banks, pay 5½% current dividends on the low monthly balance. There is no service charge (unless the account is overdrawn) and your first 40 share drafts are FREE.
7. A summer payment plan for faculty on nine-month contracts.
8. Christmas Club Accounts earning 5½% in dividends.
9. American Express Travelers Cheques at a cost of only $1.00 per $100 in cheques.
10. IRA Accounts and certificates of deposit paying competitive interest rates.

For more information and assistance with your financial questions, give us a call or stop in the Credit Union Office. Also, please share this information with a colleague or with someone who is not yet a Credit Union member.

Compared to the gargantuan pay-offs of various state lotteries our newsletter prizes are not likely to siphon away all the attention from the weekly drawings but we do hope that you NOTE the 3 share account numbers listed below in order to determine if you are a MONEY MATTERS prize winner. For each of the numbers, the Credit Union member having that share account number can claim, on or before October 31, 1984, a $5.00 free share dividend by bringing to the Credit Union office a copy of this issue of the newsletter and properly identifying him/herself as the owner/parent/guardian of the respective account number. Members of the Credit Union Board of Directors and office staff are not eligible to win.

Dear Dr. Domonkos:

You are requested to serve on the PUBLIC CEREMONIAL COMMITTEE. Mr. Philip Snyder was appointed to chair this committee. This and other administrative committees are established to serve in an advisory capacity to an administrative officer. As such, administrative regulations can be reviewed for possible revision.

The specific responsibilities of the PUBLIC CEREMONIAL COMMITTEE are to administer and arrange for public ceremonials, building dedications, and similar functions. This committee is advisory to Dr. Lawrence Looby, Vice President for Public Services.

The enclosed schedule should be completed for Fall Quarter 1984 as soon as possible. When you have indicated the times you will not be available, please send it to the person chairing this committee.

This appointment is through the end of the 1984-85 Spring Quarter. Your service on this committee and to the University is deeply appreciated.

Cordially,

Neil D. Humphrey

Dear Dr. Domonkos:

In April, 1982, you kindly consented to write a review of Five Eleventh Century Hungarian Kings: Their Policies and Their Relations with Rome by Z. J. Kosztołnyik, and I trust you received the copy from this office shortly thereafter. It was undoubtedly because of other commitments which were both unforeseen and unavoidable that you found it impossible to write the promised review by the date to which you had agreed. Since then we have taken the liberty of reminding you twice by post cards that we desired to publish your review while the book was still new, but we have had no response. I am writing you today, therefore, to say on the one hand that we feel we have an obligation both to our readers and to the publisher to present a review of the book in the near future, and on the other hand that we would prefer you to anyone else as the reviewer. If you cannot do us this favor by September 1, however, we must ask you to return the review copy in order that we may offer it to some one else. We hope that such a course will not be necessary, both because it would entail a further loss of time and because we could not expect to engage another scholar as qualified as you are to review the book.

Let me thank you in advance for your generous cooperation and assure you of my best wishes.

Sincerely yours,

TO THE REVIEWER: The above applicant for an ACLS award, who as chosen you as one of several referees, has been asked to send you this form, together with a detailed description of the project. The deadline of this program is December 15th, and we would appreciate your mailing your comments to the ACLS as promptly as possible. The information you provide will not be released to the applicant. Please type your comments in black ribbon or write in black ink.

In addition to the summary evaluations set forth below, it will be helpful to the committee on awards if you give us your evaluation of the quality, significance, and feasibility of the applicant's proposal and your evaluation of the applicant's academic achievement and/or promise.

Summary evaluation:

It is with greatest pleasure and enthusiasm that I write this evaluation in behalf of Professor Paul W. Knoll's proposal. I am familiar with Dr. Knoll's scholarly achievements in the last 15 years and know that his work has always been of the highest calibre. He is an impressive and serious man as his publication record clearly indicates. There is no individual in the English speaking world who has the depth of knowledge about the intellectual climate of the University of Cracow as this candidate. He is recognized both in the U. S. and in Poland as the specialist in this area of research.

His project is exciting, feasible and would be an important contribution to intellectual history as well as the development of political thought. Scholars on both sides of the Atlantic will welcome the fruits of his labors. Based upon Professor Knoll's previous works, I have no doubt that the support of the ACLS would result in the completion of an outstanding undertaking and would be a major contribution to scholarship.

It is therefore with great enthusiasm and without any reservations that I support the application of Prof. Paul W. Knoll for an ACLS Grant.

Professor L.S. Domonkos
Department of History
Youngstown State University
Youngstown, Ohio 44555

Dear Les:

Welcome to the New Year. I hope that it will bring you, Eva, and the children all the good things for which you strive and which you deserve. By now you are, I hope, well settled in your new home (is it a new house or just new to you?). Moving is difficult at any time; it must have been even more so in the winter and at holiday time. We thought of you often.

I write to ask for some advice. I have asked Professor Gabriel to accept an invitation to be the featured speaker for the Plenary Session of the annual meeting of the Medieval Association of the Pacific when it meets at USC in February 1985. He has tentatively accepted, pending details on the honorarium. My problem is this: our budget for the conference will depend upon, in part, what it is I offer him, and that over-all budget needs to be pretty well in place when the 1984 convention is held in Seattle in February. I do not want to offer Professor Gabriel a sum which would be insultingly low; neither do I want to suggest something unreasonably high. Could you give me some guidance about what you provided when he spoke for your commencement some years ago and what that might translate to at the present time. We would, of course, pay his travel and housing costs; so what I am asking about is just the honorarium. (When you respond, be sure to let me know your new address and telephone number.)

The last days before Christmas were filled with Jury Duty for me! I was assigned to Beverly Hills, was called on four "drunk driving" panels, and thrown off of all--on pre-emptory challenges! I wasted two weeks doing my civic duty, and I couldn't even concentrate to read and/or write in the jury assembly room when not being reviewed for a panel. What a waste. At least I had some interesting lunch hours, wandering around in Bev Hills. Right after Christmas, Sue and I both came down with the flu and were flat on our backs for five days. So there really wasn't much of a break. Now its back to the new Semester. And, god-willing (plus the ACLS) this will be the last teaching semester for a year. I'll keep you posted. Love to all,

RE: THE RAVEN AND THE RING FILM PROJECT

Dear Dr. Nemeskurty:

We are very pleased, indeed, to inform you that we have finally succeeded in finding an independent American film producer seriously interested in entering into a joint venture arrangement with MAFILM to produce a film based upon our story of the life and times of John Hunyadi. The copy of the history of Hungarian Cinematography you kindly forwarded helped to expedite this decision.

We are presently preparing answers to questions posed by our contact and as preparation for a joint meeting between all principals to discuss and agree upon the terms and conditions of a contractual arrangement. This meeting, of course, will be held in Budapest.

Meanwhile, we will continue to keep you informed on further developments.

Very truly yours,

Dear Paul,

Just a quick note in reply to your letter. I checked with our Vice President for Administrative Affairs about the honorarium given to Gabriel when he spoke here in 1976 at the Winter Commencement exercises. He was paid $1,500 for the address, plus transportation, lodging and food. This is not bad. I really do not think that you should bankrupt yourself in order to invite him. He now lives on Social Security, plus some money he receives from Notre Dame for leaving his most valuable library to them. He always complains how "poor" he is but at the same time throws money around as if there was no tomorrow. I am delighted that you will invite him but can be of no help in giving you any advice on the amount of honorarium that you should offer.

We are well and are enjoying our new home. Slowly but surely things are returning to normal and I hope to resume my work on ~~Matthias~~ Corvinus in the near future. Our new phone number is: (216) 533-2771; home address: 59 Camelot Court, Canfield, OH 44406. The house is big, so if you, Sue and the "children" come our way, we can accommodate you without difficulty.

Keep in touch. Love to the family.

Dear Editors;

I am extremely disturbed by the way my article, "The Horea-Cloșka Revolt of 1784-1785: Some Observations," was treated in your recent publication, Transylvania. The Roots of Ethnic Conflict, pp. 93-107.

I strongly believe that, when an article will be criticized in an edited volume (in this case by the graduate student Edsel W. Stroup), especially when the author is not notified of this eventuality, it is the moral obligation of the editors to provide the author so criticized an opportunity to reply. The lack of such courtesy is especially strange in light of the fact that the book was five years in preparation and, therefore, there was no lack of time. Furthermore, since only my article received a lengthy and substantial review, a reply of a couple of pages would not have raised the price of the volume.

What is especially disturbing is that the editors considered it appropriate to have a graduate student review my article one who has obviously scanty knowledge of European History. Two examples will illustrate this point:

Mr. Stroup writes; ... "If the rebellion's demands somehow reflected the rational atmosphere of the Enlightenment, its fanatical objectives of social, racial, (!) and religious exclusiveness did not." (p. 140) Obviously, our Edsel has not yet reached the era of the French Revolution in his graduate studies with its fanatical objectives of social and religious exclusiveness. He goes on in this manner and then quotes Gyula Szekfu to the effect that "...Genuine national aspirations, or an institutional state structure, or even of Horea's phantom 'Dacian Kingdom' far surpassed the intellectual abilities of these rebels..." (p.140) The dear Edsel is naturally unaware of the nature of jacqueries whose intellectual orientation has never been on the level demanded by graduate students. What is even more surprising, however, is that he is also blissfully unaware that he is simply echoing the nationalistic attitudes of the Hungary of the 1930's ~~which~~ to which even such respectable historians as Gyula Szekfu had succumbed.

These two instances are but samples of the multitude of misleading statements and opinions, some of which Edsel W. Stroup attributes to me. Unfortunately, he has been even unable to read my article carefully enough to avoid such statements.

If the editors considered my contribution inadequate, they should have excluded it from the volume. But to use it as a butt of a graduate student's desperate need for a publication without notifying me of this fact, is morally and ethically wrong. Furthermore, this volume exudes some of that nationalistic flavor that the conference at Kent State in 1979 tried, in my opinion, to avoid. It is extremely unfortunate that it was permitted to creep back through the back door, and this is the responsibility of the editors.

Therefore, I have no other recourse than publicly dissociate myself from this volume which I will proceed to do promptly.

Dear John,

It was delightful to see you, your lovely wife, and Tony DeMartinis at Westminster College recently. I very seldom see any former classmates and naturally am happy when I bump into some member of "the great class of 56"

The news that you are now the Superintendent of Farrell is most welcome. I know that you will serve the community with dedication, integrity and honesty. It is always good to know that excellence is being recognized in this age of general mediocrity. Please accept my most sincere best wishes for a long and successful career in your new position.

Enclosed you will find a small token of my esteem for you, a reprint from one of my recent articles. The study is based on a paper I read at the University of Warsaw, Poland a few years ago. It deals with the history of American Education and therefore might be of some interest to you. It was a departure from my usual research area which is in Medieval and Renaissance studies, but the history of education has always fascinated me.

Please give my greetings to your wife and to Tony if you see him in the near future.

He serves as a member of the Board of Directors of the American Association for Hungarian Studies (an affiliated member of the American Historical Association) as well as the Secretary-Treasurer of the U.S. Subcommittee on the History of Universities.

A distinguished record, indeed. In sum, Dr. Domonkos epitomizes the label distinguished professor. I strongly recommend that he receive the formal designation of Distinguished Professor, 1984.

Dr. Bernard Gillis
Provost
U N I V E R S I T Y

Dear Dr. Gillis:

I write this letter to nominate Dr. Leslie Domonkos as Distinguished Professor for 1984. Although Dr. Domonkos has previously received this honor, his academic activity since the last award has been both prolific and distinguished.

First and foremost Dr. Domonkos is an outstanding teacher. In the last student evaluation (Fall, 1983), he received an aggregate decile rating of 1 for both the school and university, an evaluation which places him among the very best at Youngstown State University. Thus, after twenty years of teaching, he still maintains a love for teaching and flowing from that, the respect and admiration of his students.

His scholarly work continues unabated. His publications include chapters in the following works: "The Problems of Hungarian University Foundations" in Society and Change, edited by S. B. Vardy and A. H. Vardy, Columbia University Press, 1983; "The Battle of Mohacs as a Cultural Watershed," From Hunyadi to Rakoczi: War and Society in Late Medieval and Early Modern Hungary, Brooklyn College Press, -1982; "The Multiethnic Character of the Hungarian Kingdom in the Late Middle Ages," Transylvania: The Roots of Ethnic Conflict, Kent State University Press, 1983; "The Enlightenment and Higher Education in Early America," Universitatis Studiorum Saec. XVIII et XIX, 1982; "Bildung und Wissenschaft," Matthias Corvinus Und Die Renaissance in Ungarn 1458-1541, 1982

Dr. Domonkos has given papers at the American Historical Association, 1982; Indiana University in 1983; Cleveland State University, 1983; has chaired a session at the Duquesne History Forum, 1983 and an important address at the University of Notre Dame, delivered at the inauguration of the A. L. Gabriel History of Universities Collection. Despite such scholarly activity (or because of it) he has given lectures to area churches, civic organizations and high schools.

Dr. Gabriel, who was honored on this occasion also has a connection with our institution. In 1977 he was Commencement Speaker at YSU, and remembers our institution with great fondness.

Dear Neil,

It was with great pleasure that I heard the good news that you were named President of Youngstown State University by the Board of Trustees. They made an excellent choice, and should be commended for recognizing that you were an extraordinary candidate.

In the time that I have known you, I have been impressed by your keen intellect, sensitivity and warm personality, qualities which are necessary to guide a university, which after all, is a community of scholars, seeking Truth.

Having spent twenty years of my life at this institution, it is important for me to see that the University should be guided by men of ability, fairness and vision. As a scholar interested in the history of universities, I have studied and have seen what impact one outstanding person can have on the development of an institution. Each of your three predecessors were men of ability and made important contributions to the growth and development of YSU. You will have the opportunity to build upon this solid foundation and guide us in new directions. Your leadership in academic matters is welcomed by those of us who feel that this University has a real mission in being an island of excellence and hope in a rather sad and depressed area. Most of my colleagues and I will do our best to give you every support you require in this challenging endeavor.

May God grant you patience, energy and good health to carry on the heavy burden of your office. I know that your presidency will be a brilliant one!

Congratulations and warmest best wishes,

Gentlemen:

One of my former students Miss DeAnna Beachley asked me to write a letter in her behalf to support her application as an Archival Intern at your institution.

Miss Beachley was a student in my Western Civilization class at Youngstown State University during the past quarter. I found her to be an excellent student, dedicated to her studies and serious. Her performance was considerably above average. She demonstrated her ability to interpret and analyze historical problems and has a keen intellect. I think that she would be an excellent candidate for your Archival Internship.

Although our university is a typical urban commuter school where faculty members do not have much opportunity to get to know students, I have had the chance to talk with Miss Beachley on numerous occasions. She is an intellectually oriented, mature and bright person. I have no doubt that she will do well in whatever position she will have to fill in the future. I, therefore, recommend her enthusiastically for the position of Archival Intern. Miss De Anna Beachley is a fine young Christian woman, with great potential.

It was nice to hear your voice last Saturday and I am happy that all is well with you.

Received the letter of lovely Mrs. Brant this morning and am sending a copy of my talk with the afternoon mail.

I had promised Mr. Conklin that I will provide him with a copy of my address and I am simultaneously mailing him a Xerox copy with a letter.

You also asked for my home address:

Will be in touch with you about other matters soon.

Dear Mr. Kautz:

This is just a brief note to thank you for the lovely flowers you sent us and to express our appreciation for the excellent work your company has performed in our home.

Last fall, following the purchase of a home in Canfield I turned to your company for advise on how the house could be converted from a forced air electric furnace to a high efficiency Lennox. Your most able representative, Mr. Charles Bark, explained the advantages of the Lennox in a lucid fashion and was able to recommend certain modifications which solved a number of problems, such as heating three extra areas in the home.

Once the work of conversion began, your employees performed their task with efficiency. It was obvious that they were well trained, knew their job, and took great pride in their workmanship. In an age of mediocre performance it was nice to see that there are still companies which strive for excellence. Everyone on your workforce was a credit to their profession and a considerate, polite human being.

Our greatest praise goes to Mr. Charlie Bark, who is a gem of a man. His knowledge of the business is impressive. He knows what can and can not be done, gives alternative solutions and is a true professional. Charlie understood our problems, found intelligent answers and gave sound advice. Mr. Bark enhances the reputation of your company.

Thank you again for an excellent job. We will always recommend you to our friends.

Sincerely yours

Dear Ralph,

Please excuse the delay in thanking you for your kind hospitality while I was at Notre Dame last December for the inauguration of the A. L. Gabriel Collection. I was delighted to have been able to participate in the festivities and thank you again for having invited me. Your excellent planning resulted in a memorable day for many of us.

Although I had promised that I would send you a copy of my address, as you requested, a number of events have caused considerable delay. As I had indicated to you we moved into a new home the week after I returned from Notre Dame. To add to the difficulties I came down with a case of pneumonia, which did take a lot out of me. We had exactly a week between moving day and Christmas eve but managed somehow to make the new home look livable. In January the new quarter began and so it took some time before I caught up with myself.

Either in the spring or the summer I would like to visit the Institute to do some research on my book. Hope to see you at that time. Please convey my greetings to your charming wife.

With many thanks, I remain

Dear Ian,

Thank you for your kind letter of June 11. Please excuse the long delay in answering, but the summer has been rather hectic and we are only now beginning the fall quarter.

It was delightful to hear from you and about your marvelous plans for a Renaissance Conference at Indiana University in the Spring. I am excited about the project and pledge my full support help and cooperation. You will find Tibor Klaniczay to be an effective working partner, and he will do all in his power to promote the project from that side.

Naturally I would be most happy to give a paper at the Conference. I will be on a research leave from Youngstown State University during the Winter Quarter and plan to finish my book on the Age of Matthias Corvinus by April. If possible I would like to speak on that period. My work covers both political as well as cultural history, of that period. While my evaluation of Matthias' reign in matters of culture is quite positive, I am far more critical of his policies than most of the rather hero worshipping accounts written by Hungarian historians, both Marxist and "Bourgeois". If possible I would like to talk about the re-evaluation of Corvinus, as a result of my research. If this is agreeable to you, we can get together on the title, etc.

If I could be of assistance to you in writing a strong letter for the NEH, please let me know, I will be most happy to be of help.

When you see our dear mutual friend Ante Kadic, please convey my warmest greetings to him.

Please let me know how your plans are developing and in what manner. I can be of help to you on this most worthwhile project.

In the hope of hearing from you soon I remain

Dear President Humphrey:

Several weeks ago you were kind enough to inform me that I am to serve as the University's representative for International Programs to the American Association of State Colleges and Universities. Probably as a result of the appointment I have recently received the enclosed material. The memo indicates that there will be a major conference on International Programs to be held April 1-3, 1985 in Washington, D.C. Although the date is quite distant, I wanted to bring it to your attention in case you felt that I should attend.

It might be beneficial if in the not too distant future I could spend a few minutes with you to discuss what direction this institution should follow in the development and promotion of International Programs. This would obviously make my job easier and would alert me to look for certain opportunities suitable to the needs of our University so that we can reap the maximum advantages offered by these programs.

Dear Sir/Madam:

Thank you for making an effort to contact me concerning the lost package addressed to me. It is gratifying to note that the Postal Service takes the time to try to find lost items.

The enclosed wrapper comes from a shipment of books sent to me by the Hungarian Academy of Sciences as part of an International Book Exchange program. I receive books from Budapest mainly in Hungarian history.

Since the volumes sent to me are part of this exchange there is no way for me to know what books were in the package. There is, however a way to identify them and I am certain that with very little effort on your part, the problem can be solved.

The book shipment must have contained books which fall into the following categories.

1. Books written in Hungarian, published in Budapest or some other city in Hungary
2. Books written in Hungarian, published in Bucharest by Kriterion Publishers
3. Books written in Latin, published in Hungary or in Bucharest.

I am positive that one of your people will be able to identify the book or books that fall into the above category or categories. I doubt that there will be many Hungarian books in your collection and so it will not be difficult to pick them out.

I am most grateful to you for your assistance in this matter. If there is anything I can do to facilitate your search, please call me (collect) at 216-533-2771.

Kedves Janoskám!

Thank you for your kind letter of August 21. It is always delightful to hear from you and I hope that we will have an opportunity to see each other in the course of the next few months, somewhere, sometime. Ian Thomson from Indiana University wrote to me saying that he is trying to organize a major Hungarian Renaissance conference at Bloomington this Spring to which he also hopes to bring a member of scholars from Budapest, including Klaniczay. I will encourage him to include you in the plans, since your contributions are always sound and cogent.

You ask about the Nagy Lajos volume. Vardy and Frossmidt have asked me to join them in the editorial work, which I have done, although I do have some second thoughts about the whole matter now, but doubt that anything can be done about it. The material to be included in the volume is very mixed in content. There are some excellent studies, such as yours, but there are several articles which are abominable. I have argued for their exclusion but the two other editors seem much less critical, or for "personal reasons" want to include studies which are not really up to standard. Bela plans to talk to Fischer-Galati next week and finalize publication dates. If all goes according to plan, the volume could be out by spring. I guess that it is rare when a cooperative venture such as this results in fine studies as you and Kiraly were able to assemble in the Hunyadi-Rakoczi volume. It is unfortunate that the other two editors feel certain "personal obligations" to several of the authors, and thus feel reluctant to leave out material which is weak. As you, who has high standards know, less is more.

With the completion of the editorial work on the Nagy Lajos project, I can finally return to my Matthias book which has been on the back burner for almost a year. Last fall we decided to sell our house, buy a new home and move to the suburbs. Moving day was December 17 and it has taken some time to get things into a normal course again.

heartedly agree with your reluctance to do work in the future without some monetary compensation. I think we historians are the only "fools" who have done this for years without demanding that our expertise, time and energy should be financially rewarded. Your invitation to join you as editor of Vol. III is most flattering and very kind. I am, however, reluctant to accept for one major reason. Translation is an art, and I have found that I am not good at it. Some people have this skill, others do not. I am one who does not! My translations are usually forced, fractured and the English rendition lacks style and literary grace. If, on the other hand, you can use me in some other capacity, (consultant, advisor, write some introductory material, etc.) you can count on me, and to help matters I am enclosing a fairly up-to-date vita form. Use from it what you need in your application to NEH.

Enclosed you will find a Xerox copy of an article which appeared in the volume Transylvania: The Roots of Ethnic Conflict. I tried to present a balanced view but have been attacked by right wing emigrés as "not properly stressing" the Magyar viewpoint. To hell with them! They have a marvelous ability to alienate the younger generation, those of us who do not have simple answers to complicated problems.

Janoskam!

You will probably not believe your eyes when you see this quick reply to your recent long letter. ~~But~~ stung by your clever reference to your "experience" with my letter writing (or not writing), I decided to answer immediately and surprise the hell out of you.

It was delightful to hear from you, as always; and I am looking forward to the chance of possibly seeing you several times in 1985. Please send me an invitation to the Toronto conference on Coronations. Although it is difficult to predict weather conditions in late January there is a possibility Eva and I will drive up to Toronto, she can visit an aunt, I can see you, Erik and Aleksander Gieysztor (whom I have not seen since he was here at Youngstown in 1978).

As I wrote you I have been in touch with Ian Thomson at Indiana concerning the Renaissance Conference this spring. Unfortunately, I have not heard from him for a while and do not know how the project is taking shape. Will let you know, if I have any new information.

Delighted to hear that you will be in Köln next August. Everything is still entirely fluid as far as my plans for Europe are concerned. I will have to tap some Foundation and see what kind of travel funds I can come up with. Will definitely see you in Stuttgart.

Thank you for the information on NATIONES. The proposed volume looks excellent and the list of contributors impressive. The title of my proposed article is perfectly suitable as it is. There is clearly some evidence of a "proto-national" consciousness in the chancery rhetoric and also the increasing reference to the view that the Hungarians are the "Defenders of Europe" (védobástya) against the Ottoman threat. I have no doubt that this could be developed into a good essay of about 14 printed pages.

Now for the DRMH. Much impressed by the progress you have already made and your plans for the continuation of the project. I also whole

Dear Dr. Schoeffel:

Thank you for your kind note concerning inclusion of a portrait of Janus Pannonius in Volume II of the Contemporaries of Erasmus.

Unfortunately this will be quite problematic. I have researched the matter and have found the following information.

There are two possible portraits of Janus Pannonius but there is serious doubt in both cases about their authenticity.

I. Padua, Church of the Eremitani, Capella Ovetari. There is a fresco painted by Mantegna depicting St. Christopher. According to Vasari one of the figures in the fresco depicts "a Hungarian bishop," and has been identified with Janus Pannonius. This attribution is, however, a matter of dispute.

II. Wien, Osterreichische National Bibliothek, Cod. lat. III fol. 1. This volume contains the works of Plautus and at one time belonged to the uncle of Janus, Archbishop Vitez of Esztergom. Folio 1 has several figures in miniature, among them the possessor Vitez and possibly a likeness of the young Janus. There is no concensus on this attribution either.

As you can see, this is a rather difficult problem. While it would be nice to include a portrait of Janus Pannonius in the volume mentioned above, you might be far safer if you did not use these disputed likenesses.

If I can be of any further assistance to you, please feel free to call upon me.

1. Has anyone ever written anything about the reaction of the Chicago faculty to the ideas expressed in The Higher Learning= and subsequent publication? If yes, who, when, where.
2. Have you any personal published or unpublished writings which might shed light on this problem
3. Do you think that the Archives of the University of Chicago would contain useful material on this subject.
4. Would it be possible for me to talk to you either in person or via telephone concerning this problem.

Dear Professor Adler:

In August of 1985 the International Congress for Historical Sciences will be held at Stuttgart, W. Germany. I have been invited to deliver a paper at this conference and will participate on a panel devoted to "Great Personalities in the History of Universities." I have chosen as my topic the career of Robert M. Hutchins, Chancellor of the University of Chicago.

Although I am a medievalist by training, I have been interested in the history of universities since my studentsdays at the Mediaeval Institute at the University of Notre Dame. As graduate assistant to Dr. A. L. Gabriel, internationally recognized authority on university history, I became involved in this fascinating subject. I have published a number of articles in the area of intellectual history and contributed a lengthy study to the International Encyclopedia of Higher Education on the "History of Higher Education." While doing research on that article I became interested by the career of Hutchins, although I was already familiar with his name since a number of my former professors as well as colleagues were graduates of the University of Chicago (David M. Behen, Alvin W. Skardon, Steven Fulkerson, Vern Bullough).

Naturally I am familiar with the major publications of Dr. Hutchins as well as with the reaction to his plans for a truly liberal education. In order to add something new and original to the discussion of this problem, I would like to have some more detailed and personal information about the reaction to Chancellor Hutchins' plans among the faculty of the University of Chicago. I know that Professor Harry Gideonse, for example, was vocal in his criticism of Hutchins. There were obviously others both in support as well as in opposition to the views of the Chancellor (then President).

I know what an immensely busy man you are and am reluctant to add to your burden. You, as the closest associate of Hutchins, are the person who knows more about these matters than anyone else in the world,

This summer I finished another chapter, and fortunately I received a research leave from the University during the Winter Quarter. This will enable me to complete the writing by late March.

As far as travel is concerned, the situation is as follows: If the Renaissance Conference at Indiana does materialize, I will be going to Bloomington next spring and hope to see you there. I also plan to be at the International Congress of Historical Sciences to be held at Stuttgart next August. I am giving a paper at the meeting in the area of University History. Following the conclusion of the Stuttgart meeting, I will probably go to Budapest for 10 days or 2 weeks. We shall see what will materialize from all of this.

My health, fortunately, has been fairly good. Except for blood pressure and some circulation problems, I am well. It has been 5 years now that I was hospitalized with heart problems and as long as I don't overdo, all seems to be OK. Thank you for your concern.

Let me know what you have in mind for the Decreta III. How could I be of assistance to you in this great project? Also do let me know more about the Nationes volume. I looked over my correspondence with you during the past two years, and find that I have no specific information about the project. I was under the impression that you had abandoned this matter some time ago.

Congratulations on the excellent work you and your colleagues have done in the Medieval primary sources. Excellent and useful! When it becomes commercially available, please let me know. I would like to use it for my seminars.

Well, this letter has certainly become much more extensive than I originally planned, but it has been a long time since we have communicated.

Hope all is well with you and that I will hear from you in the near future.

Dear and Distinguished Colleague:

Thank you for your kind letter and please excuse the long delay in answering. At the time your note arrived, we were in the middle of packing to move into a new house. Together with other pieces of important mail I placed your letter into a large envelope and marked it "Important." That was the last time I saw it. Unfortunately it is so well preserved that I have been unable to locate it since then. With the moving, the Christmas and the New Year festivities, plus a trip to the University of Notre Dame to deliver a lecture at a festivity for my dear former professor Asztrik L. Gabriel, I have greatly neglected my correspondence. Please forgive me.

When my search for your letter produced no results, I called the publication office of the Franciscan Fathers (Vasarnap) to inquire if they had an address for you. Fortunately they did, but at the same time informed that you have cancelled your plans for an American lecture tour this spring. I was very disappointed to hear this since we were looking forward to meeting you here at the University. The March 5 lecture sounded fine and I had made preliminary preparations for it.

I sincerely hope that your trip to the U.S. will be rescheduled sometime in the not too distant future and that we will have the opportunity to meet at that time.

Please let me know your plans as soon as they are formulated, and I will proceed to make preparations for your lecture here at Youngstown State University.

As a contributor to the volume I have a small favor to ask you. As you know, no provision was made for reprints of the various articles which were printed in Transylvania. I would like to ask your official consent for me to make reprints of my own article, for distribution to colleagues in the profession. The reprints would be made by Xeroxing the appropriate pages and putting the article into a cover. There would be proper credit given to Kent State University Press, in fact it would probably encourage several recipients of such reprints to order the volume from you. Kedves Jankó!

It was with great joy that we received your kind letter of July 2, 1984. Please excuse the long delay in answering, but the summer months were rather hectic and now with the start of the academic year I had my hands full.

First of all, we were delighted to hear that you had a pleasant stay with us last spring, and that you left us with good memories. It was delightful to hear about Hungarian events through you. You brought a touch of "Budapest air" with you.

Since your departure a large number of valuable books have arrived, which already have been of great use to me. Thank you personally and my appreciation also goes to the International Association of Hungarian Studies for making all of this possible. You are performing an invaluable service to those of us working on Hungarian topics abroad.

If in the course of your wanderings in book stores you are able to pick up a copy of the recently published volume of Hungarian Art History (Marosi, F. Toth, etc), I would be most appreciative.

Since the meeting with you and Szőnyi Gyurka I have received a letter from Ian Thomson of Indiana University. He is indeed planning a Hungarian Renaissance Conference at Bloomington for the spring of 1985. He has asked for my support and naturally I am more than happy to be of assistance. There was a similar conference at Indiana at Indiana University a few years ago on the Polish Renaissance, and it would be marvellous if the same thing could be done for Hungary.

Fortunately, I shall be on a research leave from the University from December 15 to March 28, 1985. This will enable me to complete my Matthias Corvinus book since there will be some uninterrupted time to work.

Kedves Laci, kedves augusztus végi leveledre csak most, nagyon megkésve válaszolok. Az elmúlt hónapok azonban nagyon mozgalmasak és nyugtalanok voltak számomra. Elsősorban Intézetünk miatt, minthogy igazgatónk, Sőtér most megy nyugdíjba, s már június óta szabadságon van, s most nekem kell az egész Intézet igazgatását átvennem, megtartva továbbra is a Reneszánsz-részleg ügyeinek vitelét.

Nagy sajnálattal vettük tudomásul, hogy nem kerülhetett sor budapesti látogatásodra idén, De gondolom számíthatunk majd jövőre a látogatásodra, nagyon várva már a teljes kéziratát könyvednek.

Igen érdekes, amit a Laurana-szoborról irsz. Feltétlenül meg kellene írni a történetét, közölve egyúttal egy jó fotót is róla. Az Acta Hist. Artium volna minden bizonnyal a legjobb hely a publikálására, s minthogy Vayer Lajos személyében éppen az olasz reneszánsz kitűnő kutatója szerkeszti, őt bizonyára nagyon érdekelné a dolog. Csak azt az egyet nem tudom, hogy szokott-e az Acta "brief notice"-ókat közölni; többnyire hosszabb tanulmányokat közöl, de nem tudom pontosan, mert az utóbbi időben nem volt a kezemben. De ha emiatt esetleg az Acta nem jönne számításba, a Művészettörténeti Értesítő előszeretettel közöl ilyen jellegű fontos rövid közleményeket, persze ez esetben magyarul jelenne meg.

Most egy más ügyről is írni szeretnék. Nemrég kaptuk a tájékoztatást arról, hogy 1984-ben május elején lesz az amerikai magyar professzorok újabb tanácskozása, még pedig Ohio-ban, vagyis a közelemben. A megelőzőn, amely azt hiszem két évvel ezelőtt volt Bloomingtonban, Sinor Dénes meghívása jóvoltából képviseltetni tudta magát a Nemzetközi Magyar Filológiai Társaság vezetősége, Béládi Miklós főtítkárhelyettes személyében, akit valószínűleg Te is megismertél akkor. Sajnos, Béládi barátom, a közelmúltban meghalt. A következő közgyűlésig, amikor majd új főtítkárhelyettes választunk, őt egyik kitűnő kollegám, Jankovics József, a Hungarológiai Értesítő szerkesztője fogja helyettesíteni, s ezért nagyon üdvös volna, ha ő el tudna menni a májusi találkozóra. Reméljük, hogy ennek nem is lesz akadálya. Tekintettel azonban arra, hogy a repülőjegy-kedvezmény miatt legalább két hétre kellene az Egyesült Államokba mennie (kár is lenne rövidebb időre), gondoskodnia kell az összejövetelel tul további programról, lehetőleg úgy, hogy annak révén fenn is tudja tartani magát. Valószínűleg fog majd kapni néhány napra meghívást Bloomingtonba, de felmerült bennem az ötlet, nem tudnál-e esetleg Te Youngstownban egy előadást szervezni neki? Jól beszél angolul, fő szakterülete a XVII. századi magyar-angol irodalmi és művelődési kapcsolatok, különös tekintettel a magyarok angliai (és hollandiai) egyetemjárására.

Magán dolgokra térve, leveledből is arra eszmélek, hogy mennyire halad az idő, hiszen irod, hogy iker-gyermekeid már az egyetemet kezdik el. Persze, én sajnos már sokkal előbbre vagyok a korban.

Egész családoddal együtt sok szeretettel köszönt:

 meghívandó. Pírdát egy másik nyári minetre.
 Azt gondolom korbán és állnak legközelebb egy máskor.

Dear Mrs. Domonkos,

It may be embarrassing to find that you made such an impression on a student. I find my reaction a little embarrassing myself. I feel like a ^{NOW} ~~superannuated~~ ^{NOT THEN} "groupie", but I'm glad if I had to have such a fervent reaction to someone, it was to a very vital, interesting, and highly entertaining scholar.

I've thought of you often over the years. I read in the collection of paperbacks we had for your class: Life in the 12th Century, The Cathedral Builders, Chenou of Aquitaine, quite often. I told my travelling companion in Rome and Athens this late summer about the Norman ^{royal} ruffian (Rollo?) who kissed the king's foot and upset him and had chairs over backwards.

I've made two trips to Europe as of now. The first was to Ireland - my grandfather Cushing came from there to Canada when he was a baby - ^{and} I loved it there. Jimmy had died just about two months (Mar. 21, '79) before my daughter, my sister, my grandson and I made the trip. I was still so much in shock over his death - believing it and not believing it - that Ireland has and will always have the quality of a fairy tale to me. It might have under any circumstances. I do know that I felt that I understood myself better after seeing it. I saw truly of its earth and water and sky. My mother's people, the McFaddens, and the Campbells, Alexander and his brother, came from northern Ireland.

* On a 45-year-old subject as I was struck that when I took your class.

My father's family had been Catholic.

But Rome! There was a different matter. No fairy tale, just fascination. I wish that after I die, I could come back as a young art student in Rome. Even as I am right now! I'd like to spend days, even weeks, in St. Peter's. I took only two pictures inside; one is of a monument commemorating the last of the Stuarts, and the other of the Bernini canopy.

You sending the picture of the canopy to you because I remember, imperfectly but afraid, a statement you made in class. You quoted Dean Inge - and the words were not sure of - "Through she betrayed me, I still love her" ^{still I love her?}

I have thought that if I were Catholic, I'd have felt sorry when the service - mass? - was no longer conducted in Latin. I heard Anthony Burgess tell Dick Carruth that he regretted the change because that was one of few remaining art forms in the world. (Have you read the very good, very horrifying Earthly Powers?)

I enjoyed Greece, too, and particularly Delphi. I believe Rome and Italy are more appealing to me. There is a coolness, a starkness, and a logic in Greek antiquity that doesn't appeal as strongly as does Rome.

What brought you so vividly to mind and resulted in this letter is the picture of a "December: Slaughtering a Pig" that appeared in The New York Times Magazine for Dec. 25th. It's as though I'd very laboriously, but joyfully, ~~had~~ drawn and painted it yesterday. I liked doing it; it was as though I were there, not slaughtering the pig, however. I'd have averted my gaze. I remember mixing the red for the blood.

I like Vermont very much. It is a very different world up here. It makes me think very much of Ohio fifty years ago.

It, unlike remembered Ohio, is very much an artistic, liberal climate here. St. Michael's College had panel discussions and speakers from Ireland; a Russian embassy figure visited U.V.M. and some high schools here — a few from Vermont went to England regarding nuclear rearmament — and craftspeople abound. It's also beautiful to look at.

I am a little broken down from carrying heavy (for me) logs and keeping my stove going for nights and days that have featured sub-zero temperatures. I even have developed biceps in my otherwise scrawny arm. My car sits out and sometimes looks like a giant marshmallow and other times like it's encased in armor.

I am 68 now — since October the 8th — and in this healthy air could live to be 100 if I'd quit smoking. (My doctor's opinion.) I'm not sure I could stand to live that long. I'd want to be able to see, and draw and paint, and do calligraphy, and sew, and read, and walk and study French and Italian and it seems unrealistic to expect that. And anyway, sometimes I agree with Edith Wharton: "There is no old age, only sorrow." I don't feel that way very often.

It's been nice conversing with you, even if it is one-sided.

Sincerely,
Cuthbert

Paris

Dear Les,

Dec. 2

I have thought of you often the past two weeks here, while working in the B.N., but mostly in the evenings while sitting in cafés in St.-Severin, where I am now. I frequently stroll across the Petit Pont & gorge at Notre-Dame (where I go to the organ concerts on Sunday evenings), and am reminded of our classes in medieval student life - Robertus Pullus, Robert de Sorbon, & several Jeans, Ébiennes, & Jacques as well. Life on the left Bank is wonderful, but I will have to leave it for Oxford & Cambridge the end of this week. We must get together when my sabbatical is over.

Au revoir, Bob Schneider

At the Corner of Meeting and Market Streets Charleston, S.C.

This unique combination of historic buildings, Confederate Museum, imaginative new shops, restaurants and outdoor flea market is now a registered national historic landmark. Originally constructed in 1804, the magnificent main arcade has withstood the ravages of two tornados, the earthquake and fire of 1835 and the fierce bombardments of the Civil War.

ICONS AND IDEAS IN SPENSER'S FAERIE QUEENE

An illustrated lecture at Cleveland State University

Monday, 14 May 1984 • 4:00 p.m., in the Kiva

Dr. György E. Szőnyi of Attila József University in Szeged, Hungary, will lecture on iconography and intellectual history in the epic romance of Shakespeare's contemporary, Edmund Spenser. He will begin with the highly symbolic House of Alma in the Book of Temperance (FQ II ix), and illustrate his talk extensively with slides about alchemy and hermeticism from the Renaissance emblematic tradition.

Dr. Szőnyi holds his degrees from the University of Szeged. He has taught at the University of Warsaw and lectured in England and Ireland as well as in Hungary. His special interests include East-West cultural contacts during the Renaissance, the sociology of reading and education, occult sciences in 16th- and 17th-century Europe, medieval and Renaissance music, and reconstruction of Renaissance libraries and book collections. In addition to his Renaissance scholarship, he has also published a novel.

Dr. Szőnyi represents the Renaissance Research Centre of Attila József University. On this first visit to the U.S., he is travelling for a month to confer with colleagues and to work in the Folger, Newberry, and Huntington Libraries. He is visiting Cleveland State in connection with The Spenser Encyclopedia, to which he is contributing articles on hermeticism and on John Dee (astrologer to Queen Elizabeth I, acquitted of practicing sorcery against Queen Mary in 1555).

The Kiva is in CSU's University Center, diagonally across from Trinity Cathedral at the intersection of Euclid Avenue and East 22nd Street. Parking for visitors is available south of Fenn Tower (access from Euclid) and under Rhodes Tower (access from East 22nd Street). For more information, call 687-3961.

Dear Dr. Domonkos,
your talk on "Enlightenment Tradition: Early American Colleges" was interesting and I thought provoking. I especially appreciated your sense of humor. Thanks for taking time out of your busy schedule to talk to History Club.

Sincerely yours,
